CCF Repudiates Attack On Art

TORONTO, March 24 (CP) — A CCFer's attack on modern art in the Ontario legislature was repudiated Friday by the party's 17th annual Ontario convention.

Delegates emphasized they are opposed to any political interference with artistic freedom of expression.

Leslie Wismer, CCF member of the legisuature for Toronto Riverdale, found himself without support for his charges that modern art was based on a "set of symbols" assisting "nihilism in destroying democracy and christianity."

Members voted to include a plank in the party platform promising that a CCF government would increase grants to public art galleries, art societies and similar institutions and that such grants would never be made a reason for interference with the freedom of the institutions.

Resources Minister Resigns Position

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 24 — (CP) — Resources Minister Edward Russell resigned Friday night from Premier Smallwood's cabinet with the statement that he no longer had "any confidence in the ability of the present government to govern the province successfully."

Stating he was not resigning from the Liberal party ranks, he said his future position was "up to the party to decide."

Premier Smallwood said he had received no notice of Mr. Russell's resignation. "He has not resigned to me," he said.

Mr. Russell told reporters he had placed his resignation in the hands of the cabinet and also with the lieutenant-governor.

Australians Give Ontario Big Welcome

BRISBANE, March 24 (Reuters) —The cruiser Ontario, first Canadian warship to visit Australia, arrived here today after a five-mile welcome along river reaches.

Crowds in hundreds of riverside homes waved sheets, towels and anything to make a show. Traffic stopped to watch as she came alongside the wharf.

As sightseers go aboard this afternoon the crew will be ashore for three days' sightseeing, sport and hospitality in private homes.

Her commander, Commodore Hugh F. Pulle, will today officially call on State Governor Sir John Lavarack, Brisbane's lord mayor, Alderman J. B. Chandler and civil service and judiciary heads.

Ask Conciliation On Sarnia Paper

SARNIA, March 24 (CP)—Local 837 of the International Typographical Union, representing the composing room staff of The Daily Canadian Observer, has voted to apply for conciliation in a contract dispute, it was announced Thursday in a joint statement by H. G. Burley, general manager of the Observer, and J. Duncan McCormick, chairman of the local's scale committee.

The point at issue is a question of jurisdiction over new equipment which may be introduced in the mechanical department. Negotiations have been carried on since the 1950 contract expired Dec. 31.

Recently a 10-per-cent voluntary wage increase was granted by management, effective Jan. 3, 1951, pending settlement of the jurisdictional dispute.

Third Victim Of Crash Dies

BROCKVILLE, March 24 (CP) —Percy Danby, 46, of Lansdowne, Ont., died in hospital Friday of injuries suffered in a collision between an automobile and a transport truck four miles west of here Thursday night.

Danby was the third victim of the accident. Harold Truesdelle and Byron Moore both of Lansdowne, died in the crash. A fourth man, Donald Earle, 23, also of Lansdowne, was seriously injured.

Gerald Down, 43, of Kingston, driver of the truck, said the car in which the four men were travelling came through the stop sign at Crystal Beach intersection. It was moving very fast, he said.

Down escaped injury, but firemen had to be called to extinguish a fire which destroyed the truck cab.

All four men in the car were employees of the Ontario highway department. They were believed on their way to a hockey game here.

TORONTO, March 24 (CP) — The Hospital for Sick Children here was granted $717,970.23 in a judgment handed down in Supreme Court Thursday which disallowed a claim by heirs of the late John Ross Robertson against profits of the Telegram.

The amount represents what trustees of the Telegram set aside out of profits for depreciation between 1939 and 1947. The appellants maintained this amount was excessive and should have, since it was income, reverted to them. Mr. Justice G. A. Gale held the money was properly put into the newspaper's depreciation account.

A clause in the Robertson will stated that upon the death of his widow and two sons, the Telegram should be sold and the assets of the estate transferred to trustees appointed by the Hospital for Sick Children for the purpose of administering the estate.

The newspaper was purchased by George McCullagh, publisher of the Globe and Mail, in December, 1948, for a sum in excess of $3,610,000.

NO MILK FOR TORONTO—Deadlocked bargaining between Toronto milk dealers and dairy unions resulted in milk drivers going on strike. This was a typical dairy-yard scene after the strike call went out. More than 1,700 workers stayed of the job, leaving 1,100,000 people in Greater Toronto without milk supplies. Union and owners could not agree on the date of retroaction of an agreed $3 weekly increase. The sum of $6 divided the two camps. Drivers returned Friday morning.

Easter in the Churches

It is singularly fitting that the earth should celebrate its awakening from Winter with a glorious pageantry of bud and blossom when we, of Christendom, celebrate the miracle of the risen Christ. It is fitting, too, that we brighten and beautify our homes - - - rejoice in the warmth that brings new green and growth to our gardens - - - and array ourselves in new clothing in response to the primal urge of Spring.

But it is in our hearts that Spring and Easter work the greater magic by fulfilling the eternal promise of hope renewed. It is a time of remembering Him who conquered death that we might have this hope. On Easter morning let us enter His House and give Him our gratitude and our love. Be one of the worshipping throng, COME TO CHURCH ON EASTER!

East Durham WI Celebrate Fiftieth Year At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, March 24 (ENS) —The fiftieth anniversary of East Durham Women's Institute was celebrated Thursday evening at a banquet in Millbrook Town Hall —the hall in which the organization meeting was held on March 22, 1901. Guest speaker was Major the Rev. J. W. Foote, VC, MP for Durham County.

Major Foote told the 175 present that 1951 had been an important year for women. Two Bills had been passed which concerned them especially. One Bill was "equal pay for equal work" and the other permitted women to serve on juries.

Major Foote add the the good wishes of the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, to his own and expressed Col. Kennedy's regrets that itwas impossible for him to be present. He said the motto of the Women's Institute, "For Home and Country," was similar to that of the IODE at whose 50th anniversary he had spoken in Toronto the previous evening. Their aim was to take responsibility for every good work for the benefit of the country and the people.

The increasing influence of women in the world was all to the good. At present there was only one woman member in the Ontario Legislature. Women's direct influence as well as their indirect influence was needed. Major Foote was introduced by Delbert Olan, Reeve of Cavan.

Mrs. W. E. Nichols of Morrish, district president, read a message of congratulation from the West Northumberland Women's Institute. She stated that the WI originated in Stone Creek in 1897. Four years later the East Durham district was organized in Millbrook. The Institute has now spread to 24 other countries, as well as being organized throughout Canada. The Women's Institute, she said, was popularly known as the rural women's university.

Mrs. Ira Lowe of Mount Pleasant, board director of Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, introduced the guests at the head table. Mrs. L. W. Hughes of Port Hope, secretary of East Durham WI, Reeve Delbert Olan of Cavan Township and Mrs. Olan, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Millbrook, past secretary of East Durham WI, E. A. Summers of Bowmanville agricultural representative for Durham County, and Mrs. Summers, Mrs. T. G. Sowden of Elizabethville, past president of East Durham WI, Major Foote and Mrs. Foote, Dr. J. W. Wright, Reeve of Millbrook and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. J. G. Snider, chairman of Toronto area convention, John James, MP, the president Mrs. Nichols, Miss Anna P. Lewis of Toronto, director of Women's Institutes, Mrs. C. Williams, past president of East Durham WI, Miss Jean Noble, home economist for Durham County, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, past secretary of East Durham WI, Mrs. W. Armstrong of Millbrook, vice-president of East Durham WI, Mrs. W. E. Lewis of Morrish, representative of East Durham WI to the Federation of Agriculture for Durham County, and Mrs. George Fletcher, past president of Bailieboro branch, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dogget, vocal soloists from Port Hope, and their accompanist, Mrs. Alex Murray.

Mrs. Lowe also expressed the regrets of Mrs. R. G. Purcell of Fort William, provincial president of Federated Women's Institutes, that she was unable to be present, and herself gave greetings from the board. Mrs. J. G. Snider brought greetings from the Central Ontario area.

Mrs. L. W. Hughes read the history of the 50 years of East Durham WI, prepared by Mrs. Lowe.

The toast to the Women's Institute was prepared by John M. James, MP, and replied to by Miss Anna P. Lewis, WI director. She stated that there were 46,000 active WI members in Ontario and more than 5,500,000 in the world.

Greetings from the Department of Agriculture were brought by Miss Jean Noble, home economist, and by E. A. Summers, agricultural representative.

A three-storey birthday cake, the gift of the Bailieboro branch, was cut by Mrs. George Fletcher of Bailieboro, who made the cake.

Solos by Mrs. R. Dogget included "I Love You Only," and "If I Could Tell You"; those by Mr. Dogget were "Mandalay" and "The Bluebird of Happiness." They also sang two duets, "Hold Thou My Hand" and "Dearie." Mrs. Alex Murray was accompanist.

Charter members present were Mrs. T. G. Sowden of Elizabethville, Mrs. Sophia Beatty of Garden Hill, Mrs. R. S. Staples of Cavan, and Mrs. W. H. Lowes of Mount Pleasant, who is also a life member. Other life members present were Mrs. George Fletcher of Bailieboro, Miss Mary L. Widdis of Millbrook, president, and Mrs. Tom Harkness, also of Millbrook.

Mrs. W. E. Lewis was spokesman for the appreciation committee, which included also Mrs. W. Armstrong and Mrs. J. W. Hilton. Mrs. M. Price was absent. After Major Foote had asked the blessing, the new Women's Institute grace was sung for the first time in this district. Mrs. J. A. Thompson was at the piano for the singing of grace and for The King. Movie Column

Promotion Tales By Dozen From Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 14 (AP) —This week a Hollywood press agent wrote the 5,000th story along the lines, "even the gateman didn't recognize Gloria Glump when she reported to work in her makeup today."

The gateman story is one of the oldest publicity stories in Hollywood. It is probably older than movies. No doubt previous gatemen and stage guards failed to recognize Edwin Booth, David Garrick, William Shakespeare and even Aristophanes.

Despite the age of the gateman story, it still manages to see circulation in Hollywood every few weeks. And so do a variety of other hoary gimmicks that should have been put out to pasture long ago. Among them:

Anouncement that a sequel is being prepared for a current picture. This item is obviously designed to publicize the current picture, while the producers seldom have any notion of making the sequel.

Lots of Promotion

The selection of a 10-best or 10-worst list. Some of these are legitimate (the ones that appear in this column, natch). But most of them are designed to promote some press agent's client. Look down the list for a name you've never heard of. That's the client.

The twosome. Some romantic linkings may have interest to some readers. But most of such items are designed to publicize the twosome or the restaurant at which they cavort.

The item about an actor and actress being introduced on the first day of a picture and then going into a torrid love scene.

Also overworked is cheesecake or leg art. But who's complaining about that?

Six Canadians On College Staff

ADDIS ABABA — (CP) — Six Canadians are included in the nine-man staff responsible for running Addis Ababa's new university college, the first institute of higher studies in Ethiopia.

Quebec is the home town of Lucien Matte, president of the college, and G. Morency, the administrator.

On the teaching staff are G. Rancourt, of Montreal, L. Berube, of Prince Albert, Sask., G. Beland, of Sudbury, and Y. Ferland of Sherbrooke, Que.

In addition, more than 50 Canadians are teaching in Ethiopian primary, secondary and teachers' training schools.

University College was founded largely because of Emperor Haile Selassie's enthusiasm. In inaugurating the new building he expressed hope it would hasten intellectual development in Ethiopia.

The college will cater for a growing number of young men educated in Ethiopia's several secondary schools. The level of studies will be that of post-matriculation at the University of London.

The laboratory and other equipment cost about £30,000 ($90,000) and were largely imported from Europe and North America.

Britain Reconciled To Small Crossing

LONDON, March 24 —(AP)—A government spokesman hinted today Britain is reconciled to small-scale northward movements by United Nations troops across Korea's 38th Parallel but is dubious about any "general advance" past that line.

Kenneth Younger, the Minister of State, told the House of Commons:

"So long as there are military operations in progress I must stop short of giving to the opposing generals a present of the tactical and strategic intentions of our forces.

"We still consider that Korea is one country with one people. How we achieve that unification is, of course, another matter.

"I believe we might well prejudice military resistance to aggression if we were to force the commander on the spot to conform to an imaginary line that has no significance of any kind except on the map."

Citizens Fail To Realize Just How Good Artists Are

Peterborough should be extremely proud of its artists, many of professional quality who could easily become professionals if they had the mind and courage, Oscar Schliegner, Swiss professional artist, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday. Mr. Schlienger, is now working in the Peterborough district.

The speaker said that he was sorry to say that Peterborough residents didn't know how good the local artists are but know only the well-known artists across the country. Local artists, he said, should be encouraged in their work and by people buying their paintings. Some of these works, he added, may be obtained much more cheaply now than in the future.

Mr. Schlienger said that Peterborough offers many opportunities in various arts clubs such as the Men's Sketch Club. These organizations have done the spade-work and include many excellent workers.

Many people wish to paint and have the desire to paint but don't. These people don't realize how easy it is. Where people seem to have the courage to learn to play the violin or piano, they don't seem to have the courage to start painting, he said. Although a musician wouldn't become a musician without starting on some instrument, people don't seem to reason that way in art and seem to be frightened to make a start.

Mr. Schlienger suggested a start be made in a private room where no one can see the work unless the artist so desires. In that way the beginner in art finds learning easier than the musician who can't play without someone eventually hearing him.

Painting, said Mr. Schlienger, is a good pastime and also offers an emotional release. Where the musician may disturb others with his playing, the artist finds relief without bothering anyone, that is, unless he shows his work which may be bad. In painting one doesn't need to pull punches but can really let himself go.

Charles Saunders introduced the speaker who was thanked by Arthur Malby.

Memorial Church Restored At Lens

MONTREAL—(CP)—The little Canadian Vimy Memorial Church at Lens, France, has been restored for its congregation of 300 Protestant miners and their families.

The French reformed church was destroyed during the Second World War, but the miners and their womenfolk banded together to rebuild the structure with materials bought by sympathetic Canadians.

The church's grandmother, 86-year-old Mrs. Bieler, is the only surviving member of the original church committee. She's looking for a successor to carry the load in the church's financing program.

A Canadian drive for $3,000 for the building fund following the Second World War fell short. However, the miners went ahead and built the church from out of the rubble. A manse is now under construction next to the church.

Mrs. Bieler says that Canadian Protestants should be proud of the church and the privilege to co-operate in its restoration..

Society's Passive Attitude To Drivers When Drunk

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Death at this Eastertide is written large on every hand.

"What a strange way to start an Easter message," you will say. But the dominant thought and fact of Easter is the overcoming of death.

Death is as old as the human race and it is common to all. It is the one leveling factor that bears no dispute or repudiation. As an old song goes, "Six feet of earth make us all one size."

But shocking is the realization that many deaths are the result of carelessness. More tragic even than the loss of sons and fathers fighting for the United Nations in Korea are the statistics on motor vehicle accidents last year in the United States.

Some 35,000 persons lost their lives on the highways in 1950. Fatal accidents in the home numbered 27,000. Here is a situation, when we look at it objectively, that is really appalling.

We are wont to exclaim, "Why does God permit war?" We deplore the sacrifice of our younger men, and of older ones in a battle over issues beclouded by diplomatic wranglings. Yet, all the time more lives are actually sacrificed under conditions where we are our own "providence."

I suppose that many would call me an old-fashioned "temperance crank"—though a newspaper once described me as a "dry but not a fanatical dry"—yet I cannot help but remark on society's passive attitude toward drivers of public conveyances who drink while on duty.

Do you remember when total abstinence was an imperative demand upon railroad engineers, at least in times approaching and during their service?

Yet now millions of engine-powered vehicles—the majority of them not confined to tracks—are in the hands of drivers who succumb to the temptations of "package stores," liquor joints and bar-equipped lunchrooms dotting their routes.

The waste of human lives through carelessness, responsible for a total of 90,000 deaths last year, is a fact as shameful as the Master's triumph over death is glorious.

Let our Easter thought this year be two-fold; we can overcome needless death through safety precautions; and that death, the great "leveller" can be overcome through those words of Jesus: "Because I live, ye shall live also."

City Churches Mark Easter With Special Services, Music

Across the city on Sunday, Peterburians with new bonnets will join the Easter parade to church. At the churches, special services are planned; special Easter music will be played in honor of Christ's resurrection.

Special service at St. Paul's Presbyterian church will be in the evening—a choral service featuring the senior and junior choirs. A playlet—"A Cloud of Witnesses"—will be presented. Voices in it will represent contemporary and Biblical witnesses of the resurrection.

Before the service at 7 p.m., an organ-piano recital will be given by Gwen Craw and Christopher Gledhill, consisting of "Jesus Christ, the Son of God", "Sicilienne", and "My Heart Ever Faithful". European folksongs and other Easter music will round out the service.

Music Service

At George St. United church, topic of the morning sermon by the Rev. A. A. Mathews will be "The Power of His Resurrection." As at St. Paul's the evening service will be one of Easter music.

The senior choir will sing: "Unfold, Ye Portals", "By Early Morning Light," "Easter Again is Here", and the "Hallelujah Chorus". The intermediate choir will sing "This Joyful Eastertide", and the combined choirs, "We Will Carol Joyfully", and "Hosannah".

Two holy communion servics will he held at St. John's Anglican church, at 7 and 8 a.m. At 11 a.m. there will be short matins and the sermon will be given by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Evensong will be at 7 p.m.

Two Easter services are scheduled for Murray St. Baptist church, and the morning sermon will be "I Believe in the Life Everlasting". Music by Martin Shaw, Bach, Handel and Mozart will be sung. Smith WCTU Meets FAIRVIEW, March 24 (ENS)—The Smith Women's Christian Temperance Union held their Easter meeting in the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church. The president, Mrs. J. Gordon Mann, presided. Worship service was presented by Mrs. Milton Clark. Mrs. Joseph Mann and Mrs. Clayton Telford sang a duet. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Allan Mann. The Rev. D. P. Morris led in prayer. An address was given by Rev. Leaton, of Gilmour Church.

Decision Reserved

CHATHAM, March 24 (CP) — Decision was reserved Thursday on the four-month milk producers-distributors price dispute. Judge Harold Lang, of Stratford, presiding at a meeting Thursday said he would consult the milk board at Toronto before issuing any statement. The new legislation passed at Queen's Park could affect the situation here, he felt.

VOL. CII. No. 70 — SATURDAY, MARCH 24, 1951

Rotary Backs Swimming Classes at YW Pool To Aid Crippled Children Of City, District

By JIM ENGLISH

It isn't easy to be a child and crippled.

Crippled children miss the happiest days of their lives—if they're not cured. And the cure often takes a long time.

Mr. Citizen can well say "Let's go ahead and cure the ones we can." But it takes money—the money that comes from Easter Seals—to look after those crippled children.

"There can't be too many crippled children in Peterborough," you hear people say. "You never see them."

They Do Not Play

No, you don't see them. You don't see them because they're not out on the street playing with other children. Some of them can't play. Some can't even walk.

Peterborough's Rotary Club is doing something for the city's crippled children. The Easter Seal campaign now on in Peterborough is sponsored by them. Money raised by their various carnivals also goes into their fund for crippled children in Peterborough.

Paul Irwin, this year's chairman of the Rotary's committee on crippled children, says that the club spends from $400 to $500 each month on this work. "And that is none too much."

Besides paying for hospital bills, crutches and braces and other aids for crippled children, Rotary sponsors a swimming class for them. Not all of the seven taking the class are young—their ages range from 4 to 18.

Twice a Week

These swimming classes are held at the YWCA pool each Tuesday and Thursday morning. They were started as an experiment in January and will continue until June.

If the experiment proves successful—and results to date indicate that it will—it will be continued as standard practice by the Rotary Club.

Supervisor of the classes is Miss Audrey Hustwitt, a graduate of the University of Toronto in physical education and health. For the past year-and-a-half she has been with the YW in Peterborough.

She is enthusiastic about Rotary's sponsorship of the classes. "They're doing a wonderful thing for those children," she says.

Not Crippled in Pool

"When they're in the pool, you don't think of them as crippled children," she remarked. The children shed their braces and crutches and, with the aid of kind distortions from the water, appear normal.

At first, the children were doubtful about their ability to swim. One lad who has one leg shorter than the other, saw his first class and would not believe that one of the girls swimming in the pool was a cripple.

To him, she didn't look like one, and he couldn't be convinced until he saw her pull herself out of the pool by her hands—her legs are useless.

"They just didn't think they could do things like that," said Miss Hustwitt. She said the parents were doubtful too.

Open New Field

Being able to swim opens up new fields for the children. They know they can do something that normal children can do. Says Miss Hustwitt: "They make more normal contacts this way, and develop more confidence in themselves."

On top of the psychological benefits, the children are learning to swim. Of the seven taking the classes, five are now accustomed to the deep end of the pool and are able to stay in it.

One girl who was originally with the group, has progressed so far that she is taking the regular swimming lessons held by the YW. Rotary is paying for her lessons too.

"It's quite a thrill to work with children like that," says Miss Hustwitt.

EVERYONE IN THE BIG SWIM and lots of camera action is displayed by children. Each child in the pool has an individual instructor and they are, Front to Rear, Marion Constable, Bertha Anderson, Audrey Hustwith, Marjory Baker and Guelda Buckley with the children listed in the large photo Above. Alice Foster and Joan Fitzgerald are seated on the edge of the pool, Rear.—Examiner Staff Photo.

Pulled Gun On Driver, Remanded

Due To Weak Spring Revolver Failed To Fire When Pulled

COBOURG, March 24—(ENS)—William Wannamaker 24, RR No. 1, Trenton, charged with assault while armed with an offensive weapon, with intent to rob, was remanded for sentence, when he appeared in police court. Wannamaker pulled a .22 revolver on George Morin of Toronto after he had been given a ride in a car driven by John Angebon, also of Toronto, on March 12. The gun clicked but did not fire. The offence took place in Port Hope.

Chief Constable C. W. Graham of Port Hope told the court that the revolver, a small weapon of cheap construction, was tested and would not fire due to a weak spring. Wannamaker, who is married with two children, said he had been out of work and had been drinking when the offence happened. He declared that he knew the gun would not work.

EMERGENCY CALL

A Peterborough man took on a part-time, long distance job as a milkman on Good Friday morning. He had planned to visit his daughter and her family over the long weekend in Weston, outside milkless Toronto. The milk distributors' strike has affected Weston, this man was told in a rush telephone call from his daughter Thursday night. His daughter begged him to "please bring four quarts of milk with you." So, Friday morning, an extra piece of luggage in the form of a shopping bag loaded with full milk bottles, was hauled down to the station. J.E.

PRACTICAL JOKER

An Edison Ave. man takes a dim view of a practical joke played on him on Good Friday. Jim Foskett, his wife and two children, went to visit a famly on Wolfe St. Mrs. Foskett took her rubbers inside, but her husband and the two children left theirs on the verandah. When they were leaving Mr. Foskett and the two children were each minus one rubber. Mr. Foskett thinks it "might have been some kid.' Then again, it might have been the Easter rabbit.—JE.

Seek To Impede Negotiations Is UE Charge

The UE has denounced as "facetious" the IUE application for certification as the bargaining agent for 3,500 production workers at the Peterborough works of the CGE.

George Wallace, president of Local 524, UE, said today:

"The UE has the support of the vast majority in the plant. The application, therefore, is viewed by CGE workers as an attempt to impede the progress of negotiations between the company and the UE."

Failed To Pay Fee

He said the UE had statements from a number of workers claiming they signed IUE cards "to avoid further nuisance and pressure" but they had not paid the required $1 initiation fee.

"The officers of our union are seeking an interview with Labor Minishter Charles Daley to place before him evidence on the facetious manner in which this group attempts to use the good offices of the labor department," said Mr. Wallace.

"The IUE will not dare settle for the salaried workers until the long drawn out procedure has been completed and this application proven false, because," he said, "the main propaganda of the IUE would be exposed if they settled for the salaried group."

Tom Hughes Quits House, Gives Up Key

City Turns Over Key To Board Official When House Vacated

Thursday afternoon the city obtained the Hughes' property on Monaghan Rd., south, without incident. Tommy Hughes, owner of the house and 19 acres until it was expropriated, handed over the keys to city officials.

City Street Commissioner James Burgess and three men from the Board of Works put their own lock on all the doors of the house after Mr. Hughes had removed the last of his furniture and possessions.

There was some skepticism as to whether Mr. Hughes would vacate the property peaceably.

Damaged Machine

A civil engineer testified that on March 9 he and a crew entered the Hughes property with a drilling machine used for determining the type of soil, depth of the water table and similar data. He said that, after an argument about ownership of the land, Hughes rammed the rear of his truck into the drilling machine, causing $400-$500 damage.

Walter Deacon, the engineer, and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, KC, discussed the advisability of laying a charge against Mr. Hughes, but it was decided not to do so.

Because of the incident the city applied to Judge S. L. Smoke on March 15 for a warrant to take immediate possession of the property. But Judge Smoke ruled that the existing agreement allowed Mr. Hughes to remain till March 21.

Willing to Vacate

"Sure, they can have the place," he told the Examiner Thursday, "but they'll have to pay for it."

J. B. Parkin, Board of Education architect, notified K. S. Wightman Thursday that he planned to call for tenders for construction of the second collegiate on April 17 and also advised that a priority was not required to secure the steel, it being regarded as essential construction.

The city expropriated the property so the Board can build the collegiate, needed to accommodate Peterborough's increased school enrolment. A debenture issue of $585,000 was approved by the ratepayers at the last election.

Mr. Hughes has moved his wrecking business north to property southeast of the intersection of Lansdowne St. and Erskine Ave.

City council seemed relieved that their part in the expropriation proceedings was now over. As soon as they got the keys to the Hughes' house they sent them by letter to Mr. Wightman. The special mailman was a city constable.

The Board is now calling for tenders to tear down the large brick house.

Produce Film On Safety

A film on accident prevention work was produced this week at the CGE by the National Film Board. This film short is the sixth in a series, Accidents Don't Happen, being made by the board for the Department of Labor. Other shorts in the series from one to four were also filmed at the CGE during the past several years. The fifth was made in Brantford.

Previous films in the series have covered safe clothing and shop safety. But this short attempts to show some of the difficulties of the safety supervisors. The film crew created unsafe conditions for illustrations.

A week Thursday the crew moved into the CGE to start shooting the short and this week worked through the induction motors, switchgear and machine shop departments. They finished the last shots Thursday and Friday in the main office. It is expected to run at least eight minutes.

Local photographer, Lewis R. Parks, has been contracted for the still shots which will accompany the film. These will be used mainly for promotion of the film. Usually the board sends a photographer with the filming crew but in this case Mr. Parks was selected for the job.

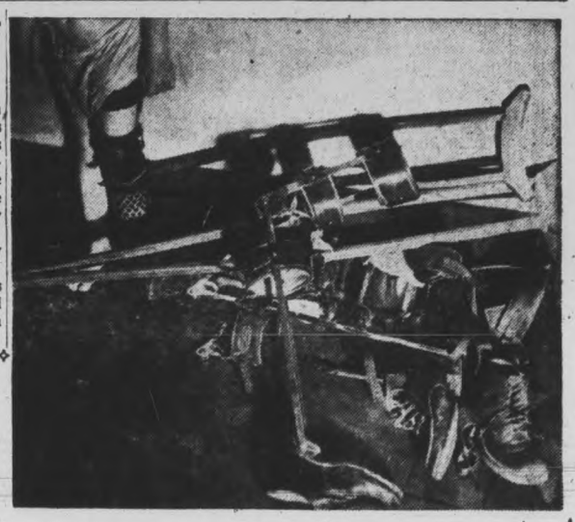
YOUNGEST MEMBER REPORTING his progress to Rotarian committee chairman Paul Irwin is little Duncan Patterson of Keene, who has been afflicted for two years and has had two attacks of pneumonia since November. With him is Mrs. Walter Perks, chairman of the YWCA swimming committee, and his mother, Mrs. Jack Patterson, Right. — Examiner Staff Photo.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

HIT AND RUN

Slight damage was done Friday afternoon to a car owned by James Rae, 29 Crescent St., when it was struck on the left side by a car that didn't stop. Rae was driving south on George St., near Hunter St., when a northbound auto sideswiped Rae's auto. Rae said the other car was on the wrong side of the road. PC Gordon Trennum investigated.

WELL REPRESENTED IN SOUTH



Ten per cent of the Peterborough Rotary club's membership made up their attendance a week ago at the St. Petersburg club in Florida. The American club had 661 visitors at its weekly meeting. From Peterborough attending were C. S. Cummer, J. K. Hughes, Ernest Braund, Charles Kingan, S. C. Warne, E. L. Sackville, J. A. Dewart, Douglas Miller and Harley Keefer. Three other Rotarians are in the sunny region, Stanley Curtis, Dunedin, Fla., and C. C. Pilon, Vero Beach, Fla., and Harold Deeth, Barbados, BWI.

After 30 Years Brother Drops In For Dinner

LINDSAY, March 24 — When Moris (Dick) Saville visited his brother, Norman, Friday, it was some time before he was recognized. He came to the house when the family was seated at the dinner table and nobody knew him.

It was just that the family hadn't seen him for 30 years.

Dick left here when he was 9 years old and is now employed at Dryden, between Fort William and Winnipeg.

A PILE OF BRACES and crutches beside the pool is mute testimony of the suffering of small polio victims that is eased by a swim. Proceeds from the sale of Easter seals will help to discard them altogether.—Examiner Staff Photo.

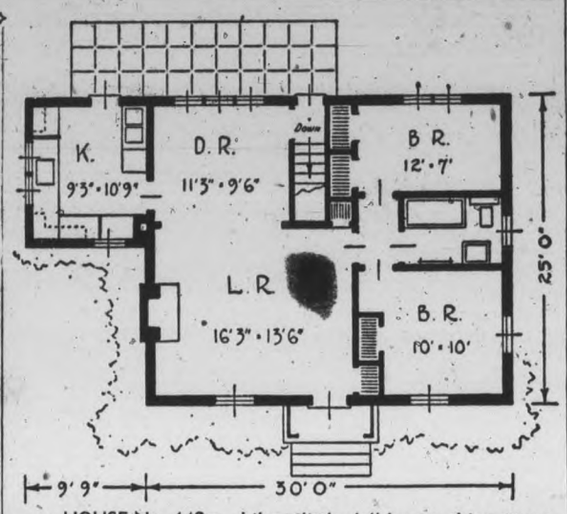
Laying Tiles, Dry Wells, Check Drainage Troubles



Do your basement walls show signs of dampness at certain points immediately after a downpour? If the basement walls were waterproofed, and weeping tile laid around the footings, it is possible that the drain from the bottom of your downspouts to the storm sewer is clogged, causing gallons of water to be left around your foundation walls. Check this point during a storm. Water may be seen gushing out between bottom of leaders and the top of tile drain pipe.

Perhaps your roof water is not carried to a storm sewer at all, but just carried a few feet away from the house, in which case you will want this condition remedied.

If there is no storm sewer in your district the most satisfactory method may be to connect a specially shaped tile to the end of your downspouts which will join underground drain tiles leading to a dry well.

A dry well is merely a hole in the ground more or less, filled with very coarse stones and covered over so fine soil can't get in and fill up the air spaces.

HOUSE No. 443 — Like a little doll house, this cottage of gleaming white clapboards presents a fascinating picture from the road. Shutters are green, and the single roof is weathered grey. Using the suggested plan shown here, there are five rooms. Open planning gives an appearance of roominess to both the living and dining rooms. The kitchen is large with "L"-shaped arrangement of equipment and cupboards. Notice that laundry tubs and washer are located here, too! This idea is growing in popularity, and is a great convenience since it is close to the clothesline. Tubs can be covered for use as counter space when not in use. Bedrooms have two windows each and good closet space. House contains about 14,00 cubic feet. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Water is led to a dry well and it then gradually seeps away into the ground. In some instances a drain leads away from the dry well if there is a suitable outlet for it. Always locate a dry well so the drainage from it is away from the house.

Barrel Well

A barrel put into the ground about a foot below the surface, its top and bottom having been removed, and the barrel filled with coarse gravel, will do nicely for drainage from downspouts. The top of the barrel is covered with wire mesh to hold soil and sod from sifting down into the gravel. Closed tile drains lead from the down spouts to the top of the barrel.

Another type of dry well is made of cement blocks laid in a circular hole. Joints are left without mortar. The top is covered over with boards and then wire mesh or metal lath. A layer of concrete is then applied which makes a re-enforced top for the dry well. The location will need to be such that its top is lower than the drain around your foundation walls. The drain tiles are led into such a dry well just below the top. The water seeps away into the ground. The diameter of the cement block dry well can vary from four feet to six feet or more, the depth averaging between four and six feet, all inside dimensions.

Protect Metal Surfaces

Here are a few tips on keeping the metal in your home in repair.

As applied in the building trade, "hardware" covers locks, door handles, door knobs, escutcheons, hinges, window fastenings, and lifts, switch plates, letterbox plates—all the metal finish that goes on wood trim. Your solid brass or bronze hardware may be kept polished or allowed to tarnish, according to the effect you prefer. But other metals should be examined occasionally to see that they are not corroding.

Steel window frames, porch railings, fences, ornamental ironwork, screens, and furnaces are other metal familiars in a house. The painting of metal surfaces, such as roofs and gutters, is necessary to preserve the metal and eliminate the need for repairs. Painting on galvanized iron and other metals is sometimes difficult. Paint may not stick well because of a film of grease on the metal left in the process of manufacture. This can be removed by thorough washing with soap and water or with a cloth dipped in benzene.

Loose rust must be cleaned off old surfaces with a wire brush, with a scraper or sandpaper, and then dusted with a dry scrubbing brush.

For a priming coat on metal surfaces, use a high-grade ready-made rust-inhibitive paint, which is available in a gray color resembling aluminum, in black, green, red, white or colorless. Or, mix 30 to 35 pounds of pure dry red lead with one gallon of pure raw linseed oil. Red lead is expensive and somewhat difficult to apply.

Conflicting Facts Promote Seaway

NEW YIRK, March 24 (AP)—Howard Cullman, chairman of the Port of New York Authority, said Thursday a "welter of conflicting facts and assumptions" have been used to promote the St. Lawrence seaway project.

He told a New York Rotary Club luncheon that "too much uneducated guessing" has been employed by those "sponsoring this project." He said it would have a "critical effect' on New York-New Jersey area commerce.

Cullman said the proposed hydro-electric facilities linked to the project could be "developed independently" somewhere else if the federal government would grant permission.

Restrictions Lifted On E. German Barges

BERLIN, March 24 (Reuters)—British authorities announced Thursday that they had lifted restrictions which now impound some 200 East German barges in West zone canal locks.

The announcement said "immediate difficulties on the waterways" had been overcome following an exchange of letters between Maj.-Gen. G. K. Bourne, British commandmant in Berlin, and Sergei A. Dengin, Berlin representative of the Soviet control commission.

The statement added that British and Russian transport experts were meeting today to discuss "general problems affecting inter-zonal canal traffic."

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC

presents a progress report of the Company's activities

As a supplement to the release of the Company's 1950 Annual Report, we present to the people of Peterborough our "human balance sheet"—an informal report which should be of interest to all who live and work in this city.

The year 1950 was one of continued progress for Peterborough Works.

Many improvements to plant and machinery were made during the year. Manufacturing methods were improved wherever possible. New items of machine tool equipment were installed throughout the plant and manufacturing facilities were increased to take care of the ever-growing demand for our products.

During the past year, Peterborough Works played an outstanding part in the manufacture of generating equipment for various hydro-electric projects that are being pushed ahead throughout Canada. In this way, we continued to contribute to the overall task of bringing better living to the people of this country. Production in this field was not, however, confined to Canada alone. Our products went far and wide and are becoming well known and respected throughout the world.

Today, we are faced with a challenging situation which calls for maximum production efforts to insure adequate defense of our country. Because of our extensive production knowledge and manufacturing facilities, the government is calling upon Peterborough Works to handle its share of this defense work. We are confident that, backed by the skill and talents of our employees, together with their continued whole-hearted cooperation, we shall do justice to whatever demands are made upon us.

L. F. McRae

MANAGER, PETERBOROUGH WORKS

Job Dividends

Upon reaching the retirement age, all C.G.E. employees completing twenty years or more of service receive a pension for the rest of their lives. The Company's 1950 contributions to the Pension Trust amounted to $1,450,000.

Employees do not contribute to the pension fund. Total contributions by the Company to the Pension Trust now amount to $8,780,000. This fund, which is set aside solely for the benefit of C.G.E. employees, is invested in first class securities, including a large block of City of Peterborough bonds.

During the year, 18 Peterborough Works employees went on pension—the highest for any one year in the history of this plant. We now have 80 employees on retirement pension and 13 of them have been receiving their pension for ten years or more.

In addition to retirement pensions, our employees enjoy many other job benefits. These include Group Life Insurance, Employees' Mutual Benefit Society, paid statutory holidays and paid vacations. They also share a modern cafeteria which provides good meals at reasonable prices.

The Peterborough chapter of the Quarter Century Club continues to grow and at the moment has 306 members.

Another item from which Peterborough employees benefit is the Suggestion Plan which has now been running for a number of years. During 1950, over 2,500 suggestions were received from employees for a total payment in awards of $9,000. One employee received $350 for a single suggestion.

Apprentices

During the year many young men took advantage of the Peterborough Works Apprenticeship System to set them off on the first steps of a successful career. In 1950, 147 apprentices were in training and 25 completed their training during that time.

Since the Apprenticeship System was started, over 1,000 young men have been "signed up" as indentured apprentices—many of them have risen to hold top positions in Canada's electrical industry.

Payrolls

Employment continued to rise at Peterborough Works during 1950 and $12,176,953 was paid out by the Company in wages and salaries. This huge payroll is a record in the history of our plant and, naturally, contributes to the prosperity of this city.

Despite product changes and the moving out of certain items of manufacture, the Company created hundreds more jobs throughout the year and we finished up the year with 4,770 employees as compared with 4,129 employees the year before.

Compared with latest available statistics, the average weekly earnings at Peterborough Works are $2.79 above the average for the electrical apparatus industry, and $4.58 above the average for all manufacturing industry here in Ontario. In addition, C.G.E. has recently offered substantial increases to all employees.

In the 1950 Canada Savings Bond Drive, Peterborough C.G.E. employees purchased more than one million dollars' worth, through payroll deductions alone. This was in addition to the cash purchases made at their own banks.

C.G.E. A Safe Place

We are constantly striving to make our plant the safest place in the community in which to work. Every possible safeguard is provided to protect the health and safety of employees including emergency medical service by a staff of competent nurses, operating in modernly equipped dispensaries. We continually strive to reduce our already very low accident rate.

Plant

1950 was a year during which we consolidated our operations following the many millions of dollars spent at Peterborough Works on our postwar expansion programme. Nearly $600,000 was spent on plant developments and improved working conditions during the year and we have further developments lined up for the year that lies ahead. This modern equipment and production facilities, the result of a ten million dollar post-war expansion programme at Peterborough, enables C.G.E. employees to produce first quality products and helps maintain steady employment at the plant.

Community

We are proud of the participation of C.G.E. men and women in all activities of the community. Their contributions to the civic life, to church groups, and to all community programmes cannot be measured in dollars and cents alone—they have a definite influence on the progress and stability of Peterborough.

The Company, also, played its part in civic affairs; as Peterborough's largest single taxpayer and largest employer, it contributed greatly to the economic life and progress of our city and our community.

40th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Heath of Norwood are celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary on Easter Sunday. Actually Mr. and Mrs. Heath were married on April 17, 1911. However, because the date fell on Easter Monday in that year, they have always celebrated their wedding anniversary on Easter Monday. This year they made a change ande are celebrating it on Easter Sunday so that their relatives may visit them for an anniversary celebration. Before moving to Norwood, five years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Heath lived in Peterborough.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I have been a constant reader of your paper for eighteen years. I would appreciate it if you would kindly print a recipe for whole wheat bread in the cooking section some time in the near future.—Mrs. E. M.

Homemade Whole Wheat Bread

ANSWER: Eighteen measuring cups 100 per cent whole wheat bread (fluff the flour up with your hand as you measure it so that it is not packed) Put it all in a big bowl.

Scald 4¼ cups pasteurized skim milk then cool it to lukewarm. To this add 2 tablespoons peanut oil or 4½ tablespoons melted margarine, ½ cup powdered skim milk, 2 tablespoons salt, ¾ cup Barbados light molasses, 3 eggs. Beat these six ingredients well together.

Dissolve 3 packages quick-acting granular yeast in 1½ cups lukewarm water with 1 tablespoon molasses (this takes about 10 minutes). When ready add to the milk mixture and mix well, then add this mixture to the flour. This is sticky and a bit messy to knead, so the first time it is best to knead it right in the bowl until it is well mixed.

Cover well and set aside in a warm place in the vicinity of a register or radiator or stove to rise—until when it is pressed very lightly with the finger a dent is left in the dough. This takes at least 2 hours and the dough is from 2½ to 3 times its original size.

Punch the dough down to loosen it from sides of bowl, then turn out on floured board and knead until it is quite satiny—this requires about 24 turns of the dough.

Divide dough into five equal parts, and fold each under to make even looking loaves. Put in greased loaf pan, cover and let rise again till another dent is left in loaf when touched with finger—about three-quarters of an hour this time—but be sure it has risen sufficiently or loaf will not be light when baked.

Bake 365 deg. Fahr. till bread is free from sides of pan. Do not put on bottom shelf of oven or bread will burn on bottom. Second shelf is better and time is about three-quarters of an hour. Remove from pans at once and place in rack to cool so bread will not be soggy. If desired bread may be brushed with melted butter when put to cool.

Throughout use whole wheat flour to sprinkle your kneading board.

Write again, anyone, if you need help with this whole wheat bread. I have heard from dozens of readers since I first printed this in February and all reports are enthusiastic—proving good bread can be made from written instructions, even if the maker is an amateur.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I am still enjoying your column as much as ever.

I would appreciate it very much if you would kindly send me a recipe for "chocolate devil's food cake" with a date filling and a rich creamy fluffy chocolate icing.

If it is not too much trouble could you also send me a recipe for individual "chicken pies,"—one that is filled with a thick gravy and chicken only. Mrs. J. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Devil's Food Cake

Two cups sifted cake flour, 4½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup butter or shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 3 well-beaten eggs, 3 squares unsweetened chocolate melted, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure it and add the baking powder, salt and sift 3 times. Cream shortening well and gradually cream in the shortening, then the eggs and beat very well. Add chocolate and beat. Sift in the flour mixture alternately with the milk, about one-third of each at a time. Add vanilla. Bake in 2 butter-paper-lined layer cake tins at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes.

When cool put together with

Date Filling: One cup chopped dates, 2/3 cup sugar, 2/3 cup water. Stir together over low heat until smooth and well blended and dates are soft. Do not spread on cake when hot—wait until it cools to lukewarm.

Spread entire cake with

Fluffy Chocolate Frosting: With electric or rotary beater beat 1 large egg in a medium sized bowl until it is very fluffy. Sift into it 2 cups icing sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Then add ⅓ cup very soft butter or margarine, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on tops and sides of cake. Let cool before cutting, for the chocolate and butter both harden and cut beautifully when cold.

Please see one of next-week's columns for individual chicken pies.

✧ ✧ ✧

It is Easter Eve. I cannot let this opportunity go without extending my personal greetings to the readers I have come to know through these columns.

May the new hope that is inherent in the Easter message come alive in your hearts and lives.

Ottawa Economist To Survey Nursing

TORONTO—(CP)—The Canadian Nurses Association has announced the appointment of Dr. Pauline Jewett, Ottawa economist, as director of an internal study of the 30,000-member organization.

A graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, Dr. Jewett already is on a Canada-wide tour to confer with provincial nursing associations and other health and welfare groups. Jail 697 Women In Winnipeg During 1950

WINNIPEG—(CP)—One out of every eight persons arrested in Winnipeg last year was a woman.

Chief Constable Charles MacIver's 1950 report shows that 679 women were jailed during the year. They were accused of offences ranging from drunken driving to housebreaking.

Twelve of the women offenders were listed as having "escaped lawful custody." Ninety-four were girls between 16 and 20. Another 220 ranged from 21 to 30, and 16 were in the 61-70 bracket. One elderly offender was listed as between 71 and 80.

Drunkenness on city streets was the most frequent offence. A total of 151 women were arrested on that count. Another 106 were held for violations of the Manitoba Liquor Control Act.

Two women were charged with driving motor vehicles while drunk. And there were three cases of assault occasioning bodily harm, one of manslaughter, one of wounding, 19 of disorderly conduct in the streets.

The police laid narcotics charges against six women. Two were arrested for housebreaking and light fingers brought another 74 into court.

Junior Homemaking Clubs Plan Achievement Day

Junior Homemaking Clubs of Peterborough county are participating in Achievement Day at the YWCA on March 31. A total of 50 girls between the ages of 12 and 26 and representing eight centres will display work that has been completed in a five month period.

In October 1950, girls in the districts of Buckhorn, Belmont, Fairview, Fraserville, Havelock, Norwood and Orange Corners began a unit project entitled "Being Well Dressed and Well Groomed." Local leaders attended a course at this time where they were given training needed to teach and guide their groups in this work.

Since October, eight to 10 meetings have been held in each community. These meetings have entailed comprehensive training in the principles of good grooming. Among the topics discussed and demonstrated were care of hands, face and hair, the best methods of laundering clothes and the fashioning of a slip. In addition they have learned the problems of working with rayon, the value of good patterns, how to follow instructions and how to work in co-operation with one another.

The training course taken by the leaders was conducted by Miss Jean Noble, home economist for the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Northumberland and Victoria. The home economist's work is in conjunction with the Women's Institute branch and the Home Economics Service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Miss Noble has been home economist in this district for the past two years. She is a graduate of the University of Toronto, receiving her degree as a specialist in household economics in 1949. Previous to that time she has participated in Junior Homemaking Clubs as a member in her home at Dufferin county.

"Our chief aim in these Junior Homemaking Clubs," Miss Noble told the Examiner today, "is to promote improved practice and develop appreciation of ideals and standards of successful home and family living. We hope to give young women the training and experience that will fit them to take their place in their communities."

Miss Noble went on to explain that each girl in the club is asked to do her best voluntarily, because there is no competition in this work. Next Saturday at their achievement day they are given the opportunity to study what has been accomplished by girls in other parts of the county.

Achievement day will be attended by the mothers and interested friends of the girls taking part.

Love, Cheerfulness, Peace Needed To Make A Home

What does it take to make a real home? You can't make one just with stones and bricks, for there are palaces filled with period furniture and priceless ornaments that are no more homes than is a shop or a jail or a museum. There are shabby cottages that men and women remember as home through a lifetime.

You can't make a home just by good housekeeping for there are houses in which every meal is a feast, where every floor is swept and scrubbeed and garnished, where every chair is in its appointed place and yet from which husbands and children flee as if from a purgatory. And there are other houses in which the food is always ill-cooked, where disorder and confusion reign and yet which is a home to which tired men and restless children turn as to a sanctuary from the world.

Dorothy Dix

You can't make a home just by assembling the family units of husband, wife and children under a roof. There are houses that are little bits of paradise and there are other houses that are hells on earth. There are family circles bound together not only by relationships, but by tenderness, affection and mutual helpfulness. There are other family circles filled with strife and antagonisms and a sort of blood hatred. There are homes to which children return as a bird to its nest, and other homes from which the children shake the dust off their feet as soon as they are able and to which they never go back.

What Does it Take?

So what does it take to make a home, this thing that we all crave more than anything else in life and which we all try to fashion with our bungling hands, and which sometimes turns out a success and sometimes a failure?

It takes, first, love. The love of a husband and wife, the love of parents and children, the love of brothers and sisters. Love is the fire on the hearthstone, the light in the window that makes a home warm and bright. Without it everything is cold and bleak and as inhospitable as the tomb. There is nothing at which you can warm yourself. The married couple who have only a lukewarm liking for each other and whose children are unwanted cannot make a home. They only build a house.

To make a home takes teamwork. No man can make a home, no matter how domestic he is; no matter how much money he pours into it; no matter how many gadgets he puts in the bathroom; no matter how much he cuts the grass and trains the vines; no matter how amiable and sweet-tempered he is, if he is married to a high-tempered and nagging wife, or to a woman who regards housework as drudgery, or to one who spends her time on causes or clubs.

Nor can any woman make a home, though she cooks like a chef, pinches pennies and smiles like the Cheshire cat, if she is married to a grouch, or a tightwad, or a philanderer, or one who regards a home as the service station to go to for repairs. The only real homes you ever see are those made by a man and woman working together, shoulder to shoulder, and putting their backs and their hearts into the job.

Tranquillity Essential

It takes peace to make a home. It must be a place of serenity and quiet, a snug harbor in which the members of a family may drop anchor after the storms of the day. Its tranquillity must be so impregnable that the worries of life beat up against it, but break away from its door.

The house that is filled with bickering and strife and quarreling, where the husband and wife are at each other's throats and the children fight like cats and dogs, where the daily spat is as much a part of the breakfast regime as the coffee and where nobody can make even the most innocent remark without starting something is not a home. It is a madhouse.

It takes cheerfulness to make a home. There must be laughter and gayety and music and dancing in it. Its inmates must turn a smiling face on life, no matter how it buffets them. They must have learned how to make the best of the things they have and not grouch over their disappointments. They must have learned how to tell a funny story instead of a tale of woe.

There are houses which you dread to enter because the air is always filled with gloom and where all that you hear are lamentations and postmortems over dead and gone sorrows, and you turn from them thankfully to enter the homes that are really homes, where the atmosphere is so surcharged with sunshine that you go away feeling that God is in His Heaven and all's right with the world.

It is a big job making a home. And the finest there is. Pity so few men and women know how to do it.

Your wife is teling an anecdote to a group of friends and she makes a statement you think is wrong.

WRONG: Interupt her to say flatly that she is wrong.

Bush League Finishes

WARSAW, March 24 (ENS).—The climax of the Bush League hockey season was seen here Thursday night as Burn's Bridge, North Dummer and South Dummer pitched in together in a vain effort to conquer the Irish, the latter winning 3-2.

Wm. Darling, rink committee president, presented the Harding Trophy to Douro's captain, Dan Sheehan, who thanked the committee, the opposing teams and the fans for co-operation during the season. The Frederick Payne Trophy was presented to manager Gordon Hamblin of the runnersup, North Dummer team, goalie Frank Keating accepting it. James Hawthorne extended congratulations to the clubs con-

Canada's touring Lethbridge Maple Leafs Friday night were formally presented with the second International Hockey Trophy they have won within a week.

Last week in Paris they took the world championship. Friday night they were handed the newly-inaugurated Winston Churchill Cup—named after Britain's wartime prime minister.

The Leafs clinched the Churchill Cup Thursday night when they beat England. It was their second straight victory in a three-game series. The night before they trimmed the U.S. world championship entry — the Bates team from Lewiston, Me.

Lethbridge's 30-year-old playing coach, Dick Gray, received the cup from the British Ice-Hockey Association secretary, John (Bunny) Ahearne, at a rink ceremony Friday night.

At Winnipeg, Moose Jaw Wildcats Friday night captured the Western Canada's women's hockey championship, defeating Winnipeg Canadienettes, 3-2, before more than 1,000 fans.

The victory was the second straight for Wildcats in the best-of-three final. They won the first game, 5-4, in overtime last Saturday.

Mike Kelly of Jacksonville, Fla., 22-year-old lightweight, has been signed to meet Toronto's Alan McFater in the main bout of a boxing card at Toronto Monday night. Kelly replaces Irish Tim Dalton of Chicago, unable to go through with the fight because of an injury.

The New York Rangers, eliminated from the Stanley Cup playoffs, will close out the National Hockey League season Sunday against Chicago with four members of the amateur New York Rovers in the lineup.

The four rookies are defencemen Bob Wood and Dick Kotanen and forwards Bill Kyle and Vic Howe. To make room for the newcomers the Rangers will bench defencemen Frank Eddolls and Wally Stanowski and forwards Petti Lund and Alex Kaleta.

Wet grounds prevented play today, opening day of the second of two England-New Zealand cricket test matches at Wellington, N.Z.

Three Ontario youths have made the jump from juvenile to professional baseball, W. G. Stephenson, sponsor of Stephenson Bruins of the North Toronto Baseball Association, announced Thursday night.

Stephenson said Bill Davies, 18, an infielder, and Alex Harasym, 18, a catcher, both of Toronto, have been signed by St. Louis Browns of the American League. Bill Jamieson, a left-handed hurler from Cobourg, also inked a St. Louis contract.

Jolliffe Opposes Sales Tax Plan

TORONTO, March 24—(CP)—E. B. Joliffe, Ontario CCF leader, said Friday night his party is opposed to levying a three-percent sales tax in Ontario.

Addressing the 17th annual convention of the Provincial CCF Party, Mr. Joliffe said there is no need for the tax in Ontario. He said Premier Frost had avoided discussing this question "except to say that such a sales tax would not be necessary if only the federal government were kind enough to relinquish the field of liquor taxation to the provinces."

Mr. Joliffe said "we are told the constitution may soon be amended to make it possible for the province to levy a hidden sales tax of three per cent. This would be a monstrous injustice to the hard-pressed consumer. Nothing is more inequitable or more deceitful than a hidden sales tax. It bears most heavily on those least able to pay it. It hides behind the retail price tag."

Warsaw Takes EPL Title Over Hastings

HASTINGS, March 24 (ENS)—It was a big night for Warsaw Flyers in the final game of the East Peterborough League series played on Hastings ice.

They handed Hastings the worst shellacking of the season, a 15-6 nightmare and skated off with the Dit Clapper Trophy as winners of the E.P. League.

Warsaw turned the light on at 10:05 of the first period and flashed it so often after that that the Hastings boys had spots in front of their eyes.

Warsaw were plenty hot, while Hastings couldn't seem to click in any department until the last period when they finally forced the play, outscoring Warsow 2-1.

The Lonsberry brothers, E. Payne and Paterson stood out for Warsaw, while the line of O'Rourke, Greenley, Cobbledick worked hardest for Hastings and West stood out on defence. Mueller replaced McKinty in the nets in the final period and handled it well.

At the conclusion of the game Sherwood Payne, president of the EPHL presented the Clapper Trophy to L. Lonsberry, captain of the Warsaw team.

Hastings—Goal, S. McKenty; defence, T. Brown, M. Mueller; centre, J. Crowley; wings, K. Oliver, R. Edwards; alternates, D. West, R. Lockhart, P. Stevenson, J. O'Rourke, M. Laver, L. Thomas, B. Cobbledick, G. Greenley.

Warsaw—Goal, B. Payne; defence, G. Payne, T. Eadie; centre, B. Lonsberry; wings, D. Andrews, M. Patterson; alternates, J. Watts, D. Sharpe, S. Lonsberry, E. Payne, H. Smith, M. Batten, V. Dennis, V. Clements.

Two Players Fracture Arms

MILTON, March 24—Two broken arms were sustained by defensemen in an OHA Junior "C" game here Thursday night. Port Hope Panthers won the game, 8-4, over Milton Co-Ops, and took a 3-1 edge on the semi-final round.

Owners of the fractured limbs are Bernie Flesch of Port Hope and Bill Thompson of Milton. Flesch's left arm was broken by an opponent's stick in the second period. Thompson's right-arm injury was inflicted when he was bodychecked early in the game.

They were the third and fourth fractures of the series, which has gone four games so far. Previously, Milton's Bill Dutchuk had his jaw broken in a fight and Port Hope's John Fisher suffered a broken nose in a collision with one of his teammates.

On the hockey side of things, Coon Medhurst led the Panthers victory with three goals while D'Arcy Campbell had two. Don Goody, Jon Fisher and Jerry Lawless fired one each.

Don Whaley led the Co-Ops with two goals, Doug Fay and Walter Vaughan scoring one each.

Raise Prices

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 24—(Reuters)—Two of Scotland's leading newspapers, The Scotsman and The Glasgow Herald, Friday announced price increases from two pence to three pence starting. April 2. The increases were said to have been made because of a heavy rise in the price of newsprint and in other production costs. Most British mass circulation papers, averaging six pages an issue, still sell for one penny.

Stock Markets Drifted During Week

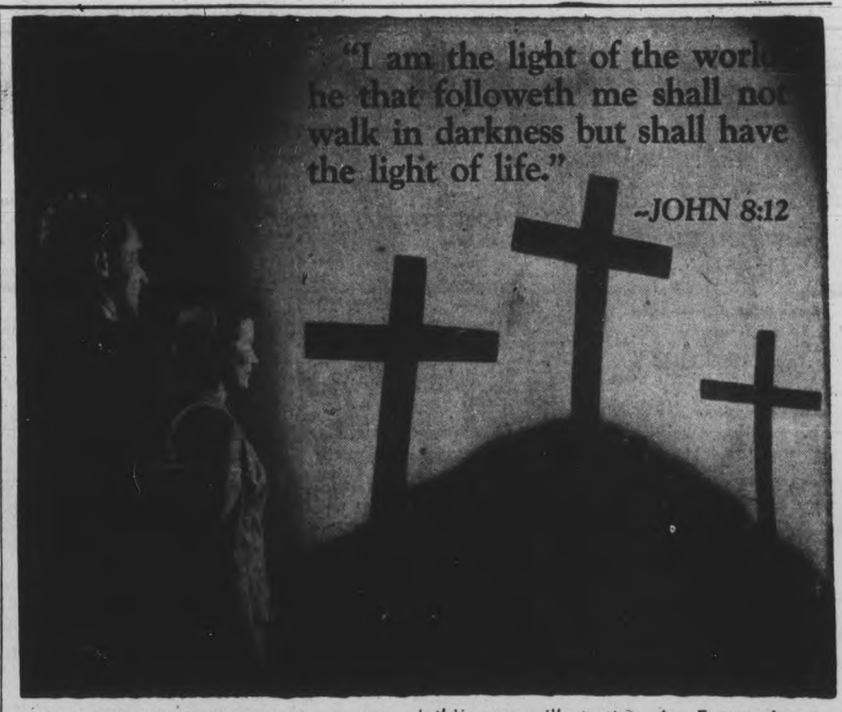
By BILL DANIELS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stock Markets drifted this week. Trading seemed devoted to squaring up accounts before the long Easter weekend.

Sales on Canadian markets were the least they've been since Christmas—New York on Monday recorded its quietest day in 10 months.

Prices, however, were steadier. For the first time in five weeks the Toronto Stock Exchange indices and the Montreal averages ended slightly higher than the week before. The Associated Press New York average also was up but it didn't reach its high of three weeks ago.

Prices ended last week on the upward path. On Monday prices eased in dull trading in New York and on Canadian markets they were fairly mixed and weak.



Slipped Slowly

Tuesday, prices on all markets slipped slowly. In New York, Aircrafts came to life late in the session and Wednesday they led that market higher. Their demand died out in mid-session Thursday and the New York list, as a whole, closed mixed. Canadian markets were mixed with narrow changes both Wednesday and Thursday.

All stock exchanges celebrated Good Friday and were closed. Canadian exchanges remained closed today while New York was open. All stock exchanges will be closed Monday.

The current over-all market picture seems to be one of spring cleaning. Six weeks ago the bull market halted after 20 months of almost uninterrupted advance. Investors became more cautious and selective in their dealings.

The market failed to show any really major break like many expected. In the last few weeks several sell-offs did begin but they did not develop to any extent and in view of the previous rise they seemed unimportant. Many observers said the market was tired after its long advance and investors were taking time out to assess the situation and re-organize. A Stock Market appraisal in the Wall Street Journal said: "From a speculative standpoint there have been few or no excesses. That is a strong point in the current market."

IN A WORLD OF CHAOS, war and the hardening of hearts against the teachings of the Master, there is hope in the beautiful story of the Resurrection. Posing for this scene illustrating the Easter theme are Phyllis Morris, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Loren Cook, of Lansing, Mich., both students at the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago.

Wins Diploma In Life Saving

A former member of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club and presently swimming for the University of Western Ontario, Ninita Bogue, 161 Romaine St., received from England this week the Royal Life Saving Society's diploma. Late in January Miss Bogue received word from London, England, that she had been awarded the diploma, one of the Society's highest awards.

The diploma reads: "Awarded to Ninita Bogue, for advanced practical skill in swimming and life saving together with theoretical knowledge of physiology in relation to the circulation, respiration and resuscitation with ability to impart with such knowledge."

Miss Bogue was examined in her water work by Mrs. Pansy Forbes, coach of the ornamental swimmers, and Gordon Minty, coach of the YMCA Swimming Club. In October at the University of Western Ontario her theory work was examined by the board of directors of the Society in London, England.

This award is difficult to receive. Last year five Toronto swimmers tried but none passed. This year several other Peterborough swimmers are working

3 Inquiries Into Sarnia Fire

SARNIA, March 26. (CP)—Two separate investigations by the Ontario Fire Marshal's department, an inquest and a thorough probe by fire insurance underwriters, have started into Saturday's fire which swept a Front street business and apartment block, causing heavy damage and claiming the life of an apartment dweller. It is too early to ascertain what steps will be taken toward rebuilding of the gutted buildings. Places where damage was confined to smoke and water will likely be operating in a few days. Meanwhile the city police department is maintaining constant guard on the burned-out buildings until boarding up can be undertaken by insurance adjusters.

Dr. W. D. Logie, indicated that an inquest might be ordered into the death of George Forst, 48-year-old restaurant worker, found in an upstairs apartment over the Sarnia Peiland Shop in the basement of which the fire is believed to have started.

Blame Overheated Furnace

Cause of the blaze is generally attributed to an overheated furnace in the basement of the pet shop. Normally the furnace is cared for by an unidentified truck driver for a Toronto newspaper who usually checks it in the evening.

The fire was first discovered by George McGregor Saturday. When he neared the furnace, he was met by a gush of flame.

Ontario Fire Marshall W. J. Scott will today receive a detailed report from fire services inspector George Alexander on what equipment was necessary to fight the fire. Inspector Alexander, sped here Saturday afternoon and was able to see the final phases of the disastrous blaze.

MacArthur's Peace Talk Starts State Dept. Row

WASHINGTON, March 26. (AP)—The dispute that rages between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the Truman administration over how to win the Korean war has reached fever heat again. The administration may shortly ask the general to clear with Washington anything he says involving broad foreign policy issues. This may not prove acceptable to MacArthur, but State Department officials privately say something must be done to prevent a repetition of last week's exchange of shocks and harsh words between Tokyo and Washington.

President Truman circulated last December a firm, government-wide directive declaring that any statement on foreign policy by any official or employee of the government in a speech, article or other public utterance, should be cleared with the State Department. Informants said that order was called to MacArthur's attention at the time.

Friday night MacArthur left Tokyo for the 38th Parallel area of Korea to order United Nations forces to cross into North Korea as tactical requirements made necessary.

Taken Unawares

Before leaving he issued a statement making a bid for peace talks with the Communists, said the Chinese Reds were licked and incapable of waging war and warned that if the United Nations launched attacks on Chinese bases and coastal areas, China would probably suffer military collapse.

This statement caught the State Department completely unawares. It apparently also caught President Truman without advance notice. After several hours of parleying, including a talk between State Secretary Dean Acheson and President Truman, a statement was issued saying Washington had had nothing to do with MacArthur's statement.

The Washington statement said MacArthur had authority to conduct military operations but that political issues which "he has stated are beyond his responsibilities" are being dealt with in the United Nations and by governments having troops in Korea.

The key MacArthur clause which set off the major alarm here was that the United Nations could probably suceed in forcing a military collapse of China by a limited coastal-attack and base-bombing war. A Tokyo dispatch Sunday suggested MacArthur probably was trying to divert the Chinese Reds' attention from Korea to the danger of a coastal attack.

Whatever his objective, any statement he makes—even hedged in with "ifs"—about extending the war in the Far East always sends huge shudders among the Canadian, British, French and other friendly governments.

Kennedy Reported Planning To Retire

TORONTO, March 26—(CP)—A Toronto paper says today that Agriculture Minister T. L. Kennedy of Ontario will retire at the end of the present session of the Legislature.

The newspaper says in a front-page story that he will be succeeded either by Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow or by F. S. Thomas, Progressive Conservative member of the Legislature for Elgin.

Mr. Kennedy, 72, would remain in the cabinet as a minister without portfolio.

Atomic Story Treated As Joke

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 26—(AP)—Residents of the fashionable Argentine resort of San Carlos de Bariloche were reported today to have treated atomic energy experiments on the nearby Heumul Island as a joke.

W. McFadden Duffy, assistant director of International House here, who visited the resort centre in February, said townspeople merely grinned whenever the atomic project was mentioned. Duffy returned here Sunday night after a tour of South America.

Argentine President Juan Peron announced Saturday that on Feb. 16 scientists had obtained "the controlled release of atomic energy" at a government pilot plant on Huemul Island.

Killed In Crash

BUENOS AIRES, March 26—(Reuters)—Fifteen persons were killed and four injured when an Argentine State airliner crashed today in Tierra Del Fuego province. The aircraft had taken off from Ushuaia, the world's most southerly city, for Buenos Aires and crashed a short while later at Rio Grande.

Island Cut Off 2 Weeks Has Acute Food Shortage

KINGSTON, March 26—(CP)—An acute shortage of food is developing on nearby Amherst Island, it was reported today from the colony, ice bound for more than two weeks.

Meanwhile, however, ferry service has been restored to Wolfe Island after drift ice piled up in the channel last Monday and made crossings impossible.

Strong winds Saturday night helped break up the ice jam. The wind cleared part of the channel in front of Stella on Amherst Island but a considerable amount of ice still blocks any chance of the ferry making a crossing. The ship, Amherst Islander, is not built to smash ice.

Medical supplies were dropped Sunday on Amherst as strong winds made an airplane landing impossible. The supplies were for Mrs. S. A. Cole who was flown to the Island last week after undergoing an operation in Kingston General Hospital.

Mrs. Cole developed pain during the week and a call for medical supplies was put in. Earl Cole of the Kingston Flying Club piloted the aircraft which flew in the drugs.

More than two weeks of isolation is beginning to have an effect on residents of Amherst Island.

There is no meat on the Island and grocery store shelves are reported going bare. Small items like salt and baking soda are scarce.

Bread has been flown to the island many times since the ice prevented means of transportation. But now the warm sun is melting the frozen ground and softening the ice, making landing of a plane dangerous. One plane was wrecked last week while attempting to take-off on Wolfe Island.

Proclaim Martial Law In Oil Field Region

TEHRAN, Iran, March 26 —(Reuters)—Martial law was proclaimed tonight in seven localities of the South Iranian oil fields, including the great oil refinery centre of Abadan.

This action by the Iranian cabinet followed a spreading strike today of students and apprentices of the anglo-Iranian oil company.

The capital city of Tehran has been under Martial Law since the prime minister was assassinated earlier this month because he opposed a Nationalist move to take over the British-owned oil company.

The strikes in the oil fields today are said to be in protest against the nationalization scheme.

Crash Ends Kidnapping At Kingston

Boy 13, Captive For 36 Hours, Ottawa Man Held

KINGSTON, March 26. (CP)—Owen C. Dulmage, 29, of Ottawa, has admitted kidnapping 13-year-old Teddy Wainwright and holding him captive for 36 hours, police said today.

An employee of the Department of Transport, Dulmage was removed today from Hotel Dieu Hospital and lodged in Kingston jail. He was injured early yesterday when an automobile carrying him and his young captive plunged into a culvert on Highway No. 15, about 20 miles north of here.

Police, who have not yet laid charges against Dulmage, quoted him as telling them he was "sick of the whole business."

At home with his widowed mother, Teddy, uninjured in the crash, told a bizarre story of being bludgeoned on a Kingston street Friday night. The lad, apparently none the worse for his experience, said he was blindfolded, gagged and bound, taken by car to a farmhouse, forced to don a bathing suit, then tied in various positions and strung for a time by his ankles from a beam in the cellar.

Police at first refused to believe the story. "The policeman bet me all the money I had on me that I was telling a cock-and-bull story," said Teddy. "When a check was made he gave me 30 cents—all I had with me."

Subject To Spells

Police said Dulmage is subject to dizzy spells. They added that he appeared sorry for his actions and admitted the whole thing.

He suffered head injuries in the accident which wrote finish to Teddy's nightmare. Police said they were awaiting his recovery before formally charging him.

Relating the details of the story Teddy said a man following him hit him on the head Friday night then tied and gagged him.

"During the whole experience I was blindfolded until we hit the culvert on the way home," Teddy said.

"We drove, I don't know where but it must have been at least 50 or 60 miles. Later I found out it was on Highway 15."

Tied In Tarpaulin

He said he was taken into what he thought was a farm house, tied in a tarpaulin and left that way all night.

The next morning, Saturday, he was given breakfast. Then his abductor began tying him in various positions.

"He tied me in all shapes and forms," Teddy said. "At one point he tied me up and hung me from the ceiling for about five minutes."

Early Sunday the pair started back for Kingston. Three miles from Seeley's Bay, the car crashed into a culvert. The two made their way to the farm house of William Murray who drove them to hospital in Kingston.

Editor Escapes To Uruguay

MONTEVIDIO, Uruguay, March 26—(AP)—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz, fugitive editor-publisher of Argentina's muzzled newspaper La Prensa, today was planning to stay in temporary exile at his mother's Uruguay ranch, 150 miles west of Montevideo.

Gainza Paz has been declared a fugitive from justice by the committee of the Argentine Congress, which last week took over his independent newspaper.

He was cited for contempt of Congress because he called Congressional seizure of La Prensa a violation of Argentina's constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. When federal police sought to arrest him to serve a 15-day jail sentence, the publisher had disappeared.

In a telephone interview Sunday, Gainza Paz declined to reveal how he escaped from the Argentine police or to comment on La Prensa's situation.

His stepfather, Aaron Anchorena, said Gainza Paz arrived in Uruguay alone last Friday, the day after his arrest was ordered.

Army Takes Chance

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 26. (AP)—The Army doesn't know what makes Jack tick, but it wants him anyway. Jack Husband, 20, Southwestern State College student, passed his draft physical examination despite a fast, staccato ticking noise in his head. The racket has been going on in Jack's cranium since he can remember. He's so used to it—when the ticking stopped two times in his memory, the silence annoyed him. Army medics reasoned if Jack could stand the noise, the Army could, and passed him for induction.

Indict Moran In New York For Perjury

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—James J. Moran, resigned New York City water commissioner, was indicted on perjury charges today growing out of testimony before Senate crime investigators.

Also indicted on charges of lying under oath to the Senate committee was Louis Weber, acknowledged Brooklyn numbers bookmaker. The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury.

Moran, a long-time political protege of ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer, was accused of falsely telling the committee that Weber visited his office no more than six times between 1946 and 1950.

Forced to Resign

Moran was then deputy fire commissioner.

He was elevated to a lifetime, $15,000-a-year job as water commissioner by O'Dwyer shortly before O'Dwyer quit to become Ambassador to Mexico.

Just last week, Moran was forced to resign the water commissioner post after he was accused before the Senate committee of accepting $55,000 in "good will" gifts from the head of a fireman's association.

Hoover Urges Crime Exposure

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, today urged the Senate Crime Committee to continue its exposure of organized crime which "has polluted all too many communities of our nation."

He called also for local communities to take the lead in ruthlessly eliminating criminal elements and their ally, "the political renegade." Every community, Hoover suggested, should have a yearly grand jury investigation to scrutinize the administration of justice.

Hoover and Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath were before the Senate committee to discuss what new laws may be needed to combat crime.

McGrath urged that Congress tighten the laws against perjury—false testimony under oath—and give him authority to grant immunity to a witness who declines to testify lest he incriminate himself.

Testifying before the Senate Crime Investigation Committee, McGrath said he fears establishment of a federal crime commission might "lead to the creation of a national police force."

Runaway Express Car Struck By Freight

KITCHENER, March 26 (CP)—Traffic on the Guelph-Kitchener line of the Canadian National Railways was blocked early today by a freak mishap in which a westbound freight collided with a runaway express car.

The crash occurred about 3.45 a.m. near Breslau, about four miles east of here. No one was hurt.

The runaway car rolled from the Kitchener station onto the main line downgrade towards Guelph. The car, which had gone about nine miles, was moving slowly when the crash occurred.

The freight engine smashed the rear of the car lifting its rear-wheel assembly into the air.

A wrecking crew from Stratford, the division point, was sent to clear the line. One official said it was hoped the line could be cleared about 10 a.m. but the car and engine were still jammed together at 9.30 a.m.

S. Koreans 50 Miles Across 38th

Other UN Troops Solidify Lines South of Border

TOKYO, March 26. (AP)—United Nations troops solidified their lines on the Western front in Korea today and drove rapidly north toward the 38th Parallel.

Allied forces moved east from Munsan and linked up with an American division north of Uijongbu. The town is about 10 miles south of the pre-war boundary between North and South Korea.

Field dispatches said Red resistance melted. The Americans advanced rapidly despite soupy Korean mud.

The entire UN line drew closer to Parallel 38. It appeared the Allies could cross in force whenever they chose.

On the central front an American division was reported within two miles of North Korea. On the east coast South Korean patrols punctured the imaginary line, crossing and recrossing at will.

Far East naval headquarters said South Korean troops staged a commando raid 50 miles north of the Parallel Saturday. They landed on the Wolsa Peninsula and killed 100 Reds while capturing 69. Then they withdrew.

The peninsula is south of the Taedong Estuary which leads to Chinnampo, port city for the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Saves Tough Fighting

From the western front Associated Press Correspondent Jim Becker quoted United States officers as saying the link-up "saved us four or five days of tough fighting."

Officers said the Chinese 26th Army Corps, rushed into defensive positions north of Seoul only last week, had withdrawn. The only Reds spotted between the Americans and 38 was a single company equipped with tanks north of Uijongbu.

Parts of six Chinese and North Korean armies were spread between and around the North Korean towns of Yongchon and Hwachon. Yonchon is about six miles north of the border, almost due north of Seoul. Hwachon is about seven air miles north of 38 and 16 miles due north of Chunchon on the central front.

Boy 13, Mother Save 2 Children

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT., Mar. 26. (CP)—A fearless 13-year-old youth and young mother dashed through dense smoke and flames today to rescue two children trapped in a fire.

With Joseph Vigh at her side, Mrs. Jack Sloggett ran into her flaming three-room cottage in an outlying area of Stamford township to bring James Sloggett, age one, and his sister, Madeline, 4, to safety.

Mrs. Sloggett noticed her house on fire while visiting a next-door neighbor. Her screams as she ran toward the fire attracted Vigh.

Mrs. Pitre Appeals

QUEBEC, March 26. (CP) An appeal will be entered against the death sentence imposed upon Mrs. Arthur Pitre, it was announced today by Irenee Simard, her lawyer. Mrs. Pitre was found guilty a fortnight ago of murder in connection with the explosion and crash of an airliner at nearby Sault au Cochon in September, 1949. She was sentenced to be hanged July 20.

Ski Lift Cable Drops 35 Ft. 28 Hurt In B.C.

VANCOUVER, March 26 (CP)—A ski life cable jumped like a whiplash Sunday and sprinkled dozens of passengers along the lower reaches of nearby Grouse Mountain.

About 20 persons were listed as injured after the $100,000 chair lift swayed ominously and then dropped them as much as 35 feet to the snow-cushioned mountainside on the north shore of Burrard Inlet.

RCMP said the lift's 1⅛-inch cable jumped off its bull wheel after a lift chair "swung out of control."

Most of the injuries were minor. Five persons were hurt seriously while most of the others were released from hospital after treatment or stayed at the ski village to nurse their bruises.

Owners of the recently-completed lift released no damage estimate. They said it would be in operation again in 10 days.

Stranded At Chalet

Darkness closed in before all the injured had been carried down the steep slopes to waiting ambulances. The accident left hundreds of other skiers and tourists stranded at the chalet high on the mountain. They either spent the night there or hiked down the trail to the road.

An unidentified girl, being brought down the mountain on the lift after breaking her leg skiing, escaped further injury when she was deposited gently at the base of a 50-foot cliff.

LONDON, March 26 (Reuters)—Burglars robbed Capt. Peter Cazalet, the Queen's racehorse trainer, of jewellery worth £5,000 ($15,000) at his home at Plaxtol, Kent, Sunday night.

It was the second big Easter robbery in Britain. The other victims were movie star Tyrone Power and his wife, Linda Christian, who lost jewels and furs valued at between £10,000 and £15,000 when their London apartment was burgled Saturday.

Human Pyramid Rescue

DARBY, Pa., March 26 (AP)—Three policemen formed a human pyramid today to rescue seven-year-old Harold Conrad from his burning home. The plight of the boy was discovered after five brothers and sisters fled from the house. Three patrolmen spotted the boy at a second-floor window and they climbed on one another's shoulders to reach him.

Wet Spring Threatens Crops In Many European Lands

By Reuters News Agency.

Farmers across Europe are eyeing rain-sodden fields and wondering how they will make ends meet this year.

After the wettest spring in many years, thousands of farmers have still not planted their crops. Many will be ruined unless the weather improves soon.

One consequence of poor crops this fall might mean increased food imports from the United States and Canada.

Here is a survey showing how the weatherman has aimed one straight at Europe's breadbasket:

London — The most serious consequences of prolonged rains in Britain will be lower yields of wheat, the National Farmer Union said. Farmers are five or six weeks behind schedule.

Paris—French farmers, though concerned about the effect of heavy winter rain and possible floods in river valleys, do not think their work will be seriously endangered if the rain stops within the next week or so.

Rome—Heavy rain over three months has delayed sowing and plowing in several provinces. Officials are unable to predict what effects floods and delays will have on winter plantings.

Switzerland—All plowing has been completed but spring sowing has been delayed by rains.

Holland—About 10 per cent of Holland's winter wheat crop is estimated to have been lost as a result of bad weather in the last five months. Only 160,000 acres of wheat sown compared with 200,000 last year.

Sweden—Heavy snows in some central and northern areas will delay spring sowing and plowing.

Denmark—Hard frosts and snow have caused delay, but farmers are not yet seriously worried.

3 Warships Join Search For Aircraft

Have Little Hope Any Airmen Will Have Survived

SHANNON AIRPORT, Ireland, March 26. (CP)—Ships and planes swept the North Atlantic for the fourth day today seeking a trace of the missing United States Air Force Globemaster and its 53 American airmen. Speculation that the giant plane had been sabotaged appeared in the British press.

Officials, their hopes virtually dashed that any of the missing airmen would be found alive, remained silent concerning what might have happened to the big transport. But there has been speculation in British newspapers that it might have exploded in flight. The newspapers said they considered it odd that so few clues have been found in the relatively well-travelled area of the Atlantic.

A reporter for the London Daily Express wrote that in his opinion the plane probably was sabotaged. He wrote that unless the disaster had been instantaneous, the radio operator would have had time to switch over to his distress wavelength.

A giant U.S. navy aircraft carrier and two destroyers were joining the air-sea hunt for the Globemaster.

Experienced men at this Trans-Atlantic airfield feared it was impossible for anyone to survive three days or more in mid-Atlantic, no matter how good the survival equipment. There are no islands anywhere near the disaster area which might have given them refuge.

But the search went on with full intensity, concentrated on an area about 200 miles square 700 miles west of Ireland where wreckage and flares were reported by one of the search aircraft Friday.

About 60 American and British planes were to go out during the day, most of them Superforts from the United States Air Force establishments in South-east England.

Cambridge Wins Varsity Race

LONDON, March 26 — (AP)—Heavily-favored Cambridge won the 97th Varsity boat race today, defeating Oxford by about 15 lengths, one of the biggest margins in their ancient rivalry.

The unofficial time for the 4¼-mile horseshoe course on the Thames river in southwest London was 20:50, three minutes slower than the record Cambridge set in 1948.

By winning for the fifth straight time, Cambridge earned a trip to the United States to meet Harvard, Yale, Boston University, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology in races in April—the first time a British varsity shell has ever competed in the United States.

The race originally was scheduled for Saturday, but the Oxford boat sank in the rough water in the first three minutes.

Ontario Crew Enjoys Visit To Brisbane

BRISBANE, Australia, March 26 (Reuters)—The visit here of the Canadian cruiser Ontario has been "wonderful" for every man aboard, Commodore H. F. Pullen, her commander, said today.

After refuelling early Tuesday, the cruiser will take part in manoeuvres off the Queensland coast and then visit Sydney for 10 days.

Five hundred of the ship's company had their final Brisbane leave today.

Padre Ronald McLean, of Victoria, lunched with Archbishop O'Donnell, coadjutor of the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Brisbane.

They had not seen each other for 31 years—since they were seminary students in Rome.

The ship's officers were guests of the Queensland Turf Club and the ship's cricket and feild hockey teams met local teams.

1 Dead, 4 Hurt As 6 Sarnia Buildings Burn

SARNIA, March 26 (CP). — One man was killed and four others injured Saturday in a seven-hour blaze which raged through six buildings. Damage estimates ranged beyond $100,000. Firemen from three departments fought the flames.

Rumors that three others, including two children, were missing, induced a search of the ruins. The one body found was that of 58-year-old George Forst, of Toronto, a dishwasher. He came here two weeks ago.

Those injured were Amos Crist, and Nick Keravodos, restaurant employees, and two firemen, assistant fire chief George Esson and Richard Smith.

Crist and Keravodos were treated at hospital for cuts to the head, face and hands suffered when they broke a window in their apartment to escape.

Suffered Cuts

The firemen were given first aid at the scene for cuts suffered when they broke a window to insert a hose line.

The fire broke out shortly after 8 p.m. and was brought under control around 3 p.m. It left in its wake two gutted buildings in row of old, two-storey brick structures on Front St. The others had their top floors caved in.

For a time the blaze threatened the northern section of Sarnia's business area. Sarnia's three pieces of fire apparatus were joined by an engine from Port Huron, Mich., across the St. Clair River, and by men from the Polymer Synthetic Rubber Corporation. In addition, the Sarnia township fire department stood by, ready to combat any fires elsewhere in the city.

Pet stock valued at $8,000 was lost by Mrs. Isabel Urbon, proprietress of the pet shop. Included were 250 budgies.

BC Whale Fleet Boosted By Two

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Acquisition of two Norwegian killer boats by British Columbia Packers Ltd., marks an important expansion of the BC whaling industry. The new move brings to five the number of killer boats in the BC Packers fleet.

When the present group revived whaling here they took over an operation that had been written off as unprofitable in the minds of most businessmen.

The BC firm managed to clear both financial and technical hurdles and ended the 1949 season with a catch of 250 whales. Last year the total increased to 312 whales.

Production Boost

The expansion of the whaling fleet indicated a substantial boost in production and the revitalized industry will provide even more jobs for British Columbians this year.

A 10-man team left here this week for Brazil to take delivery of the first vessel at Rio de Janeiro and a company official will for purchase of the second.

The two new killer boats—the Polar V and Globe VII—are 250-ton vessels Norwegian-built, steam powered and about 160 feet long. They were both used in the Antarctic last year.

There is a strong demand for oil in Norway, Denmark and other European countries where the whale product is used in making margarine. Meat has found a steady market in the United States.

The whaling plant on Vancouver Island will employ 90 this season and the fleet will employ 75 more.

Fall In Gorge Pair Rescued

ELORA, March 26 (CP). — Following a search of several hours by anxious friends and relatives, Jack Mitchell, 22-year-old University of Toronto student, and his six-year-old nephew, Terry McNurchy, were found huddled together Sunday at the bottom of a 60-foot gorge in this town, 12 miles northwest of Guelph.

Mitchell had to be lifted from the gorge on a stretcher. He said he slipped going down the side of the gorge and rolled downward, stopping only a few feet short of the Grand River which runs through the bottom of the gorge. He suffered a broken ankle in the fall. His nephew was cold, but unhurt.

The couple had left Mitchell's home early in the morning to take pictures. A search was conducted several hours later when they failed to return.

Seek To Curb Air Rifle Sales

MONTREAL —(CP)— Stricter enforcement of laws concerning air rifles is sought by Montreal organizations interested in youth recreation and welfare work.

At least two youngsters have suffered injured vision recently by the pellets, it was reported.

The criminal code forbids sale of air rifles to minors under 14; a city by-law bans use of the rifles near city streets and public places.

"Example" penalties against storekeepers have been suggested. One newspaper sent a nine-year-old boy out to buy a rifle. He bought it without difficulty.

Interested organizations think air rifles should be licensed, registered and sold only to adults.

Judge J. G. Nicholson of the Montreal juvenile court suggested close watch be kept on stores violating present regulations and if there were any "big store" violators, the case would have immediate influence on smaller stores.

Representatives of Montreal's parks and playgrounds, boys' clubs and the Boy Scout organization all offered suggestions.

$10,000 Gift In 1949 Vicious Lie—O'Dwyer

WASHINGTON, March 26 — (AP)—William O'Dwyer charged today that the story of a $10,000 gift to him in 1949 was "a vicious lie" made up by a New York firemen's leader "to save his own skin."

The former mayor of New York telegraphed the Senate Crime Investigating Committee asking that "no consideration be given to or conclusions based upon" the testimony given the committee last week by John P. Crane, head of the Uniformed Firemen's Association.

Crane said he gave O'Dwyer $10,000 in a plain envelope as an "evidence of support" when O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, was running for re-election as New York's mayor.

Canadian Tourist Finds Excitement

LONDON —(CP)— Next time amateur playwright Dave Conway goes on a continental holiday he'll keep a tight grip on his passport.

Conway, from (161 Admiral Rd.) Toronto, left Canada recently for a holiday in France, Switzerland and Italy. Last month, on a visit to Genoa, he left his passport in San Remo.

"I was promptly arrested in the railway station by Italian police," Conway said in an interview. "I was held for a week. Finally the Italians took me to the British Consulate, which arranged to have my passport sent from San Remo and I was released three days later."

Conway said that during his imprisonment he had a scuffle with a guard, and was subsequently beaten up by three men he identified as Italian government employees. He said he decided not to make any charges against the men because "the whole thing probably resulted from language difficulties."

The 30-year-old Conway, who was born in Wigan, Lancashire, is director of youth activities at a Toronto church. In the last two years he has appeared in and directed several of his own plays, produced at the church. He also appeared in "Night Must Fall" at Winnipeg in 1944. He plans to return to Canada in June.

The commission's quarterly report on European steel production estimated that crude steel production of the western countries totalled nearly 53,000,000 metric tons in 1950, compared with a 1949 total of just more than 47,000,000 tons.

Production in the Soviet Union and in the European countries under its control totalled, at the maximum estimate, 35,788,000 metric tons in 1950, compared with a little more than 30,000,000 tons in 1949.

Fate Of Missing Yacht Becomes Mystery Of Sea

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.—(CP) — The fate of the small New Zealand yacht Argo, missing since January, seems destined to become one of the mysteries of the sea.

Radio enthusiasts have been glued to their sets night after night as weak signals, apparently from a vessel in distress, have been picked up, but air search has uncovered no clues.

The Argo was one of 20 yachts which left Wellington Jan. 23 on an ocean race of less than 200 miles to Lyttleton on the south island. They ran into a big storm which scattered the fleet.

Competitors limped into port over a period of several days. The crew of one vessel dismasted at sea was rescued by a trawler. The wreckage of another boat was found and the crew believed drowned. A week after the start one "lost" yacht was found blown miles out in the Pacific.

This left only the Argo not accounted for. A well-found vessel with a crew of six, it was the object of an extensive three-day air and sea search. The search had been discontinued when on Feb. 2 it was learned the vessel carried a radio set and a technician who could convert it into a transmitter.

Radio Search

Ship and aircraft radio control stations then joined amateur broadcasters in calling the yacht on different wavelengths asking for replies at stated times. Several amateur radio stations reported hearing a faint pattern of signals but they could not be located any more definitely than a wide area off East Cape, most easterly point of New Zealand's north island.

Air force planes, a naval frigate and commercial vessels combed the area without result as the mysterious weak radio signals continued to be heard.

A military plane dropped flares from a height of 6,000 feet and a signal purporting to come from the yacht was heard by several stations, advising that the flares could be seen. But the headquarters of the search and rescue organization at Wellington could not confirm the source of the message.

No Result

The surface search then shifted to a wide area which would have been in sight of the flare and thousands of square miles of ocean were covered, without result.

A curious point was that searching ships and aircraft on constant radio watch with powerful receivers did not hear the signals reported by land stations. A Catalina aircraft of the Royal New Zealand Air Force covered large areas with the latest radar equipment, again without success.

After examining all the evidence of sea, air and radio experts announced that none of the many messages received could be positively identified as from the Argo. But if they were a hoax, they could have been detected by direction finding methods. They remain a mystery.

11 Cars Derailed Children Enjoy Spilled Peanuts

OSHAWA, March 26—Unknown to both engineer and fireman, a broken arch bar sent 11 cars in the middle of a Trenton to Toronto freight train hurtling off the CPR tracks just east of here Sunday.

No one was injured as the cars, half of them loaded with general freight, ripped up the road bed and tracks for over 1,000 feet.

Engineer Vincent Pillo, 54, and his fireman, Eugene McGee, 24, both of Toronto, said "We didn't even feel a jar," until the emergency brake brought them to a stop about 20 feet short of Ritson Rd. S. level crossing.

The heavy steel wall of one car loaded with peanuts was burst open like a tin can when it smashed into the coupling of the unit ahead. Youngsters scrambled about the wreck filling their pockets with the free nuts.

Narrow Escape

The wig-wag signal and the short arm gate were operating as the 58-car train ground to a stop near the level crossing.

Witnesses said that some one would certainly have been killed had the derailment occurred seconds later. Heavy motor traffic was lined up at the crossing waiting to pass to either Highway No. 2 or No. 2A.

The engineer said the freight was travelling at about 40 miles per hour. But the force of a car flying over the edge of a 30-foot embankment sank it about six feet into the frozen ground along the right of way.

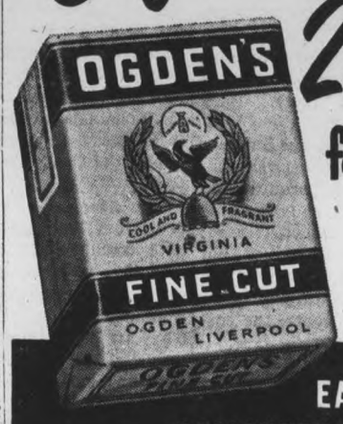
Easter Vespers At St. Paul's

Easter Vespers on Sunday evening brought to a successful close a most inspiring and devotional Sunday at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Commencing with an organ and piano recital by the church organist, Christopher Gledhill, and Gwen Craw the service, of a choral nature, followed with selections by both the Senior Choir and the Junior Choral Group under the direction of Mrs. Craw. The choral service was followed by "Cloud of Witnesses." This section of the service was in two parts. The first with ten young people taking the parts of the Biblical witnesses of the resurrection of Christ. The second formed the contemparary witnesses and these took the form of representatives of the various organizations in the church.

The recital brought together two of Peterborough's leading musicians. Mr. Gledhill has already established a name for himself as an outstanding organist and Mrs. Craw's reputation is well known for her work on the piano.

The senior choir sang "This is the Day" by Cooke, an anthem indicative of the joyous nature of the Easter season.



It has been said that music is necessary to a child's education because it produces a more reflective, cultural and religious frame of mind. This musical education is being accomplished and was ably demonstrated by the Junior Choral Group. Their diction and interpretation even from the youngest performers was a pleasure to the listening congregation.

Price Control To Control Inflation?

The Ontario Government's price freeze on milk went into effect last Thursday, March 15, and on Wednesday, March 21, night next it was removed, when Toronto retailers were allowed to raise the price of home deliveries half a cent a quart. This is a short, sharp example of the difficulty, perhaps impossibility, of freezing prices. The pressures are too great. There is pressure from the merchants, wholesale and retail, for higher sales prices to meet their rising costs. There is the demand of the farmer producer or the manufacturer for more money for his product. There is the demand of workers for higher wages. Such demands as these form a volcanic cone; pressures build up one on the other, and an eruption is likely.

* * *

By allowing the half-cent rise, Premier Frost may be letting off some steam, as a valve does. Nevertheless Toronto dairy workers have struck. There is not only the problem of being able to let off enough steam to avoid an eruption, but the resultant one—that any increases allowed build up the pressure in other directions. If milk costs more, the cost of living goes up.

* * *

In the United States a great framework of controls has been established in an attempt to box inflation. It is not working well. A few days after the Office of Price Controls froze prices and called for "roll-backs" (for instance, on the price of cars), the ceilings had to be raised and the roll-backs rolled forword.

* * *

Inflation cannot be warded off piecemeal. It requires an inclusive system of controls such as Canada had during the war, or a basic adjustment of financial credit and of the relation between supply and demand. A comprehensive control system such as Canada instituted when the last war began would be much more difficult to impose and regulate now than then, for two reasons. The first is that in 1939 and 1940 Canada was just recovering from the Depression (a deflationary period); there was no inflationary bulge in the economy. Now the country had barely adjusted itself to the post-war inflation of 1946-48 when rearmament and Korea hit it. Canada began Korea with its economy already inflated. The other reason is that the 1940 controls were devised for a period which had a foreseeable end. By 1945 the controls were already beginning to crack. Now Canada is involved in what may be a twenty-year struggle.

* * *

Basic adjustments to the financial structure can be made without attempting unwieldly controls, and the next Budget will undoubtedly make some of them: for instance, further reduction in credit and an increase in taxation which will reduce purchasing power, as well as help pay the enormous defence bills. A second adjustment may come if the war in Korea is stalemated, and a four-power conference is held in Europe and any agreement is reached. A lessening of international tensions will slow down the fierce rate of government spending for armament.

* * *

The most important means of hitting inflation is for the people themselves to resist it—by limiting their profit desires, by resisting, at wholesale and retail levels, the tendency to buy any thing and everything against the possibility of still greater inflation (this indiscriminate buying and stocking of goods increases the gap between supply and demand, and is thus inflationary); and by realizing that unbounded inflation can blow the top off the country's economy. It is easier to make adjustments now than to try to pick up the pieces after the explosion.

Ford Motor Company And Murder, Inc.

The link associating the name of the Ford Motor Company with that of the infamous group known as Murder Inc. is admittedly tenuous and obviously forged altogether unknowingly as far as the company was concerned. Nevertheless, the U.S. Crime Investigating Committee revealed its existence; the company confessed to being embarrassed, and has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to help it snap the link.

The Ford Company has a plant at Edgewater, New Jersey. The vehicles hauled from that plant are handled by the Automotive Conveying Company of New Jersey, the only firm of its type licensed by the I.C.C. to do business in the Edgewater area. The hauling company has fully met the responsibilities of its licence, and there is no suggestion of a complaint about inadequate service to the Ford Company. Yet the letter has asked for a complete change of stock ownership in the former, presumably to be forced by the I.C.C., and has also applied for a certificate of public convenience and necessity for a rival hauling firm.

What the Ford Company most properly objects to is one of the principal stockholders of the hauling company, a man named Joe Adonis. Mr. Adonis may be said to have a fair moral character in the strictly legal sense, since he has never been found guilty of anything worse than disorderly conduct. He is, however, second in command of the New York gambling syndicate headed by Frankie Costello, specializing in casinos, slot machines and crap games. And Mr. Adonis for many years had a first lieutenant named Albert Anastasia, reputed to be an able and very active member of Murder Inc.

In fact, Mr. Anastasia was once charged with murder, and the principal witness against him was one Abe Reles, another member of Murder Inc. The latter was confined in the Half Moon Hotel at Coney Island, with a heavy police guard in his room. Just as the former was about to have his day in court, the body of the latter was picked off the pavement, where it had landed from his room several storeys above. There was a brief inquest, no autopsy, no investigation by the Brooklyn District Attorney, at that time William O'Dwyer, who subsequently became Mayor of New York and U.S. Ambassador to Mexico. The case against Mr. Anastasia was dropped. Mr. O'Dwyer is now answering some pointed questions before the Crime Investigating Committee.

The situation is a product of the recently developed passion of crime syndicate executives for respectability. Presumably, they thought it could be purchased, since they had found men and women, life and death to be purchasable. They are being taught that not even the yardstick of the "big" criminal can be used to measure all men and women or society as a whole.

Does Anybody Read The Bible Message?

For many years we have printed a passage of Scripture on this page each day, under the heading The Bible Message. We wonder if anybody reads it.

The custom is an old one, held over from the days when newspapers were sometimes at a loss to find something to print to fill up an awkward gap. Most newspapers have dropped their Bible corner; we have not done so. But does anybody care whether we print it or not? On the occasions when pressure of space has forced us to leave it out we have had no protest. On one day, when owing to an error in make-up a long piece from Little Benny's Notebook was printed under the Bible Message heading, we had only one comment from a ribald reader who said the Bible was funnier than he remembered it. Of course we read it every day, in the course of proof correction, and often wish that the remainder of the paper could be couched in such excellent English.

People who read the Bible regularly possess copies of it and choose their own daily portion. Once again we ask: "Does anybody read our Bible Message, or care whether we print it or not?" For if nobody reads it we can use the space for more popular matter.

We shall be happy to hear from our readers on this point, if any are sufficiently interested to write.

Music In Peterborough

The Community Concert Association, which has brought so many fine musical artists to Peterborough, recently gave a concert in which the artists were chosen from among its membership, and an excellent concert it was. We draw special attention to that concert for two reasons: first we feel that it contradicts the frequent assertion that the capable amateur of music is disappearing; second, because we feel that more music-making on this level should be done in Peterborough.

Regarding our first claim, we have never joined with those who feel that the radio and the gramophone are killing home music-making; they have served, however, to kill some home music-making which was very bad, and richly deserved death. The ease with which the finest music, performed by the finest artists, can be brought into our homes today has raised the standards of amateur music immeasurably. A truthful recollection of an amateur concert twenty-five years ago will prove our point, for most people. There is more amateur music of good quality today than formerly.

Our second point is one which is often neglected, even by musical people. A wide and well-grounded musical taste cannot be formed by hearing music a few times a year, and by hearing only the best; those who seek to know music must hear it as often as possible, even if the performance is not always on the highest level. Radio and gramophone are wonderful helpers to the music-lover, but they cannot replace direct experience in the concert-hall. There are enough capable musicians in Peterborough to give us more music, and to provide us with chances to hear music which it not often performed.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

I WOULD like to break a lance in defence of that much abused animal, the amateur music-maker. Even before the days of radio Gilbert said,

"The amateur tenor, whose vocal villainies
All desire to shirk,
Shall during off-hours exhibit his powers
To Madame Tussaud's waxwork."

Today the chorus of disapproval is even stronger. More and more people are growing accustomed to the highest possible standards in technical proficiency by means of the radio and the gramophone. Nothing but the best is good enough for them. It is true that they are apt to put too high a premium on technical dexterity; artistic probity and depth of feeling are under-rated. If somebody can play Chopin's D flat major Waltz in a minute by dint of speeding up the middle section beyond recognition his reputation is made. Of course the poor blushing amateur feels hopelessly outclassed. He will continue to play or sing, but in a shamefaced and furtive way, like a drug-addict. I say to them after the manner of Karl Marx, "Amateurs of all lands, unite"! The musical culture of a country is not measured by the number of celebrity concerts but by the general level of amateur music-making. Without the amateurs there would certainly be no professionals unless they are all imported from outside. Music is not a "taste", like cigars, it is part and parcel of our everyday life. All the folksongs that are such a priceless part of a nation's heritage were put together by unlettered people, many of whom probably never strayed more than ten miles from their birthplace. The musical town is the one with good church choirs, choral societies, chamber music groups and so on, rather than the one with an imposing list of visiting virtuosi.

✧ ✧ ✧

JOHN Alden Carpenter, the American composer, recently celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday. It is reported that he was by no means optimistic about the future of American music because "the state of the world at present is so disturbing that it is not a good period for the creative artist." If this is true it is odd that America, which has been unravaged by war for nearly a hundred years, should have produced so much less of value than war-torn Europe. However I do not entirely agree with his thesis that the creative artist cannot flourish except during a period of peace and stability, however desirable in itself such a state of affairs may be. Haydn and Beethoven were composing in Vienna while the French were laying siege to the city; Debussy was writing in Paris during the agonizing days of the First World War; and Vaughan Williams penned the sublimely peaceful strains of his Fifth Symphony while the German bombs rained down on England. Although it can be said by and large that music reflects life we come across the paradox that they are often at odds with each other. The art of a great composer should not be taken for a branch of journalism, and any commentaries based on that hypothesis are bound to encounter serious difficulties. For my part I cannot share Mr. Carpenter's pessimism. Perhaps the very fact that there appears to be a certain journalistic trait in his own compositions influences his line of thought unduly.

✧ ✧ ✧

EASTER has come early this year, and though the weather is still rather more reminiscent of Christmas there is a promise of better things in the air. Compared with the latter Feast Easter has not quite so much to offer by way of carols (there are some Easter carols, however), but there is a wealth of great music inspired by the story of the Passion and Resurrection. The Passion music of Bach, Handel, Schutz, Palestrina, Charles Wood and many other ranks among the highest expressions of the spirit of man in music. As for Easter proper there is not so much to choose from, but Bach's Easter Cantata, Rimsky-Korsakov's Fantasia on Russian Easter Melodies and the section of Messiah dealing with the Easter message come to mind immediately. On the stage we have Wagner's Parsifal (anglice Percival) and of course the Easter hymn from Cavalleria Rusticana, though the main events of that rather sordid story have nothing to do with Easter.

✧ ✧ ✧

"AS an essay in discord to split the ears of the groundlings it out-herods Herod. There is more than outspokenness here; there is a studied harshness, invented and used deliberately for the expression of the new symphonic idea." This is a quotation from a recent book by Hubert Foss on Vaughan Williams. The layman may well ask what is the aim of music. Surely, he will say, it should aim at being beautiful, and any composer who deliberately writes discords is defeating his own ends. I am not so sure that beauty, in the narrow sense of smoothness and the avoidance of harsh progressions is the aim of music. If it is, how can one explain away such passages as the opening of the Mozart C major quartet? Beethoven, too, often shunned sensuous beauty in favour of rugged power, and Brahms is noted for the greyness (some say the muddiness) of his orchestral "palette". As you see, it is not necessary to appeal to Bartok and Co. to bolster up the case. Moreover the concepts of concord and discord have undergone considerable changes throughout the ages. In the earliest days of harmony only the perfect fifth and the octave were classed as concords. This survives to the present day in textbooks only, where these intervals are called "perfect concords", while the others are "imperfect". At the present day even the arrangers of dance music make free use of chords based on the whole-tone scale, while the added sixth, once considered "daring", is now the commonest cliche.

✧ ✧ ✧

CERTAIN composers, though not usually the academic ones, have aimed deliberately at sheer gorgeousness of sound, and have achieved that end fairly well, though it must be confessed that the musical thought is sometimes rather thin. Rimsky was an adept at producing the most elaborate and exquisite sonorities from the orchestra, but the simple peasant tunes that he often used to deck in such glittering finery sound ill at ease. Besides, he had an irritating habit of saying almost everything twice (if you do not believe me, listen carefully the next time you hear anything of his played). Wagner is one of the few composers who have achieved a synthesis of beauty of sound and profundity of musical content, and yet Wagner was in his day abused by many as the apostle of noise. In defence of his detractors it must be acknowledged that Wagner had introduced a completely new musical idiom, at least in his mature works. Moreover performances of his works were often undertaken by players unfamiliar with the new difficulties and subtleties and out of sympathy with the music. The standard of orchestral playing in Wagner's day was immeasurably lower than nowadays.

LAST FLING?

Letters To The Editor

INDIGNANT

Sir: Your editorial on ALCOHOL AND EDUCATION on Thursday March 8 was a shocking thing, and particularly so coming as it did in the middle of education week.

There are evidences in several places in the editorial that you were not wholly at ease in writing as you did. None knows better than a newspaper man the effects of alcohol and the present state regarding it in Ontario and none knows better that use of the word moderation in connection with it is a "fake, a delusion, and a snare."

But you choose your words carefully. "Presumably" it would not be "suitable" to tell children "if they drink at all" when they grow up, they should drink moderately." It would be "unsuitable" because "too many people would object". They certainly would. But why hesitate on that account? Why not go all the way? Do you care whether you do violence to the convictions and feelings of thousands of parents who believe that ANY use of alcohol as a beverage is DANGEROUS and want their children taught that truth? No, you are more concerned for the tender feelings of the "moderate drinker"—the "men of distinction" who can carry their liquor—(sometimes).

Let me say at once that I do not know any educationist or any temperance advocate that approves of merely NEGATIVE teaching about alcohol. We believe in positive education. We know that children will have to make their own choices when they grow up but we want them to know the TRUTH about alcohol.

You grant that children should be taught that "alcohol may make them drunk" and that "drunken people often get into serious trouble". But you do not say anything about the everyday fact that apears in your paper, that many people in serious trouble—with children lying dead because of their actions—swear that they were not drunk. They had been drinking but THEY WERE NOT DRUNK. But the child or adult victim is just as dead as if the culprit had been dead drunk. But we mustn't teach the children that moderation can be very dangerous!

We believe in scientific temperance education. Such films as IT'S THE BRAIN THAT COUNTS" and ALCOHOL AND THE HUMAN BODY" shown to school children, are not fanatical temperance propaganda. They are cold, scientific, clinical expositions of the effect of alcohol on the human system. It may surprise you to know that films such as these have been shown with strong approval of the staffs to the Collegiate, Public, and Separate Schools of Peterborough, to all other High Schools in the County and to many public schools as well.

Education for moderation is your theme. To suggest that you can EDUCATE FOR MODERATION IN THE USE OF ALCOHOL IS A TERRIBLE FALLACY. You can educate for moderation in many things but DEFINITELY NOT regarding the use of a poison or any habit forming drug. Ask any of the fine men or women who have found release through "A.A."—yes, ask any unreformed victim of drink if he ever intended to be anything but a "moderate drinker". O no! The theme song of the drinker always has been—is—and always will be—"ANOTHER LITTLE DRINK WON'T DO ME ANY HARM."

You say "alcohol used in moderation will not "necessarily" have undesirable results" The word NECESSARILY gives the case away completely. Can you guarantee that any boy who is schooled in moderation will not become a heavy drinker? No, not even the Examiner can guarantee that. It is not just the moron or the weakling that falls from moderation to excess. I do not need to tell you that. Your "Morgue" is too full of instances of persons of high capability and achievement who have gone that road to destruction. So far as children and youth are concerned particularly, we prefer to say TOTAL ABSTINENCE FROM ALCOHOL IS SAFE.

Your final statement goes "all out." You brush aside the qualifying words previously used. You bluntly say "THE ONLY EDUCATION ABOUT ALCOHOL WHICH IS OF ANY VALUE IS EDUCATION FOR ITS MODERATE USE" ("if it is to be used at all") Such a statement is ABSOLUTELY FALSE and will not be accepted by any thinking person.

You say that "children are not fools" Certainly they are not. They are children. They cannot be fools. Only older people can be fools, and despite your strong suggestion that all who teach anything but moderation are fools, I submit that the judgement falls the other way. In any case we do not take our advice in this matter from the Examiner, and if the world calls us fools we are in good company.

Yours very truly,
E. E. PUGSLEY,
Secretary,
County Temperance Federation.

REPLIES TO "AMUSED"

Sir: The memory can play funny tricks, mine played me one when I was helping my wife compose an answer to "Disgusted". I was so confident that I knew the identity of your correspondent that I referred to something that wasn't in her letter; the two-and-a-half years she had been here; I notice she didn't deny it.

I wonder if "Amused" has forgotten that she herself asked me if I had read her letter, and if she would be so amused if she knew that her conversation reminded me to post the answer, which had been in my pocket all day.

If "Disgusted" or "Amused" answers this letter I suggest she puts her own name on the bottom or if she still needs a penname may I suggest "Ashamed".

Yours sincerely,
GEORGE FOWLER.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH ENGLAND

Sir: I have followed, with some amusement, the controversy regarding the shortcomings of English immigrants to Canada and am inclined to agree with "Canada First" and his henchmen that there are far too many Englishmen coming here, taking the best of the jobs, houses, etc., from Canadians.

Having spent some years (incidentally, that was about all I did spend) in England, I discovered that visitors to that country had the same complaint to make. That is, they liked the country alright, the main drawback being that there were far too many Englishmen there too.

For security reasons I will refrain from mentioning my own nationality (Hoots Mon!). Yours, aye, MACDUFF.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty.

Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain: who layeth the beams of his chambers in the waters: who maketh the clouds his chariot: who walketh upon the wings of the wind....

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. (Ps. 104: 1-3, 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings.

They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. (Ps. 36: 7-9.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Five-year-old Christopher went to a party in a brand-new suit. When he came home, ragged holes had been cut into it with a pair of scissors. His mother gazed at him in consternation.

"What did you do to your beautiful new suit?" she asked.

"We played grocery shops," explained Chris. "I was a piece of cheese."

CCF Asks Gov't Intervene Over La Prensa

TORONTO, March 26 (CP). — Canadian government intervention in the seizure of the Buenos Aires Daily La Prensa was urged Saturday by the Ontario CCF party.

The 17th annual convention drafted a resolution demanding that the federal government offer political refuge to the newspaper's editor, Alberto Gainza Paz, currently sought by Argentine authorities armed with a contempt of congress charge.

The resolution also branded the government of President Juan Peron as "following in the footsteps of Mussolini" and described Paz as a fugitive from "the Fascist aggression of the Peron Dictatorship."

The submission came out for government overtures of protest through the Canadian Embassy in Buenos Aires.

Delegates Saturday returned E. B. Jolliffe to the post of provincial party leader. Miller Stewart of London was re-elected president.

Mr. Jolliffe urged the convention to clear the decks for an Ontario election either this year or next.

Joint Sponsorship

In a bevy of resolutions demanding action by both provincial and federal authorities, the convention also stood for joint Ontario-Federal sponsorship of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project if the United States fails to enter into an agreement.

The government's legislation providing a $65,000,000-payment to the five-year Canadian wheat pool was criticized by national leader M. J. Coldwell as falling short of the mark.

Vice-presidents elected: C. C. Ames, Timiskaming; L. J. Tait, Port Arthur; Mrs. L. J. Tait, Port Arthur; Archie Cherniak, Windsor; Lloyd Fell, Toronto Parkdale, Ted Isley, Waterloo South.

Members of the Provincial Council: David Archer, Toronto; Mrs. David Kass-Beggs, Toronto; True Davidson, Toronto; Michael Fenwick, Oshawa; Bert Godfrey, Toronto; Prof. George Gruba, Toronto; William Grummett, Cochrane; E. Plea For Japanese

MONTREAL, March 26 (CP)—A plea on behalf of Japanese-Canadians, whose kin are denied entry into Canada, keynoted discussions of the fourth annual convention here of the Japanese Canadian Citizens' Association.

At the weekend meeting, delegates adopted a program urging that representation be made to the Federal Minister of Citizenship and Immigration in the interests of those who were denied readmission to Canada following the Second World War.

Believes College Students Should Be More Mature

OTTAWA—(CP)—One of Canada's most outspoken generals and one of its most brilliant belives Canadian university students may be too young for their breeches.

Maj.-Gen. E.L.M. (Tommy) Burns suggests it might be wiser if the average university student waited until he was a little more mature before he plunged into the final phase of his educational career.

Deputy Minister of Veterans Affairs, the Second World War corps commander bases his belief on results of the government's post-war training for veterans. Some 50,000 service men were given university training under this scheme.

"We could produce a lot of statistics on the results," says Gen. Burns in an interview, "but boiling it down we come to the conclusion that the more mature student who knows what he wants, will get much more out of the university than the average young student who goes there directly from high school—probably not very certain of his vocation.

Veterans Better

The department's information was that, by and large, veterans had better than normal records in examinations and in freedom from failure or supplementals.

"Another thing we found," says Gen. Burns, "is that many veterans were able to compress two years' work into one. Sometimes progress was even greater in preparatory high school work."

That suggests to him:

"It might be better if professional and technical training in universities and technical institutions were given to those who have sufficient experiences of life and making a living to be sure what they want to be trained for."

Notable Departure

It would be a departure from normal pattern but it would be a saving in money and in teaching effort.

A brilliant, prolific writer, Gen. Burns has turned out many an article on defence strategy. In the early part of the last war he was one of the brains in general staff planing. Generals used to say of him that he carried more facts in his head than they could carry in their brief cases.

His views on education were given in connection with Canadian education week. He believes that in the realm of higher education, the first question a person should ask is: what kind of a man do we want to make?

Must Fit In

"Because education is for the shaping of a man. I think we can answer: One who can live comfortably with his neighbors and with himself.

"Religious teaching will give these essentials to some. On the other hand there are many who now do not feel able to accept all the teachings of revealed religion. For them it would seem that education should provide an alternative guide and pattern of life...

"This, it would seem, is the highest aim of education. We should endeavor to see that all that have the capacity to traverse these higher reaches of human knowledge and speculation should have an opportunity to do so, either in universities or through some extensive system of adult education."

Oshawa Ousts Oddfellows In Junior "B" Group Finals

OSHAWA, March 26 — Bun Kingdon's Peterborough IOOF Junior "B" Hockey Club were eliminated from further play when they dropped a 7-3 tussle to the Oshawa Junior Bees here on Saturday. The game was the sixth of the best-of-seven league finals and the win gave Oshawa the series four games to two.

The Bees played an aggressive game for the first two periods and in this manner built up a lead which was difficult for the Oddfellows to overcome. After one period of play the Oshawans led 2-0, and by the end of the second period they were ahead 5-1. Peterborough scored two to match a pair by the motor city club, in the final frame for the 7-3 count at the last whistle.

George Brabin, stocky winger scored both of Oshawa's first period goals, one on a blazing snap shot from a scramble in front of the net, the other on a two-man breakaway. Brabin used the other player in break to fake goalie Red Wasson out of position and slip the puck home unassisted.

Rolled It Up

Bud Hillman, big Oshawa defenceman, scored the first goal of the second period on a nifty stick-handling spree ofter 58 seconds of play. Ted DeGray got the first of his two goals when the Bees set up a power play halfway through the period. He tipped in the rubber after two smart saves by Wasson. The Oddfellows finally started to show the form they used through the regular season to gain first place when Dean West stole the pick in the Oshawa end and scored after a brilliant solo dash. That made the score 4-1. Chircoski got it back for Oshawa however, just before the period ended on a three-way pass play that ended with a sharp shot to the lower right hand corner. Bob Wyatt led the Peterborough forces through the last period in which they tried to regain the big edge Oshawa had built up in the first two periods. He scored from Stewart to bring the Petes within three goals. But again the Bees countered with a tally. his time it was Fred Etcher who took the sting out of the IOOF attack.

Kept Fighting

Still the Peterborough team wouldn't give up. They pressed to the attack and their power was rewarded with a goal by West. This came with less than three minutes left in the game and the Peterborough attack got even more furious, only to have a breakaway by Oshawa in the last seconds of play salt the game at 7-3. Ted DeGray tipped home the puck for his second goal of the night.

Oshawa will now likely advance against Kingston Vics in the eastern Ontario final.

New Zealand Takes 3 English Wickets

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 26 (Reuters).—New Zealand was all out for a meagre 125 runs in the first innings of the second cricket test but captured three English wickets for 42 before close of play today.

The pitch, still moist from heavy rain which washed out play Saturday, assisted England's spin bowlers, and Doug Wright, legbreak and goggly expert, snared five New Zealand wickets for 48 runs.

Top scorer for the home team was Alex Moir with 26 not out.

Len Hutton, star opening batsman for England, had gathered 18 not out while three partners fell by the wayside when play ended for the day.

The match ends Wednesday.

The first of the two tests, played two weeks ago at Christchurch ended in a draw.

Toronto Maple Leafs scored a sensational upset in Stanley Cup play 15 years ago tonight against Boston Bruins. Trailing by four goals on the round, Leafs took advantage of a penalty to Eddie Shore to score six goals in less than 12 minutes, winning the game 8-3 and the round 8-6. They next eliminated New York Americans but lost to Detroit Red Wings in the final.

Barrie Flyers Blank Spitfires 2-0

By The Canadian Press

Like a baseball pitcher, a goalkeeper can't win a game all by himself. But occasionally one can be given full marks for trying.

Windsor Spitfires' Glen Hall had one of those evenings Saturday. Barrie Flyers whistled 40 shots at him and he stopped all but two—one of them tainted. So his team lost, 2-0.

Meanwhile Lorne Howes was blocking 22 shots at the other end and earning himself a shutout.

That gave the Flyers a 1-0 edege in their best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association junior "A" semi-final series. Toronto Marlboros got a similar jump on St. Catharines Teepees Sunday with a 5-3 victory.

Barrie-born Bill Hagan broke Hall's heart midway through the Windsor-Barrie clash when he took a corner pass from Jerry Toppazzini and drilled the puck home. Five minutes later, Real Chevrefils poked in another goal in a scramble that had Spitfire manager Jimmy Skinner on his feet in a vain protest.

Couldn't Hold Up

Hall's mates, fairly effective on the attack in the first two periods, just didn't have enough left to match Barrie's closing burst.

The St. Catharines-Toronto tilt wasn't a happy occasion for netminders either. Teepees' Don Simmons spent an acrobatic afternoon blocking Marlboro scoring thrusts, but couldn't block enough. And Dan Lockhart of the Dukes finished the game on his back, getting a nicked forehead stitched up while Johnny Henderson replaced him for the last four minutes.

Teepees took a 2-0 lead in the first 10 minutes on goals by Billy Young and Pierre Pilotte. But Earl Balfour and Ron Hurst scored barely 30 seconds apart to tie the score before the period ended.

Defenceman Bob Cooper broke the tie with the only tally of the second period while Marlboros had a one-man advantage. Then Eric Nesterenko whipped home two more in the final frame before Ted Power drove in the last St. Catharines marker at close range.

It was on Power's score that his stick flew up and caught Lockhart on the forehead. But Teepees couldn't beat Henderson in the game's closing minutes.

Dispute In Soccer Remains Unsettled

No progress was made at a soccer meeting here Saturday to bridge the abyss between the Peterborough and District Football Association on the one side and the Peteborough United Football Club—in the Eastern Ontario League—on the other. It was finally decided to have two members from each side meet again to discuss differences. A special meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association is called for tonight at eight in the "Y," with the United Club meeting Tuesday.

A. Arnold, Wm. Simpson and Alex McGregor, top officials of the Ontario Football Association, attended the Saturday meeting here in an advisory capacity. The meeting had representatives from the local clubs and the officials. The executive stressed the feeling that it was hard to get good men to act on the board of directors when only a few attended the annual meeting each year. Officials of the OFA took the dispute under consideration after hearing the arguments.

While the chaps interested in the re-organization of the senior baseballic Petes would like to land another good pitcher, they may have that added starter right in their midst without realizing it. Fraser Wade of the "Y" staff since last autumn or a bit before did a lot of senior twirling out west, and he might fit in on the Petes' staff when summer arrives and he is not so busy. The club has some okay hurlers in Doug Plunkett, Bill Edger and Lefty Bill Dadson—and Gunner Ed Whitehill may figure his veteran right flipper okay for the odd mound turn. Or in a relief role, anyway. But it's true you never can get too many good pitchers.

Hamilton Mormons, who ousted the local Clapper Bruins in OABA intermediate "A" playdowns, have captured the provincial cage crown. London scribe says: "The Mormon team, operating out of Hamilton, has six USA players and two Canadians, both from Alberta. The Canucks learned most of their basketball in Utah, while attending college. The team's manager is F. G. Eyre, who is president of the Mormon Mission in Eastern Canada. His group is composed of 228 elders and most of them play basketball for recreation. They have a much stronger team in Ottawa, the senior Mormon club beating Montreal YMHA 71-53 to open Eastern Canadian finals. The Montreal club happens to be defending Dominion senior champions.

Solon Low The Coach

"The coach of the Ottawa team is none other than Solon Low, leader of the Social Credit party in the House of Commons. Ronald Low, son of the coach—both are Mormons, by the way—is the only Canadian on that club. The Mormons come by their basketball ability honestly. Brigham Young University, in Salt Lake City, recently won the national invitation tourney at New York. Solon Low learned his basketball in Canada and, while it isn't generally known, he has quite a reputation in Alberta as basketball, football, baseball and boxing star, and coach." During our sojourn in Ottawa, we covered a meeting at which Mr. Low spoke and we talked with him afterward on boxing, as he liked a column we had written on the mitt game about that time.

Must be a scarcity of good senior lacrossers in Ontario—that's why some of the clubs are getting the wind up. The Petes, in an effort to build up, go out and sign three players, two from Owen Sound and one from St. Kitts. They're Lloyd Wootton, Curly Mason (brought here for hockey) and Harry Wipper. So, five of the eight "A" clubs get panicky and raise heck. They're demanding a three-man dictatorship committee and fees running from $200 to $400 for player releases. Baseball, football and hockey clubs are always seeking good imports, but the OLA brass is highly upset at the Petes for daring to invite new players here. Mimico, Brampton and Peterborough are against any dictatorship. Cheer up, chums, our PMLA will soon pay off and you'll be acquiring aces from this city.

End Of Junior Trail

Oddfellows bowed out of further competition for this winter when they dropped a 7-3 decision in Oshawa on Saturday. It gave the Bees the OHA junior "B" group final series four games to two. It was tough luck for Coach Bun Kingdon and his gamesters—and for the hard-working IOOF executive—but the Oshawans caught fire in playoffs, after a so-so season, to rub out Belleville Rockets in straight games and they finished a bit better than Triple Links the last two playoff tilts. A good series between two hustling young squads, and we wish the winners luck in provincial playdowns. They'll probably go against Kingston Vics in the first round.

A brighter note was struck at Civic Arena on Saturday when some 500 fans saw the TVL finalists step high, wide and handsome in a playoff fray. Brintons beat Trenton Taximen 6-3 to take a 2-1 edge in their best-of-five final series, next game being Tuesday in Bella Villa. It might wind up there with Brintons league champions in their first try at play in the Trent Valley League. If they lose tomorrow, the teams toss for the site of the deciding scrap. Coach Jack Harris' boys hustled all the way, from Goalie Byers out. Ace Reid, Ken Lawson, the Anderson brothers, Bill Huard and Arn Riches were prominent on the attack, and the defence was solid all evening. A lively tussle.

Maple Leafs Defeat Lakefield By 4-2 Margin

Maple Leafs defeated Lakefield 4-2 Saturday in the local arena in a peewee puck contest. Bob Shaw led the attack for the Trojan Leafs with two goals and an assist as Burns and Playford each counted a goal and aided on one. It was a tight tilt with the winners holding a slight margin on play in the second and third periods. Trotter went well in goal with Ashby and Allbrook checking strongly on defence. Longo teamed up with Burns and Shaw on the first line with Lesurf, Vargo, Playford, Johnston, McFadden and Dunstan the alternates. L. Maudsley refereed.

Oldtime Petes To Play The IOOF Squad

The oldtime Petes—including several of the present-day playing veterans—will tackle the junior "B" Oddfellows this Thursday night at 8:30 in Civic Arena. The unusual exhibition is being staged as part of the "PMHA Night" to aid minor hockey here, President Les Mountney advises. In addition there will be the final PMHA juvenile playoff between Lakefield and Clapper's for the city title. There will also be the race against time by city and district puckists. These race heats will be run off in between the 7:00 p.m. juvenile playoff and the 8:30 Petes-Oddfellows' tilt.

The Max Swanston Trophy (up for annual competition) is for the fastest city or district skater from junior age up, and a smaller trophy will be given permanently by the PMHA. The first prize in cash will be $40 with the second one $10 to the runner-up. Names like Montgomery, Crowley, Mortimer, Dugan, Wade, McMaster, Blewett and others—plus the speedier juniors—have been mentioned already as likely starters in the puck-carrying race against the clock.

Sutton Shirts Edge Haliburton Huskies

NEWMARKET, March 26. — Left-winger George Holborn's goal, his third of the night, with a minute and ten seconds to play gave Sutton Greenshirts an 8-7 win over Haliburton Huskies here Saturday night in a rough ORHA Eastern Ontario senior championship series contest. The victory moved Sutton into a 2-1 edge in the best-of-five series. John Learoyd shared the scoring honors, while Fred Taylor sniped a pair.

Don Iles sparked the Huskies with a strong defensive play and a two-goal performance. Glen Dart, Jim Henry, Buck Baker, Albert Dart and Boyd Robertson netted singles in a losing cause. Glen Dart, Haliburton centre man was sent to the Newmarket Hospital for X-ray after being clipped on the face by Bill McLaughlin's stick at centre ice. The rugged tilt saw 22 penalties meted out, including two majors.

Tony White Hits 941

Tony White of Sunocos put together three games of 358, 332 and 251 for a high triple of 941 in the men's City Bowing League, his 358 being tops for the night in single, also. Cavanagh's led in pinnage with 3670 and had the best single game of 1384. Fred Martin continues to lead in averages with 233 for 27 nights or a total of 81 games, with but six nights remaining. George Walton is next with 231 in the same number of games.

Good scores counted were: Harold Davis with 847 and Carl Signoretti with 806, neat singles being: H. Davis 345, Gene Reynolds 344, Jack Playford 327, Len Anthony 320, Doug Abraham 315, Eric Martin 305, Johnny Basciano 301 and G. Walton 301. Shockey's whitewashed Fashion-Craft for a four-point lead in the race over Cavanagh's, as 4-2 wins were marked by Bond's, Esquires, Cavanagh's, Swartz and McGillis respectively over Dunn's, Clapper's, Sunocos, Moore's and Campbell & Peet.

Brintons Lead In Playoffs Beating Trenton By 6 To 3

Jack Harris' scrappy and colorful Brinton hockey squad took a 2-1 edge over Trenton Taximen Saturday night at the Civic Arena as they handed Bob Sager's boys a 6-3 defeat before close to 500 fans in a sizzling two-way hockey battle. The series is a three of five Trent Valley League championship set. The fourth game will be played in Belleville Friday night.

Led by Ken Lawson, Ace Reid, the Anderson brothers, Chuck Willshaw, Arn Riches, and Bill Huard, with all hands giving their best in a driving attack, Brintons fired four payoff tallies in the hectic final period after trailing 2-1 at the start of the frame. It was a fine rally, a stirring finish that thrilled the home crowd.

Scoreless First

Cy Johnson gave Trenton an earl margin in the mid-session after a torrid but scoreless first period when he clicked close in from Filion. Ace Reid evened up less than two minutes later on a neat try with Willsahw as play steamed up to a terrific pace with neither squad asking nor giving quarter and with little to choose between them. Play was clean, too.

Trenton forged ahead seconds later as Doug Beale, speed merchant of the visitors, potted a short angle drive past Byers just outside the crease from John Black. Willshaw whistled a beautiful 20-footer into the mesh later on a solo drive down left wing as Brintons gave tit for tat, against a worthy foe. Near the three-quarter mark Johnson gave Taximen a new lead in their best frame as he took Filion's pass in the clear and fired a hot 15-footer dead on, to the short side.

Went All Out

The final frame saw both teams throw discretion to the winds to go all out in one of the fastest displays of the hockey season. Brintons had it in the pinch, and though Taximen fought hard they were outplayed at the finish. The defence foursome of Bob McCuaig, Ken Anderson, Arn Riches and Joe Berardi gave a good account of themselves for Brintons with the forwards all stepping, without the injured Eakins in the third and Don McIndoo. For Trenton, Beale, C. Johnson, Hank Filion, Black, Moe Jones, Don Barr, and Murray Carr looked best, with every man giving his best. Jack Byers shone in Brintons' net with some fine stops, while Bridgeman could hardly be blamed on the shots he missed in a good showing.

Trenton—Goal, Bridgeman; defence, Campney, Carr; centre, Jones; wings, Barr, Beale; alts., C. Johnson, B. Johnson, Filion, Istead, McDonnell, Scott, Leavey, Black, Hill.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Right-winger Gordie Howe of Detroit came within an ace of winning the National Hockey League scoring crown in all three departments—goals, assists and total points. As it was, he headed the goals and points columns and tied for assists.

During the 70-game season, Howe beat the netminders 43 times, just once more than veteran Maurice Richard of Montreal. He matched that with an equal number of assists for a tie with Toronto's Ted Kennedy.

No one came near the Detroit youngster's 86 points. Richard was next best with 66. Toronto's Max Bentley finished third, four points behind Richard.

An OFA-appointed committee met officials in Peterborough on Saturday and decided that differences between the Peterborough and district leagues made it necessary for a commission to run affairs.

Ex-Ball Star Ed Collins Dies

BOSTON, March 26 — (AP) — Edward Trowbridge (Eddie) Collins, 63, a big name in baseball for 45 years, died Sunday night of a heart condiiton.

Death came to the vice-president of Boston Red Sox in hospital where he was admtietd March 10.

It occurred less than two months after his last public appearance Feb. 1, when baseball writers honored him at their dinner "for long, meritorious service" to the sport.

He left Philadelphia Athletics, with whom he broke into the game in 1906 while a Columbia University student, to join Tom Yawkey when the millionaire sports enthusiast bought the Sox.

Collins participated in six world series, played more games than any other second baseman in baseball history and was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1939.

He compiled a .333 batting average in 25 years of active play.

His is the first death among the members of Conie Mack's fabulous $100,000 infield which was broken up after the 1914 season when Boston's Miracle Braves whipped the A's in four straight world series games.

Porky Griffin Upsets Banff Olympic Trials

BANFF, Alta., March 26 (CP)—Porky Griffin, of Montreal, upset the apple-cart in Saturday's Olympic trials on Banff's Mount Norquay when he placed first in the slalom event ahead of favorites such as Bob Richardson, of St. Adele, Que., and Gordon Morrison, of Banff, with a spectacular time of 1:50.4.

Richardson, who ran first in thte two previous events, the giant slalom and downhill, placed second behind Griffin with his run clocked at 1:52.5. Morrison fell from his usual placing of second and third to eighth position.

Rollins Wins Vezina Trophy As Leafs Blank Bruins 1-0

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A hard fight for recognition as a goaltender of major-league calibre was won Sunday night by lean, unspectacular Al Rollins.

The hard-working 24-year-old native of Vanguard, Sask., whose lack of color has been mistaken for mediocrity, reached the pinnacle of his hockey career by winning the Vezina Trophy in his rookie year with Maple Leafs.

An impressive record of only three goals scored on him in the last five scheduled games carried Rollins to victory, nudging out Terry Sawchuk, 21, of Winnipeg, playing in his rookie year for Detroit Red Wings.

The trophy, which carries with it $2,000 prize money, annually goes to the goalie playing the most games for the team with the fewest goals scored against it.

Sawchuk, playing all 70 games for Detroit, let 139 goals by Rollins, taking part in 40 for Toronto games, and Turk Broda, the other 30, let a total of 138 past them.

Last Games

The trophy race wounded up in exciting fashion Sunday night as Toronto shut out Boston Bruins 1-0 while Detroit was whitewashing Montreal Canadiens 5-0. They were the last of the schedule.

Rollins took the lead in the competition Saturday night when Montreal defeated Detroit 3-2 while Toronto beat the Bruins 4-1.

In the other weekend game which had no effect on the playoffs, New York Rangers defeated cellar-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks 5-3.

In addition to the goaltending race, the individual scoring competition ended Sunday night, although Gordie Howe, brilliant Detroit right winger, had it sewed up weeks ago.

Howe ended the season with 43 goals and 43 assists for 86 points—four better than the league record set in 1943-44 by Herbie Cain of Boston. However, Howe's record-breaking feat was made in a 70-game season while Cain got his in a 50-game schedule.

The order in which the teams would finish was decided Saturday night when Montreal's victory over Detroit eliminated any possibility of Boston replacing them in third position. Detroit clinched first place several weeks ago, Toronto was solid in second. Montreal and Boston rounded out the playoff circle. New York finished fifth and Chicago sixth.

Toronto and Boston now meet in one-half of the NHL Stanley Cup semi-finals, Detroit and Montreal clash in the other. All playoffs are best of seven series.

Spoils Shutout

Before 13,306 fans at Toronto Saturday night, Boston's Johnny Peirson spoiled Rollins' shutout with a third-period goal after Tod Sloan and Kennedy had given Leafs a 2-0 lead. Sloan and Fern Flaman wound up the scoring to give Toronto the 4-1 victory.

Sunday, Sid Smith got the only goal of the game in Boston as Rollins was getting his fifth shutout.

In Montreal Saturday before 14,172 fans, Maurice Richard, Ken Mosdell and Red Kelly scored for Detroit.

In the return engagement at Detroit, 13,753 fans saw Marty Pavelich, Gaye Stewart, Glen Skov, Ted Lindsay and Leo Reise score for the Wings.

In New York, Reggie Sinclair, a rookie, paced the Rangers with three goals in the 5-2 victory before only 4,235 fans. Tony Leswick and Vice Howe got the others. Steve Black and Pat Lundy scored for Chicago.

Most Valuable Player

DETROIT, March 26 (AP).—Red Kelly, high-scoring defenceman from Simcoe, Ont., Sunday was named as Detroit Red Wing's most valuable and most sportsmanlike player.

Early Hope

At Laurel, Md., Repetoire bloomed Saturday as an early-spring hope for the three-year-old prizes of the year by nosing home first in Laurel's inaugural Cherry Blossom stakes.

Mrs. N. A. Mikell's $4,000 purchase won its first race of the year in a four-horse blanket finish. The fourth colt was only a neck behind the others, while horses separated the first three.

Repetoire, a chestnut son of Happy Argo, picked up $6,115 for the six-furlongs sprint.

Include Religion As Fourth "R" Speaker Urges

HASTINGS, March 26 (ENS)—The Hastings Home and School Association opened its March meeting with the president, Mrs. J. I. Thopmson, presiding. Mrs. Thompson welcomed guests from Peterborough. Visual aid convenor Mrs. Thurston announced the movies would begin March 30, the feautre being "My Favorite Brunette."

The forthcoming H. and S. convention in Toronto (March 27-28-29) was discussed and it is quite likely that several members will journey up for one day.

At the April meeting the feature of the evening will be a white elephant and baking sale. Committee comprised of Mrs. Baker, Messrs. D. Thurston and W. J. Johnston are to interview the school board about purchasing a radio for the school.

Mesdames S. Whitered and R Johnston sang a duet, "It's No Secret."

The president then called on Mrs. A. W. Nelson, of Peterborough, district chairman of Home and School. Mrs. Nelson is a former resident of Hastings.

Mrs. Parnell, of Peterborough, who is religious convener of Home and School Council, then spoke.

Her theme was "Interpreting God to the Children." Parents have many roles to fill and God may be interpreted through nature and people, she said. Instead of saying "Three R's" we should say "Four R's"—reading, writing, arithmetic and religion.

Mrs. Whitered, program convener, thanked the speakers.

Mrs. Maurice Guiry Dies In City Hospital

A member of one of the pioneer families of the district, Mrs. Maurice Guiry, 92, of Downeyville died Sunday in St. Joseph's Hospital here after an illness of about three months.

She was born in Downeyville, Hannah Flynn, daughter of Thomas Flynn and Henorah Hurlihy. After her marriage she moved to Rochester, N. Y. Twenty-five years ago, when her husband died, she returned to the old homestead in Downeyville to live with her brother, Thomas Flynn.

Mrs. Guiry went to hospital when she fell and broke her ankle. She remained in hospital until her death.

Her husband and three children predeceased her. She is survived by her brother, Thomas Flynn, a sister, Mrs. Joseph Owens, Rochester, N. Y., and a nephew, Denny Sullivan, Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held from the Lane funeral home to St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, for mass at 10 a.m. Rev. V. G. McFadden will say the mass. Burial will be in St. Luke's cemetery.

Labor Backs Workers At Hospital

Labor Council Says No Valid Reason Why Union Refused

The Peterborough and District Labor Council has thrown its weight behind the move to have the Civic hospital Board of Governors enter a collective bargaining agreement with the hospital employees.

The union—the National Organization of Civic, Utility and Electrical Workers (CCL)—claims about 90 of 120 eligible workers. Included in the unit are kitchen and laundry help, ward aides, male and female cleaners, male orderlies, cafeteria help and maintenance men.

Letter to Board

In a letter to the Board of Governors who have refused to enter into a collective bargaining agreement with Branch 19 of the union, the executive of the Labor Council says in part:

"We desire to advise the Board that our council represents 10 local unions with a combined membership of approximately 5,000. These workers have the right under the provisions of our labor laws to compel their employers to enter into negotiations for the purpose of formulating and entering into a collective agreement for a term of at least one year."

(Municipal employees are different. A municipality may pass a bylaw declaring its employees outside the provisions of the Labor Relations Act.)

Citizens the Employers

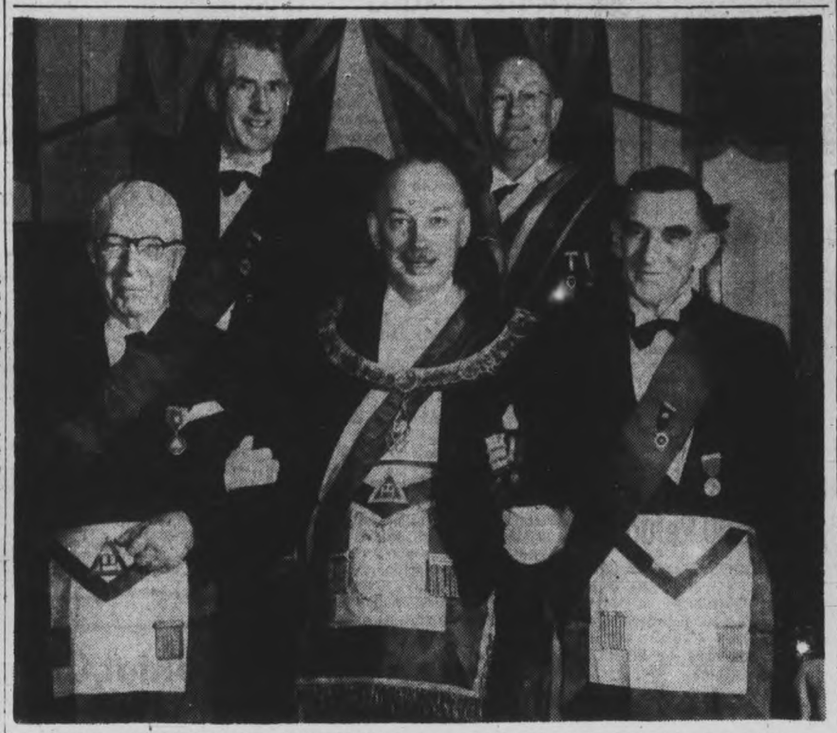
"There are no valid reasons why the employees of the hospital should not have an agreement with the Board. . . The citizens of our city are the actual employers and they are desirous of giving their employees the same privilege that they, themselves, enjoy in belonging to the union of their choice and having such an agreement."

In a press statement the Labor Council executive claims that "Canadian governments from federal to municipal levels are giving full support to United Nations' principles which definitely promote the idea that collective bargaining shall be the right of all peoples."

Hospitals Lift Visiting Ban

Both city hospitals have lifted their bans on visitors. At St. Joseph's, the ban was lifted last week, and Civic hospital today.

Both hospitals placed bans on visiting during the recent near-epidemic of influenza. Only relatives of critically ill patients were allowed visiting time.



The hospitals will now return to their former systems of visiting hours.

21,800 Letters Peak At P.O.

Mail sorters and carriers at the local post office had an Easter flurry from Wednesday to Saturday. This year the rush which is minor compared with the Christmas flow of cards and letters, spread over a three-day period instead of two as last year.

Usually the incoming mail at the office is about 15,000 a day but Wednesday Easter cards and letters swelled the mail bags to 20,300 and Thursday to 21,000. On Good Friday the staff worked to clear all Easter mail out on Saturday and handled 18,700. Saturday the mail dropped down to 7,400.

Last year Easter fell in April and on Wednesday before Good Friday the mail volume rose to 24,400 cards and letters. It then began to decline and was 20,700 on Thursday. On Good Friday last year the post office handled only 9,200 incoming cards and letters.

Easter Parade? Frost Nips It Sun On Snow Made Gala Day

The Easter rabbit was glad he was a rabbit on Easter Sunday. That chilly weather called for something warmer than a Spring coat. Easter paraders realized this and only a few light coats were seen in the morning march to city churches. Kerchiefs, winter hats, and fur coats were more common wear for most churchgoers and those just out walking on Sunday.

Though the sun was bright, the official high for Sunday was only 24, and low was 10 above—below freezing all day.

Few Easter Bonnets

At one church, there were only three Easter bonnets to be seen, and reports have it that the ratio was about the same everywhere. Cobourg's annual parade was non-existent because of a cold wind off the lake, and generally nasty weather.

Congregations were reported large at all city churches, and most churches held Easter music services in the evening.

Skiers Out

The new snow which fell on Saturday over the entire district and blew with a force of a winter blizzard stayed firm in the city. Skiers were out in Jackson Park on Sunday and reported fine runs down the slopes.

The Park itself was prettier than a picture. Snow clung to branches and limbs and whitened the trunks. The sun made the contrast between white snow and long strong shadows vividly picturesque.

The fields and hills from Peterborough to Rice Lake were completely covered and motorists in the afternoon took delight in the wintry spring view, the brilliant sunshine and puffy clouds.

South of Bewdley the snow petered out until three miles from Port Hope the fields were bare. Snow had fallen on them Saturday but had melted in the warmer atmosphere which Lake Ontario provides. There was no snow at all in Port Hope.

Mrs. Joe Watson Aged 89 Dies

After an illness of many years Mrs. Joseph Watson of Lakefield died Sunday in hospital. She was in her 89th year. Until she went to hospital her home was with her daughter, Mrs. Braden Blewett of Lakefield.

Mrs. Watson was the former Scelena Mason, daughter of the late Thomas Mason and Elizabeth Smith. She was born and educated in Blackstock and was a resident of Lakefield for 70 years.

She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield.

Her husband, the late Joseph Watson, died in 1925.

Left are a son, J. Allen Watson, East Lansing, Mich.; two daughters, Mrs. Ira Lennox (Ethel), Lakefield, and Mrs. Braden Blewett (Annie), also of Lakefield; two sisters, Mrs. Wilbert Webster (Ida), Lakefield, Mrs. James Duffy (Lottie), Seattle, Wash.; two brothers, Fred of Dunkirk, NY, and Thomas of Lanark, Ont.; six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

The funeral will be at the Hendren funeral home Tuesday at 3.45 p.m., the Rev. L. J. Delaney of St. John's officiating. The body will be placed in the vault at Ray's cemetery until spring, and burial will be in Hillside cemetery

Holstein Men Expect Record Meeting

Peterborough Holstein Club is apparently on the way to another successful event in their annual dinner meeting Wednesday night at Club Aragon.

Secretary Stanley Wood said today the attendance will be somewhere between 600 and 750, with the probability that it may exceed the 700 mark

So the Black and White Club men have nothing to worry about in the matter of tickets, except trying to get an odd one here or there for importunate folks who left the admission ducats to the very last.

"This will be a new dinner crowd record for our Club by a wide margin," Jack Wineberg of Club Aragon told the Examiner today. "Maybe about 400 was the most we ever had before. Instruction from the Holstein people is now for 700."

Some of the Holstein directors appeared to be a little dubious when they first talked of 500 for this dinner.

As guest speaker they are bringing a voice from Nova Scotia and its experience in establishing new business life and hope to communities by co-operative effort.

Monsignor M. M. Coady, head of the extension department of St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, has been one of the leaders in the development of groups of Canadian people who were forced by sheer necessity in doing things for themselves. Their story is fairly generally known throughout the country, and Mons. Coady will present phases of it to the big Peterborough audience Wednesday evening.

Truman Asks Strength In New World

Must Group Defences Against Perils Of Aggressive Soviet

WASHINGTON, March 26 — (AP)—President Truman urged the countries of the new world today to strengthen and co-ordinate their defence forces against "great perils" posed by the "aggressive expansion of the Soviet system toward our own hemisphere."

"We must now plan as a primary task for the strengthening and the co-ordinated use of our defence forces in this hemisphere," Truman said in a speech prepared for the opening of the inter-American foreign ministers' meeting

"We must also consider how we may best use our strength to support the cause of freedom against aggression throughout the world."

To Guide Meeting

In those words Truman sounded the theme which the United States government hopes will guide the work of the foreign ministers of the 21 American republics meeting here in their fourth session.

In advance of the foreign ministers' conference, it was learned that Truman's administration is giving urgent consideration to an $80,000,000 military aid program for Latin America.

Truman assailed the theory—advanced by some of his political opponents—that the American countries can protect themselves regardless of what happens to the rest of the world.

UN Needed

"There will be no security in the world without the UN," he asserted. "Powerful and productive as the western hemisphere is, we cannot make it safe by building a wall around it."

While he did not specify the precise steps he hopes the conference meeting here for the next two or three weeks will take, it is known that the US hopes to get agreement for development of a strategic plan for western hemisphere defences, and for building up the total strength of the Latin American nations on which the UN could call for help against aggression anywhere.

State Secretary Dean Acheson, American member of the conference, has as his chief objective in the meeting an agreement that the Central and South American nations will build up their military strength so that they can carry a greater share of the load of hemisphere defences, now borne chiefly by the U.S.

Name Westerner To All Saints'

The Rev. Maurice P. Poole, B.A. B.D., LTh., assistant curate at St. Clement's church in Toronto, has been appointed to All Saints' Anglican church in Peterborough. The congregation were notified at the Sunday Easter services of his appointment to the vacancy left by the sudden death of the Rev. William Kibblewhite.

Mr. Poole is a graduate of the University of Manitoba and of St. John's Theological College in Winnipeg He was ordained in 1945 and served four years in the Diocese of Rupert's Land. In February 1949 he entered the diocese of Toronto and has been assistant curate at St. Clement's since then.

Mr. Poole is expected to assume his duties early in May.

Hip Broken, Back Hurt After Slip On Ice

Slipping on a piece of ice as he was walking into work inside the CGE gates, Earl Madden, 54, 512 London St., fractured his left hip and suffered back injuries.

He was taken to Civic Hospital about 10 a.m. today but no report of his condition was available at press time.

AN EASTER HOLIDAY

Easter Monday holiday applied today to government offices, law offices and banks. And the local schools were also vacant for Easter week.

12 Below At Apsley!

Thermometers in Apsley recorded temperatures as low as 12 below zero at 6:30 a.m. today, Easter Monday. In the city the low for Sunday was 10 above.

Easter Crowds Jam Bus, Rail Terminals

People began to crowd bus terminals and railway stations Sunday night to close the Easter holiday with another travel rush. Trains and buses were filled to capacity Sunday night and the pressure continued today. It is expected to dwindle back to normal by late tonight or early Tuesday morning.

After a normal Saturday business the Colonial Coach Lines felt the rush beginning again early Sunday. By evening the lines had doubled all the routes while some runs had four to seven buses. At 7 p.m. and 7:20 p.m. there were seven sections headed for Toronto while at 9 p.m. four sections arrived from Toronto.

All local trips were doubled and on the Lindsay route the service was tripled. Usually two buses carry the load from Ottawa but four were required to relive the pressure Sunday night.

No Extra Trains

Although no extra trains were added, the CPR and CNR both reported today that after the first signs of the rush back were felt, extra coaches were added to all trains.

Although not as heavy as during the Christmas travel period, the Easter rush was heavy, average for the past three Easters, said a Colonial Bus Lines official.

The travellers began to rush the depots early Thursday afternoon and the peak was reached late Thursday night. Most runs were doubled or tripled and in some cases four or five buses were added to the service. The travel on the local lines such as Trenton, Lindsay, Havelock and Port Hope was about double. The Peterborough-to-Ottawa and Peterborough-to-Toronto routes were exceptionally heavy. Along the lakeshore there were 17 sections on one trip.

On Friday the rush eased off and business returned to normal in most cases, but some double runs were required.

Mrs. Mills Buried At Little Lake

Mrs Emma Louisa Mills, 451 Hunter St., W., one of the city's most civic-minded women, was buried Saturday in Little Lake cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers included Jack Ackerman, W. C. Ackerman, Harold Conway, Gordon Young, Lt.-Col. W. Gordon Hall, Lt.-Col. Chas. Ackerman, A. L. Dickinson, Cyril Lech, G. K. Fraser, MP, the Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP, Major R. T. Hounsell, Lt.-Col. F. L. Bradburn, Alex Weddell and Guy Quartermaine.

Active pallbearers were members of the Canadian Legion: F. P. Burke, George Gimblett, Sr., Hurell Dodds, Harry Kelcey, Allan Wade and Cyril Green.

Mrs. Mills was the widow of Lt.-Col. Joseph Mills and she was a resident of Peterborough for 68 years.

Her local affiliations included the Local Council of Women, Red Cross, Churchwomen's Association of St. John's Church, 57th Chapter IODE, and Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Lgion.

She was also former chairwoman of the Mothers' Allowance and Old Age Pension Board, and one-time member of the board of the Well Baby Clinic.

Mrs. Mills died Wednesday in hospital.

The funeral was in St. John's Church, the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiating. Friday night a special service was held by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion at the Comstock funeral home.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Meat Vandals

MONTREAL—(CP)—In view of present meat prices it was a major offence. Police reported that burglars, frustrated when they could not open the safe in a butcher store, "threw meat all over the place."

Bobcaygeon-Lindsay-Peterborough 75 m.

By One Coach Along C.P.R. Back Route

While Canadian National Railways are planning to reduce Peterborough's transportation facilities by clipping off, as contemplated, the Peterborough - Port Hope service, Canadian Pacific Railway continues to operate a mixed train daily between Havelock and Bobcaygeon.

The CPR line via Peterborough, Dranoel, Lindsay, is 75 miles long as compared with the 28 miles of the CNR stretch from here to Lake Ontario.

Its train consists of engine, baggage-express car, and one coach, with whatever freight cars are attached to the daily run. Probably most frequently, there is only a combination car or coach, with separate accommodation for express goods and passengers, plus the freight assignment.

Tom McArthur, CPR freight agent, remarked to the Examiner that there was not enough business on that route to warrant separate services.

Some years ago, the Lindsay-Bobcaygeon area was connected with the Ottawa-Toronto main line at Burketon, which was a fairly active junction place, especially during the summer. The automobile suffocated that section of the CPR, and the company is now continuing by way of Dranoel, its connection with Bobcaygeon, Lindsay and Bethany.

"This train leaves here in the morning at 10.10 a.m." Mr. McArthur said. "It is made up in Havelock, and gets to Bobcaygeon at 1.15 p.m. That length of time is explained by yard work and shunting that has to be done daily at Lindsay.

"We get quite a bit of business out of Lindsay, and some from Bobcaygeon. The train is back here at 4.35 p.m., picks up local eastbound freight cars and goes on to Havelock at 5:30 p.m."

The freight consignment from Peterborough - Lindsay is then made up with other cars that have reached the terminal at Havelock, all destined for eastern places such as Smiths Falls, Perth, Ottawa and Montreal.

This is a reduced service as compared with the volume in years before the competition of trucks was begun to be felt, but it is an accommodation available to the public and to business in this wide section of the CPR system.

It is evidence that even over 75 miles of track a combination coach can be used, although it is not to be compared with the quality and comfort of the coaches on the CNR from Port Hope to Toronto via Peterborough.

Why Should County Carry Market, Ratepayer Asks: Let Vendors Erect Building

Primary Producers From Six Counties Making Use Of Facilities Provided By City Of Peterborough

By HARRY THEOBALD

Why should Peterborough county council contribute to the financing of new market accommodation for the benefit of some primary producers from the adjacent counties of Northumberland, Durham, Hastings, Victoria and even Ontario? That question was suggested by a Peterborough county taxpayer as a possible objection to be raised in the proposed conference of representatives of the councils of Peterborough city and county.

"I don't think there is any chance of getting grants from those other counties, but some of their producers, even from as far as the Whitby area in south Ontario county, have been selling for years on the Peterborough market."

Producers Showed Little Interest

"I don't know what our county council will do if they sit in with a committee from the city," this Peterborough county man remarked to the Examiner, "but I'd be rather surprised if they go in on any market financing scheme. I think the city should continue to encourage a producers' market, but from my experience I know that any time the city council tried to get the producers themselves interested in market accommodation they got no co-operation or any other evidence of interest from that source."

The practical initiative by the city council some years ago when James Dutton was chairman of a committee that set out to improve market conditions on the present site at Water and Charlotte Sts. drew negligible response from the vendors at that time. So, that effort by the council whose committee obtained a market survey by representatives of both the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture failed and lapsed.

The present city council has offered producers an alternate site on the west side of George St., between Rink and Townsend Sts. This action stems from the need of central parking space, to relieve, at least in part, a local problem that is demanding official attention.

Claiming an old equity in the present market property, vendors so far have expressed themselves as strongly opposed to the transfer. However, this contention has not been pressed, and the advice the city council has received is to the effect that it has no legal basis.

Hub of City

As to the centrality of the proposed market site, it is argued in favor of it that it is actually the geographical hub of the city of today, as it has grown and expanded and will continued to do so.

Some comments that have been heard since the turn of the year put emphasis on the possibilities of developing that George St. site with its asset of ample parking space.

One rural taxpayer said recently: "If the vendors were wise they would take hold of this market problem themselves. The first thing they should do is to ask the city for a lease of 15 or 20 years. They should find out definitely how many producers are willing to take selling space on a yearly basis. They might get city and county help in details of that preliminary. They could go as far afield as they wish; take in vendors of the five counties, if they like."

Yearly Space Charge

"They should consider a yearly space charge, for example $100, and with those facts they could estimate fairly closely the prospective revenue of the market. If it was large enough, it would pay the carrying charges on a suitable building which obviously the market would need for year round use, and possibly for more than one day a week as at present."

This opinion as expressed from a rural viewpoint went further.

"Some vendors are still thinking in terms of bus transport. They must know that more women are driving cars today than ever; their number is increasing, and they constitute the bulk of buyers of market produce.

"Offer them easy parking, and that is where they will go. The George St. site affords parking space, is a central location and should be considered from the standpoint of immediate and future possibilities. Merely taking a negative attitude, and expecting city council to set up accommodation, is certainly not a constructive and aggressive way of facing this market question.

"Sentiment for the old market is all very well, but it relates to the past. For the vendors, the market is a business. They know its value to them, far better than the council or the public does.

"As for the grounds of the site, they could be planted with shrubbery and grass along the street front, and marketing space set back. It could be made just as attractive as some realistic planning could accomplish without much cost."

Use By Hucksters

Other phases of the market are discussed just as freely as they appear in the Examiner and are heard in conversation.

It has been suggested, for example, that if it is to continue in use by hucksters, the city should require them to take out a licence because they are not selling their own produce.

Then there is the broad detail of selling according to grade. Some producers who are not interested in the market are among those who inject this issue of graded goods, a guarantee to the consumer. It has been asked whether the council, if it goes further into the market matter, is going to consider that the grade policy should be applied as broadly as practicable.

Consideration For Buyers

The market need not be simply a concern about site and accommodation for vendors. The buying public is entitled to as much consideration as the people behind the counters.

When the Dutton committee undertook to delve into market accommodation it showed some interest in this important element of grading, and it was then assumed, of course, that the factor of quality was desired by the producing-vendor as literaly as it was assumed by the buyers attending the market.

Comments that come to hand from various sources suggest that there is a new day for the market—if it gets a new deal.

It may be also mentioned that farmers generally are no longer interested in Saturday as a market day, as a selling and buying day.

The fact that Federation of Agriculture is interested in trying to establish a radio broadcast on Saturday at 12.15 to 12.25 p.m., as reported the other day, points the way that old habit of thinking and acting is changing. To the majority of farmers, Saturday is only another day in the week, according to their opinions.

However, it is still market day for those who find the local market a suitable outlet for their products.

9 Reds On Island

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 26 (AP).—The weekly newspaper 49th Star quoted an Eskimo Saturday as saying that at least nine Soviet soldiers are stationed on Big Diomede Island—closest Russian land to Alaska. The newspaper said information from James Iyapana, a resident of the United States Little Diomede Island, dispels an unsubstantiated report of last year that Big Diomede had been evacuated.

Chinese Reds Name 5 Nuns Under Arrest

LONDON, March 26 (Reuters)—Chinese Communist authorities Saturday named five French-Canadian Catholic nuns now under arrest and waiting trial in China.

The report issued by the New China News Agency was picked up in London.

The five nuns are accused of mistreating Chinese children under their care in an orphanage connected with the convent of the Immaculate Conception in Canton.

The orphanage was taken over by the Communists and the nuns arrested March 5.

The agency said one of the arrested nuns was the head of the orphanage, Antoinette Couvrette (Sister Saint Alphonse du Redempteur).

The other nuns were:

Germaine Gravel (Sister Saint Marie Germaine of the Missionaries of the Immaculate Conception) assistant head of the orphanage.

Elisabeth Lemire (Sister Saint Roy, of the Missionaries of the Immaculate Conception).

Germaine Tanguay (Sister Saint Victor of the Missionaries of the Immaculate Conception).

Hilda Laperriere (Sister Saint Germaine of the Missionaries of the Immaculate Conception).

Last week L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, told the Commons that Communist China's charges against the five nuns were "grotesque and unfounded" and that the British diplomatic service had been asked to do all possible to help them.

Find International Tension Brings Crowds To Church

By the Associated Press. . . . . .

Continuing international tensions heightened the fervency of Easter celebrants throughout the Christian world Sunday.

Even in Eastern Europe, where orthodox Christianity no longer is favored as a way of life, Easter services were jammed.

In the face of a bleak world prospect, the celebration of the resurrection of the Prince of Peace had added significance, and prayers for the end of strife took on new meaning.

Thousands of pilgrims flocked to the site of th Holy Spulchr in Jerusalem. They found in the Holy Land a 20th-century symbol of the crown of thorns—barbed wire entanglements remaining from the 1948 Arab-Jewish fighting.

In Canada worshippers streamed to church under bright sunshine.

Pilgrims to Rome heard Pope Pius make a fervent appeal for brotherly accord to free the world of lust and violence so that all might live and work in peace.

Services Near Front

Chaplains with United Nations forces in Korea held services at crude outdoor altars to bring their embattled congregations Christ's message of hope.

An urgent wish for a peaceful, ordered world was the dominant theme of observances everywhere.

In Communist - governed Czechoslovakia, in Soviet-occupied East Germany and in Moscow itself, Easter services were jammed. In the Philippines, soldiers with fixed bayonets guarded the faithful from possible raids by Red-inspired Hukbalahaps.

There were cheerful aspects, however, New York and Paris staged the customary Easter fashion shows. Sudden showers fell in Israel, breaking the worst drought in 80 years.

Easter weather over most of North America and Europe was far from spring-like. There were snow flurries in Quebec and in Paris, cold winds in Eastern Canada and New York, and leaden skies over most of Europe. Even in the Holy Land a chill spring wind accompanied the welcome rain.

Army Will Enlist Up To 2,500 Refugees

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The army instructed its command in Germany to start enlisting up to 2,500 refugees from behind the Iron Curtain. This action is authorized by recently enacted legislation.

The army announcement said the aliens to be enlisted would be neither nationals of Germany nor any country participating in the European Recovery Plan nor of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This leaves available only nationals of countries now under Communist control.

The army said this "will bring non-resident foreign nations into the United States army for the first time in its history." Recruits must be between 18 and 35 and sign up for a five-year period. All will be screened for security purposes.

Says Children In Movies Do All Right

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (AP) Don't feel sorry for child film stars, advises Judy Garland; they're doing all right.

Lately there have been numerous newspaper and magazine articles declaring that movie moppets generally make messes of their later lives.

"I've read them, too," Judy admitted, "and they depress me terribly. I don't think the life of a child star is as bad as it's pictured. Let's not knock it.

"I started in vaudeville when I was two and got in pictures when I was 13. If I had it to do over again, I'd do the same thing. Of course, I'd like to have done things differently. But that's the old, old story of 'if I knew then what I know now.'

"All in all, it was a wonderful life and I had many fine experiences which other kids wouldn't have."

Publicity

Judy said that former child stars have troubles because their lives are so highly publicized—"You have to live your life in a department store window." And part of the time in a court room, she might have added. Miss G. Just went through the publicity of a divorce from her second husband, director Vincente Minnelli. She was calm and composed as she told the judge about her domestic woes.

"I think publicity caused Elizabeth Taylor's troubles," she observed. "Liz is a very nice girl. But everything she does is so highly publicized that she has no chance to live a normal life."

Would she let her daughter Liza be a child star?

"If she wants to be an actress, I will let her," she replied. "And I think she will want to. But I want her to wait until she is at least 16 and can decide for herself."

By the time you read this, Judy will have left for New York on the first hop of trip to Europe. She has been reheasing the act she'll do at London's Palladium and will polish it up on the trip across aboard the Ile de France.

30th Donation Of Blood By Ben Smith

Ben Smith, 1219 Clonsilla Ave., an employee of the Switchgear Department of the CGE, recently became the second among Peterborough Works employees to make 30 donations of blood to the local Red Cross Branch. Ben now takes his place with Jack Smith, first of the "30-donation" men, and he has received the acclaim and gratitude of Red Cross officials for his unselfish public service.

Ben made his first donation to the blood bank away back in 1942, and was a regular visitor to the clinic during the war years. Although the need for whole blood and plasma was not so acute after the war. he continued to serve and also gave a few transfusions. Many blood donors dropped out as the need for blood was relieved, but Ben is one of those who have made their services available to the Red Cross since the blood bank was first established. Blood requirements are now increasing again, and the Red Cross. looking for new donors, has no better advertisement than such men as Ben Smith.

Blood Typed "B"

"It doesn't hurt a bit!" is just about his only comment on the experience. Despite the tremendous amount of blood he has given during the years, Ben has not been affected to the slightest degree. His blood is type "B," and only one in ten persons have this type of blood. This makes Ben a popular fellow with the Red Cross, who rely on such public-spirited people to save lives with their blood and contribute to a bank which may save many lives in times of accident or disaster.

"With Canadians fighting in Korea and the armed forces being increased, the need for civilian blood banks is certainly increasing," remarked Ben. "There is nothing to giving blood that will harm any able-bodied person, and it's a great satisfaction to know that you have been able to serve in time of need."

Ben was expressing a personal opinion, because he has always regarded his blood-giving only as an opportunity to serve. The Red Cross Society could certainly use a few more like him;

Says All Christians Should Pray For Peace

Straighten Teeth Cheaper Way

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26— (AP). — A discovery which may lead to ways of straightening children's teeth earlier and more cheaply than at present was reported Sunday by a University of Caliofrnia scientist. By comparing the mouths of young children and monkeys, Dr. Louis J. Baume, a dental researcher, found what he believes to be advance signs of whether a child will have crooked permanent teeth. Baume started the project 13 years ago.

Baume said the straightening should begin as soon as crooked teeth appear.

Northern Manitoba Indians Turn To Farming

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Northern Manitoba's Indians, hereditary trappers and hunters, are going in for farming.

The program will begin in The Pas area this spring when 300 of 600 acres of reserve land in one district will be cleared by tractor and plowed. As this area becomes farmers, another 300 acres will be broken and cultivated.

In addition, Indian land between the Saskatchewan and Carrot rivers will be leased to white farmers for a few years. Then it will be taken over for Indian farming.

Eric Law, Indian superintendent here, explained that as young Indians prove themselves adept at farming they will receive blocks of land for their own use, until farming has supplanted trapping as their main livelihood.

The agricultural plan coincides with a provision of the Indian bill now before parliament which authorizes Indians engaged in farming to sell grain and livestock without supervision.

Jansens Insist Social Functions Keep Simplicity

By EILEEN DAVIS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 26 (Reuters)—Simplicity has become the keynote of social functions in South Africa, largely due to the influence of the new Governor-General and his wife.

Since Dr. Ernest George Jansen South Africa's first Nationalist governor-general, assumed office Jan. 1, traditional pomp and official etiquette have been largely swept aside in favor of a more informal attitude.

Typical of the new spirit was the request, on the eve of a garden party at Government House, Capetown, by Mrs. Mabel Jansen, that women guests should not curtsy when presented to her.

Mrs. Jansen said she preferred "an ordinary friendly greeting accompanied by a slight inclination of the head."

Both Dr. and Mrs. Jansen have an intense love of their mother tongue, Afrikaans.

Prefers Background

Mrs. Jansen was also one of the three South Africans appointed to choose South Africa's national flag which now flies on government buildings side-by-side with the Union Jack.

Several times Mrs. Jansen has been asked to stand for parliament. But she has always refused, preferring to work in a less public capacity.

Mrs. Jansen has found time to collect antiques and now has one of the world's finest private collections. She is a successful gardener, an accomplished pianist, a fine needlewoman and a brilliant linguist. She spends much of her leisure reading the classics.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

DOROTHY DIX

Middle-Age Charm Takes Much Work, Intelligence

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 51. Have never been married. Now I have a proposal from a widower who is twenty years older than I am. His children are all married, so they would be no problem. The only thing against him is his age, yet he is very active mentally and physically, in excellent health and could easily pass for a man of 55 or 60. As nearly as I can analyze my feeling toward him, they are a combination of respect, admiration and a desire for security, coupled with a dash of romance. I do not have to marry because I have a good job and can support myself, but I feel the need for companionship. Do you think such a marriage would be reasonably happy?

M. J. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why not? Every marriage is more or less of a gamble, but age takes no more risks when it enters the holy estate than youth does. In fact, the odds are in favor of age because years of living and experience in dealing with people have taught the mature man and woman self-control, the technique of getting along with others and not expecting perfection in mere human beings that the boy and girl lack.

Want Own Homes

I am strong for elderly people marrying when they pick their mates with reasonable prudence.

Old people are very lonely if they have no husbands or wives. Living with their children does not satisfy them, no matter how kind and good their children are to them. They want their own homes in which they can do as they please, not to feel they are perpetual guests in another's house.

Because the old need companionship when they can no longer go out to seek amusement for themselves, it is a good thing for them to marry some congenial soul even after they have long passed the age of romance.

As for the matter of age, a woman of 51 would be foolish to marry a man twenty years her senior if he were feeble and in delicate health, unless she had a nursing complex. But if he is healthy and vigorous he should be going strong into his eighties, and that would give them a span of happiness together worth having.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When I was a young man my father used to say to me: "Son, when you find yourself getting especially interested in a girl go around to the kitchen door to call on her; then you will see her as she really is without her company clothes or manner." I followed this advice even to the extent of boarding with the mother of the girl I wanted to marry and the results have been very satisfactory. I pass along the tip to the youth of today.

K. F. A.

ANSWER: And good advice it is, too. Many a man would be saved from bitter disillusion if he had ever got a close-up before marriage of Evelina at 8 a.m. instead of only having seen her at 8 p.m. For there is a vast difference between many a girl at breakfast at home with her complexion off and a sloppy kimono on, and at 8 p.m. when she is all prettied up and ready to go out.

I have always contended that if bridal tours could be taken before marriage instead of afterward it would save many a divorce, because both the party of the first part and the party of the second part would have a chance to find out just what good sports each was and how each would meet the ups and downs of marriage.

But maybe boarding with the girl's mother is an even better way of getting a line on Evelina. Anyway, it is worth trying.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: If you were a young married woman who worked in an office and earned most of the family support, scrimped and saved and went without everything you needed in order to give medical attention to a sick baby, what would do if your husband took all of your savings to buy a new car?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'd tell him to take the car and drive as far away in the other direction from me as he could go and never come back. A man who is irresponsible and lacking in all sense of a husband's and father's obligations is not worth bothering about.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Find Indian Women Slow To Accept Higher Status

BOMBAY — (CP)—Centuries-old family customs and traditions are still holding back Indian women from playing their full part in modern life.

Though India's Republican constitution has guaranteed women equality of status, the old conventional patterns of family life are slow to break down.

A few pioneer Indian women are appearing on an equal footing with men in all aypes of jobs, ranging from atomic research to the diplomatic service. But it will take a slow and widespread revolution in the attitude to women throughout the country before real equality is achieved.

Full Freedom on Paper

On paper, women have full freedom. The constitution guarantees adult suffrage and opens all offices of the state equally to women and to men. Schools and universities take women on terms of equality with men throughout the country.

Yet, less than half a dozen women have been admitted to top-ranking administrative and foreign service posts. Women in the professions, such as law and medicine, or in business are still few and far between. Marriage remains the most sought after career for the millions of India's women.

Home and children remain the main female interest, as they have been for countless generations.

Astrology Factor

Most marriages are still arranged by the parents of the couple, and the dowry system and the matching of horoscopes by the astrologer still play their part in the negotiations.

The slow process through parliament of the controversial Hindu Code Bill, relating to marriage, divorce and inheritance, emphasizes the difficulties of changing customs hallowed by tradition.

The bill is attempting for the first time to give a share of the father's property to the daughter. It also introduces divorce into the Hindu law for the first time in history.

Joint Family System

The most distinctive feature of the present Hindu law is the joint family system, whereby the property is owned jointly by the male members of the family. Although daughters have no right to share in the ancestral property, it is the accepted duty of the head of the family to care for their welfare until their marriage.

Some of the most vociferous among the opponents of the bill outside parliament have been orthodox women who feel that the right to property would deprive them of the moral bond which ensures them the protection of the family.

The grant of adult suffrage under the constitution has enormously enhanced the political importance of women, especially in view of the general elections to be held at the end of this year. More than fifty million Indian women will then vote for the first time.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Ways to Use Left Over Easter Ham

Of course I know the ham that you had yesterday was wonderful, but by the time you have had it for dinner three or four time in succession and maybe in your lunch sandwich too, you will be mighty glad of some ideas that will at least change the appearance of it, when it reaches the dinner table.

In next Thursday's column you will find a recipe for a filling and crust for large or individual chicken pies. The same method may be used for a ham pie, if you cut the ham in bite-size pieces and omit some of the salt from the gravy in the filling.

Since the liquid in which the ham was boiled will be a thing of the past by that time, substitute the liquid in the recipe with water—fortified with one teaspoon MSG for rich flavor.

But this column started out to be a build-up for my famous Guiche Lorraine Pie. It is famous with me anyway. It is made of ground leftover ham, eggs, cream or milk and cheese. It is a dish you serve to guests who appreciate artful cookery.

Emem's Guiche Lorraine (Ham Pie)

Line a deep pie plate with rich pastry. Mix to a smooth paste 6 tablespoons soft butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt. Onto floured board sift 2 cups sifted flour. Make a depression in flour. Pour in the egg and butter mixture, and work the flour into it quickly with the hands. You may need to add 1 tablespoon ice water to make a dough that will roll out to one-quarter inch thickness. Use this to line a large deep pie plate, building up the rim to make the sides high.

Filling: Two cups well packed ground cooked ham, 2 or 3 beaten eggs, 1 to 1½ cups cream or milk, ¼ pound grated old cheese. You may use more ham if you want to. Beat the eggs well then add the milk or cream and the ham. Pour into the unbaked shell. Bake for 12 minutes at 450 deg. Fahr. Then take from oven and sprinkle the cheese over and bake for 30 minutes at 375 deg. Fahr. To make the pie large and deeper add more ham, eggs and milk. This fluctuation in ingredients is quite safe for the filling and flavor are indestructible. Serve with hot chili sauce or catsup.

Ham Ring

A wonderful and economical party dish.

Four cups chopped or ground cooked ham (preferably leftover baked ham—chicken may be used in place of ham), 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 3 cups milk, ¼ cup butter or half butter and ham fat or margarine, mushrooms or peas (to fill centre of ring). Mix the ham with the ingredients in the order given but omit the peas or mushrooms. Turn into buttered ring mould, stand in pan of hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Allow to stand for 10 minutes before turning out on hot chop plate. Fill centre with creamed or sauteed mushrooms, or hot cooked frozen or canned peas. (Creamed asparagus makes a good filling for centre when it is in season.) Garnish with parsley. Serve with hot rolls or biscuits and a large tossed green salad.

CASTLE — In loving memory of Thomas Castle, who passed away March 26, 1944
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear father how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

CROSS—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away March 26, 1946.
There's a sad but sweet remembrance,
There is a memory fond and true,
There's a token of affection, mother,
And a heartache still for you.
—Lovingly remembered by Winifred, Michael and grandchildren.

CROSS—In loving memory of a dear sister, Mary Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946.
You're not forgotten, sister dear,
Nor ever shall you be,

CROSS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Ann Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better God never made.
A wonderful worker, loyal and true,
One in a million, that mother was you.
Just in your judgment always right,
Honest and liberal ever upright,
Loved by your friends and all you knew,
A wonderful mother, that mother was you.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by son Jim and daughter-in-law Kay and family.

CROSS—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Ann Cross, who passed away March 26, 1946.
Oft we think of you, dear mother,
And our hearts are filled with pain.
On this earth would be a heaven
Could we hear your voice again.
—Lovingly remembered by Bill, Lill and grandchildren.

DOIG—In loving memory of "Stew" Doig, who passed away March 26, 1944.

Double Gym Classes A Y For Holidays

Gym and swimming classes have been doubled for this week at the YMCA to extend the services to the schol, rural and employed members. The boys' work secretary, William MacFarlane, has arranged the program so that younger school children attend in the morning, older children late in the morning and collegiate students during the afternoon.

Today the juniors, 12 and 13 years, worked out in the gym for an hour and followed up with a half-hour swimming period. The pioneers, boys eight and nine years, will have gym and pool classes Wednesday and Saturday mornings. The juveniles, 10 and 11 years, have workouts on Wednesday and Saturday mornings. The non-swimmers group had one class in the pool today.

The intermediate school, rural and employed boys have gym classes from 11 a.m. until noon throughout the week followed by a swim period. The senior collegiate group have the afternoon periods from 2 until 4 in the gym and 2 until 5 in the pool with the exception of Wednesday and Saturday when volleyball leagues are playing.

Friday night the YMCA is holding another Dad and Lad swim. To enter the pool the father must be accompanied by his son or the boy by his father.

Snowstorm, Icy Streets Blamed For 10 Accidents

Blowing snow and slippery city streets piled up 10 accidents Saturday afternoon and night. In three of them people were injured. In contrast not one accident was reported to police Sunday.

During the height of the storm, Leonard Mahood, 737 Charlotte St. was knocked down by a car and had his left leg broken above the knee and the left side of his face bruised.

Driver of the car was Bernard McCaskie, 117 Aylmer St. He said he was driving west on Lansdowne St. Mahood got off a city bus, walked around the back of the bus and started across the street. When he saw the truck approaching he started to run toward the north curb. McCaskie turned his truck toward the centre of the street and was almost alongside Mahood when Mahood turned and ran to the south.

The right side of the front bumper hit Mahood's left leg and threw him to the ground. McCaskie picked up the man and drove him to the clinic and then to Civic hospital.

Mahood told police he had almost reached the north curb when the truck hit him. Constable Reg. McMillan reported the road was slushy and slippery.

Another pedestrian, W. J. Clancy, 265 Sherbrooke St., reported at the police station that he had been hit by a car that didn't stop.

He said he was hit as he crossed Charlotte St. at Aylmer St. A taxi driver gave him a licence number of the car which was believed to have hit him. The number was traced by police to Michael Connolly, 236 Rubidge St., who said he did not remember hitting any pedestrian. Constable McMillan investigated. Clancy suffered a bruised left side, but was reported not seriously hurt.

About two a.m. Sunday morning, Miss Marie Crowley, 183 Dufferin St., suffered a small cut on her forehead when the car she was riding in crashed into a parked car owned by Braden Dunford, Lakefield.

Driver of the car in which Miss Crowley was a passenger, Percy Wood, Keene, said he was driving on Douro St. when he pulled to one side to give room to an approaching car. Before he could stop he hit the parked car, driving it ahead 12 feet. Damage was done to both cars. Constables John Conlin and Douglas Farthing investigated.

Three separate accidents occurred at 6 p.m. A truck and a car collided as the car was making a left turn from Aylmer St. into Sherbrooke St. Gerald W. Withers, 48 LaFayette St., was driving north on Aylmer St. and saw the car make a left turn in front of him. The vehicles collided doing damage to both.

Driver of the car Frank B. Marrs, 4 Bruce St., said he didn't see the truck until the collision. Constable Dennis Traynor reported that it was snowing and blowing at the time. He said Marrs had been drinking.

Another six o'clock accident occurred on McDonnel St. when Donald Wassen, Lakefield, driving east, skidded into a parked car owned by Robert Rothwell, 343 McDonnel St. Constable McMillan investigated.

At the same time John Rose, R.R. 2, Norwood, crashed into the rear of a city bus driving by Ivan Cunningham, 732 Third Ave., as the bus stopped at the CPR tracks on George St. Constable McMillan also investigated this accident.

A driver, Edward Ballantyne, 566 Waterford St., said that the left headlight was out on the car he collided with almost head-on on Lansdowne St. at 8 p.m.

The other driver, William H. MacSwain, R.R. 11, Peterborough, said he had seen that his left headlight was on a short time before the accident.

Constable Dennis Traynor reported that to turn on the lights of the MacSwain car, he had to use a pair of plyers to bring together two wires, because the switch did not work. In testing the lights he found the left headlight did not go on.

Later in the night, Mrs. Floyd G. Curtis, 344 Parkhill Rd., ran into the rear of a car stopped on Parkhill Rd. before turning right into Armour Rd. The stopped car was driven by Gerald H. Heffernan. Constable Traynor investigated.

Early in the afternoon when the storm was just nicely started two cars collided at Aylmer and Sherbrooke Sts. James W. Fuller, Kingston, said he did not see the stop sign at Aylmer St. as he drove west on Sherbrooke St. J. E. Potipcoe, Oshawa, was driving south on Aylmer St. Both cars were damaged. Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

A parked car which cut off the view of J. E. Sparks, 285 King George St., as he entered George St. from Westcott St. was blamed for his collision with a car travelling south driven by Lorne Beavis, 637 Aylmer St. Constable Traynor investigated.

Toscanini, 84

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Arturo Toscanini spent his 84th birthday quietly Sunday with members of his family and intimate friends at his home here. The Italian conductor was reported in good health, except for an old knee injury.

Car Strikes Bus Woman Injured

Provincial police from Peterborough headquarters had several hectic hours late Saturday afternoon and evening, in answering calls reporting accidents on local highways. None of the accidents were serious and only one person was injured.

Elaine Taylor, 26, of Madoc, received minor injuries when her car collided with the rear of an eastbound Colonial Coach bus, a mile and a half east of the city on Highway 7. Miss Taylor applied her brakes but there was not sufficient traction on the icy pavement and she ran into the rear of the stationary bus.

She received cuts on her legs and was treated by Dr. Robert Bell before being permitted to continue on her way home.

Provincial Constable Wallace Mohns investigated.

Another skidding accident at about 4:30 p.m. resulted in $550 damage to two cars but no injuries.

Cars Bump

Mrs. Rena Andrews, RR 2, Peterborough, turned out of a sideroad near Central Smith Creamery and had gone about 100 feet east along Highway 7 when her car was bumped by the car of William James Cameron, Langton St.

Langton had apparently decided to pass the Andrews car but then changed his mind and applied the brakes. His skidding car bumped the other and forced it into the ditch where it sustained $300 damage.

Damage to Cameron's car was $250.

Provincial Constable Russell Pollard investigated.

Three cars were also involved in a minor tangle in front of the Hitching Post on Highway 7, east. Damage was light and there were no injuries.

Condition Unchanged

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 26 (AP).—The condition of Michigan's Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg, seriously ill at his home here, remained unchanged today, Dr. A. B. Smith said.

Price Morris Given Brief Case By OVC

Inspector Price Morris left Peterborough today to take up his new post as OPP inspector in Sudbury. He is motoring back with Inspector Alan Stringer who is switching districts with him. Both appointments are effective April 1st.

Before Inspector Morris left he was presented with a leather brief case by the local branch of the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary which he headed during the Second World War. Bill Guppy and Garnet Dunford made the presentation on behalf of the OVC.

Going-away gifts from the city and district police were received by Inspector Morris and Mrs. Morris at a banquet held last Monday at the Kawartha Club.

Inspector Stringer was in Peterborough over the weekend looking for living accommodation.

Play Gruelling Rounds In Soccer Tourney

LONDON, March 26 (Reuters)—English football clubs limped off rainsodden fields today after a gruelling round of three games in four days which left league standings much as they were.

Tottenham Hotspur, with a double victory over Fulham and a 1-1 tie with Portsmouth Saturday, held its position at the top of the first division and nothing short of disaster can rob it of the league championship. The 'Spurs beat Fulham 1-0 Friday and 2-1 today.

At the other end of the division, Aston Villa sneaked out of the cellar thanks to today's 3-2 win over Wolverhampton. Villa left the bottom rung to Chelsea and Sheffield Wednesday but the two who will drop to the second division may not be decided until the end of the season.

THE ENTIRE FAMILY MOVED to training camp with Poppa Chris Van Cuyk, pitcher for the Brooklyn Club. Mrs. Van offers some help as Chris feeds infant daughter, Virginia, six months old.

British Columbia

IN the Rush of '58 a throng of gold seekers found gleaming treasure along the Fraser River. To honour Christopher Columbus . . . who had sought a westward passage to the gold and riches of the East long before . . . Queen Victoria conferred on the newly settled territory the enduring name British Columbia.

During the past century Canada's Pacific province has found riches other than gold. Giant cedars, hemlocks and Douglas firs soaring high to the heavens. Inlets and rivers swarming with salmon. Deep hoards of minerals and the prized fruit of the Okanagan Valley.

British Columbia is indeed richly endowed with natural resources. Preparing for the future, she is investing in great new industrial ventures. Building and planning now, British Columbia is ensuring her fullest rewards in Canada's tomorrow.

Deaf And Dumb Montreal Boys Keen Athletes

By MAX McMAHON

MONTREA—(CP)—Some people might think MacKay school Boy Scout troop a unique body but not constable Jim Archer of the R.C.M.P. Scoutmaster Archer says his boys may be deaf and speechless. But not unique.

Constable Archer says you can hav your cheering and shouting at big time hockey. He'll take the hockey games of his own boys.

There nobody says a word, nobody cheers or argues with the referees. Maybe it's the world's most silent hockey game. But it's one of scoutmaster Archer's big thrills.

The youngsters of the Mackay school live in a world of silence and Archer had to learn sign language and the manual alphabet to direct them. He did so because he felt there was a great need for such a troop.

"These youngsters have two strikes against them before they even start life," he said. "They badly want to be a part of society, not a group set aside, but most people, even their own parents, don't give them that chance.

Eager For Chance

"All children are protected by their parents when they are young. These kids are all too often coddled and sheltered from the world because of their 'invisible handicap.'

"They are handicapped in that they can't hear or speak but their other senses are even more acute than the normal person's. They want a chance to prove themselves and scouting gives them that chance. At times they are even more keen than 'hearing' scouts."

Last year three of the MacKay troop scouts went to summer camp with another troop.

A baseball game was started and after some hesitation the three deaf boys were invited to play.

"You should have seen that team's eyes open up," said Archer. "The deaf boys are keen sportsmen and they soon showed themselves an asset. After that they were accepted all over the camp, no longer something to be wondered about or pitied."

Scouting helps their outlook on life, helps their school work and helps them in their associations with others at the school.

FBI Goes Underground With U.S. Communists

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover disclosed today the Federal Bureau of Investigation has secret agents among a group of American Communists which he said "has gone underground for possible action at a later date."

The disclosure was reported in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

The FBI director said "all that remains of the Communist party ...above ground is a self-constituted core, which for appearance's sake maintains a public contact."

The new FBI "count" of party members in the U.S., puts their total at 43,217, Hoover said. This is more than 20 per cent less than the 55,000 figure he gave last year. The party itself has stopped issuing membership figures.

Steel Production Heading For New High

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, March 26 (CP) — Canada's steel makers, important figures in rearmament, are on the road to making history this year.

They're producing at unprecedented rates, pulling more hot steel out of fiery furnaces than at any time in history.

Steel, long described as a nation's industrial backbone, is a crucial factor in Canada's armament program. Without steel there can be no guns, no ships, no planes, no transports, no arms.

With that in mind, steel makers are aiming to surpass the production high of 3,300,000 ingot tons last year.

Output in January totalled 299,410 tons, compared with 283,894 in January, 1950. Production in February totalled 271,222 tons, again a sharp gain from the 251,890 in the same month last year.

Wasting No Time

When it comes to a comparison with the big nations, Canada's steel-making ability is relatively small, but there is no grass growing under the industry's feet.

In 1935, it had the ability to produce only some 1,000,000 ingot tons a year. In 1950 it had more than tripled this figure.

A big slow-up factor in expansion is Canada's peacetime needs. A small country with a population of 14,000,000, it can absorb only so much steel wares.

And a big factor, too, is the big steel-making ability of Canada's next-door neighbor, the United States, now limiting export due to a big rearmament program of its own.

Canada usually imported about 1,000,000 ingots of steel to add to her own supplies. Last year, the US delivered only about 700,000 tons. This year, through government intervention, the US may increase the flow back to the 1,000,000-ton mark, or even a little higher.

Canada's needs, as estimated by the government, are about 5,500,000 tons of finished steel for 1951. At current production and importing rates, she still will need about 1,500,000 tons more than she can get.

Y Spiders Hold Volleyball Lead

Spiders kept their lead intact in the Lillico Volleyball Trophy play Saturday at the YMCA by winning three games from the Ants. They triumphed 15-7, 15-6 and 15-10 to take six points for a total of 44. Their closest rivals, the Mosquitos, kept up the pace with three wins over the Fleas 15-4, 15-3 and 15-11, to place six points behind the Spiders.

The Bees buzzed away from the winless Ants to break a third-place tie when they defeated the Locusts three straight 15-5, 15-5, and 15-7. The Moths by squeezing one game in three 12-9, from the Bugs moved into a fourth-place tie with the Ants. The Bugs two wins 15-3 and 15-11, over the Moths, enabled them to climb from the cellar into fifth place. The Fleas now hold a five-point lead over the cellar-dwelling Locusts in spite of the three lost Saturday. The standing now is:

Pilgrim Players Present Passion Play

Knox United Church was filled to near capacity on Sunday evening when the Knox Pilgrim Players presented the Easter Passion Play, "Behold the Man." This play, written in blank verse portrays the incidents of the healing of the child of the Phoenicean woman, the dream of Pilate's wife, and condemning and Crucifixion of Jesus Christ, His burial, the finding of the empty tomb by the three Maries, and the first Christian Communion.

The scenes were linked by narration from the scriptures, and by music from a string trio, with Mrs. Foster and Messrs. Tom Smith and G. W. Gatfield. Wm. R. Potter was at the organ, and Jean Jackman sang solos from Handel's "Messiah." A quartette consisting of Dorothy Mitchell, Marjorie Charlton, Victor Potter and Edward Potter provided musical color to much of the action.

Rev. H. G. Douglas conducted the service, and acted as narrator and Lindy McIntosh acted as chorus to the action of the play.

The parts were played as follows: Lygia, a seller of silks, Helen Gillies; Claudia, Betty Staresmeare and Eunice, the Phoenicean woman by Louise Potter. Rodger Davis and Margaret McCombe were Pontius and Lady Pilate with Edward Potter as Longinus, the centurion who officiated at the Crucifixion, and Victor Potter as Joseph of Arimathea. Ephraim and Esther, his wife were Ganton Clarke and Dorothy Mitchell, Mary Magdalene was Vera Tasker, Mary Cleophas was played by Ada Huffman, with Susan Summers as Salome, the mother of James and John. The disciples were: Philip, Harry Tasker; Matthew, Dennis Crowhurst, and Peter, Joe Lancashire.

The stage and lighting were in the hands of Ray Gillies, assisted by Ganton Clarke in charge of effects, which include the thunderstorm which marked the day of the crucifixion. The costumes were designed and made by Susan Summers.

The play was directed by Peter McCombe, who wrote and arranged the script. The Pilgrim Players represent an extension of the work of the Knox Theatre Group, and their object is to make religious drama available to all interested churches, irrespective of their size or resources.

Try Fire-Bombing Against Huk Guerrillas

MANILA, March 26 (AP). — Philippine airmen used a unique kind of fire-bombing today in an effort to drive Communist Hukbalahap guerrillas from a swamp island in Central Luzon.

Air Force C-47 transport planes dropped hundreds of five-gallon cans of kerosene and other petroleum products into the jungle-covered island. Then ground troops fired phosphorus rockets into the air, igniting the fuel.

Results of the raid were not determined immediately. It was the first attempt to burn the elusive Huks out of a lair. The Huk island is in Candaba Swamp in Pampanga Province, some 50 miles north of Manila.

Say Million Mexicans Cross Border To Work

NEW YORK, March 26 (CP)—The New York Times says today that at least 1,000,000 Mexican laborers cross the Mexican-United States border every year to work under conditions comparable to pre-Civil War slavery.

The Times, in the first of a series of five articles by Gladwin Hill, says the "wetback" system—so-called because many of the infiltrating laborers swim the Rio Grande to enter the US—offers a wide-open avenue for Communist spies to enter the country.

Hill says "in cold fact Joseph Stalin might adopt a perfunctory disguise and walk into the country his way."

Seagram TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT Canada

THIS advertisement was designed by The House of Seagram to tell the people of other lands about Canada and things exclusively Canadian.

Many people in Latin America, Asia, Europe and other parts of the world are not fully aware of the richness of Canada's natural resources, wild life, scenic beauty and cultural traditions. The more the peoples of other lands know about our country, the greater will be their interest in Canada and Canadian products.

The House of Seagram feels that the horizon of industry does not terminate at the boundary of its plants; it has a broader horizon, a farther view—a view dedicated to the development of Canada's stature in every land of the globe.

Star Ignored By Hollywood Causes Furore In Germany

By DANIEL DE LUCE

FRANKFURT, March 26 (AP) A little blonde who got Hollywood's cold shoulder is Germany's woman of the year.

Fans rioted by the thousands to see Hildegarde Knef in the title role in "The Sinner." Police were called out.

A row over Miss Knef's film characterization has split state cabinets and raised questions over constitutional liberties.

All this is a headline adventure for square-chinned, flaxen-haired Miss Knef, the first German actress to win an American studio contract after the war.

Wrapped in Cinderella dreams, she came back to Germany.

Willi Forst, an oldtime producer and director, had an idea meanwhile for a startling movie. He envisaged the heroine as a prostitute and he traced the heartbreak of her one true love against the backdrop of Nazi corruption in wartime and of black-market immorality in the era of defeat.

Ignore Taboos

Under Forst's direction, "The Sinner" and her gravely-ill artist-lover, played by Gustav Froehlich, cut across most of the historic taboos in the film business.

It ends in a double suicide after "The Sinner" has offered her body for sale to others, hoping to buy a surgical miracle for the artist, who is going blind.

A long shot or two of "The Sinner" lying nude in a garden as she poses for the artist are perhaps the most daring ever screened publicly in Germany.

Influential church circles wrathfully charged it "idealizes prostitution, unfaithfulness and suicide." "Nihilistic, decadent, amoral" were other critical adjectives.

Miss Knef, whose private life is a model of propriety and who still is married to her first and only husband, has kept discreetly silent in the furore.

Twins 89

PARIS, March 26 (CP)—Mrs. John Knill of Paris and her twin sister, Miss Elizabeth Robertson of Norwich, will celebrate their 89th birthday March 31. Born in Burford, Ont., in 1862, the sisters are daughters of John Robertson, a pioneer resident of the village and a veteran of the Indian wars.

Alderville Club Entertains Brantford Group

ROSENEATH, March 26 (ENS)—The Alderville Homemakers' Club entertained the Homemakers Clubs of the Lyendenaga Mohawk reserve on Friday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Simpson. Four visiting clubs were represented, namely, the Western Group, Central Group, Eastern Group and Mission Group. These groups comprise the Bay of Quinte Homemakers' Club.

The president of the local club, Mrs. Alfred Simpson, presided, and in her address of welcome stressed the importance of these periodic visits, and the benefits derived in promoting a feeling of unity and an exchange of ideas. An appropriate reply was made by Mrs. Brant, district supervisor.

Dinner was served by the local group and Mrs. Simpson presided over an impromptu program, and after dinner speeches by A. E. Adams, Indian superintendent, Peterborough, Mr. Cassie, Indian superintendent, Dereronto, the Rev. J. N. Lovelace and Mrs. Lovelace, Roseneath, and Mr. Albert Crowe, Alderville.

Included among those from a distance attending were: Mesdames W. E. Maracle, James Maracle, Isaac Maracle, Cameron Brant, Clarence Brant, Melvin Maracle, Frank Brant, Jr., Benson Brant, John A. Brant, Elwood D. Brant, Stanley Brant, Herbie Brant, Ross Brant, Abel Greene, Gerald Brant, Percy Greene, Carman Brant, Catherine Brant, Herbert J. Car Buying Up

OTTAWA, March 26 (CP). —Canadians purchased almost $60,000,000 worth of new passenger cars in January, an increase of $17,000,000 over last year's $42,000,000. By far the greatest sales, said the Bureau of Statistics in a report Saturday, were made in Ontario, $25,000,000 worth. Total units involved in sales across the country climbed to 26,126 in January, a boost of 5,000 over January last year.

Two Wounded Arrive

VANCOUVER, March 26 (CP)—Army headquarters said Sunday two wounded members of Canada's special brigade arrived here from Japan Friday by air, then headed east.

They were the first Canadian casualties flown in from the war zone. The army withheld announcement of their arrival as a security measure.

The men, described as walking wounded, were not identified.

Father's Death Kept Secret 10 Days

WINDSOR, March 26 (CP)—A daughter kept the secret of her father's death from authorities for about 10 days, officials learned Sunday.

The body was found in a bed at his home where the daughter lived alone with her father.

Dr. C. V. Mills, coroner, said indications were that he died March 15.

Neighbors inquired about the father from his daughter, described as about 25 years of age, and they were told he was "asleep."

One neighbor reported the daughter said she had been feeding her father in bed, but "he would not eat."

Dr. Mills said the father died of natural causes and there was no indication of foul play.

The daughter is in hospital.

Report Canada Disturbed Over MacArthur Statement

3 In Crime Probe Receive Threats Against Their Lives

WASHINGTON, March 27. (CP)—Three members of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee disclosed today they have received threats against their lives. However, one member discounted a report he is under special police protection. Those receiving the threats were Senator Charles Toney (Rep. NH), Chairman Ests Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.), and Senator Lester Hunt (Dem. Wyo.). Most of the threats were in the form of letters but Tobey said he received one threat by telephone. None of the senators appeared disturbed by the threats and Kefauver laughed about his, saying they were the "usual crack-potish letters."

Tobey himself expressed surprise at a statement by his son, Charles W. Tobey, Jr., published by The Boston Globe, that the Senator "without knowing it, has had protection 24 hours a day and protection will continue."

News To Him

Tobey said he knew of no special police protection during the hearings in New York and he said he has no special protection now that he knows about, adding: "I go my own free way."

Meanwhile, U. S. treasury officials told the committee today that a special fraud section is being set up to check on the income tax returns of gamblers and racketeers.

John Snyder, secretary of the treasury, sent the committee a pledge of a continuing drive to bring "chiselers to justice."

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, George Schoeneman, appeared before the Senate investigators and said his agents are investigating nearly 2,500 tax cases "in the criminal area."

Chairman Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) said the committee will decide Friday what further action to take against two top-rank gamblers, Morris Kleinman and Louis Rothkopf, both of Cleveland.

At the same time, it will pass on the fate of Jacob (Greasy Thumb) Guzik, Chicago Capone gangster, who preceded them in refusing to answer the committee's searching questions about underworld activities.

With its televised public hearings apparently ending today, the committee called treasury officials for questioning about Senators' complaints that racketeers have been permitted to get away with listing their income as coming from "miscellaneous sources."

Efforts Defeated

Such listings defeat efforts to check the sources and leave loopholes for rigging income figures, Senators contend.

Kefauver said Kleinman, Rothkopf and Guzik automatically will face contempt charges. He said the possibility of asking the Senate to order them sent to jail immediately is being studied.

New Stunt

Kleinman and Rothkopf Monday night pulled a new stunt on the committee after it had heard Abern (Longie) Zwillman, north New Jersey political kingpin, admit he once was a bootlegger but plead that he now is going straight.

UN Troops Fight Rearguard Of Chinese Army

TOKYO, March 27 — (AP).—American troops fought through a Chinese regiment on the western front today in a slow advance toward the North Korean border. They killed 350 Communists.

Nearby, another US unit battled three battalions of rearguard Chinese. By late Tuesday afternoon the Americans had squeezed the Reds into a trap. United Nations planes dropped surrender leaflets.

An American division staff officer said he did not believe the Chinese would put up another major stand south of Parallel 38. But he added:

"I think if we hit them above the Parallel we'll find them fighting like sons of guns."

Elements of six Chinese armies were reported massing just north of the border. A report said Reds defence positions were built directly in front of the present UN line about two miles north of the Parallel.

The Chinese 26th Army Corps has pulled back across the Imjin River.

No Longes Effective

An American spokesman said the Chinese regiment mauled by the Americans Tuesday was part of the 77th Division. He said the division could no longer be regarded as an "effective, organized fighting force." The second Chinese force was not identified.

On the Americans' left flank, South Korean troops by sundown Tuesday were within five miles of the Parallel in force. They dug in along the Imjin River east of Munsan. To get there they marched across Korean foothills without opposition.

Allied planes Tuesday supported western front ground action. They hit gun positions, pillboxes, tanks and vehicles.

Although the main UN line is within small-arms range of 38, only one penetration in force has been reported. On the east coast, South Korean troops occupied the small village of Youngpo. US Eighth Army spokesmen said the village had no military significance.

On the east central front UN troops encountered rain and mud but no enemy as they advanced to within six miles of 38.

The Red build-up was reported on the central front around Kumhwa. This is a road and rail centre 20 air miles north of 38. Communist troops have been spotted south of the town, and in the hills to the east and west.

Heavy traffic also was spotted on the roads around Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, and Sukchon. Of the 850 vehicles seen moving Monday night, 600 were headed south. This is the largest group spotted in two weeks.

Thugs Hold Up Telegraph Office

TORONTO, March 27 (CP)—In less time than it would have taken to buy a money order, three thugs Monday night held up Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs downtown office here and escaped with $1,000 in cash.

Half the money was in United States currency. The robbery was over in three minutes, but the thieves overlooked a brown envelope containing $500.

James Hillyard, night counter clerk, said two of the men entered the office while the third remained as lookout just outside the door. No customers or other employees were in the office at the time.

"The first thing I saw was a gun in one of the men's hand, Hillyard said. "He waved it at me and told me to get down behind the counter."

The second man then opened the cash drawer, scooped up the money and put it in a bag. Then both fled.

The King Refuses Offer Of Sturgeon

HASTINGS, March 27 (Reuters).—The King Monday politely refused a seven-foot sturgeon offered to him by a fisherman, under an ancient British law which says that all sturgeon in England belong to the King.

This 23-pounder wound up in a fish market where housewives snapped it up at 50 cents a pound.

Canada-U.S. Sign Civil Defence Pact

Dominion Ready Ease Border Rules For Mutual Help

OTTAWA, March 27. (CP)—Canada and the United States today signed an agreement to provide all possible mutual help for civil defence and Canada said she would modify her border regulations accordingly to allow the help to flow both ways.

Simultaneous announcements here and in Washington said the agreement was signed at noon today in Washington by State Secretary Dean Acheson and Hume Wrong, Canadian ambassador. It was put into effect by an exchange of notes.

The two countries already have broad plans for joint military defence of the continent. This new agreement projects that into the civil defence field, the care of populations under attack.

The announcement said "the necessary steps are being taken in Canada for the modification of existing customs and immigration regulations and other arrangements affecting border controls so that all civil defence supplies, equipment and facilities may be utilized to the fullest extent."

The agreement, result of months of discussion, provide for:

1. Co-ordination of civil defence planning by the two countries with a joint, top-level committee to arrange it.

2. Adjacent provinces and states as well as communities—such as Detroit, Mich., and Windsor—to co-ordinate their plans to meet disaster.

3. Exchanges of information covering a wide field, from legislation to organization, research, development, equipment, schools and other factors.

4. Exchange of personnel with each country opening its special training schools to the other.

5. Reimbursement of costs one country encounters in aiding the other.

6. Direct communication between the top federal civil defence agencies "on technical matters," with government policy being handled "through regular diplomatic channels."

Footsore Parisians Still Have To Walk

PARIS, March 27 (AP) —Footsore and weary Parisians struggled to work again today as best they could without subways and buses, strike-bound for the 12th straight day.

A strike committee of both Communist and non-Communist union leaders announced Monday night that the local transport walkout would continue until the transport employees get raises of 6,000 francs ($17) a month.

Government negotiators were reported to have offered monthly raises of 2,200 francs ($6.28).

There was some indication, however, the government might try further to meet the strikers' demand. Monday night Transport Minister Antoine Pinay said:

"I hope everyone will be able to take the metro (subway) after the cabinet meeting Wednesday, at the latest."

A million or so other Parisians hoped so, too.

Lioness On Loose Enlivens Circus Ball

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 27 (AP)—A hungry lioness slipped out of her cage at a circus-costume ball here early today and cavorted among movie stars and others for 15 minutes before being captured by a singer, a restaurant man and a photographer.

Singer Allan Jones, Renaoldo Ferarri of San Francisco, and magazine photographer Earl Tiesen crowded the animal into a corner where her handlers could get a rope around her and lead her back to the cage.

Acheson Sounds Warning

Urges American Republics Act To Meet Red Menace

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) —State Secretary Dean Acheson today urged the American republics to take immediate action to meet a menace posed by international Communism.

He said no free country anywhere in the world is secure against the menace, and called for full economic and military co-operation with the United States.

Acheson delivered the keynote speech of the first regular session of the inter-American conference of foreign ministers.

The instruments of Soviet Russia's "new imperialism," he said, are "a formidable machine of war and the international Communist movement."

"Never before have we faced a menace of this magnitude. Never before has there been so great a challenge to our determination to preserve our independence as nations."

Must Build Strength

Only by building up their strength could the free countries provide a deterrent force which "is the only real road to peace."

Acheson suggested that the American republics might prepare a co-ordinated defence plan for the hemisphere as soon as possible.

Acheson keynoted a session at which the foreign ministers of 21 American republics aim to work out mutual defence measures.

Later today the representatives of the 21 republics planned to get down to work on political, military and economic agreements to enable western hemisphere countries to work as a team against aggression.

MACARTHUR AUTHORIZES PARALLEL CROSSING—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur talks with newsmen during a visit to the Korean front as Eighth Army commander Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway looks on (at right). MacArthur revealed that he had authorized Allied forces to cross the 38th Parallel "if and when its security makes it tactically advisable."

Police Say Kidnapped Boy Held In House At Ottawa

KINGSTON, March 27. (CP)—Police today laid a charge of abduction against Owen C. Dulmage of Ottawa in the weekend kidnapping of 13-year-old Teddy Wainwright of Kingston. The charge, laid under Section 316 of the Criminal Code, carries a maximum sentence of seven years imprisonment.

In magistrate's court, Dulmage was remanded to April 4.

A 29-year-old Federal Government clerk, Dulmage was taken into custody Sunday after the boy told police a strange story of being bludgeoned on a Kingston street Friday night, then being tied, gagged and carried to a car. He said his abductor drove him some distance from Kingston to a house where he was tied up in one position after another—at one time hanging downward from a beam in the cellar.

At Ottawa Monday night Police Inspector A. E. Ready of Kingston said investigations at an Ottawa house indicated the boy was taken there and held several hours. The house was owned by Dulmage.

The inspector arrived in Ottawa Monday accompanied by Detective Glen Brennan, Kingston police photographer and fingerprint expert. Together they went over the Concord Avenue duplex owned by Owen Dulmage.

Held There For Hours

"The result of our investigation in Ottawa has convinced me that young Teddy was brought to Ottawa on Saturday and kept in the cellar of the (duplex) building for some hours," inspector Ready said.

He added that "fantastic as the boy's story appears, a careful police check into the details leads us to believe that the story of the kidnapping as told by young Teddy is completely true. . .

"We have a complete case from beginning to end."

He said he could offer no explanation why Dulmage had gone to Kingston. There was nothing to indicate he had known young Wainwright in the past.

Teddy told police Sunday he had been bludgeoned on a Kingston street Friday night, tied, gagged and carried to a car. He said his abductor drove him to a house where he was made to undress and then was hung head downwards by his ankles from a cellar beam.

Police investigation of an auto accident early Sunday led to Dulmage's arrest. He and the boy were treated for injuries after Dulmage's car left a highway near Kingston.

Liberal Party Expels Ex-Cabinet Minister

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., March 27 (CP) — Edward Russell, Newfoundland's former minister of natural resources who last Friday announced his resignation from Premier Smallwood's cabinet, said today that he had been expelled from the Liberal party and will sit as an independent when the House of Assembly re-opens today after the Easter recess.

The government had no official comment.

Mr. Russell joins Samuel Drover, expelled from the Liberal party last October for "an inexcusable violation of party discipline." He had criticized the government for failing to carry out election promises regarding his northern constituency of White Bay.

Nab 11 In War On 'Joyriders'

TORONTO, March 27—(CP)—City and suburban police Monday night made 11 arrests in a drive to check the annual springtime increase in youths' automobile-stealing sprees.

Three bullets were fired at one car to bring about one arrest in suburban Scarboro township. Detectives said the youths in the car risked death every time they dodged the trailing police cruisers and that the officers were forced to fire.

Police said their records of other years show a number of cases in which "joyriding" has ended in death for youths.

"The police don't know that a couple of kids are in the car," said one veteran officer. "As far as they are concerned, it could be a couple of bandits."

Fighter Pilot Killed In Crash

HALIFAX, March 27—(CP)—The pilot of a naval fighter plane, waiting to guide rescue craft to the side of his crashed commanding officer, was killed today when his Sea Fury burst into flames and crashed.

Sub-Lt. John H. Morehouse, 23, of Toronto, was circling above Wright's Lake, about 20 miles from here, when his plane went out of control, caught fire and crashed in a wooded section near the lake.

Shortly before, Lieut. Doug Peacocke, of Calgary, commanding officer of the aircraft carrier Magnificent's 803 Fighter Squadron, escaped unhurt when his Sea Fury dove into the same lake. Peacocke was rescued by a small boat but his plane sank.

Cause of the accident was not known.

The Magnificent now is off Bermuda on a training cruise but the Sea Furies are stationed at the naval airbase at nearby Shearwater.

Censorship Clamped On General

Truman Orders Political Talk Must Be Passed

TOKYO, March 27. (AP) — Reports that President Truman has put Gen. MacArthur under political censorship have been received with considerable shock and some surprise in Tokyo.

Informed sources said this afternoon that no direct orders to that effect had been received. But they added that any such official announcement would have to be made in Washington.

The president is reported to have instructed MacArthur to submit future statements bearing on political matters to Washington for clearance. This was an aftermath of the general's latest discussions of the Korean war in a statement issued here last Saturday.

The statement was described in command circles here as "a cold estimate of a military situation." Circles which generally support the general said they could see no political implications in it.

These sources applied the same definition to what appeared as the most controversial part of the statement. That was MacArthur's declaration that Communist China would face military collapse if the United Nations should attack its coastal areas and military bases.

To Outline Weaknesses

MacArthur's purpose, these sources said, was to outline Communist military weaknesses to the enemy commander-in-chief and his army. He decided some time ago to issue the statement at what he considered the proper pyschological moment.

The statement was broadcast to Chinese armies in the field, dropped on them in leaflets and widely circulated in a "daily newspaper" which psychological warfare experts prepare for air-dropping to Red forces.

Part of the campaign of psychological warfare during the Korean war has been concerned with trying to convince enemy troops of their military weakness.

The informants said MacArthur was attempting to do the same thing in this statement, addressed chiefly to the enemy commander-in-chief.

Maybank Intends Resign Post As MP

WINNIPEG, March 27. (CP) — Ralph Maybank, parliamentary assistant to Resources Minister Prudham, Monday night announced his intention to resign from parliamentary life shortly.

He said his impending resignation from parliament had been forced upon him by the "logic of events." He had kept up his law practice while a member but could not continue the process indefinitely.

Member for Winnipeg South Centre, Mr. Maybank made the announcement at a dinner tendered in his honor by members of his constituency.

Justice Minister Garson, Premier D. L. Campbell and Senator T. A. Crerar also attended the dinner. Mr. Garson paid tribute to Mr. Maybank in a brief address.

Invited To Attend Paris Party

Hope Millions Help Celebrate Birthday

PARIS, March 27 (AP)—Paris is hoping several million foreigners will come to her 2,000th birthday party this summer.

The celebrations, scheduled to run from mid-April until early August, will prove once again that the old lady does not really feel her years.

Fetes will follow one another in an elegant profusion. The organizers hope that plenty of foreign exchange will end up in French pockets, but they are keeping a wary eye on what the competition offers.

Switzerland started this winter offering a rebate of 50 Swiss francs ($12) for tourists spending 15 days in Swiss resort hotels. Italy is offering foreign motorists a 20-per-cent cut in gasoline prices. Even Marshal Tito has introduced a special tourist dinar for Yugoslavia.

The biggest competition may come from the much-advertised Festival of Britain, just across the channel. But France is less worried about that. Past experience has shown North American visitors generally drop into both capitals anyway.

Bookings Doubled

"We expect visitors from Britain may double last year's figure of 570,000," said an official of the French Tourist Commission.

Agencies already report twice as many bookings as at this time last year. The Briton's foreign travel allowance as been doubled to £100 and invalids can take unlimited money abroad for cures in foreign resorts.

Some transatlantic agencies report better bookings than at this date last year, but others tell of a big dropping off.

No great change is expected in the number of visitors from other European countries but there may be some slight falling off from Scandinavia. Denmark recently imposed a new government tax on foreign travel.

In the last three years Paris has increased its number of tourist hotels from 800 to 1,050 and its available beds from 43,000 to 60,000.

Angry Villagers

AYOTT ST. LAWRENCE, England, March 27. (Reuters)—Angry villagers, disgusted by orange peel left behind by tourists, tore down signs pointing the way to George Bernard Shaw's home here Monday. The house, Shaw's Corner, was opened to the public last week. Three hundred visitors saw the house yesterday.

Butter Offer Rejected, Arrive Too Late

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP).—An agriculture department spokesman said today consideration recently was given to the possibility of importing another 1,200,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand, but the idea was turned down because the butter "would not have arrived in time."

He was commenting on a Vancouver dispatch Monday night in which T. C. A. Bishop, New Zealand's High Commissioner in Canada, said Canadian housewives can have all the New Zealand butter they want—at 54 to 56 cents a pound but the Canadian government won't buy.

The spokesman said that following importation of 4,800,000 pounds of New Zealand butter late in February, consideration was given to the purchase of 1,200,000 pounds which was estimated to be the surplus remaining in New Zealand.

However, importers estimated it would be April 25 or later before the butter actually would arrive in Canada. By that time, Canada's own butter production would be in full swing and the New Zealand butter would be surplus in Canada.

The spokesman also said that the Canadian housewife would not have obtained the butter at 54 to 56 cents a pound. That would be the wholesale price. The price to the housewife probably would be "between 65 and 68 cents."

Says Greek Reds Not In Toronto

TORONTO, March 27 (CP)—The Very Rev. H. Elieff of the Macedonian-Bulgarian Orthodox Church today denied charges that his people were the authors of a Communist propaganda campaign against the Greeks.

"We have about 15,000 Macedonians in the city," he said, "and 90 per cent of them are fighting Communism. They know what it means to live under the rule of these people. They want a free country and they are finding it in Canada."

Regarding charges from Athens that anti-Greek letters were being written and sent from Toronto, Father Elieff said "This may be true in some rare instances. I know that there is one Communist group now active in the city. But, on the whole, our people are fighting against it.

Meanwhile, Greek community spokesmen today charged that Toronto has become a mustering centre for Bulgarian and Macedonian Communists trying to enter the United States via "the back door."

HE'S SERGEANT NOW

VANCOUVER, March 27—(CP) —Pte. Ernest A. (Smokey) Smith of New Westminster, B.C., who won the Victoria Cross in the Second World War, returned to the army today. But this time it will be different—he's going to be a sergeant.

Don't Want To Carry War To China

Say General's Moves In Past Make Ottawa Unhappy

OTTAWA, March 27. (CP)—It was known in Ottawa today, although official comment was lacking, that the Government is disturbed over the controversial statement of Gen. MacArthur on the Korean war.

The Government was particularly disturbed concerning the United Nations commander's implied threat of carrying the war to Chinese territory.

Canada's feelings on the issue, apparently shared by the United States, United Kingdom, and France, are being conveyed to these and other Allies at current discussions in Washingon.

Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson were away from Ottawa. Permanent officials associated with foreign policy declined to comment.

Not Too Happy

Hume Wrong, Canadian Ambassador, is this country's representative at the discussions carried on regularly in Washington among the countries with forces serving under Gen. MacArthur.

The Canadian government has been both surprised and unhappy in the past at some of Gen. MacArthur's moves and statements.

However, Canada's position has not been too strong because of the relative smallness of her contribution to the fighting. Now, though, she is commmitting a full brigade—6,000 or so men — plus her three destroyers and transport squadron and this strengthens her hand considerably in behind-the-scenes discussions.

New Offer

London diplomatic officials reported today that United Nations governments with forces in Korea are considering a new offer to Communist China to negotiate a settlement.

The informants said that once the UN forces set up a line they can hold—for instance, across the Korean waist — they could stop their pursuit of the Chinese and Korean Communists, possibly breaking fighting contact as the Chinese themselves have done more than once during the Korean War. The lull then could be used, the officials reason, to negotiate a formal truce which set the stage for an over-all discussion of the Far East problem.

Plane Explodes Three Killed

PARIS, March 27 — (AP). — A French military plane, reported en route to Marseilles to pick up Defence Minister Jules Moch, exploded in flight 30 miles southeast of Paris today, killing the three air force officers aboard.

Police began an investigation into the cause of the explosion and crash.

Reports from the village of Nemours, near the crash scene, said the craft literally disintegrated in the air.

The Defence Minister was said to have been inspecting military bases in Southern France.

In Canadian Spy Case Woman Held In U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27 — (CP) — Immigration authorities disclosed Monday that Mrs. Freda Alexander, the former Freda Linton who was freed of spy charges for lack of evidence in the 1946 Canadian espionage investigations and her baby daughter have been held in custody here for three months.

Mrs. Alexander brought her daughter to Reno, Nev., last summer, planning to divorce her American husband. She was detained after she took a job as cashier to support herself and her child although her visitor's permit did not allow her to work in the U.S.

As Freda Linton, former National Film Board secretary, Mrs. Alexander had been sought for three years in connection with the 1946 spy probe. She later surrendered to the RCMP in Montreal.

Break-Up Plot To Kill Iran Governor

TEHRAN, Iran, March 27 (AP) —Nine more members of a fanatical Moslem sect were under arrest today as police claimed to have foiled a plot to assassinate the military governor of this uneasy Middle East capital.

The arrests were announced last night a few hours after martial law was clamped on sections of the British-operated oil-fields of southern Iran in the face of mounting strikes by oil workers.

Arrested were nine members of the strongly-Nationalist Fedayan Islam, the terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the slaying of Premier Ali Razmara March 7.

Police said they plotted the death of Gen. Abdul Hossein Hajazi, appointed military governor and police chief of Tehran when martial law was proclaimed in the capital last week.

Two Confess Plot

A high official said two confessed the plot and led authorities to the group's hideout, where seven others were arrested.

Fedayan Islam has been clamoring for nationalization of Iran's oil industry, including the holdings of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Nationalization has been voted by the Iranian parliament but has not yet gone into effect. Razmara had opposed the move.

Spreading strikes by oil workers seeking higher pay brought yesterday's government decree of martial law to seven places in the southern oil-fields.

Ask Permission Appeal Verdict

TORONTO, March 27 (CP). — A request for permission to appeal against the murder conviction of Adelard (Eddie) Latour, 50-year-old Sudbury district bush worker, today was filed with the Attorney-General's Department here.

Latour was sentenced in Sudbury to be hanged May 15 for the knife-slaying of his cousin's wife, Mrs. Cecile Rainville, 23, Sept. 12, 1949.

Latour's lawyers said they will try to convince the Ontario Court of Appeal that a statement police said Latour gave them the day after the slaying should not have been admitted as evidence at his trial.

When Kefauver overruled this objection, the swarthy Kleinman clammed up.

Protection Pay

Earlier Monday Judge Samuel Leibowitz, one of the country's leading criminal lawyers until he was appointed to the Kings County (Brooklyn) bench, estimated that gamblers pay up to $25,000,000 a year in protection money to crooked members of the New York City police force.

He said Brooklyn bookmaker Harry Gross alone paid $1,000,000 a year to "venal" policemen.

In New York, William O'Dwyer Ambassador to Mexico and former mayor of New York, was called before a Brooklyn grand jury for questioning of an undisclosed nature. The jury has been occupied with gambling and police graft, and is ready to inquire into the mysterious death in 1941 of a hoodlum named Abe Reles, informer on the notorious Murder, Inc., killer gang, which took place when O'Dwyer was New York prosecuting attorney.

Fall Down Well Maddens Porker

CANDO, Sask., March 27 (CP) —It's doubtful if Mrs. M. Kostiuk's pig had ever been as clean before—or as hard to get along with.

The 225-pound porker fell into a 38-foot well. Mrs. Kostiuk's call for help brought seven men hurrying to her farm half a mile east of Cando.

The rescuers lowered a flashlight on a rope and peered into the ice-encrusted well. They saw the pig swimming, her head and snout above water. Several times she went under but kept puffing and grunting to keep her nose up.

The rescuers couldn't lasso the pig, because she kept her nose against the well cribbing. Finally Paul Wlasenko, Cando garageman volunteered to go down the well on a rope.

He got a rope around the pig's midriff—but not before the ungrateful porker had taken a bite or two out of him. Pulled to the top, the pig let out a couple of grunts and ran to the barn. She had been in the water 1½ hours.

Remains Silent

All MacArthur said, the informants declared, was that he would willingly discuss the military aspects of a peace settlement. He mentioned in Saturday's statement, as earlier, that basic political decisions still remained to be made.

MacArthur himself remained silent on the uproar caused by the statement and so did his staff, officially.

But there was aparent concern that the result might be to nullify any possibility that the statement could start Peiping worrying about its southern coastal front.

"Now," said one officer, "we've made it clear there is not the slightest idea of carrying the war to where it could hurt them" (the Chinese Communists).

Fertility Drop Noted In Ontario

TORONTO, March 27. (CP)— Despite high-yielding, disease resisting crops, dropping fertility is responsible for Ontario crop yields remaining stationary, Dr. O. M. McConkey of Guelph Agricultural College today told delegates at the 91st annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association.

Speaking at a meeting of the Urban Principals section of OEA, Dr. McConkey advocated a soil building program to increase crop production in the province.

In another convention address today, Dr. D. D. Lessenberry, director of business education at the University of Pittsburgh, said commercial teachers must improve their competence and ability in six separate phases.

They included getting pupil response, creating a friendly classroom atmosphere, establishing a feeling of security, exerting a stabilizing influence, inspiring originality and initiative and developing pupil self-reliance.

Inventor Sues Ford, Asks $341,600,000

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP).— A British inventor charged Monday he worked 20 years on a farm tractor system, only to have the Ford Motor Co. steal it and make a $40,000,000 profit on it.

The accusation opened a $341,-600,000 suit by 65-year-old Harary Ferguson against Ford and some of its top officials—the largest civil suit ever brought in the United States.

Ferguson charged that Ford conspired to steal his ideas, destroy his own setup for producing tractors and undermine his financing operations. Charges were made under the anti-trust and patent laws. Ford entered a general denial to the charges.

John Sonnett, attorney for Ferguson, said Ford used Ferguson's ideas to make $40,000,000 profit from 1947 to 1950 out of its own Dearborn Motors Corp. of Detroit.

Dearborn Motors turned out tractors, Sonnett said, based on ideas "in all major respects the product of more than 20 years of Harry Ferguson's mind."

Ferguson claims that he "sealed with a handshake" in 1939 a deal whereby the late Henry Ford supplied facilities for production of Ferguson's tractor.

Ferguson got agricultural implements for his tractors from a number of suppliers, his attorney said, and set up his own dealer organizations.

By 1926, the Ferguson Company was doing a $79,000,000 business and had a backlog of $125,-000,000 in orders.

However, in 1944, Ferguson charged, Ernest R. Breech, executive vice-president of the Ford Motor Co., tried to get control of Ferguson's company. Breech then was with Bendix Aviation Co.

When he went with Ford, Ferguson claimed, Breech prevailed on Henry Ford II to demand 70 per cent control of Ferguson's company. That was in 1946.

When Ferguson refused, the complaint added, Ford set out to "virtually destroy" the Ferguson tractor-making setup.

Ferguson said his personnel was raided, his suppliers diverted, his distributors gone by the fall of 1947 and his company, in effect, "destroyed."

Principals Have Responsibility For Making New System Work

TORONTO, March 26—(CP)—Much of the responsibility of making the New Ontario education curricula work will fall on principals of secondary schools, Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of education for Ontario, told a meeting of the Ontario Secondary Schools Headmasters' Association Monday night.

Education department assistance will be guaranteed as long as principals prove themselves to be responsible managers of their schools, Dr. Althouse said. If they are not, they and their school boards will be notified quickly.

Present headmasters were at a disadvantage because they had received no theoretical training for some of their new duties and had to rely on their own experience. In future, Ontario teachers qualifying for principals' certificates will receive training along these lines.

Dr. Althouse assured the headmasters the Department of Education will continue to put experts in special fields of study and all-round advisors at their disposal.

Plan Stock-Taking

"Every now and then—every few years — the department will conduct a detailed and general stock-taking of your school for your guidance and for the information of your board," he said. "But the main responsibility of supervising and improving the instruction offered by your staff will henceforward be yours."

He advised caution in dealing with the new curricula, which will soon be in the hands of principals. "These would be dangerous documents were you to use them merely to simplify your administrative problems and to reduce to a minimum the obligations of your school and your staff," he said.

Dr. G. P. Gilmour, president and vice-chancellor of McMaster University told the association that a greater emphasis should be placed on the underlying principes and the traditional approach to education as opposed to the current stress on more subjects of study.

Too Much Departure

Dr. Gilmour said there has been too much departure from the traditional tools of education. These tools were grammar, logic and rhetoric. Students could just as easily learn the declensions of grammar as the jingles picked up in their extreme youth.

Logic provided students with the ability to tell a false statement from a true one and to sense the difference between right and wrong. Rhetoric, the ancient term covering poetry and literature, gave students the right sense of the use of words and enabled them to express matters simply and directly.

Students armed with these tools, he said, are well on their way to grappling with the many subjects confronting them in their studies.

"I have no intention of resigning. Of course, everybody knows I am retiring from politics before the next election. If anybody wants to tell me when the next election is, I can tell him when I am resigning."

Say Six Spy Schools Operated By Russia

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, March 27 (AP).—Yugoslavia charged Monday that at least six Russian-directed spy schools are being operated in neighboring Russian satellite countries to train agents for espionage against Marshal Tito's regime.

The indictment said the schools are located in Budapest and serve in Hungary, in Vitos and Dimitrov in Bulgaria, and in Valona and Tirana in Albania. Their main job was described as training agents for espionage, sabotage and propaganda in Yugoslavia.

Canada's Field Is The Air

Canada has matured as a nation in the same era that flying has developed. This is no mere chance relationship, even though Canada had no Wright brothers and the greatest technological advances in aircraft production and flying have been initiated in other countries. Canada lies across the air routes of the world. Flying has opened up the country at a speed and in ways undreamt of in the last century. Canadian men have taken to the air as Norwegians took to the sea. In the two wars they distinguished themselves; between the wars "bush flying" kept a corps of pioneers on wing, and they and other Canadians developed strong Trans-Canada air routes. Now Canadian pilots and planes are plying the air routes above the oceans.

* * *

For topographical, military and reasons of national trait, the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme of the last war was established in Canada. Because Canadian statesmen recognized the primary interest of Canada in the air, this Scheme was eventually taken over completely by Canada. Since the war Canadian aircraft factories have been heavily supported and are turning out some of the best and most modern planes in the world. Since the war much military emphasis has been put on the role of the RCAF for defence. It has been kept up-to-date, and now comes word that Canada is taking the lead in an Atlantic Pact air training scheme.

* * *

Seven wartime airfields are to be reopened, to become the chief centres in a big new air-training scheme which will increase the output of air crews six-fold. It is planned to turn out 3,000 Canadian and allied airmen a year. Of the allied airmen to be trained, nearly all (1,100) will be Britons.

* * *

The new air training scheme is part of a large plan to increase Canada's output in planes and men and to take a large share in the air-armament of the Atlantic Pact nations. Ground training facilities will be increased five-fold; Canada is to manufacture the training planes (Harvards) and to import American jet fighter planes until production in this country is under way.

* * *

The whole scheme as outlined by the Minister of National Defence Mr. Brooke Claxton in the House of Commons last Wednesday, will cost about $64,500,000 in the next twelve months. That is only the beginning.

* * *

By reason of Canada's size, population and position, the emphasis on air training and aircraft production is properly placed. Canada's logical field for battle and defence is the air.

Taxing Capital Gains?

Both the Liberal and Conservative parties say they are firmly opposed to a capital gains tax, yet there are suspicions in some financial circles that the wording of the Income Tax Act does in fact now permit of such taxation and that already the tax-gatherers are nibbling at it. Clauses were re-phrased in the 1949 tax act amendments so that the door is open to a capital gains taxation.

This is a matter which may affect every taxpayer. Capital gain is made when a man sells for $1.50 a share of stock which he bought for a dollar. It is made when a man sells a house, bought in 1939 for $3,500, for $7,000. (That is a hundred per cent. capital gain and, big as it is, is quite common among people of low as well as medium incomes.) Capital gain is made when a housewife sells a dining-room set, bought for $20 during the Depression at an auction sale, for $40 in this year of inflated values. Capital gain is made when a prospector discovers oil and gets paid for it handsomely. It is made when a person buys a bond for $100 and sells it on a rising market for $105. If a thoroughgoing capital gains tax were imposed on the Canadian people, the tax could conceivably be extracted from every such transaction mentioned above.

Capital gain is one of two fundamental profit operations which make capitalism work. The other is income on investment—for instance, income on Victory bonds. If people did not expect to make money on what they buy for other than consumption and use, they would not invest the money. People will not take any risk with their money if the hope of gaining from it is removed. They will put it in a sock where it will be put to no use (like the buried talent), or they will eat it up, spend it as soon as they earn it.

Capital investment in Canada is the chief agent of the present great expansion of industry and the present rich exploitation of our natural resources. It is the tool of Canada's future material greatness; the means whereby Canadians will raise their standards of living and comfort under the capitalistic system. A tax on capital gains would diminish capital investment. Capital gain is the leaven in the present Canadian economy.

As we have said in the first paragraph, both major political parties are opposed to a tax on capital gains, but there is more than a suspicion that the thin edge of the wedge has been inserted through the re-phrasing of the Income Tax Act. This should be scrutinized in Parliament pretty carefully, to ensure that bureaucrats are not surreptitiously imposing on the Canadian people taxation which they do not want and would not authorize.

I'm A Lady, Damn You!

The National Film Board recently made a movie short called Boom Town, about the city of Toronto. It has aroused some indignation in the Queen City—indignation reminiscent of the sort of woman who, when her virtue is aspersed, shrieks "I'm a lady, damn you!" It is felt by some of the movie's critics that there are too many cocktail bars shown in it, too much work on the new subway, too much about the Stock Exchange. They would have preferred more shots about churches, more about Toronto's cultural amenities, more about Toronto as "a city of homes" (as though all cities were not cities of homes). It has even been asserted that the Film Board inexcusably overlooked the fact that Toronto is the only city in the world to possess a statue of the originator of the Sunday School. (This is not a fact, for there is another, and bigger, statue of this benefactor of the race in London, England, though London has not made this a feature of the Festival of Britain.)

We love Toronto, as every true Ontarian must love the provincial capital, but we are compelled to warn Toronto that much more of this nonsense will win it the title of The City of Hypocritical Hicks. We recall that in the summer of 1950, when the Imperial Press Conference visited Toronto, the visitors were taken on a motor tour, under the guidance of a divinity student, which appeared to include every church in the city limits. The comments of the visitors on the architecture of these temples would have been illuminating to the local boosters. And we also recall that when severe Hydro cuts were demanded of Toronto, a controller put himself on record as saying that if too many lights were dimmed on Yonge Street, he feared that rapes would be committed on that thoroughfare (possibly interfering with the free progress of the streetcars).

These pious shrieks from Toronto merely call attention to a change in metabolism, like a case of severe acne during puberty; Toronto is changing from a small city into a big one. But for shame's sake the alteration should be achieved with the least possible public fuss.

Legislators Or Television Stars?

Elsewhere on this page we publish a special article relating to the television broadcasts of the sessions of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee in New York. We have only one thing to add to what is said there, and it is this: we are rather shocked to learn that when the television apparatus broke down once or twice, the Senators stopped their proceedings until it was working again.

That is the trouble with telecasts of important governmental proceedings. Give any group of men a supposed audience of ten million people, and they stop feeling like legislators, and begin to feel like actors. From that it is an easy step for them to begin behaving like actors—actors whose words and actions have not been planned for them by a dramatist.

The public must know what is being done by important bodies, but we do not think that television is the best way to convey that knowledge to them. Legislators are but men, after all, and not men whose experience equips them to do their best work when twenty million eyes are upon them. Indeed, we know of no group of men capable of remaining cool and objective under such pressure. The fact that they waited for the television cameras to be adjusted shows that they were thinking more about television than is proper or safe.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The new Italian consul is reported as saying "Canada has a fantastic future." This is bad news for the many citizens who like to live in the rather dull past.

Inflation sign: the bums on the streets no longer implore us: "Say, Mac, can you spare a dime?" They say: "Mac, can you lemme have 30 cents?"

"Lack Of Males Worries Peers" reads a headline over a story about the probability of distinguished family titles being lost through lack of male heirs. Well, that is one problem that is still within the peers' competence to deal with.

Ballet Point Of View

by MARGARET HEIDEMAN

THE present season is a memorable one for ballet lovers who live, as we in Peterborough do, within easy reach of Toronto. In fact, only the term "brilliant" is adequate to describe a season in which we are allowed to compare the performances of three such famous dancers as Alexandra Danilova, Margot Fonteyn and Moira Shearer in the greatest role of classical ballet, that of Giselle. The comparison is made even more interesting because of the difference in training and experience of these great dancers. Miss Fonteyn and Miss Shearer have been developed by the Sadler's Wells Ballet School where their individualities have been as carefully nurtured as their technical abilities. Mme. Danilova is the last of the Russian court-trained dancers. Though she has participated in the popularization of ballet, her training belongs to a period which is now closed.

* * *

LAST year and this, the Sadler's Wells company has dominated the scene with its two triumphant tours in North America. Popular homage to this company is in small part due to novelty and national pride, in large part due to the remarkable artistry of the first dancers and to the separate perfection and perfect co-ordination of the numerous parts which make a ballet whole: music, setting, costumes, and conduct of the supporting company. For two or three years the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo had been losing ground. The leading dancers were absent from the company for whole seasons, the corps de ballet lacked precision and quality, the orchestra left much to be desired. And then came Sadler's Wells to dazzle us with a new constellation of dancers, with classical ballet as we had never seen it here before as well as brilliant modern ballets, with subtle wit a world removed from sturdy American humour, with splendid new costume and decor. Would other ballets ever be able to measure up to this? Now the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo is here again and it does stand the comparison in important ways. Costumes and scenery have been refurbished, the company has numerous good solo performers, the corps de ballet dances with considerable finish and precision, and the indispensable influence of Danilova and Franklin again draws the company together even in whole performances where they do not appear.

* * *

THE best point of comparison may be found by returning to the prime ballet in each company's repertoire and the oldest ballet performed today, Giselle. This ballet originated in the combined inspiration of Heinrich Heine and Theophile Gautier who found a romantic idea in an old Slavonic legend. The title role was first danced by Carlotta Grisi in 1841. The ballet, in two acts, tells the story of a country girl wooed by a nobleman in disguise who is betrothed by a princess. The deception is revealed to Giselle by her rejected suitor and by the arrival of the princess. In despair at the hopelessness of her love, Giselle goes mad and kills herself with the sword of Count Albrecht, her lover. The second act, which is set in the forest at Giselle's grave, relates the sequel in terms of the romantic legend. Coming to mourn for Giselle, Albrecht meets her spirit dancing with the restless spirits of other betrothed maidens who have died before their wedding day. They dance until dawn when Giselle must return to the grave and Albrecht must die of exhaustion.

* * *

ARNOLD Haskell, in his admirable little book Ballet published in the Penguin Books, likens the challenge of the role of Giselle to that of Marguerite Gautier in La Dame aux Camelias. In spite of their quaintness and obvious mechanics, both roles survive because they are splendid theatre and give the well-trained actress or dancer a chance to be truly great through the projection of her personality.

* * *

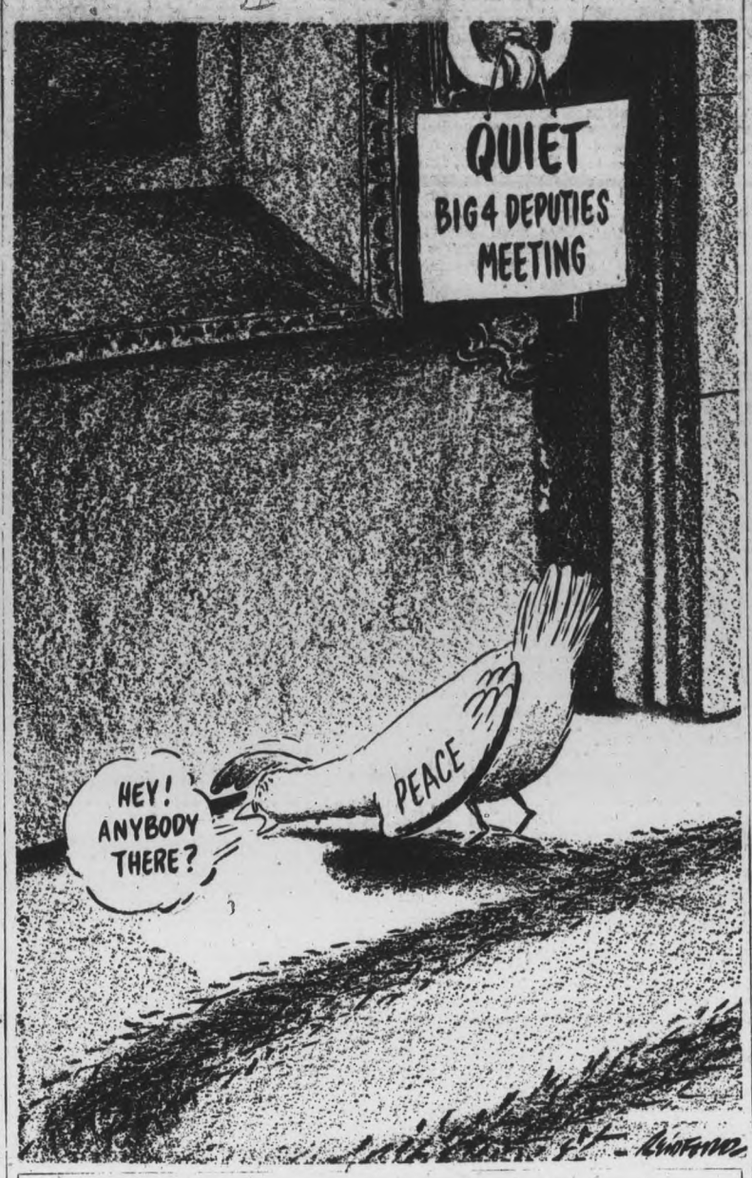
THE leading dancers of the Sadler's Wells Ballet give very different interpretations of Giselle. Margot Fonteyn makes of the role a character of Shakespearian complexity. Her Giselle is simple in circumstances only. Giselle's love for Albrecht, at first full of foreboding fear, then developed to an extreme of mature, whole-hearted passion, leads swiftly and naturally to the tragic climax of her death. As a spirit she alternates between ethereal aloofness and human tenderness in a second act which necessarily pales before the intense human drama of the first act. In Miss Fonteyn's interpretation the drama is more important than the dancing; her dancing is the poetic imagery of the character she creates.

* * *

MOIRA Shearer's Giselle is a fey creature, light-hearted, not above coyness, flickering from the emotional heights of delight in love to the depths of instant despair in disappointment. These emotions are expressed through the dance, and the dancing is more important than the drama which occasions it. The lyrical quality of Miss Shearer's appearance and dancing technique delight both the eye and the heart and leave one with no sense of tragedy. Miss Fonteyn's interpretation, which subordinates her marvellous technique to the point where the dancing can be forgotten so well integrated is it in the movement of the tragedy itself, leaves the heart wrung out in a true emotional catharsis.

* * *

ALEXANDRA Danilova, in her interpretation of this difficult role, demonstrates the matchless beauty of performance achieved by a truly creative dancer who has added to her artistry during a long career. Hers is the Giselle with the continuity which best fuses two disparate scenes into the illusion of a perfect whole. Less poignant than Miss Fonteyn, less airy than Miss Shearer, Danilova displays in her interpretation the greater art in achieving a perfect balance between the dramatic tension and the dancing technique. Frederic Franklin who, like Michael Somes, plays the role of Albrecht with Hamlet-like indecision and sombreness, supports his partner with the same balance of interpretation.



* * *

THE short one-act version of Swan Lake which is presented by American companies should not be compared with the full-length production done by Sadler's Wells. In the short version little remains of the romantic story of enchantment or the dazzling virtuosity of the principal dancers; gone is the brilliant pageantry of the formal act of diverstissements and much of the symphonic music which symbolizes the story and sets the mood. The short version emerges as the essence of a beautiful legend, shorn of all the trappings of the formal ballet pattern, a gem of ballet which must be enjoyed as a different ballet rather than as a reminiscence of the original.

* * *

THIS company also presents as a separate feature the magnificent Pas de Deux Classique from the third act of Swan Lake, and the delightful Bluebird Pas de Deux from The Sleeping eBauty. The gay Nutcracker, a vivacious Coppelia with Nina Novak as Svanhilda and Leon Danielian as Frantz, the slight but amusing Birthday danced by Gertrude Tyven also will give further delight this week to those who enjoy this sophisticated art which draws from and combines all other arts.

'NUF TO TURN A DOVE GREY

Television And U.S. Politics

from KENNETH HARRIS in Washington

BETWEEN twenty and thirty million "televiewers" have been following the hearings of the Senate crime investigating committee since it began to question New York politicians and gangsters to see what links there are between them. The hearings have temporarily displaced all other entertainments and, unlike most sports, have caused rearrangements in the pattern of national life.

In New York, schools have been shutting early so that the children can get home and find out how they are being governed, and public libraries have had their giant sets turned on all day. Some cinemas have switched films off and television on. New York stores have been complaining that the people are not shopping because they won't leave their television sets. Though some say Holy Week is partly responsible telephone companies say that calls lag for hours and then an impossible volume surges up in the committee's ten-minute recesses, much of it caused by televiewers phoning the committee to "get a move on" or "tell Costello to speak up."

There have been some most interesting revelations so far. All the agencies which illegally relay information about horse-racing over the United States are owned by a young law student at Miami University. America's two great crime syndicates, Capone's in Chicago and Costello's in New York, are really controlled by "Lucky" Luciano who was deported to Italy for dope-peddling in 1946. There is a great tie-up between the gangsters and some of the political machines, notably between Frank Costello and Tammany Hall (The Democratic Party headquarters in New York City).

But perhaps the most striking thing that has happened (according to Mr. Hooper the expert on television figures, it sent average listening at 9.30 a.m. up from 1.5 per cent. of sets to 26.5), is the summoning before the committee of an United States Ambassador, William O'Dwyer, ex-Mayor of New York, and now Mr. Truman's Ambassador to Mexico.

* * *

O'DWYER is a tall, broad-shouldered, handsome and vigorous man who, though 61 years of age, would pass for 45. Born in Bohala, County Mayo, Ireland, he came to New York as a child and like his father became a policeman. He studied in his spare time and became a lawyer. He got a degree at a New York college, and also one from the University of Salamanca in Spain. In 1940 he became District Attorney in one of New York's five districts, went into the army in 1942, and in November 1945 was elected mayor. He resigned last autumn to become Ambassador to Mexico and the Republicans complained bitterly that he had only been given the job so that an election could be forced at a time which suited the Democrats.

Why is he up in front of the crime investigating committee, in company with people like Costello and Joe Adonis, another notorious figure? Generally speaking, because the committee want any kind of evidence they can get, provided it is true, to clear up this business of the underworld influencing local government. In particular they want to know why O'Dwyer, when he was District Attorney, did not clear up the succession of murders, committed by the organization known as "Murder Incorporated", between 1939 and 1942. His answer to that is that everybody knew they were done by Albert Anastasia, but that they couldn't catch him. In that case, say the committee, why didn't O'Dwyer clean up the rackets, blackmailing, protection, extortion, and gambling on Brooklyn water front which was Anastasia's empire and source of power? Because, says O'Dwyer, the police were too busy trying to clear up the murderers and catch Anastasia, and in 1942 he went off to the army.

The committee wants to be certain that O'Dwyer did not "lay off" the whole business because he knew Costello would make trouble for him and withdraw his backing from him if he didn't. O'Dwyer admits that the job of Mayor makes it necessary for him to compromise with the various underworld pressures of the city. "I did the best I could in a bad situation", he has said repeatedly when the committee asked why he didn't do this or why he didn't sack so-and-so—and, as a matter of fact, to do him justice, O'Dwyer probably did.

* * *

WILL these hearings improve the standards of New York government? Mr. Corsi, a man much experienced in public life, who stood as Republican against the present mayor, Vincent Impelliteri, last November, told New Yorkers that he knew Impelliteri frequently associated with Tommy Brown, Costello's chief gangster rival. Impelliteri, however, was elected by a smashing majority. "Corsi", said Impelliteri, "just drags these things up for political reasons".

That is the trouble at present: the American people do not know quite how much of all this is a quest for good government and how much is being trumped up for political reasons. This is where television is ultimately bound to have a tremendous effect. Seeing and hearing these men in person brings home the issues in a human and dramatic way, stimulates discussion, and enables people to form rounder and deeper judgements than they can from flaring headlines. People are being led into governmental problems through their entertainment value, but the main thing is that they are being led into them at all.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then cometh Jesus with them unto a place called Gethsemane, and saith unto the disciples, Sit ye here, while I go and pray yonder. And he took with him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and began to be sorrowful and very heavy....

And he went a little farther, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me: nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt. And he cometh unto the disciples, and findeth them asleep, and saidth unto Peter, What, could ye not watch with me one hour? Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.

He went away again the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except I drink it, thy will be done. And he came and found them asleep again: for their eyes were heavy. And he left them, and went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

Then cometh he to his disciples, and saith unto them, Sleep on now, and take your rest: behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of man is betrayed into the hands of sinners. (Matt. 26: 36, 39-45.)

Letter To The Editor

THANKS PETERBOROUGH POLICE

Sir: I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Peterborough Police Department, through your paper, for the courtesy and service they gave to me on Friday morning (2 a.m.) March 9th, 1951, at which time I arrived in your city by motor car and was unable to buy gasoline which I needed badly to proceed to Toronto.

I was on my way to my brother-in-law's funeral, which was taking place in Toronto at noon Friday.

After spending an hour trying to find a gas station or garage open, it was my luck to hail your police car on duty, in charge of Constable Bill Scott, who went to great lengths to find someone who would open their station and give me gas.

Being a stranger in your city, Constable Scott directed me to the gas station in his car which I consider a real courtesy today.

I was then able to fill my tank and proceed to Toronto, losing only a couple of hours, otherwise, if I had to stay over in your fair city till the gas stations opened in the morning, I would have missed the funeral which was held early.

At this point, may I offer in the way of constructive criticism, that in a city the size of Peterborough and on a main through highway, could there not be at least one gas station, taking turns, be allowed to remain open all night for just such emergencies?

Once again, I would like to thank the Peterborough Police Dept. and Constable Bill Scott in particular, for his kindness and courtesy shown to me, a stranger on a miserable wet night, with a heavy heart. Thank you.

Yours very truly,
LIONEL A. ROBITAILLE.

Farmers Praised For Lead Given Members

Older members of the Junior Farmers club were commended Monday for the leadership they give the organization in Peterborough county.

James D. Moore, public relations officer for the Canadian Council of Boys' and Girls' Club work and a former member of the local county club, told the Rotary cub that their leadership in Peterborough county is one of the best examples of leadership across the country. He added that other clubs are using the Peterborough pattern.

The Rotary club was host to more than 60 young farmers.

Careful Planning

Opportunities in agriculture today are great, said Mr. Moore. But he warned the young farmers that they will only get what they put into it. He advised them to be a good example to others and to set an objective in life. This, he recommended, could be obtained by thinking, careful planning and hard work.

Mr. Moore said that during his trips across the country he has attended many service club meetings, especially when young farmers are the guests. This type of meeting offers the club members and the young people an opportunity to learn each other's way of life. Urban-rural co-operation today is important for national unity, Mr. Moore declared.

To illustrate the scope and the growth of the young farmers organization, he said there are now 60,000 taking an active part in club programs.

Rural Growth

The junior farmers' club part of the agricultural extension program deals with the rural growth and young people between the ages of 12 and 21. These clubs elect officers, hold regular meetings, achievement days and projects. The projects include making clothing, raising cattle and growing crops. Through the clubs the young people realize the obligations of ownership and responsibility and are stimulated with the desire to learn.

Mr. Moore dealt briefly with the formation of the Canadian Council. Organized in 1931, one of the major functions is National Club Week and sponsoring trips for local, regional and provincial area winners to the Royal Winter Fair. Last year two Peterborough county youths attended.

That week offers the young farmers more than tours and entertainment, but an opportunity to make new friends with other young people from across Canada and to obtain new ideas. It also gives them a broader conception of Canadian problems and opportunities.

The speaker was introduced by F. C. Paterson and thanked by Paul Irwin.

SAY THAT AGAIN—George Cruickshank, Liberal member of Parliament for Fraser Valley, stuck his neck out in the Commons when he said that long-distance telephone operators in the Fraser Valley were the best-looking in the country. On his way home for Easter recess, he was met in Winnipeg by this quartet of operators; now he's not so sure. Upholding Manitoba's honor are, rear, May Matchett and Mary Porter; front, Edna Todd and Elsie Curran.

Ancient Silver Mines To Help Boost US Stocks

ATHENS, March 27 (Reuters) —The ancient silver, lead and zinc mines of Lavrion, from which Athenians got their wealth 2,500 years ago, will soon be working again.

The valuable mineral deposits in Southern Attica will help the U.S. stockpile of strategic materials. The new project is expected to increase Greece's export of metals to other Marshall plan countries.

The mines have been surveyed and will soon be revitalized. Workers are busily clearing the old pits of waste and earth, digging new pits and assembling American equipment.

Late in the last century, a Greek ship loaded ballast at Lavrion which contained calamine ore.

A Sardinian mine owner bought large plots of land around Lavrion, and from 1873 to 1939 mined 722,000 tons of valuable lead ore: from 1900 to 1938 Lavrion galanite ore gave 900 tons of silver.

Within a few years Lavrion, a small fishing village, boomed into a prosperous town with factories and plants.

The deposits had been discovered and worked centuries ago. It is said that the Empire of Ancient Athens was built up from the wealth extracted from Lavrion.

The output of the recent exploitation gradually dropped. Production of manganese, pyrite, lead, zinc and silver became uneconomic. The mines were eventually abandoned.

Experts maintained, however, that the area had not been properly prospected. They thought a technical survey with modern methods might reveal the existence of rich new deposits.

The Economic Co-operation Administration in Athens was interested. An American mining concern bought a large share of old mining companies and leased the property of the Greek Mining Company of Lavrion.

The American firm agreed to repay ECA loans by shipments of lead and zinc to the U.S. stockpile of strategic materials.

Bermuda Lilies For Roseneath

ROSENEATH, March 27 (ENS) —The Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White were the recipients of a large bouquet of Easter lilies from Bermuda on Saturday. Following the service, Mr. and Mrs. White shared them with the ill and shut-ins of the community and the remainder were taken back to the parsonage.

The lilies are an annual gift to Mr. and Mrs. White from Mr. Smith, a member of their congregation when they were at St. David's, Bermuda.

P. Skitch Rink Of Lindsay Captures Kiwanis Trophy

By HERB. MARTIN

So completely did the visiting Kiwanians predominate in the annual Kiwanis bonspiel, held at the Charlotte St. rink Monday, that only two local rinks reached the pay-off station, and this is an exact repetition of last year.

The honor of winning the Kiwanis Trophy went to Percy Skitch's Lindsay rink. Dr. C. McKee's local rink took the Calvert Trophy, and W. Comrie, Scarboro, here for the first time, the Rueben N. Wilson Trophy. The remaining prizes were fairly well distributed.

Dr. C. McKee's ring and Dr. Asselstine, Orillia, were the only two of last year's prize winners to repeat.

Mayor Spoke

The opening ceremonies were brief. Mayor M. Swanston spoke of the good work done by the Kiwanis and hoped they would continue for many years to come He remarked that if there were more clubs like the Kiwanians, there would be less strife in the world.

President, F. Stinson also spoke a few words and gave a hearty welcome to all.

The visitors were high in their praise for the hospitality shown them. They complimented the Kiwanis Club on the success of the bonspiel.

Among those at the bonspiel were: district governor, R. Steele; Reid Murray, Lt.-Gov. division 4; Mel Osborne Lt.-Gov. division 6.

Chairman Jack Allen had a big task on his hands and he did one swell job. The boys gave him a great hand.

The games were all over around midnight and it seemed to be the opinion of all that it was the best bonspiel yet.

England Gains Cricket Lead

WELLINGTON, N.Z., March 27 (Reuters) — England gained a first-innings lead of 102 over New Zealand in the second cricket test here today, and led by 70 runs with one New Zealand second-innings wicket down at the close of play.

England brought their overnight first-innings score of 42 for three to 227 in reply to New Zealand's 125. New Zealand had 32 for one wicket in the second innings. The match ends Wednesday.

Len Hutton with 57 and Freddie Brown with 47 put on 71 for England's fifth wicket and an eight-wicket partnership between Trevor Vailey with 29 and Alec Bedser with 28 added 43.

George Cresswell, 35-year-old, right-arm inswing bowler, had the best New Zealand bowling figures with three for 18. Tom Burtt, left-arm spinner, claimed three for 46.

Roy Tattersall, Lancashire off-spin bowler, took Bert Sutcliffe's wicket in the New Zealand second innings before bad light brought play to an end five minutes early.

Soccer Loops Checks On Star Information

At a well-attended meeting of the Peterborough and District Soccer Association in the YMCA last night, with president Wm. Gracie in the chair, the secretary was instructed to write to the Toronto Star and ask that paper where it obtained inaccurate information about soccer in Peterborough. This referred to an item in Monday's Star.

It was decided that two association officials would meet with two from the Peterborough United Club in an effort to solve differences. A resolution was read: "That the Peterborough and District Football Association is the governing body of this district according to the Dominion Football Association ruling and has been since 1912."

The board of directors were appointed at a general meeting held on March 12. Tom Garland and James Buchan applied as referees under the P and DFA. No information was received from the OFA relative to the Saturday meeting, and no action was taken.

Hornets Crush Springfield 9-0

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh Hornets' are in a commanding position to join Cleveland and Hershey in the battle for the Calder Cup in the American Hockey League playoffs.

The Hornets defeated Springfield 9-0 Monday night at Pittsburgh as goalie Gil Mayer registered his second consecutive shutout over the Massachusetts Skaters. Now the Pittsburgh team needs only one more victory in the best-of-five series to be eligible to meet Hershey. The next game in the series will be Wednesday night at Springfield.

If the Hornets win they will meet Hershey in a best of five series. Hershey eliminated the defending champion Indianapolis Capitals by winning three straight.

Cleveland, which now has a long wait to play for the championship, gained the final round by beating Buffalo three times in four meetings.

Bobby Solinger led the Hornets' attack at Pittsburgh Monday night with a pair of goals. Singletons were added by Chuck Blair, George Armstrong, Rudy Migay, Pete Langelle, Johnny McCormack, Ray Hannigan and Frank Mathers.

Three goals were tallied in each period.

Rangers And Hawks Wind Up In A Draw

Hawks and Rangers drew 4-4 yesterday at Civic Arena in a scheduled peewee hockey fixture. Hawks played rather scrambly hockey while Rangers were faster and better on positional play to lead 3-0 at one time. Hawks came from behind twice to tie it up, Baker, Scharf, B. Hotston, Murphy and Smillie saving them a number of times from defeat. Ballantyne, Parnell and English stood out for Rangers, with G. Dafoe scoring two goals and aiding on another. Timlin and Parnell got their other markers, Coombs aiding on one. Murphy scored two for Hawks, Hotston and Scharf getting one each, and Stewart an assist.

The final standing has Rangers and Hawks tied on top with nine points apiece. Bruins are next with six, Leafs having four, Canadiens two and Wings none. The teams:

Hawks—Smillie, Druery, Baker, Scharf, Brown, Beggs, Murphy, Stewart, Chesney, Olmstead, Haig, Mountney, Baker, Hotston.

Rangers—Ballantyne, English, Parnell, Hamilton, Walker, Atkinson, Dobbin, G. Dafoe, Trude, Pollard, Reid, J. Dafoe, Coombs, Timlin.

Referee, E. Dunstan.

Warsaw Winners

WARSAW, March 27 (ENS)— The EPHL winners, Warsaw Flyers, trimmed the Norwood TVL team 11-3 in a rugged exhibition puck game here recently. L. Lonsberry, S. Lonsberry, M. Batten, Dennis and Paterson led the victors in scoring with Thompson and B. Payne best for Norwood. Mrs. Harold Wilson (nee Velma Payne) of Keene, a solid Warsaw supporter, took pictures of the Flyers—as she has done before—and will present the players with copies. She was thanked by M. Paterson of Flyers. Teams:

Norwood: Goal, Aldred; defence, Rogers, Kelly; centre, B. Payne; wings, Spencer, Thompson; alternates, Peterson, Gilbert, Whitnell, Menzies, Stark, Griffin, Webb.

Warsaw: Goal, B. Payne; defence, Eadie, G. Payne; centre, L. Lonsberry; wings, Paterson, Andrews; alternates, Smith, S. Lonsberry, E. Payne, M. Batten, W. Batten, Dennis, Clements, Watts.

Referees: G. Martin and D. Evans.

The senior lacrossers' suggestion for a three-man dictatorship committee will be dealt with at the OLA annual April 14 in Toronto, Bunny Morganson writes. He says some of the officials feel inclined to throw out the basketball rule of giving goalies the ball to start play after a score. "Word from the Pacific Coast," says he, "was to the effect that the rule didn't work out as expected. Ontario senior clubs had previously agreed to try it out for one month this season." Hamilton and Weston will be back in the fold under new sponsors, and Owen Sound expects to field another strong squad, despite financial troubles at the end of last season and the loss of Wootton and Mason to the Petes.

Scribe Carver keeps chuckling over the Reds' puck win o'er the Eagles. He forgets that Eagles led Belleville by a city block until a series of injuries jolted 'em down to the mediocre class. He fails to point out that we had two clubs in and that the Petes drubbed Nylons, who will probably oust the Redmen. And he neglets to give a coach from here (Wally Bent) credit for a Quinte senior club finally beating one local team after trying in vain for some 25 years. Ah, well, have your chuckles, George. You won't have any ball, lacrosse or rugby to get excited about in the months ahead, so makes the most of your puck prospects. And we still wish the gallant Reds well.

* * * * * *

You Want One Or Two?

Arguments persist pro and con as to the advisability of having one or two OHA senior "B" entries here another season. Many fans feel that combining the top talent of the two clubs onto one squad would mean that the Peterborough team would go further in provincial playdowns in the spring.. That's quite likely.. But then you cut down on those schedule highlights whenever Petes and Eagles clash. Also, you have to leave some OHA-ers out of action, if there's but one team. A bunch of players themselves back in 1945 decided to form a second club here as one team couldn't accommodate all the good puckists. Even with a few imports on each local team, there's room for nearly a dozen homebrews on each club.

* * * * * *

Personally, it makes little difference to us. We'll have to cover as many games in any case. If there is but one senior squad here next year, that one would enlarge its schedule and also fill in with exhibitions, since two senior nights a week are allotted at the arena. In a way, we'd prefer to see one really strong club representing this city if it could be worked out. To date, the Petes and Eagles (the ex-Legionnaires) haven't been able to agree upon anything of importance, and we doubt if one will submerge itself in favor of the other. In fact, some of the rival players wouldn't be caught playing with the other side. However, a solution might be worked out next autumn by interested officials.

Big Puck Night Coming

Red Creighton hopes to line up such oldtime Petes as Bun Kingdon, Art Heal, Honey Tompkins, Les Burton, Red himself, Don Crowe, Drake Jopling, Jim Ellis, Smoke Gardner and Ray Harding for the Thursday eve tilt with Oddfellows. It'll be at 8.30 in the arena as part of the program for "PMHA Night" — to aid minor hockey. At seven, Clapper's and Lakefield settle the PMHA juvenile title. In between games, puck-carrying hockeyists of the city and district (junior age up) will race against time for the Swanston Trophy and $50 in prizes — first prize being 40 simoleons. 'Tis hoped to have Masters, Crowley, Dugan, Wade, Blewett and several other speed merchants in it. Efforts are being made to have Ted Kennedy, Reg Hamilton and Hal Cotton here as officials.

* * * * * *

Lou Vitarelli is confident the OLA juniors here this year will go a long way—and might well annex Canadian honors. They won the OLA junior "B" title last season and should be considerably stronger in the coming campaign. Lou Nickle of Toronto Maitlands in 1950—Brampton seniors were after him—has moved to Peterborough, and the 190-pound defenceman is likely to turn out with the Filter-Queen's juniors. Ditto Doug Powell, Lindsay junior puckist, who has had intermediate OLA experience. A 205-pound Orillia defenceman also is expected here, so the club will have plenty of weight and experience. Team will probably be in a similar grouping to a year ago with seven home games ere playoffs. A "Father and Son Night" is planned for lacrosse fans here in about a month, featuring a game between the seniors and juniors, swapping goalies and defences.

First Major Win

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 27 (AP)—Art Doering of Richmond, Vt., won his first major golf tournament as a professional Monday, scoring a final round one under par 70 to take the $10,000 Greensboro open golf tournament by five strokes. He took $2,000 top money by finishing with 279. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, Calif., had 67 today for 284 and second place, worth $1,400. Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a 66—best round of the tournament — for third place at 285. He won $1,000.

Shouldn't Write Rookies Off Too Quickly

By JOE REICHLER

TAMPA, Fla., March 24 (AP)—If big-league baseball managers were wise, they wouldn't wipe off last year's rookie disappointments as total losses in 1951.

No one can predict a player's future by his first year's play in the major leagues. Many a first-year flop develops into a headliner. All a manager needs is patience.

Great things are predicted for last year's rookie standouts—Walter Dropo, Sam Jethroe, Chico Carrasquel, Bubba Church, Bob Miller, Al Rosen, Luke Easter, Monte Irvin, Irv Noren and others.

On the other hand, little, if anything, is expected from such 1950 fizzles as Cal Abrams (.205), Dick Krykoski (.219), Hal Rice (.211), Joe Ginsberg (.232), Jackie Jensen (.171), Bobby Morgan (.226), Johnny Klippstein (2-9), Frank Smith (2-7), Ted Beard (.232), Gordon Goldsberry (.268), Ken Wood (.225), Tommy Upton (.237) and others.

But before they discredit these athletes, the managers ought to take a good look at the following cases in point:

Rogers Hornsby, probably the greatest right-handed hitter in National League history, batted only .246 in his first season with the Cardinals. Before he finished his career he had won seven batting championships, hit better than .400 three times and had a lifetime average of .358.

Other Examples

Ty Cobb joined the Tigers in 1905 and batted .240. The next 23 seasons he hit better than .300. He bettered .400 three times. His 24-year average was .367, the highest ever compiled.

Harry Heilman hit .225 for the Tigers in his first season, 1914. He later won four American League batting titles.

Eddie Collins, with a lifetime average of .333, hit .273 in his first season. Lou Gehrig, one of the game's greatest power hitters, batted .295 in 1925, his first season with the Yankees. Max Carey, who stole 738 bases during his career, batted .258 in his first season with Pittsburgh. Frank Frisch hit .226 with the Giants in 1919 and Jimmy Dykes batted a puny .188 with the Athletics in 1918.

On the pitching end, let the managers look at these first-year efforts. Walter Johnson, who set the record for most games in the American League with 416, won five and lost nine for Washington in his first season, 1907. Mordecai Brown, one of the greatest right-handers of all time, started with the Cardinals in 1903, won nine and lost 13.

Burleigh Grimes, another top righthander, won three and lost nine for Pittsburgh in 1917, was shipped to Brooklyn and won 19 the next year. Rube Marquard, who set the record of 19 consecutive triumphs, won five and dropped 13 in his first year with the Giants.

Invite Pee-Wees To Goderich Tourney

LINDSAY, March 27.—Lindsay Pee-Wees have been invited to the mammoth tournament in Goderich following their victory in the east-central zone tourney here.

The locals, led by Lawson Mitcheli, copped the Sullivan-Kennedy trophy and crests by whipping Haliburton 7-0, edging Minden 2-1 and blanking Little Britain 3-0 in the finals. It was the first Lindsay victory in the three-year history of the competition for 12-year-olds.

Ajax Hawks took the consolation event, after losing the first round 5-2 to Minden. Brooklin didn't gain any awards, but they did supply the tourney's highest scorer in Bill Cornish, who picked up nine points.

Lindsay In Finals With Wallaceburg

LINDSAY, March 26.—The Ontario Minor Hockey Association Midget "B" championship series will open in Wallaceburg Saturday when the locals will visit the western Ontario town. The second game of the goals-to-count series will be played here one week later.

Lindsay gained the finals by ousting Port Colborne Lions in a sudden-death replay at Nobleton, 2-1, on goals by Art Truax and Conny O'Neill. The Midgets, the second Lindsay team to enter an OMHA finals in four years, have ousted Port Hope, Napanee, Newmarket, Midland and Port Colborne in their march to the crown. Enthusiasm is high here and businessmen contributed $150 in a few hours toward expenses for the westward trek.

The fate of California's crack thoroughbred, Your Host, probably will be decided Wednesday or Thursday, says veterinarian Dr. J. E. Peters.

The four-year-old stakes winner broke an elbow bone in his foreleg in an accident at Santa Anita Jan. 13.

The veterinarian said at Arcadia, Calif., Monday that a decision will be reached after he has conferred with owner William Goetz and the insurance representatives. The horse is insured for more than $250,000.

In London, England, Lethbridge Maple Leafs Wednesday night drew 5-5 in an exhibition hockey game with London's Earl's Court Rangers.

It was the first game Leafs failed to win since they took the world championship in Paris earlier this month.

Billy Flick led the Leafs with two goals, and Mickey Roth, Hec Negrello and Bill Gibson got one each.

On this side of the Atlantic, Les Cunningham, coach of the Brandon, Man., Junior Wheat Kings, during the weekend received certificate No. 1 in the "200" Club. Members are players in professional hockey ranks who have scored 200 or more goals. Cunningham, who wound up his long playing career with Cleveland Barons, scored 280 goals and had 418 assists.

An Allan Cup dispute is brewing on the prairies.

Art Potter, vice-president of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday night that Edmonton Mercurys must meet Nanaimo Clippers at the west coast or forfeit their Allan Cup chances.

Earlier, coach Jimmy Graham of Mercurys said his team would not play the series because all games in the best-of-five series were scheduled to be held on the coast.

At Sydney, Australia, Lloyd Labeach of Panama ran the 220 yards in 20.8 seconds Monday to win the £250 (about $550) Stewards Purse. His time was 5-10ths second slower than the world record.

Middleweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson will meet Harold Green of Brooklyn in a 10-round non-title bout in Cleveland April 19, matchmaker Tom Stanley announced Monday.

4 Cage Teams In Second Round

TORONTO, March 27 (CP).—Three Toronto schools and one from Niagara Falls Monday night advanced to the second round of the Ontario inter-scholastic basketball tournament.

Toronto Humberside Collegiate scored a 30-24 victory over a fast but small Leamington high school team; Toronto Central Commerce edged Hamilton Central 35-33; Toronto Runnymede Collegiate eked out a 47-46 win over Belleville Collegiate, and Niagara Falls Red Raiders defeated York Memorial 37-31.

Ted Sahaidak, with 18 points, led Humberside to their win over Leamington. Hicks was high scorer with eight for the losers.

Top man for the losing Hamilton team was Jim Lindfores with 12 points. Archie Ublansky, high-scoring Central Commerce marksman, had 14 points in the winning cause.

Walters Gives Up Record Dream, Would Stay On

By JOE REICHLER

BRADENTON, Fla., March 27—(AP)—Bucky Walters long ago gave up his dream of winning 200 major-league games, but the former pitching ace and manager of the Cincinnati Reds wants to continue in baseball as long as some club will have him.

"Just being in baseball keeps me happy and contented," said Walters, who is starting his second season as pitching coach for Boston Braves. "I can't think of any better job than being in baseball."

Walters ended his active days in 1949 without winning a game that season, although he lost three. It was a heartbreaking year for him. Not only did he fail to pick up the two triumphs he needed to reach his goal of 200, but he was let out as manager before the season ended.

The 41-year-old Philadelphian has no intention of ever returning to the active list even in the event of total mobilization. As it is, he should have quit pitching two years before he did.

Arm Useless

"The arm is gone," Bucky explained. "I tried to throw the other day and I could scarcely reach the plate. It hurt like the dickens every time I threw.

"Nobody realizes how much the arm pained me during those last three years of my pitching days. Many a time it felt like it was coming off with each pitch."

After winning 23 games in 1944, the slim righthander hurt his arm in July of the following year and never was the same thereafter. Using his head more than his arm, Bucky managed to rack up 10 wins in 1946 and added eight in '47 to give him 198 victories in 13 seasons. But he could not add another the next year.

"I might have made 200 if I had started pitching sooner," said Walters, who put in six years as an infielder before turning to pitching at 25. "Even at that, I still could have done it had I had some luck in my years with the Phillies."

To Play Exhibition

New York Rangers, who failed to win a berth in the National Hockey League playoffs, play an exhibition game April 3 with Fredericton Capitals, New Brunswick intermediate champions.

Plans are also reported under way for Rangers to play two exhibitions in Nova Scotia. Harry Lumley, Chicago Black Hawks' goalie, will replace Chuck Rayner for the exhibitions.

Assists Help Howe Win Scoring Title

MONTREAL, March 27 (CP)—Assists, what a hockey player gets for touching the puck on a scoring play, make the difference between a champion and a non-champion.

The final National Hockey League scoring statistics released today show that. Gordie Howe, right wing for the league champion Detroit Red Wings, won the scoring championship with 86 points, 20 more than runner-up Maurice Richard, of Montreal.

Nineteen of Howe's points margin came from his 45 assists and only one from his 43 goals. He won the goal-scoring division from Richard, and tied with Toronto's Ted Kennedy for the assists title.

If the league championship was decided on the basis of goals for and against, Detroit might not have had such a clear-cut victory. In winning 44 games, losing 13 and tying 13, Wings scored 236 goals and were scored against 139 times. Toronto did almost as well, scoring 212 and letting 138 past while losing three more games than fourth-place Boston, but scored only 173 times to Bruins' 178 and let 184 to Bruins' 197.

Ahead On Points

On points, Detroit came through the 70-game schedule with 101, six ahead of Toronto. And Montreal with 65 was three ahead of Boston. New York and Chicago, who missed playoff spots, ended with 61 and 36 points respectively.

A $1,000 cheque and the Vezina Trophy went to Toronto's Al Rollins. But Detroit's Terry Sawchuk put up a good argument for the top netminder title won by rookie Rollins.

Rollins played 40 games and allowed only 70 goals for a 1.75 average. He had five shutouts. Sawchuk played the full 70 games, allowed only 139 goals and blanked opposing teams 11 times.

Since this was the first season in the league for both, they will be top contenders for the league's rookie award.

Turk Broda, Leafs' other netminder, posted the third best individual average, 2.19. He played 31 games and allowed 68 goals with six shutouts. Montreal's Gerry McNeil followed with 2.63 in 70 games. He was scored on 184 times and equalled Broda in shutouts.

A rash of penalties to Montreal in the last few games put Canadians ahead in the final total penalties, held most of the season by Toronto. Canadiens were hit for 828 minutes. However, Gus Morton, of Toronto, won the individual penalty crown with 142 minutes in 60 games. Boston's Bill Ezinicki, who played only 54 games, was off the ice for 119 minutes.

Teepees Get Overtime Win Edge Out Marlboros 5-4

By The Canadian Press.

St. Catharines Teepees, a team of game youngsters who have had to fill injury gaps with a forward line from a juvenile squad, gave warning Monday night that they're not to be lightly dismissed from the junior hockey scene.

The Teepees, who finished sixth during the regular schedule of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, came up with another inspired performance Monday night to beat Toronto Marlboros 5-4 before 3,505 fans, the biggest crowd of the season in St. Catharines.

The victory, hard-won in two evertime periods, evened the best-of-five semi-final series with Marlboros at a game apiece.

Pint-sized Wayne Brown, team captain, became the hockey hero of St. Catharines when he intercepted a pass and beat Don Lockhart with the winning goal at 5:04 of the second overtime period.

Down Spits

In the other semi-final series, Barrie Flyers beat Windsor Spitfires 4-2 before 4,900 fans at Windsor to take a 2-0 lead.

Teepees and Marlboros move to Toronto for their third game tonight, Spitfires and Flyers face off in Barrie for the tilt that could decide their series Wednesday.

Wayne Brown's spectacular overtime performance overshadowed a three-goal effort by his centreman Buddy Boone in the St. Catharines-Toronto affair.

Boone scored the first Teepees' goal less than two minutes after the game began. He banged in another in the second period and Teepees' last in regular play at the 1:55 mark of the third. Billy Young, brought up from a juvenile squad, accounted for the other St. Catharines goal.

Marlboros led at the end of the first period 2-1 on goals by Danny Poland and Eric Nesterenko, but Teepees outplayed and outscored them in the second to move ahead 3-2.

Ron Stewart and Bob Cooper scored the last Marlies' goals in the third period, Cooper's tieing the count.

Three-goal Performance

Another three-goal performance was turned out by Real Chevrefils who led Barrie Flyers to their victory over Windsor Spits. Jack White and Leo Labine set up Chevrefils twice in the opener while Spits went scoreless.

Both Windsor goals came while Flyers were a man short. Martin Zorica was the first Spit to capitalize on a Barrie manpower shortage with a 40-foot drive in the second period while Dan O'Connor was off for hooking.

Doug Towers got that goal back for Flyers, but not till the third period. Then Labine was thumbed off for kneeing and Eldor Thomas tallied Windsor's final goal.

A desperate Spits attack in the closing ten minutes wasn't enough to beat goalie Lorne Howes, a standout in the Barrie net. Windsor's last-ditch try with an extra forward replacing goalie Glenn Hall backfired 10 seconds before the game ended when Chevrefils fired his third goal into the untended net.

Stampeders Walk Off With Major Honors

REGINA, March 27 (CP). — Calgary Stampeders walked off with major honors in the Western Canada major hockey schedule.

Official statistics released on Monday night by league president Al Pickard showed that Sid Finney, flashy Stampeder centre, and Russ Dertell, the steady netminder, topped the scoring and goalkeeper records respectively.

Finney had 81 points for a five-point margin over teammate Dunc Grant in the 60 games this campaign.

Colin Kilburn of Edmonton, 1949-50 league scoring champion, finished in a third-place deadlock with Archie Scott of Calgary.

Finney fired the most goals—44, while Hunter, now with Saskatoon, topped assists with 48.

Pulp Men Plan Best Ways Guard Forests

MONTREAL, March 27 (CP). —Ways and means of best operating Canada's woodlands will be discussed Wednesday by 700 men, experts in their lines in the pulp and paper industry.

The occasion is the opening of the three-day annual meeting of the Woodlands Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Foresters, woods managers, engineers and executives will attend the 33rd annual gathering of the section. An interesting feature will be the Canadian bucksaw championships, participated in by representatives of member companies.

The section is a scientific body sponsored by the association. The general chairman of the meeting will be Gordon Godwin, woods manager of the Ontario Paper Company, Ltd., Thorold, who is also chairman of the woodlands section.

W. A. E. Pepler, section manager, said papers will be presented on woods labor training, forest management and woods operations. There will also be group discussions on various subjects.

The general session of woods labor will include a panel discussion on supervisory training. The training of forest personnel in conservation measures will also be discussed.

Fire-prevention Program

In the forestry managemnt session a fire-prevention program will be outlined, different cutting methods used in harvesting pulpwood will be described and papers will be given on private forest land management representing school, municipal and farm wood lots and industry-owned and absentee-owned forests.

At the woods operating session a report on power saws will be given and developments in mechanical logging during the last year will be outlined.

James Muir, Montreal, president of the Royal Bank of Canada will be guest speaker at the annual luncheon Wednesday.

Woodlands section awards will be presented at the luncheon to men in the industry who have made outstanding contributions in the fields of forestry research and woodlands operations during the year.

Following the luncheon there will be the regular business session at which Mr. Godwin will present his annual report and election of the session's new officers for the coming year will be held.

James Bay Marrying Factor Finds Business Little Slow

MOOSE FACTORY, Ont., March 27 — (CP). — People with preconceived notions about the appearance and dress of sub-Arctic trading post managers would be sharply disillusioned by Ronald MacLennan Duncan, the marrying factor of James Bay.

His well-tailored suit pressed to knife-edge, his highly-polished expensive shoes, the edge of a white handkerchief peeping from his lapl pocket are startling contrast to story-book pictures of rough-garbed northern traders.

Duncan, a trader for Hudson's Bay Company for more than 29 years on the southern shore of Hudson Bay, explains his appearance this way.

"It's the tradition of the company to preserve the amenities when possible, and guard the prestige of the white man."

But the thin, tailored look he presents today is a far cry from when he left Scotland and journeyed deep into the Canadian north country.

Those were the years when he earned his nickname as the marrying factor.

Worked Out Well

The urge to wed is an irresistable force which will brook no delay, he says, recalling more than 15 occasions when he drew up simple written contracts in which couples pledged their troth, signed their names, made Xs if they could not write, and promised to be properly wed as soon as opportunity presented itself.

The marrying factor no longer has to fulfill that function, however, for there are clergymen around to handle the ceremonies today. In those times it might have been months before a clergyman reached the trading post on his rounds.

Duncan looks back on his marrying days with some pride. "I might say that the large percentage of the unions I cemented worked out very well," he says.

Quite A Contrast

The contrast between his dapper appearance today and how he often looked in his early years as trading post factor can be drawn from this story.

He went on an 800-mile buying trip by canoe and portage across North-west Quebec.

The route went inland east from Rupert's House, one of the seven posts at which Duncan served. It continued to Mistassini, then south-east to Lake St. John. It required dozens of portages and took more than two months.

The conductor on the train to Montreal would not let the tattered trader into the pullman, and a uniformed doorman at a posh Montreal hotel would not let him past the door until a company official came to the rescue.

Duncan, whose wife arrived from Scotland in 1932, now is on his second tour of duty at Moose Factory, situated where the Moose River flows into James Bay on the Ontario side of the provincial border with Quebec. He has been factor at seven posts around James and Hudson Bay, and has left the area only for brief holidays, including trips to Wininpeg to visit his two children who go to school there.

Teacher Shortage Predicted For September

TORONTO, March 27 (CP) — Ontario's teacher shortage, eased slightly during the last two years, will become acute again in September, Dean A. C. Lewis of Ontario College of Education, said Monday.

Dr. Lewis told the annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association that the current crop of teacher trainees fills only 75 per cent of elementary school needs this fall. The shortage may become grave.

The usual September enrolment increase will leap from 12,000 to 30,000 this year, he said, requiring about 750 new teachers in addition to 1,700 replacements for those leaving this spring.

He suggested women teachers return to the classroom after marriage.

Separate Meetings

The 91st annual convention of the OEA is being attended by almost 9,000 delegates. During the four days various member groups will hold separate meetings.

"There are so many more serious problems that we allow each boy a cigaret after each meal. Every boy smokes when he comes to us, but they get a special candy allowance if they give it up. About 50 per cent are non-smokers now."

SAVINGS INTO SOIL

...for example, there was young Joe whose great ambition in life was to own a farm. The land he wanted was in the North country—and did not cost much. But it would take a few years of hard work to pay for it. The young man went into the bush to cut pulpwood. It was hard work and it paid well and there was no way of spending his earnings in the woods.

But when at last he came to town it was Spring! Joe forgot the farm he wanted in the joy of having money to spend. Soon, his first hard-earned down payment on the farm was gone! Joe, sadder but wiser, returned to the woods. This time, he laid his plans carefully and well. He opened a Savings Account with a Branch of The Dominion Bank nearby. He sent his pay cheque to the Bank each month for deposit in his Savings Account and asked the Manager to make payments on the farm he wanted so much. The Bank put his savings into the soil and, today, he owns his farm.

You may not want to be a farmer... you may not want to own your own business. But whatever you want, the best way to get it is through Savings... and a good place to save is The Dominion Bank.

Whenever you visit any Branch of The Dominion Bank, you'll find friendly, courteous and efficient service. Drop in today!

Monaghan Road Traffic Up 24 Times

Suggest Improved Traffic Signals At RR Crossing

Traffic over the CNR crossing on Monaghan Road, south of Lansdowne St., is 24 times greater in volume today than it was in 1914, according to vehicular count by the company.

During the 48 hours from 8 a.m. March 7 to 8 a.m. March 9, there were 3,505 vehicles, 152 bicycles, 361 pedestrians, going north and south on Monaghan Road at the railway; also 14 wagons and horses.

During the same time five trains and two switching movements were counted. The days under observation were Wednesday morning to Friday morning. The vehicles comprised automobiles, trucks, buses and wagons.

Improved Signals

CNR is proposing to the Dominion Board of Transport Commissioners the proportions of cost of installing and maintaining improved traffic signals for public protection at the crossing.

Cost of setting up two flashlight signals and bell is estimated by the company at $3,800, and annual maintenance is expected to amount to $625. The company's argument is that 40% of the $3,800 expense of installation of the signals should be charged to the Railway Grade Crossing Fund, and two-thirds of the remainder plus maintenance should be paid by the city, and one-third by the CNR.

Assessment of cost of setting up the signals would be $1,520 to the RGC Fund, $1,520 to the city and $760 to the CNR; and for maintenance the city would pay $416 a year and the company $208.

Complaints Made

The investigation of traffic made by the company, with some representation by the city, followed the council's action for improved warning devices at the Monaghan Road crossing. Mr. W. A. Richardson, general manager of Peterborough Canoe Company, whose branch factory is situated on the west side of Monaghan Road, south of the Railway, had written the council that the warning bell of long standing was inadequate.

Mr. Richardson intimated that sometimes the bell was apparently out of order and did not sound, and also that it could not be heard by drivers of enclosed cars and trucks.

Crossing conditions were examined, and the traffic count was reported as quoted above. CNR emphasized that although the number of vehicles passing over the railway crossing increased 24 times since a similar count in 1914, the railway movement had decreased 60%.

Non-Whistling By-law

They are also reporting to the Transport Board that as a safety precaution speed of trains must not exceed 10 miles an hour at the crossing. CNR recalls likewise a non-whistling bylaw passed by the council in 1939, as increasing the hazard of trains. If the bylaw were not in effect, they say, the degree of protection would be greater.

CNR contention is that the city should be charged a larger proportion of the costs because its street traffic has vastly increased, and the train movements are fewer.

In dealing with this letter Monday night, Ald. H. F. Waddell and Ald. T. D. Miller moved that City Clerk Outram prepare a brief, setting out the city's case to the Board of Transport. Ald. J. E. Gillespie was chairman. The other members of the Board of Works present were: Aldermen Burrows, Anglesey, Rehill, Graham and Mayor Swanston.

Reference was made to previous discussions of suggestions for the reduction of the grade at Monaghan Road south of Lansdowne St. and also of cutting down the banks of the highway and railway cuts on several sides of the crossing.

Nepheline Mines Expand Ore Production To 10,000 Tons A Month

Mill Properties Being Extended, New Drills, Enlarged Quarters To Keep Pace With High Demand

Nepheline Mines on Blue Mountain at the head of Stony Lake have under way large expansion plans and production is being raised immediately from 7,500 to 10,000 tons a month. On Monday vice-president and General Manager Ernest Craig held a press conference to tell of future developments at the mine. New storage silos are being constructed, the mill building is being extended, new drills have been bought and living quarters at the town site have been expanded. The current demand for nepheline products is very great and makes necessary the expansion at Blue Mountain.

Already, foundations for two large cement ore storage silos are being poured. These structures will be 20 by 70 feet high situated below the south side of the mill on solid rock footings above the present slimes pond. The silos will be joined to the mill by a conveyor gallery and will hold 1,400 tons of finished glass sand. They are being built by the Foundation Company of Canada and will be completed by June.

Mill Building Extensions

Extensions to the present mill building will also be necessary. One of them on the northeast corner will house a new rotary dryer and on the southeast corner additional room will be made for new ore separators. Two sets of rolls will be installed in the present mill in the space now occupied by the present dryer.

It is still planned to draw the mill feed from the quarry on the top of the mountain. A new keystone-type drill has been purchased to drill on the rock benches, thereby to increase the output of quarry ore. Additional haulage equipment will also be needed to transport rock to the glory hole ore pass directly above the mill.

A new bunkhouse 28 by 72 feet which was started about the first of the year, will be completed by the end of March, officials state. Eight new company townsite houses are all occupied together with four other privately-built homes which were constructed some time before the others.

100-120 On Job

At New Year's it was estimated that about 100 district men were employed and the new expansion will supply 20 more additional jobs.

The proposed increased tonnage will possibly be exported to the United States, Mr. Craig said. Other countries that buy Blue Mountain ore at the present time are England, Holland, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Belgium, Italy, Panama and Switzerland. Roughly one-third of the mine product goes to the pottery trade and the remainder to glass manufacturers.

Could Save City $2,000 Yearly Graham Claims

"I think we could save the ratepayers $2,000 a year," was the estimate of Ald. Norman Graham, chairman of the sanitation subcommittee of the board of works, in recommending several changes in the department at Monday night's meeting of the board.

"I don't think we need a foreman on that pick-up truck," he said. "As I see it, we could lay up that truck, have the superintendent, J. E. Pierce, take over that work, and if he needs a helper at times, he could get one. And another thing is that all purchases of over $35 should be referred to the chairman."

Ald. Graham said he frequently looked in at the city yard and incinerator, "and I have noticed that if I called four times a day, Mr. Pierce was in the office. We already have Mr. Hill in the office, and I can't see that we need two there."

Used For Garbage

Ald. H. T. Rehill said the half-ton pick-up truck was used in collecting garbage that might be overlooked, and was of more or less supervisory service in that work.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie, board of works chairman, expressed his opinion as chairman of the sanitary department last year, that the pick-up job was necessary, "but if the committee sees fit to direct differently, it's all right with me."

Ald. Hugh Waddell suggested that members were not as informed as Ald Graham in details of the department, and also that there should be some discussion with Mr. Pierce.

"We've already seen Pierce," Ald. Graham replied.

Ald. Miller: "Is it necessary that Mr. Pierce be in the office all the time?"

Ald. Gillespie: "He's not in the office all the time."

Ald. Graham: "He's been there most of the times I've called."

Members of the subcommittee are: Ald. Graham, Rehill and Gillespie.

Ald. Graham agreed to the Rehill proposal to call in Mr. Pierce again.

Lock Co. Agrees To Talks For '51 Contract

The Peterborough Lock Co. has agreed to enter into negotiations with Local 527, United Electrical Workers, for a 1951 contract. April 3 is the date set for opening talks.

For the last two months the union has been campaigning for the company to give a wage increase during the life of the 1950 contract which ends June 26. The company refused to do this but offered to open negotiations on the new one six weeks early.

"By this proposal the company justifies the demand of the workers for a general wage increase to offset the skyrocketing cost of living," said John Rowley, UE representative.

In 1950 an eight-week strike at the plant preceded a settlement.

Present base rate for men is 98½ cents, union officials say, and 87 cents an hour for women. The plant average is approximately $1.16. Some 200 production workers are affected.

Warning Shots Fail To Stop Youth, Joy Driver Arrested

A charge of joyriding or taking a station wagon without the owner's consent was laid today in police court against John Blair, 16, 492 Chamberlain St., following his arrest as he drove a car into a garage late Monday night. A second youth ran away in spite of three warning shots Patrol Sergeant Gordon Trennum fired in the air to try to stop him.

The car's owner, George A. Rosborough, Lakefield, reported that three times before he had come out from work at the CGE after his shift at about 2 a.m. to find his car had been taken out and driven.

Fourth Time Taken

Monday night about 8:15 p.m. he went out to check the garage where he kept his car and found that the lock had been opened and the car gone.

He phoned police and Sergeant Trennum and Constable Patrick Gillis took up watch at the garage. About 11:05 p.m. Blair drove the car in and was arrested.

Mr. Rosborough said the first time he noticed something wrong concerning his car was March 16. He went out to it and found the car cornerwise in the garage—a different position than he had left it.

March 20 he found the padlock on the garage had been filed and the locks on both doors of his car picked. Again the car was parked cornerwise in the garage.

Three nights later he discovered that both the garage padlock and locks of the car doors had been picked. Constable Andre Dalton examined the car and found the motor still warm. The owner said about eight gallons of gasoline was missing.

Blair was remanded into the custody of his father until Monday.

Mrs. Louise Lipsett

The Rev. F. W. Craik, St. James' United Church, officiated Monday at the Kaye funeral home at the service for Mrs. Louise Helen Lipsett of Toronto and formerly of Peterborough. Mrs. Lipsett died Friday in hospital after a long illness. Pallbearers were: Lionel and Clarence Lipsett, Elwood Girven, Merlin Raines, James Anderson and Ralph Goodfellow. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

China Missionary Spends Easter In Home Parish

Miss Greta Clark, Anglican missionary in China for 32 years, reached home in time to worship Easter Sunday in All Saints' Church. She visited at the home of her brother, Howard Clark, Smith township, and then returned to Toronto where she is staying temporarily with her sister, Mrs. Frank Huffman, Eglington Ave.

On Friday Miss Clark reached Toronto after a train trip from Vancouver. Previously she had been on a four-week voyage from Hong Kong. The first leg of her journey was by train from Shanghai to Hong Kong.

Earlier this year Miss Clark decided to come back to Canada (her furlough is due in June in any case). For the last three years she has been teaching at the interdenominational Inter-Varsity Fellowship Group in Shanghai.

Mission Evacuated

The Anglican mission in Kaifeng, a city in Honan province, was evacuated by the "foreign" teachers and missionaries three years ago when the Red army approached. The Chinese bishop thought that if Christian missionary work were to continue it would best be done by Chinese Christians.

She then went to Shanghai and to the Inter-Varsity Fellowship Group.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

AFFECTED BY MOON

"There won't be much change in the weather until the new moon, and that's April 6th," was the prediction of a lunar cultist Sunday night.

THE MARKET MOVE

The market will be switched to the new George St. location probably about May 1, Mayor Swanston commented at last night's board of works meeting. That was the expectation of the committee for which he was speaking.

LINDSAY FIRE CHIEF

Alex Wylie, a captain in the Toronto fire department, is the new fire chief in Lindsay. He has been a member of the Toronto department for 32 years. He succeeds Arthur Webster who resigns as the town's chief constable.

ADDRESSING TEACHERS

L. P. Asks What To Do About Dunford House

Like the new broom of the adage, Ald. Harold Rehill asked the board of works last night whether anything could be done about "the house at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets."

That's the Percy Dunford place, the old home with treed lawn of the late Duke Lundy. It has been gradually coming apart in recent years, and is now in advanced dilapidation, a blight on the property values of the neighborhood.

Mayor Swanston said other councils had tried to persuade Mr. Dunford to repair the building, and eventually he was threatened with court penalty for keeping a fire menace. That action was taken under the Fire Marshal's Act.

Boarded Windows

Mr. Dunford boarded up the ground floor windows, but it was not long until "kids of the corner pried them off."

It was recalled that Mr. Dunford was quite ready to go to jail, but nobody approved that severity. The penalty was reduced to a fine and he paid it.

Ald. Norman Graham, one of the new members of council, expressed doubt that anything could be accomplished with Mr. Dunford.

"We could make another attempt," Ald. T. D. Miller suggested.

Mentions Invitation

It may have been City Clerk Outram who mentioned that Mr. Dunford might be invited to a meeting of the finance committee to hear the views of the council on the Aylmer St. corner, and try to reach some agreement.

Ald. Graham recalled having once offered Mr. Dunford $9,000 in behalf of somebody, "but he waved that off." Something nearer $15,000 might have got some attention.

Mr. Outram has been the intermediary for the council in various negotiations and appeals to Mr. Dunford, "a first class plumber and pleasant man." But on any subject relating to the Dalhousie St. house—well, he has been rather difficult.

Only Engineering Faculty Remains Male At University

WINNIPEG, March 26 (CP).—Only one faculty, engineering, remains exclusively male at the University of Manitoba.

Young women are studying agriculture, architecture, theology, pharmacy, law and medicine.

Agriculture has seven women undergraduates and two graduate students. The latter are Ruth Zloten and Anne Storgaard.

Miss Zloten is studying leaf rust in barley under a national research council scholarship.

"I'm going on to work for my Ph.D.," says Miss Zloten. Research or teaching will be her career.

Miss Storgaard, from Ochre River, Man., is doing corn-breeding research on a provincial government grant.

Doing Reporting

Dorcas Anne Bathlo of Minnedosa, Man., an undergraduate, is doing reporting for The Co-operator and had two by-line stories in the last issue. Ruthe Jaffrey, an Ontario girl, is specializing in livestock. She aims to be a veterinarian.

Irene Golubeff is studying architecture. Last year she worked with the Manitoba Diking Board surveying and topographical calculations on the contours of the land before Winnipeg dikes were built. She is a displaced person from Estonia and began her architecture studies in Germany.

Women Army Veterans

Two other architecture students, Joan and Joyce McCuish from Calgary, were both in the army and did drafting. Joan worked in the Calgary engineer's office last year. Other girls in architecture include Carol Strum, Kipling, Sask., Monica Barker, Calgary, and Margaret Leighton, Saskatoon.

Medicine has 23 women enrolled, four of them now internes in their fifth and final year. Law has four women.

There is only one woman studying theology. She is Margaret Roberta Hanley, daughter of the Rev. R. A. Hanley, retired, whose last pastorate was at Griswold, Man.

Commerce has 10 women students. These girls hope to get jobs such as buyers in department stores, in personnel work in industry and special assignments in the insurance business.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Sausages and Wieners Are Having Real Hey-Day

It seems that when meat prices go up so does the sale of wieners and sausages.

Contrary to the opinions of some chronic belittlers the manufacture of sausages and wieners is a fine art and fine quality meat goes into their production. The competition between meat packers is keen where these two products are concerned.

The Inspection Branch of the Government of the Dominion of Canada keeps a sharp eye on these operations.

The increased sale of sausages and wieners is quite reasonable for they are "all meat and no bone" and because of their size can be made to "go further."

Since you are buying them anyway I thought you might like to show your families that you are not in a rut.

✧ ✧ ✧

Sausage Casserole, Virginia Style

Into a large casserole slice 4 pared tart apples with cores removed and 4 medium-sized pared sweet potatoes (raw). Sprinkle these with 1 tablespoon sugar, ¼ cup boiling water and cover with 1 lb. pricked sausages. Cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. This is an ideal way to use up apples that are getting too old for other dessert uses.

✧ ✧ ✧

Rice With Sausage

If they are available at your butchers' buy cocktail size sausages for this. Chop finely 1 small onion and 1 sweet green pepper. Mix with 3 cups cooked rice and spread 1 inch thick in baking dish. Cover with 1 pound small link sausage and spread any remaining rice mixture on top. Add 1 or 1½ cups milk—or enough to see surface of milk through sausages. Cover and bake at 300 deg. Fahr. 1 hour.

Dutch Beans and Wieners

Saute in 1 tablespoon butter 1 small onion chopped until it is transparent but not brown. Add 1 pound cut up wieners and stir over low heat for 5 minutes, then add 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 large can oven-baked beans in tomato sauce. Heat through on top of stove covered, or bake covered for 20 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Texas Frankfurter Casserole

Three-quarters cup long grain white or brown rice, washed, 1½ cups sliced peeled onion, 3 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1 large 28-ounce can tomatoes, 1½ teaspoons salt, 4 tablespoons diced green pepper, 3 whole cloves, 1 bay leaf, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 pound wieners. Cook the rice by stirring it into 4 cups boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt. Let boil over medium heat until nearly tender, stirring often. Drain. Meanwhile cooked sliced onions in fat until transparent. Add remaining ingredients, except wieners, and simmer 10 minutes. Remove bay leaf and cloves and add the rice. Arrange one-third of this in a greased large casserole, cover with one-third of the wieners, repeat this layering until all ingredients are used, having wieners on top. Cover and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Uncover for last 10 minutes of baking.

✧ ✧ ✧

Baked Wieners

The best accompaniment for these is mashed potatoes; a perfect combination for Saturday night's supper.

Place 12 wieners in casserole. Cover with mixture of 1 can condensed tomato soup, ½ cup chopped onion, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard. Bake covered at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Couple Should Hold All Old Friendships Made

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have been married a very short time and the question of going about a bit and keeping up our old friendships has risen between us. My husband thinks that we should be all and all to each other. Never want any outside company and spend all of our evenings at home. He has dropper all his acquaintances, never wants to stir from his own fireside and says that if I really love him I wouldn't ever want any society but his. I do love him, but I am of a sociable nature. I like good times and I think that for complete happiness we have to have outside interests and friends regardless of how much we love each other. Which one of us is right? PUZZLED WIFE

ANSWER: You are, absolutely! No young pair can make a greater mistake than by turning hermits at the beginning of their married life. Friends and outside interests are the salt that gives savor to life after marriage just as much as it did before marriage.

The theory that a husband and wife should be all and all to each other, that they need no society other than their own, and should confine all their interests to the four walls of their home, is the most misleading propaganda that was ever preached. It has led many misguided youngsters who embraced it to the divorce courts. Because no two people in the world who are thrown solely upon each other for companionship can keep from boring each other to death or from quarreling just to put a little pep into their conversation.

Friends are Assets

Furthermore, our friends, in addition to making life more entertaining and amusing for us, are assets that no young couple can afford to throw away. Just as many business deals are put across over dinner tables as are over office desks. Half of us go to this doctor when we are sick, or that lawyer when we need one, not because he is superior to some other doctor or lawyer but because we met him at the Jenkins' party and took a fancy to him or because our wife likes his wife.

Of course, there should be moderation in all things. A young married couple should no more be perpetual gadders than they should be stick-in-the-muds, but once or twice a week they should step out to get a little fresh air and a few new ideas.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young man with a wife and three small children whom I love dearly, as I do also my father and mother, who live in the same town that I do. My trouble is that my mother and my wife cannot get along together. Both are high-tempered and sensitive, especially toward each other. They are always getting their feelings hurt and coming to me with their tales against each other and wanting me to take sides. What shall I do? Shall I give up the good practice I have and go to some other town?

DISTRACTED MAN

ANSWER: The strangest thing in the world is that the two women who love a man most in the world are willing to make every sacrifice on earth to him except to sacrifice their jealousy of each other. When a man's wife and his mother fight over him like dogs over a bone, they never seem to realize that he is the sufferer.

When a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law who dislike each other are compelled to live in the same house, it is understandable that they will get unendurably on each other's nerves. But any town or city is big enough to hold even enemies and any two women, no matter how discordant, should certainly be ladies enough and have enough knowledge of the world to be able to preserve an outward appearance of harmony when they are occasionally thrown together. Therefore, I should certainly advise you not to sacrifice your good practice by moving away from your home town.

Furthermore, have one grand row with your wife and your mother seperately and lay down the law to each. Tell each one how miserable she is making you and that you are not going to have your peace of mind shattered by their petty quarrels. Forbid either one to mention the other's name to you again.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I dye my hair because I can get a more becoming shade than my own is. My fiance raves about my black hair, but as he stresses that there should be no secrets between us shall I tell him before we are married?

MARION

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly. This is one time when the truth is indicated, because he would find it out as soon as you were married. Anyway, if he doesn't love you for anything but your hair you've got a slight hold upon him.

FIRST LAUREATE

Geoffrey Chaucer, who died in 1400, was the first to assume the title of poet laureate of England.

Charges Women Dopes At Handling Money

By DOROTHY ROE.

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP) —Most women are dopes when it comes to handling money.

So says Wilma Soss, president of the Federation of Women Shareholders, who spends most of her time trying to pound an understanding of dollars and cents into the heads of U. S. females. Says she:

"Business women—even some holding top executive jobs—are the poorest managers of their own money, and the most ignorant of ordinary financial practices."

Since a large slice of the country's wealth is held by women, Miss Soss thinks it's time the gals smartened up.

Widows Bad Too

Almost as inept as the career women are widows, says she. These fall into two classes: those who want to learn about stocks and investments and those who rely on the advice of some big, strong man. These latter, says Miss Soss, are easy prey to unscrupulous promoters and are almost sure to end up in financial disaster.

Young women, married and unmarried, are the best money managers, she says. Usually young wives are alert and interested in getting the most for their money. Single women who have been trained by papa often exhibit a sound understanding of finances.

The ones who annoy Miss Soss the most are the "helpless type" —the wives who boast they know nothing about money, always adding proudly:

"My husband attends to everything."

Mexican Food Staple Shrinks

MEXICO CITY—(AP) — The Mexican's menu rests on a mass of cornmeal dough, a mass that has shrunken lately.

Women daily line up at small shops where "masa," the cornmeal dough. is sold. Sometimes poorer customers line up before daw nto make sure of their day's supply.

Out of this dough come the thin toasted pancakes known as tortilla, the Mexican bread. It has many uses and it's the Mexican staff of life because it's cheap, selling at just under three cents a pound.

But this year the corn supply is rather short so that masa has been a matter of public concern. The government estimates that three-quarters of Mexico's 25,000,000 people eat an average of 7½ tortillas a day.

Queen And Princess See Private Show of Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY.

LONDON (CP).—Against a background of silver-grey panelled walls and magnificent crystal chandeliers, the Queen and Princess Margaret saw some of London's finest export fashions.

A special preview, arranged at the Queen's request, showed 60 best-selling models from the recent collections of London's big ten of fashion.

Forty mannequins, four from the house of each designer, curtsyed gracefully in glowing ball gowns flashing with jewelled embroidery or bobbed stiltedly in pencil skirts that would scarcely allow a bended knee.

The collection, valued at £6,000 ($18,000), and supported by jewelry costing £60,000, was shown in the old-fashioned Adams drawing-room of Warwick House, home of Lady Rothermere, president of the Incorporated Society of London Dress Designers.

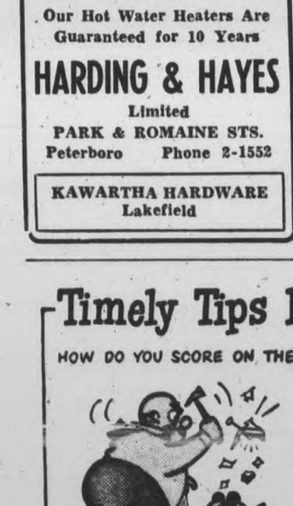
Explain Details

In turn, each of the leading designers sat with the Queen and Princess Margaret explaining the technical details in the make-up of their own designs.

Ball gowns, suited to any royal occasion, formed the centre of the show, but a tailored Ascot ensemble so enchanted Princess Margaret she had the manequin recalled. A design by Lachasse in cream lace over black taffeta, the lace overlaid with black chiffon, it drew this comment from the Princess: "The effect is fascinating."

Latest in Crinoline

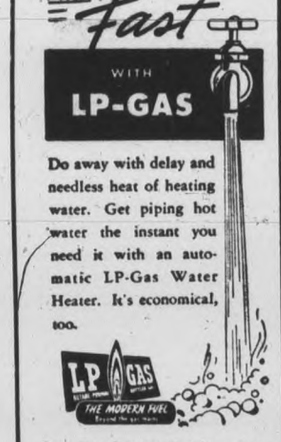
The Queen, with her love of crinolines, showed much interest in a camellia-red lace crinoline trimmed with heliotrope tulle, the work of Michael Sherard. The crinoline is built on nylon filament and is completely manoeuvreable. You can sit down in it, crush it through a narrow doorway and even pack it into a suitcase.



Another dress that drew royal attention was a model in blue taffeta topped by a glittering jacket embroidered in paisley design. The embroidery alone cost £200 and incorporates the use of hematite, a semi-precious stone mined in Cumberland, which much interested the Queen.

Startling Change

A startling change from the wide crinolines was a fish-tail model by Norman Hartnell in white Nottingham lace encrusted in silver, crystal and diamond embroidery. From a plain, softly-draped tulle bodice it falls in a figure-hugging sheath of embroidery like iridescent fish scales.



Also of fashion interest were the ensembles worn by the two royal visitors. The Queen wore an orchid-mauve hat in the new wide shell-curved brim style. Princess Margaret wore an ankle-length cocktail coat in royal blue velvet with a rippling skirt full enough for a Gainsborough study.

Only One Beer, But Driver Given Seven Days In Jail

It was St. Patrick's day and he was an Irishman, but he had only one pint of beer and a couple of bottles of ginger ale to drink-Robert L. Hughey, 442 Wellington St., said in his trial on a drunk driving charge in police court today.

Magistrate W. R. Philp K.C., decided that no matter what he had had to drink, he was drunk when he drove the car and sentenced him to seven days in jail.

Constable Louis Rodreque testified that about a half hour after midnight the night of March 17, he saw Hughey driving erratically on McDonnel St. and Donegal St.

The constable was on his way home after duty. He saw Hughey's car ahead of him taking up the whole width of the street by driving from the north side to the south side.

The constable said Hughey drove about half way across Aylmer St. against the red light and then stopped as a car going south swung to the west to avoid a collision.

Blew Horn

Hughey then drove on along McDonnel St. The officer tried to pull up alongside him and blew the horn of his car to attract his attention, but was unsuccessful.

As Hughey approached Donegal St., a car was travelling toward the Hughey car. Hughey swung from the north side to the south side into the path of the approaching car which drove up on the curb to avoid a collision.

The accused then turned north on Donegal St. and when he stopped at Parkhill Rd., Constable Rodreque cut his car in front and stopped him from going on.

He asked the driver to get out and Hughey said, "What have I done?"

The constable told the accused he was driving all over the road and asked him if he had been drinking. The accused said he had just come from a party and said "he had too much to drink and was trying to work his way home."

Man Staggered

The constable said the man was drunk. He staggered, his speech was thick, he smelled strongly of alcohol and his eyes were glassy.

Sergeant Gordon Puffer said he saw Hughey being brought into the station and the man was drunk.

Hughey said in his own defence that he had slept after supper until about 10:30 p.m. when he went to shave his blind father at the home of his brother, Henry Hughey. From there he went into a beverage room where he had a pint of beer and a bottle of ginger ale.

He then went to visit a friend Melvin McCartney on Water St., and played cards till about midnight. While there he drank ginger ale. He went to a restaurant for a cup of coffee.

Was Careful

Driving home, he said he kept to his own side of the streets and stopped for all the stop signs and traffic lights. At Aylmer St. a car went by with "plenty of clearance."

On Donegal St., he drove from side to side to try to avoid many deep ruts and holes in the road.

Henry Hughey confirmed that his brother had come there and added that he had nothing to drink. His family was not celebrating St. Patrick's day.

"The 17 is a saint's day." Gordon H. T. Farquharson, defending Hughey, interjected.

George Hill said he was with Hughey in the pub and Hughey had only a pint of beer and a ginger ale to drink.

McCartney said he had beer in his house, but Hughey drank only ginger ale. All three defence witnesses said Hughey was sober.

Mr. Farquharson said, "St. Patrick's day is a religious day and not the type of day when a good Irishman would drink."

Magistrate Philp observed that a man who cannot see a traffic light was in the third phase of intoxication—the last phase before he passes out.

3rd Class Mail Rates Boosted

OTTAWA, March 27—(CP)—Increased rates on third class mail will go into effect April 2, the Post Office Department announced today.

Third class matter addressed to "householder" or "boxholder," which formerly was carried for one cent for the first two ounces and one cent for each additional two ounces, now will go at 1½ cents for the first two ounces, with no change in the additional rate.

Third class matter addressed to inviduals will cost two cents for the first two ounces, instead of one cent as at present. The rate on each additional two ounces or fraction will continue t be two cents.

An increase in registration fees also will go into effect April 2. On mail valued up to $25, the fee will increase from 10 to 20 cents. The fee will be 30 cents on mail valued at up to $50, instead of 10 cents as before, while it will increase from 30 to 35 cents on mail valued up to $75. The charge will be unchanged at 40 cents for matter valued up to $100.

Another change will affect libraries which have special permission to circulate books among regional libraries within Canada. Formerly the reduced rate allowed on such matter was five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound. The new rate will be seven cents for the first pound and three cents for each extra pound.

Four Swimmers Pass Junior Master Tests

Four YMCA swimmers, James Starr, Ralph Wood, Donald Wood and Scott Pearton, have passed their junior master swimming tests, Fraser Wade, physical director, announced today.

The boys had to obtain at least 150 points out of 200 in the following test: Life-saver; render 12 hours service as swimming instructor and supervisor; swim 60 feet in each of the crawl, breast, back crawl, back double arm with frog kick, side under arm and side over arm strokes; perform four standard dives.

At the same time, Mr. Wade announced that 17 boys had passed their first stage in the intermediate level of swimming. These boys were: Stanley Hood, Rickey Allison, Larry Grieg, David Fletcher, Larry Wood, Paul Cinnamon, Clair Theobald, Neil Andrews, William Kokesh, King Baker, Paul Frizzelle, James Jones, Ronald Leggitt, William Fulton, Robert Leggitt, Raymond Conners and Donald Gibson.

This group is the second to successfully pass the first stage under the new system at the YMCA.

Granted Postponement

BROCKVILLE, March 27 (CP)—Defence counsel for James Edward Annable, 30-year-old Prescott volunteer fireman held here on a charge of arson in connection with 11 fires in eight days in Prescott, was granted a postponement of one week when the case was brought before Deputy Magistrate F. Obituary

MRS. GEORGE E. BEALS

A resident of Peterborough for the past six years, Mrs. George E. Beals, 595 Division St., died after lengthy illness Monday in hospital in her 76th year. Mrs. Beals was born in Isle of Wight, Emily Elma Patey, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Patey. Her husband, George Edward Beals, Sr., survives.

Mrs. Beals lived in Burks Falls prior to moving to Peterborough six years ago. Here she was a member of Murray Street Baptist Church, the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge No. 81, and the Eastern Star, Peterborough Chapter No. 161.

Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Murray King (Clara) of Toronto, Marion on Peterborough Public School staff, two sons George E., Jr., of Peterborough and Charles R. of Detroit, a brother Alfred Patey of North Berwick, Scotland and a sister, Mrs. Florence Malka of Tampa, Florida.

The body will be resting at the Kaye Funeral Home until Wednesday evening, thence to Burks Falls for service at the Burks Falls Baptist Church Thursday at 2 p.m. Burial will be at the Burks Falls Cemetery. The Rebekah Lodge is conducting a service at the funeral home at 7:00 o'clock tonight, and the Eastern Star at 7:30.

Ontario Milk Board Will Meet Thursday

TORONTO, March 27—(CP)—The Ontario Milk Control Board meets Thursday to start a study of Toronto area distributors' charges.

By April 15 it must decide whether the distributors can absorb last week's $3-a-week wage boost for milk drivers without a tentative half-cent-a-quart retail price increase in effect until then. With the extra half cent, the retail delivered price is 20½ cents a quart.

Maurice Hart, distributors' representative on the board, has warned shopkeepers that they must keep their price at 20 cents a quart. The extra half-cent applies only to milk delivered to the home.

Pick Committee To Choose Athletes' Gifts

Mayor Swanston appointed last night Aldermen Miller, Young and Anglesey a special committee to recommend the kind of gifts to be presented to the members of local championship teams.

Alex Sinclair, director of recreation, forwarded a letter from Charles Barber, Winnipeg's director of recreation, to the effect that signet rings were the awards of the council of the Manitoba capital. They bear a superimposed crest of the city in colored enamel.

City council recently considered the merits of suitable medals embossed with Peterborough's new crest, and also recording the name of each recipient and the event for which the civic gift was presented.

"In the meantime", Mayor Swanston said, "we should write the junior lacrosse champions that we have not yet decided on the type of award. When we do so we will make the presentations."

Consult Board

Ald. T. D. Miller suggested that the Board of Education might be consulted about uniformity of recognition of championship teams.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie: "The question is what and to whom?"

"Those are matters we can leave to the committee to discuss," Ald. Waddell advised.

Ald. Miller's comment was that some teams were being "over-recognized", and others "under". Board of Education gave club bags to one of its winning teams.

"The money for these awards all comes from the same funds," Ald. Miller said.

And right away, Mayor Swanston named him chairman of the special committee.

Plan Air Parcel Post System

OTTAWA, March 27 (CP)—The Post Office Department announced today it will inaugurate an air parcel post system within Canada starting April 2.

The new system will come under a new scale of rates. It applies only to parcels weighing between eight ounces and five pounds, mailed and delivered in Canada.

Top rate for a five-pound parcel delivered in the province of mailing will be 90 cents, while the maximum rate for a parcel delivered anywhere in Canada will be $5. Special rates will apply on parcels delivered to post offices situated on air stage routes — serving remote areas in which there is no other regular means of transportation.

Packages mailed for air transportation which weigh less than eight ounces will continue to move at air letter rates.

The size of air parcels also is restricted. They must not be more than 24 inches in length, and length and girth combined must not exceed 50 inches.

Arrest Anastasio For Deportation

NEW YORK, March 27 (AP)—Joseph Anastasio, brother of Albert Anastasia, reputed executioner for the old Murder, Inc., mob, was arrested today and held for deportation proceedings.

Police said the 46-year-old longshoreman entered the United States illegally by jumping ship in San Francisco in 1929.

A third Anastasia brother, Anthony, admitted to the Senate crime investigating committee that he and his four brothers entered the U.S. from Italy by jumping ship in several American ports. The witness said that he later legalized his entry by entering from Canada on a visa.

John Francis Condon

Solemn requiem high mass was celebrated Monday at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, for John Francis Condon of Douro, who died a week ago. Celebrant of the mass was the Rev. G. F. Sullivan, deacon, the Rev. J. O'Sullivan, and sub-deacon, the Rev. Leo Leahy.

On Friday the blessing was conducted at St. Joseph's Church, directed by the Rev. J. J. McCarthy and the Rev. W. C. McCarney. Pallbearers were: Jeremiah Mahoney, Lawrence O'Brien, Leo Gooley, Robert Leahy, Gerald Doris and Bernard Condon. Burial was at St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Steal Peace Bell

HIROSHIMA, Japan, March 27 (AP)—This atom-bombed city's "Bell of Peace" has been stolen. Kyodo News Agency today said the three-foot, ninety-pound bell was taken from its 30-foot tower in the centre of Hiroshima, the spot over which the first atom bomb used in warfare was exploded.

Hastings WMS Meets

HASTINGS, March 27 (ENS)—Mrs. Wm. Whitred was hostess to the WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. President, Mrs. C. Dodd opened the meeting and gave the second chapter of the study book. Mrs. J. C. Taylor acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Richie. Illness prevented all but 6 members from attending. Discussion followed one work of infants bale and layette.

Four Offenders Fined In Liquor Act Cases

Peter McNeely, 250 Barnardo St., entered a written plea of guilty in police court today to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place and was fined $10 and costs.

Howard Moffat, 641 Beverly St., entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance March 2 and was fined $10 and costs.

Lawrence O'Toole, O'Connell Rd., paid a $10 fine when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk.

Pleading guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance March 24, William C. Reynolds, 284 Sherbrooke Place, was fined $10 and costs.

Charge CBC Set-up To Be Undemocratic

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 27 (CP)—Canada's present broadcasting set-up was branded as "undemocratic" in a resolution approved Monday night at the last plenary session of the International Association of Broadcasters.

The resolution invited the Canadian Association of Broadcasters to ask the Canadian parliament to appoint "a completely-independent agency" to license and regulate broadcasting operations.

Such an agency, the resolution said, would suppress "the control which the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has over its competitors," and institute "freedom of expression in broadcasting as a juridical right."

The resolution asked that the CBC be reorganized as a national broadcasting system with no power to regulate the activities of competitors.

Spread In Bids Too Great Council Feels

Tenders for the city hall furnishings are to be reviewed again by the committee of the whole council.

They were scrutinized in detail at the meeting of the board of works Monday night. Some doubt was expressed as to whether in all instances bids were based on exact information.

"When you see a spread in tenders from $535 to $1900, there must be something wrong in the information," Ald. H. F. Waddell commented. That difference stood out in the prices quoted on one item near the top of the list.

Ald. Waddell said the committee naturally wondered whether the competitive bids were based on identical information. It was decided to call in Ronald Winter, the council's adviser on the city hall job, for further discussion of the lists.

City Clerk Outram said Mr. Winter was well qualified from experience to make furniture recommendations to the council. As previously reported, Mr. Winter has spent much time on this phase of planning for the eventual occupancy and use of the city building. Then, he and Mr. Outram devoted part of two days to further study of the tenders for furnishings.

Their recommendation to the finance committee prompted the comment of Ald. J. E. Gillespie that columns of bids should be submitted to the whole council in committee. That was the stage of consideration reached Monday night, but the facts, as received and presented, left some little doubt as to the basis of bids by the competing dealers.

Mayor Swanston's motion requesting Mr. Winter to sit in with the committee of the whole was seconded by Ald. Miller.

Butter For Sale Up To Ottawa

VANCOUVER, March 27 (CP) —Canadian housewives can have all the New Zealand butter they want—at 54 to 56 a pound—but the Canadian government won't buy, Hon. T. C. A. Hislop, New Zealand Commissioner to Canada, said on his arrival here today.

"We just sold you 4,000,000 pounds of butter but your people made a lot of fuss about it," he said.

By "your people" he said he meant certain federal government officials who claimed the purchase of New Zealand butter "would undermine Canadian economy" and was contrary to Canada - New Zealand trade agreements.

Agriculture officials at Ottawa declined to comment on Mr. Hislop's statement.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner is in the west. In previous public statements he has been opposed to the importation of New Zealand butter because New Zealand enjoys a tariff of five cents a pound compared with eight cents under the British preferential system and 12 cents for other countries outside that system.

500 At Goderich Co. Returning To Work

KITCHENER, March 27 (CP)—More than 500 employees of the B. F. Goodrich Company of Canada Ltd. will return to work today. Originally 40 calender room workers walked off their jobs, affecting several hundred in other departments who were sent home.

The calender room strikers met Monday with the executive of Local 73 of the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO-CCL), and decided to return to work pending the appointment of a conciliation officer to iron out a wage dispute.

TWO HAVELOCK COUSINS, Gerald Menzies, Left, and David E. Menzies, Right, have enlisted in the active army. David is the youngest of 10 sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Menzies. He enlisted at Kingston in January and is taking basic training as a paratrooper at Camp Borden. Gerald is the son of Mrs. Thomas Menzies and the late Mr. Menzies. He is at Petawawa, training with the tank corps.

CNR Handles Big Baggage Job

TORONTO, March 27 — One of the largest baggage handling jobs to be carried out at Halifax—with the possible exception of the large troopships in the Second World War—was completed at that port Sunday after dock workers labored 17 hours to transfer 4,175 hand pieces and 240 tons of "other" baggage to three Canadian National Railways boat trains.

Their entire wordly possessions, the baggage was brought to Canada by 1,550 Dutch immigrants, the largest single group to arrive at Halifax in the Swedish-American liner Volendam from Rotterdam on Saturday morning. The immigrants' luggage frequently includes one large case, approximately 10 feet square and are difficult to handle.

The three CNR boat trains began leaving the dockside as the Cunard liner Ascania was berthing. She brought 557 persons, the majority of them immigrants who also left Halifax on two other special trains. The Ascania's passengers averaged two pieces of baggage each. To take more than 2,100 persons to all sections of Canada, the five trains will operate through to Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

Rescues Child, 3

CHATHAM, March 27 (CP) — Gregory Taylor, three, was pulled out of the frigid Thames river Monday by Clarence Clements, 34 Grant Street, after the tot toppled into the water near the Rankin dock. The child was unharmed.

Canadian Woman Held 3 Months

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27—(AP)—A 34-year-old Canadian woman who falsely claimed United States citizenship and her 21-month-old daughter have been held in custody here for three months, U.S. immigration authorities said yesterday.

The woman, Mrs. Freda Alexander, brought her daughter, Deborah, to Reno, Nev., last summer, planning to divorce her American husband.

She said she took a job as a cashier in Reno to support herself and the child, although her visitor's permit did not allow her to work in the United States.

"They are being held on orders from Washington, pending disposition of their case," James J. Rudden, associate district director of the U.S. Immigration Department, said Monday.

In a letter to the Canadian consul general this month, she begged Canadian authorities to intervene and hasten her deportation, if she is to be deported.

Anti-Greek Drive Waged In Toronto

TORONTO, March 27 (CP) — Left-wing Bulgarian and Macedonian groups in Toronto are actively fomenting anti-Greek propaganda, members of the Greek-Canadian colony said Monday night.

They were commenting on an announcement in Athens Monday that the Greek government has appointed a special vice-consul to help what Prime Minister Sophocles Venizelos described as a Bulgarian-inspired Communist propaganda campaign aimed at Greece from Canada.

One spokesman of the colony here, who declined use of his name, said anti-Greek letters were being written to the Canadian embassy in Athens and to the department of external affairs.

Left-wing activities among recently arrived Macedonian immigrants had been a cause of particular concern to Greek groups here, the spokesman said.

At Ottawa, a senior official of Canada's external affairs department said he is not aware of any important anti-Greek propaganda campaign being waged from Toronto.

Two Boys Attack 16-Months-Old Baby

TORONTO, March 27—(CP)—A 16-months-old baby, Susan Harris, is recovering from injuries she suffered when she was attacked Monday by two boys aged 4 and 5.

"If my partner, A. G. Sullivan, had not come along when he did, I am sure she would be dead," said the child's father, W. H. Harris. The baby's face was so swollen "it's hardly recognizable."

Police said the boys attacked the baby in her carriage at the rear of her home. They said the boys dumped sand on the infant's face, then beat her with a pop bottle.

Just Leaves Window Before Gun Blast

TEESWATER, March 27 (CP)—Five minutes after Mrs. J. O. Hughes moved away from the living room window of her apartment Monday a shotgun blast smashed the glass.

Police Chief Grant Symons arrested three men in connection with the shot, but declined to identify them. Two were from this town 45 miles southwest of Owen Sound, he said. All will face several charges.

Storm Plays Havoc With Nets, Catch

PORT STANLEY, March 27 (CP) — Commercial fishermen Monday found the weekend storm had played havoc with both catches and nets.

Hardest hit here was the tug "Stanley Clipper", in charge of Captain Glynn Dunn. In place of the anticipated white fish lift only the wooden corks and the leads were salvaged from many nets while others in the gang of nets were filled with water logs, driftwood, clinkers, and even tin cans.

Takes 25 Years For O'Brien, Tracy To Get Together

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 27 (AP) It took 25 years and a lot of manoeuvring but Spencer Tracy and Pat O'Brien are acting together again.

The two Irishmen are appearing in "The People Against O'Hara." Lkie good Irishmen, they are sentimental about the event.

"The last time we acted together was 25 years ago in Baltimore," recalled O'Brien. "We were in a stock company there and our last show was 'Lulu Belle.' I was under contract to Warners and RKO for 20 years and Spence has been with Fox and Metro for about the same time."

The Tracy - O'Brien friendship goes back farther than Baltimore stock.

—Grew Up Together—

"We grew up together in Milwaukee," Pat said. "We both ran away and joined the navy in the First War and we were stationed at Great Lakes. Then we went through the American Academy of Dramatic Arts together."

I asked Tracy if he thought he might snag a third Oscar at the Academy awards Thursday night. (He's nominated for "Father of the Bride.")

"Hah," he exclaimed with utter disdain. "I'll be bringing up the rear in that race.

"Jose Ferrer ought to win it. His performance was by far the best in this or any year."

O'Brien was also talking about his nightclubs engagements, a new turn in his long and varieid career.

"They're a lot of fun," he remarked. "And very lucrative, too." He added:

"I've done everything in show business except ballet and I think maybe it's too late to try that."

Capsule Review.

"Soldiers Three" is a combination of comedy and adventure but doesn't successfully explore either field. Most of the comedy is too slapstick and the adventure too often bogs down with words. It's the story of three soldier comrades who disrupt the British army in India. The whole thing was done far better in a memorable film, "Gunga Din." Stewart Granger and Walter Pigeon seem miscast, while David Niven and Robert Newton fare better.

Uncover No Trace Of 3 Bank Robbers

A FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR BANK HOLD-UP was staged in Colborne on Tuesday afternoon at closing time by three gunmen who are still at large. Bank manager R. J. Virgin, TOP LEFT, with handkerchief on the back of his neck where he was slugged, counts some money which the bandits missed. Customer Mackenzie Rutherford, TOP RIGHT, who refused to lie down on the floor of the bank when commanded, was also slugged wnth a gun butt; his wound is being bandaged by his daughter Margaret. The bandits scooped the money from Percy Moore, LOWER LEFT, teller's cage, LOWER RIGHT. Larry Glasgow, accountant, LOWER CENTRE, was at work with the rest of the staff behind the counter.—Murray Smith Photos.

See Objects, May Be Life Rafts

Order Ships to Area Now Waiting Further Reports

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—Rescue aircraft searching the Atlantic for a United States Air Force transport plane missing with 53 persons aboard have sighted a "number of small yellow objects" some 600 miles southwest of Ireland, US Air Force London headquarters said today.

The American Globemaster disappeared Good Friday on a flight from the United States to Britain.

The objects are the same color as life rafts carried by American aircraft on over-water flights. Individual life belts—known as Mae Wests—worn by passengers on such flights also are yellow to aid in spotting them from the air.

Weather Moderate

Weather in the area today was moderate, with clouds at 2,500 feet and a 15-to-20-mile-an-hour wind.

Air Force headquarters said the yellow objects and "some long boards" were spotted approximately 35 miles southeast of the position at which a charred duffle bag belonging to one of the plane's passengers was picked up by a ship Saturday night.

The bag had been the only trace so far of the missing transport.

The pilot of an American rescue plane—one of more than 100 scouring the Atlantic area—first reported seeing the objects at 3:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EST) Tuesday.

About two hours later, air force headquarters here said, another plane reported "debris" in the same location.

Surface ships were ordered to the area but no further information has been received here.

A U.S. destroyer which searched the area where the debris was sighted radioed at mid-day that she had so far been unable to find the yellow objects.

The number of planes participating in the hunt was reduced today to 55.

MARKSTAY, March 27.—A family of 11 was left homeless near here Tuesday when their five-room, two-storey frame home was destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved. The home was owned by Frank Carrier, a settler located about seven miles north of here in Loughrin township. He was absent at work as a carpenter at Creighton Mine, 32 miles west of here.

Pats Return To Action, Gain 2,000 Yds.

By BILL BOSS

WESTERN SECTOR, Korea, March 28 (CP)—The Patricias went back into action today after 14 days of rest.

They made a 2,000-yard advance from one hill to another in a sector northeast of Seoul—the mountain climbing actually meaning about five miles travel overland.

Tuesday the Canadians moved to the village of Porungol where they bivouacked overnight in a drenching downpour about four miles behind the lines.

Thanks to United States army ponchos—a ground sheet cut on sensible lines—issued last Sunday, they were perfectly dry when they moved northward today.

Maj. Henry Tighe of Victoria, led the battalion on to an American-held 3,000-foot mountain four miles north which was its kick-off point.

Slippery Going

Rain on a still-frozen riverside made the going treacherously slippery and the Canadians needed five hours to reach the mountain. After resting there briefly, they spread out to comb the forward slopes and then scaled a 4,000-foot mountain.

The job was completed just before nightfall. A company commanded by Capt. Bob Swinton of Vancouver led the way, followed by Tighe's headquarters and a company led by Maj. Jack George of Edmonton and Capt. Gel Harrison of Calgary.

Moving through territory apparently abandoned by the Chinese, the Canadians found "dove hunting" more apt description than "war" for their cover operations. It seems mainly a matter of checking the hills to make certain the enemy has gone.

$5,000 Hold-Up At Colborne, Manager Slugged

COLBORNE, March 28. (ENS)—Slugging the manager and a customer, three armed robbers made off with about $5,000 from the Bank of Commerce branch here at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. They escaped in a stolen car bearing licence number 198F1. Provincial Police set up road blocks all over the district within 20 minutes after the hold-up. Provincial Police stationed at No. 8 district headquarters here in Peterborough whisked away in cruisers within three minutes of receiving the alarm.

"We knew about the robbery before the car left the bank," said Inspector E. V. McNeill. "The call came at 2:47 p.m. and by 3:00 p.m. the cars had left from here."

The whole force has been called out, whether on or off duty. Some were called off leave.

Road Blocks Set Up

Road blocks were set up at Bewdley, Dale's Corners, and at Welcome on Highway 28, at all the crossings of the Trent River including Hastings and Campbellford, at the junction of Highways 7A and 35, Fowler's Corners, Madoc and Marmora.

At noon today the blocks were still being manned, but there has been no sign of the thieves.

A time lock on the main vault defeated the efforts of the three bank robbers to make a big haul. What they did get was what was in the two tellers' cages. Manager R. J. Virgin and Mack Rutherford each was slugged by a revolver.

Sounds Alarm

While the robbery was going on, the accountant, Larry Glasgow slipped out the back door and ran over to a store to phone the provincial police at Cobourg.

Several people outside the bank, aware that a robbery was going on, did nothing about it, police said. However there is no police force in the village and the nearest detachment of the provincial police is at Brighton.

After apparently looking over the bank carefully beforehand, (one of the staff noticed them hanging around outside and wondered who they were), the three armed robbers stepped inside, leaving a fourth at the wheel of the car. During the robbery, the men referred to each other by number. Mack Rutherford, the 55-year-old Haldimand township clerk, heard one man called "number six."

Ordered Vault Opened

One robber, brandishing a sawed-off shotgun, took up his position just inside the front door. A second man walked into the manager's office.

Tehran Police Foil New Assassinations

TEHRAN, Iran, March 28 (AP) Police sources said authorities seized a member of the fanatical religious sect, Fedayan Islam, who was armed with a revolver he intended to use today to assassinate Premier Hussein Ala.

The informant gave this account:

The police learned from an informer that Hussein Zolfghari was assigned by sect members to kill the premier, apparently in accordance with a broad plot against the lives of the Shah and high Iranian officials.

The would-be assassin led police to a Fedayan Islam hideout in the suburbs of Tehran where eight other members of the sect were arrested. The nine were reported ready to make the attempt on the premier's life as he left his office at noon. There was no official confirmation of this account from police.

Several Injured

Tehran is under martial law, which has been extended to the oil producing regions in the south of this uneasy middle-east country.

A well-informed government source said a number of persons were injured seriously Tuesday in a clash between oil strikers at the southern port of Abadan and government security forces.

The government official who reported the clash said martial law was declared at Abadan while the strikers were holding a mass meeting Tuesday.

He said local authorities at Abadan, acting under martial law regulations forbidding mass gatherings, demanded that the strikers disperse. The clash was reported to have occurred when the strikers refused.

Charge Carroll On 26 Counts In Tax Inquiry

KANSAS CITY, March 28 (AP)—James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner, was charged today on 26 counts of failure to report to federal tax authorities payments totalling $52,688 made by him in 1948 and 1949.

The two informations against Carroll invoked a little known and rarely enforced section of the U.S. internal revenue code which requires:

1. That all persons making payments to other persons of more than $600—other than those on which taxes are withheld by employers—are required to report those payments individually to the internal revenue department's processing division, which is located in Kansas City.

2. That all such payments must be listed collectively and reported annually to the processing division.

Penalty Year Each

The informations cited Carroll as having paid the money to winning bettors and in the form of "commissions."

Classified as misdemeanors, each count carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail, a fine of $1,000 or both. Carroll could be sentenced to 26 years and fined $26,000.

Carroll recently stalked out of a hearing in St. Louis being conducted by the Senate crime investigating committee, objecting to the televising of the hearing. He appeared before the committee in Washington last week.

Thugs Get $1500 Fool Police

KINGSTON, March 28. (CP)—Safecrackers early today smashed open a 1,500-pound safe at Wilmot's Dairies Ltd., and carried off a smaller, inner strongbox containing the firm's entire receipts for Tuesday—at least $1,500. The stolen strongbox, smashed open and the money removed, was found this morning six miles south of Napanee, 27 miles west of Kingston. Dairy officials said at least $1,200 of the loot was in cash. In a second robbery Tuesday night, thieves broke into the Frontenac Watch Repair Company and stole 40 watches valued at between $350 and $400. The upstairs office of the milk company was left a shambles by the safecrackers. Books and papers were scattered about the room.

Police said the robbery was a carefully planned job. The safe was moved from the office window and replaced by a filing cabinet of similar size. The cabinet was propped up with books to a height equal to that of the safe.

This was done to fool the police, who check the premises from the street each night as they make their rounds in a cruiser car. The lights are always left on in the office and the safe can be seen from the street.

Worked Smoothly

Police saw what they thought was the safe Tuesday night but actually it was the filing cabinet. At that moment two men were hammering at the safe with heavy steel crowbars and a sledge-hammer while a third maintained a vigil from a window of an adjoining office.

Muddy footprints inside the dairy led police to suspect that at least three men were involved in the robbery.

They forced an entrance to the dairy plant by jimmying a basement window.

French President's Visit Causes Stir In Washington

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) — President Vincent Auriol of France arrives today on an unprecedented visit of state which promises to cause the biggest ceremonial stir the capital has experienced in years. President Truman, Auriol's host during the five-day stay in Washington, arranged a personal welcome at the Union Station. A military parade and other ceremonies were to follow. Government workers were ordered dismissed early to swell the expected throng along Pennsylvania Avenue. President Auriol's scheduled arrival time was 4:25 p.m. EST.

Officials looked for possibly the biggest turnout since the King and Queen came here in 1939 when they visited Canada.

First formal visit of a French Chief of State to the United States, its primary purpose is to serve as a demonstration of unity and friendship between France and the United States.

To Exchange Views

There will be numerous opportunities, however, to exchange views on the whole range of cold war and other issues. Perhaps significantly, Auriol is accompanied by the French Foreign Minister, Robert Schuman.

Under the constitution of the French Republic the 66-year-old Auriol, a Socialist, is not responsible for government policy and will avoid political commitments in the series of public addresses on his program. This will be left in large part to Schuman.

Whistles blew, airplanes roared overhead and champagne flowed in Auriol's honor as the liner Ile de France nosed through New York harbor.

The smiling president also was greeted with a 21-gun salute from an army gun at Governor's Island.

The flag-bedecked liner was a scene of excitement and confusion as she entered port. More than 200 persons, including a press party of 165, boarded the ship off the quarantine station.

16-Day Spree Ends In Jail

MATTAWA, March 28 (CP)—A young Lacave hydro worker who stole $2,000 and went on a 16-day spending spree Tuesday was sentenced to one year definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario reformatory.

The youth, 18-year-old Hubert Proulx, pleaded guilty.

Evidence was presented showing that Proulx stole the $2,000 in large bills from William Briendstrum, a fellow employee at the Lacave hydro development. The money was in a wooden box beside Briendstrum's bed. A key to the box lay on a nearby shelf.

The theft occurred March 8 but was not reported until March 16 when Briendstrum first noticed the money missing.

Police sent out a radio alarm for Proulx's car last Friday and he was arrested near Arnprior Sunday.

Only $560 of the money was recovered. The rest was accounted for in purchases made by Proulx. These included $850 for a used car, $375 for a new motor and $30 for a tire.

FIND SECOND BODY

RIVERSIDE, Cali., March 28—(AP)—Body of Doris Cook, 18-year-old wife of a youth found slain two days ago, was discovered today in a reservoir. The body was located near the lakeshore road where her husband was found shot to death Monday. Their eight-months-old baby was found playing happily beside the father's body.

Liberal Party Agrees Team With Churchill

COLNE VALLEY, England, March 28 (AP).—The Liberal party agreed today to team with the Conservatives, in an attempt to unseat a leading Labor member of the House of Commons.

As a result, Lady Violet Bonham Carter, a Liberal, will receive the support of Winston Churchill's followers when she runs in this constituency in the next general election. The seat now is held by Glenvil Hall, chairman of the parliamentary Labor party, which consists of Labor members of the Commons.

Churchill proposed a similar pooling of Conservative and Liberal forces on a big scale in the last election, held in February, 1950. The Liberal party turned him down and the Labor government was returned to power with a majority of six seats.

The deal here was suggested by the Conservatives who agreed not to put up a candidate if Lady Violet would run.

Air Raid Sirens Wail But No One Excited

LONDON, March 28 (Reuters)—Air raid sirens wailed again in parts of central and north London today.

In an official test the well-known "Moaning Minnie," a warning warble, and the "All Clear," a long high-pitched note, sounded for about an hour.

Londoners also heard two new warning sounds—a series of short falling notes and a series of short blasts.

Government scientists want signals which can be heard in heavily built-up areas. They are also trying out different notes to indicate specific forms of attack.

The test was so well advertised that few persons showed any concern.

Gen. MacArthur Annoys India

NEW DELHI, March 28 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today criticized Gen. MacArthur's recent peace talk offer to the Korean and Chinese Communists as an "extraordinary development that is fraught with grave consequences for all countries concerned."

"Certainly no field commander is going to lay down the policies of the government of India," Nehru told parliament in a Foreign Affairs debate.

MacArthur in a statement last week said he was ready to confer with the enemy commander-in-chief "to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea....might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

Nehru termed the Korean situation "improved in the last two months from the United Nations point of view." But he was "distressed that the United Nations drifted from original conception."

Pats Commander Has Small Pox

WESTERN SECTOR, Korea, March 28 (CP)—Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone, commander of the Princess Patricias in Korea, has been evacuated to Japan suffering from smallpox. Maj Henry Tighe, of Victoria, B.C., has taken over command of the battalion.

Maj. George Flint, of Montreal, is second in command.

Col. Stone, from Edmonton and Salmon Arm, B.C., was taken to Japan Easter Sunday with suspected jaundice after complaining of back pains for a fortnight.

The battalion was notified Monday night that his ailment had been diagnosed as smallpox, and although the men had been inoculated twice since leaving Canada last November, a third inoculation parade was held yesterday.

Locate Fragments Of Private Plane

SODUS, N. Y., March 28 (AP)—Fragments of a private plane which vanished Thursday night were fished Tuesday from nearby Sodus Bay on Lake Ontario.

There was no trace of the two men aboard, pilot Ross Pomeroy, 24, and James Woods, 22, both of Detroit.

Parts of the fuselage and tail section were found. State police and coast guardsmen said they definitely were from the single-engine Cessna plane lost on a flight from Hartford, Conn., to Detroit. "Wolverine Aviation Corp." was lettered on the tail fragment.

Gambling Ring Said Flourishing

TORONTO, March 28—(CP)—A Toronto paper says today that the Ontario government's move to investigate law enforcement and illegal gambling in the province results from police discovery of a gambling syndicate whose operations extend into every major city in Canada and the United States.

First clue to the syndicate was uncovered in investigations at Windsor, where Provincial Police investigated law enforcement last year, the story says. Further details of its operations were turned up by intense investigation by provincial and municipal police in close co-operation with the RCMP.

The Ontario Legislature was to consider today a government motion to establish a five-man select committee to inquire into all phases of law enforcement in the province.

Believe US May Be Testing Atomic Bomb In Aleutians

WASHINGTON, March 28 —(AP)—The United States may be preparing its fifth atomic-weapons proving ground, this one in sub-arctic wasteland.

A lonely spot on the Aleutian Island chain, which stretches out 800 miles from the Alaskan mainland westward toward Russia's Siberian empire, appears a probable choice.

There, for the first time, the United States could test atomic bombs under conditions of climate and other factors which might be encountered should a war require use of such weapons against Russian cities.

Since Gordon Dean, atomic energy commission chairman, hinted recently that new tests might be made at locations not used heretofore, there has been developing speculation that the Aleutians might be one of the sites. Reasons for this include:

1. Atomic-bomb tests to date have been conducted only in favorable weather conditions in areas unlike those which would be logical A-bomb targets in a war with Russia.

2. The area already owned by the government and controlled by the military. There is no need for a transfer of authority or to enter an agreement with another country, as would be the case if Arctic tests were made in barren northern Canada.

3. Any of the Aleutian islands is easily reachable by sea transport which presumably would be needed to get in the extensive and heavy equipment needed for building installations to house instruments and other material.

4. By coincidence, the present over-all commander in Alaska is the former commander for air at the Bikini tests, Lt.-Gen. William E. Kepner.

Ontario Will Stick To Universal Old-Age Pensions

TORONTO, March 28. (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario Tuesday night reiterated his province's stand on Dominion-Provincial agreement in old-age pensions. He called for universal agreement between the provinces and the Federal Government rather than the "unbelievable complications of supplemental payments" to present provincial allocations. The Premier and Welfare Minister Goodfellow added that they are strongly opposed to any means test as involved in the Federal proposal for persons between 65 and 69.

"We're going to stick to that policy until we get pensions without a means test," the Premier said. The Government was playing for "big game" and while not unmindful of individual problems, thought that universal pensions were of immediate need.

The reiteration came in discussion of Welfare Minister Goodfellow's departmental estimates on questioning by the two Labor-Progressive members who sought an emergency $10 monthly supplement to the present $40 monthly payment.

Can't Afford To Wait

A. A. MacLeod (Toronto Bellwoods) and J. B. Salsberg (Toronto St. Andrew) said pensioners need $60 at least in cities to live. The latter charged that it is "indefensible" for Ontario to await agreement with Ottawa.

The Premier argued that supplemental pension payments will become unworkable once such an agreement is signed. He said British Columbia already plans to drop her supplemental payments for that reason.

The Liberal leader, Farquhar Oliver, counter-charged that the Ontario government has no excuse for not providing supplemental agreement.

Of the means test, Mr. Goodfellow said if it is undesirable over 70, "it is even more undesirable in the lower age group where people have more earning power."

Ontario was prepared to agree with the present federal plan for universal pensions at 70 but wanted provinces to be allowed pension provision for disabled persons above 21 as an alternative to means-test pensions for the 60-69 group.

Claxton Honored For Arbitration

NEW YORK, March 28 (CP).—Brooke Claxton, Canadian Minister of Defence, will receive the western hemisphere Distinguished Service Award, Friday, from Hemisphere Business Arbitration Associations.

The American Arbitration Association, making the announcement jointly with the Canadian Arbitration Commission and the Inter-American Arbitration Commission, said Claxton will be honored for his efforts to promote arbitration in commercial disputes.

He was cited for his "efforts to help set up the arbitration machinery through which businessmen in the United States and Canada can settle their commercial disputes without long and drawn-out litigation."

The three non-profit associations maintain tribunals for the prompt settlement of commercial quarrels.

The announcement said out-of-court procedure for settling disputes between Canadian and American businessmen has been in operation since 1943.

Nazi Army Governor Freed From Prison

BRUSSELS, March 28 (AP) — Gen. Ernst Alexander Von Falkenhausen, Nazi military governor of occupied Belgium during the Second World War, was released from St. Gilles prison here under cover of darkness early today.

Two other Nazi officials during the German occupation — Hans Reeder, former civilian administrator for the country, and Gen. Georg Bertram, former commander of the Liege area—were freed at the same time.

All three presumably headed for the German border.

They became eligible for release after serving one-third of the sentences given them by war-crimes courts. Von Falkenhausen and Reeder had been sentenced to 12-year terms and Bertram to 10 years.

The time of their release had been kept secret to prevent possible demonstrations.

Earthquake Shakes New Zealand Centres

AUCKLAND, N.Z., March 28 (AP) — An earthquake shook Wellington and other centres in New Zealand this afternoon. No damage was reported.

The Carter Observatory said the quake centre appeared to be about 350 miles distant and deep-seated.

The shock was felt in Wellington at 1:57 p.m. (8:57 p.m. EST Tuesday). Waiouru, in the centre of North Land, and the Bay of Plenty of the east coast also reported a heavy shock lasting 30 seconds.

Schooling Pays Among Workers

TORONTO, March 28 (CP). — Schooling pays when it comes to making a living, Hugh Crombie, Montreal industrialist, today told Ontario Education Association convention delegates in a preview of a new report by the Canadian research committee on practical education.

Mr. Crombie, vice-president and treasurer of the Dominion Engineering Works at Montreal and vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and chairman of its education committee also is chairman of the Canadian research committee on practical education.

The report, to be published next month and based on 8,000 individual cases, shows persons with considerable schooling have had more promotions or raises than those with less, receive higher wages, have less turnover in jobs, have less unemployment, are better satisfied with their jobs and their employers are better satisfied with them.

The advantage carries over into their leisure hours, in that they have more recreations and hobbies and participate to a greater extent in club and group activities. In short, said Mr. Crombie, they are better citizens.

Stresses Value Of Immigration

TORONTO, March 28—(CP)—W. F. Holding, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, advocated increased immigration and Ford Brand, secretary of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council (AFL), asked for strict selectivity Tuesday night at a citizens' forum.

The discussion, "should Canada have a more aggressive immigration policy?" was attended by Immigration Minister Harris, who said "we don't feel any fixed immigration figure can be agreed upon now."

Although the federal government will admit 150,000 immigrants this year, Mr. Holding, president of General Steel Wares, Ltd., labelled the Canadian policy "inadequate and unrealistic."

Mr. Brand said Canada has a responsibility to immigrants in that they are brought in numbers that can be absorbed into the economy of the country.

$5,000 Holdup

"Come on, get over and open that vault. This is the real thing," a tight-lipped bank robber ordered. The manager went over to the vault, which had been closed and the time lock turned on. He told the bank robber that the vault could not be opened with the time lock on. The accountant, who had the combination for one part of the time lock, was of course out raising the alarm.

Impatient, the bank robber told the manager to hurry up and get the door open. When the manager repeated that he could not open it without the accountant, the robber slugged him across the back of the neck with his revolver.

Get Tellers' Money

Bleeding, the manager dropped to the floor. Meanwhile the other bandit had scooped up the money from the two tellers' cages after the staff, Margaret Barnes, Cecily Scroggs, Katherine Judd (teller), Helen Kerneghan, Vivian Jones and the other teller, Percy Moore had stretched out on the floor in obedience to the command of the robbers.

"I was at the adding machine when three men came in. They had guns and were young men. I didn't notice how they were dressed. The accountant must have spotted them as soon as they came in the front door because he ducked out the back door to go for help. One man stayed at the front door on guard, one went into the manager's office and the other one gathered up the money in the tellers' desks. They made us lie down on the floor," related Mr. Moore.

Mack Rutherford, a husky man in spite of his years, said that he was in the bank with his daughter, Margaret, to look over the statement of the township of which he was clerk.

Stopped at Door

"I saw this tough looking fellow come around the corner of the desk with a gun. I thought that now was the time to get out but I was stopped at the door by the one with the shotgun. He told me to get down on the floor and as I didn't want to, I grabbed the barrel of the shotgun and pushed it up toward the ceiling. Then he hit me on the head with some blunt object and I went down. I was dazed and when I got up the robbers had left," Rutherford told The Examiner.

"Sure we were scared," one of the bank staff girls said. "But it happened all so quickly that before you knew it, they were gone."

One of the bank robbers told Clifford McIntosh of Castleton, who was in a wheel chair in the bank at the time, that if he kept quiet he could stay in the chair and would not have to get down on the floor with the rest of them. The same bank bandit said "I'm sorry sir," when he clubbed Mr. Rutherford.

Didn't Hurry

The robbery was over in a short time and the three walked at a moderate gait from the bank and got in the car. The car backed out from the curb and drove westward out of the village at an average speed. John Edison said he saw nothing suspicious about their behavior when he noticed the three men come out of the bank.

"Then I heard somebody holler from the bank door that there had been a hold-up. I jotted down the licence number on a package of cigarettes. It was 198FI," Mr. Edison said.

Also among the bank customers at the time of the robbery were Harold Chatterson, Roy Jones and Mr. and Mrs. G. Hillbert of Colborne.

Provincial Police cruisers from Peterborough, Campbellford, Cobourg, Brighton, Belleville and Madoc formed road blocks and patrolled main highways and back roads throughout the day and night but no trace of the black 1950 model Ford sedan was found.

A report from Stirling late Tuesday afternoon stated a car of the same make and description and containing four men sped through the town at a high rate of speed. The car was spotted by a bank manager there who had been alerted. Investigation failed to produce any clues as to the whereabouts of the elusive vehicle.

A Campbellford cruiser covered No. 30 Highway and sideroads north and south of the town on a fruitless search. Tracks made by the wanted car were followed, and could be seen quite plainly. At one spot the car must have nearly rolled over when it took a corner at apparent high speed, leaving skid marks on the pavement and in the loose gravel of a sideroad a considerable distance south of the town.

Lad's Leg Broken By Milk Wagon

Six-year-old Philip Sackrider, 421 Bellevue St., had his left leg fractured when he was run over by a horse-drawn milk wagon in front of his home Tuesday afternoon.

The youngster was playing marbles on the street with other children when the accident happened. His mother, Mrs. A. V. Sackrider, was not able to find out exactly how the accident happened.

No report was made to police of the accident as far as could be learned. The driver of the wagon told Mrs. Sackrider that he thought he had run over a stone when he felt a bump. Not until he heard the children screaming did he realize something was wrong.

Mrs. Sackrider ran out to her boy when her daughter burst into the house to tell her about it. She called a taxi and took the boy to the Civic Hospital where his condition was reported as good today.

Report Prices Drop In Quiet Trading

TORONTO, March 28 (CP) — Prices dropped in fairly quiet trading as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Rumors of a possible peace in Korea gave investors a wary attitude and prices slipped downward under a lack of buying. Volume for the first three hours of 959,000 shares was about 204,000 shares more than the same period Tuesday.

In industrials losses ranged from fractions to a point. Steels, papers, refining oils and utilities were down the most and argiculture, foods, banks, liquors and manufacturing companies posted a majority of losses.

Base metals dipped over a broad front but losses were mostly small. Key issues lower included International Nickel, East Sullivan, Quemont, Sherritt Gordon, United Keno and Waite Amulet.

Western oils drifted downward.

Golds eased quietly as they continued their inactive trading of the last month.

UN Guns Rain Heavy Fire On Red Units

Hoping To Flatten Any Attempt At Counter-Offensive

TOKYO, March 28. (AP) — American artillery today poured heavy fire into massed Communist units on the rain-swept Central Korean front.

The aim appeared to be two-fold: To clear the way for advancing Allied infantry near the North Korean border, and to stall any Red attempt at a counter-offensive.

On the east coast, South Korean troops advanced behind a rolling barrage of naval gunfire to a point six miles north of Parallel 38. They occupied Yangyang, first major coast town north of the border.

South Korean forces have occupied one border village and four North Korean towns since their drive began Sunday.

On the western front, Allied forces north of Seoul pushed within seven miles of 38. They had full control of the road leading northwest from Allied-held Uijongbu to Munsan.

Spring rains hampered the Allied air attack and in places bogged down their mechanized ground forces.

Watch Central Front

The centre of Communist troop-massing activity was the central front, north of Chunchon. AP correspondent William C. Barnard said 10,000 Reds were strung along the border and held a thin slice of land to the south.

Another 80,000 were backed up as far as the big Communist supply base at Kumhwa, 20 miles inside Red Korea.

Front-line observers watched for any sign of a Red push down the centre of the peninsula. If the Communists counter-attack they may choose this rainy season as jumping-off time. Their lightly-weighted forces would have some advantage over the more-heavily burdened United Nations troops.

Elements of five regrouping Chinese armies and one North Korean army face the Allies in this central sector. It was the forward wall of this force that was hit by American guns.

The artillery, hub-deep in sticky mud, opened up after probing UN patrols drew heavy fire.

The thundering barrage cut up one Red front-line division Tuesday night. Surviving Communists withdrew rather than take further punishment.

Thomson Suggests Police Pay Boost

COLLINGWOOD, March 28 — (CP)—An increase in provincial police pay was suggested Tuesday night by Walter Thomson, Ontario Liberal leader.

He told the Collingwood and Nottawasaga Liberal Associations that on present pay members of the force "can't retain their self-respect and take their rightful places in the community."

He added: "I believe that on the wages they are paid, they cannot live decently. Our provincial police must have professional standing. We can't have them living in hovels and being open to the temptation of bribery."

Greek Loui Mousmoules, 14, Begins New Life In Canada

For the second time in his short life, 14-year-old Loui Mousmoules, Doleana, Greece, will have his way of life changed.

In 1941 when only five years old the Germans moved into Greece and Loui lived under German military law for four years. Monday night he arrived in Peterborough to live with his uncle, John Mousmoules, 479 Stewart St. to begin his life anew in Canada.

His flying trip from Athens, Greece carried the boy away from his parents and 12-year-old brother. His father, a badly-wounded veteran of the past war, is unable to work and Peterborough's Mr. Mousmoules brought Loui to Canada to help the family.

The food and comforts in Canada, of a kind available to only a few people in Greece, were new to Loui. A real thrill was his first sight of snow. He had expected to see snow in Canada, however, because he had read about it in books.

Mrs. Sophia Coros who was interpreter during the interview, said they hope Loui will be attending public school here after the Easter holidays. Although he can't speak or understand English, his relatives hope that he will learn the language faster by attending school classes.

Schools Closed

During the occupation years in Greece the schools were closed. In spite of this, Loui has reached a stage in his education comparable to Canadian school's Grade 7.

Without schools to attend the Greek children played throughout the war years. There was little else to do. Whenever the Germans came near, the older people hid but the young children kept on playing because they were never bothered.

From what they heard, said Loui, the children were more afraid of the Germans than of the Italians. He did see three young Greeks who had been hanged in his home town by the Germans. Although he didn't see the actual hanging, the bodies were not taken down for three days.

These men were relatives of Greek guerrillas living in the mountains. Mrs. Coros explained that the Germans didn't go into the mountains after these fighters but retaliated for their actions by hanging relatives in the occupied towns.

After a day and a half in Canada, Loui says: "Pole Orea."—"I like it here very much."

Teachers' Salaries

Eleven per cent get less than $1,800; 60 per cent received between $1,800 and $2,500, and the remaining 16 per cent get between $2,500 and $3,000. The figures were released Tuesday by treasurer Eva Walker.

Starts Action Against Husband

TORONTO, March 28 (CP) — Mrs. Jessie Blaisdell, formerly of Ottawa, started action in the Ontario Supreme Court Tuesday against her husband, Dr. James L. Blaisdell, claiming $200 a month maintenance.

Dr. Blaisdell, a pathologist from London, Ont., asked in a counter-claim that their 14-year-old marriage be annulled on the ground that Mrs. Blaisdell's divorce from her former husband was not legal. The couple separated in 1947.

Mrs. Blaisdell, mother of two children by her former marriage said her husband told her he was in love with a girl named "Jeannie" and wanted a divorce.

Mrs. Blaisdell said the couple's marital troubles started in Timmins shortly after they were married.

England Defeats New Zealand

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 28 —(Reuters)— England today defeated New Zealand by six wickets in the second of two cricket test matches.

Aided by a crumbling pitch, England's spin bowlers — led by Roy Tattersall who took six wickets for 44 runs —skittled out the home team for 189 in the second innings and her batsmen knocked off the necessary runs with 15 minutes to spare.

England had scored 327 runs in the first innings to New Zealand's 125, and thus needed only 88 runs for victory. But the victors got 91 for good measure when Captain Freddie Brown rounded off the tour with a game-winning boundary blow worth an automatic four runs.

The first test, at Christchurch two weeks ago, was a draw.

It was the last match of England's six-month tour of Australia and New Zealand. The tourists lost four and won one in their five-match series with Australia.

Mining In Peterborough Area

The announcement yesterday that Nepheline Mines are extending their plant and expanding the output to 10,000 tons a month, recalls that the very rocks and lakes which make this district a tourist attraction are the same which give it potential value. The hills and rocks north of Peterborough and along Number 7 Highway are among the oldest in the world. They belong to the pre-Cambrian structure of the Laurentian Shield. It is this formation which gives northern Ontario its mineral wealth. For a century prospectors have hoped to strike gold, iron and base minerals under the thin Haliburton-North Peterborough-North Hastings soil, and minerals have been found and mines developed.

* * *

Nepheline is one of the more recent examples. This rock product is used in the manufacture of glass and pottery. It is similar to feldspar, but can be manufactured into pottery and glass at a lower temperature than feldspar and thus, because it saves heat and coal, is prized not only in the United States, but also in European countries like Holland which import the refined ore from Lakefield. The deposit on Blue Mountain at the head of Stony Lake, where the mills are located, is the only commercially available nepheline syenite in the Americas at present. The mine has been steadily developed during the last twenty years, and its new expansion is proof of the increasing demand and commercial value of the mine to the district.

East of Peterborough along Highway 7, minerals have long been important. Marmora, given its name more than a century ago because of the so-called marble deposits, has significant iron deposits. Old workings are visible to any motorist along the highway. Last spring the Bethlehem Steel Corporation became interested, and started drilling on options it had taken south of the village. East of the village is the Ackerman Gold Mines, a company which has had title to property for more than twenty years, has done some essays and drilling, and again last autumn started to drill.

The Deloro Smelting and Refining Company at Deloro, a village east of Marmora and south of the highway, has been in operation for 44 years, interrupted in 1925 after cobalt discoveries in the Belgian Congo took the bottom out of the Canadian market. It is Canada's only producer of cobalt and arsenic for consumption in this country. The company does not move a chunk of ore out of the ground, but its flourishing $3,000,000 smelter is important to Ontario mining. Its location at Deloro gives substance to the mining pretensions of the entire distr... which now, with the great demand for iron, the high price of base metals and the industrial requirements of the country, give the mining industry in the Peterborough area a new vitality, a fresh reality.

Going To Bucharest?

We have not travelled behind the Iron Curtain since it was drawn in 1945, and undoubtedly there are certain difficulties and risks to travel in Roumania, Bulgaria or Czechoslovakia which Westerners would do well to consider before they set out for such cities. However, the French Railways do not seem to be mightily concerned.

A French railway guide and time-table came our way the other day. With simple aplomb its charts and time-tables show how trains out of Paris can take you as easily to Bratislava (formerly Breslau) as to Nice. There is a very nice choice of routes, too, should you wish to pass through half a dozen Iron Curtained countries on your way to Constantinople: along the Mediterranean, through the Simplon tunnel, or north beyond the Alps.

If the trains do not run every day, they will leave the Paris station at least every other day. Hours of arrival and departure are given as if travelling to Prague were as simple and ordinary as travelling to Toronto via Pontypool and Agincourt. You may go first class, second class, or, on some trains, third class. Do you want a sleeper? Wagon-Lits provides them. Dinner on board? Certainly.

It is comforting in this heckled, hacked world to think that the French railways run all over Europe as readily (according to the time-tables) as a British train from Paddington to Crewe. However, we have not yet bought a ticket to Bucharest. Somehow, we think there would be more difficulties to such a trip than meet the eye in the French Railways brochure.

War In Korea Subsides?

Despite General MacArthur's statement it is still possible that the U.S. troops and their U.N. comrades will stop at the 38th parallel. The military facts of the situation seem to be that they might as well stop, for there is no other strategically better place to stop short of the Manchurian border unless it is within Manchurian border. Political facts indicate that they had better stop at the 38th. Red China has snot its bolt. It has found that it cannot buck the U.S.-U.N. front except at great cost. It has already spent more in lives and material than it seemed to have bargained for.

This is not to say that Red China, with firm Russian support, could not take Korea and drive the western allies out of it. But that kind of war does not seem to be the war China and Russia want to incur now. The American stand in Korea has shown that it is the only kind of war they can have, if they persist.

The Korean war results must also demonstrate to China and Russia that if all-out, world-wide war came, whatever the initial gains for the Communists, they would lose in the end. China and Russia have the men, but they have not the skills and the industrial productivity to sustain and win a major war. The West has surely demonstrated this in Korea, and by the great re-armament which Korea has caused.

Red China seems to be withdrawing from the conflict. Lieutenant-General Richard Gale, director of military training at the British War office is now in Korea. He is reported to have observed there "certain aspects of stalemate because the only alternative is absolute war, an unconditional surrender." The West has had too much of the results of "unconditional surrender" to accept willingly any such war. If the U.N. troops stop at the 38th parallel in the face of Chinese withdrawal, the war in Korea can subside in the same undeclared way it arose. There is no use in U.N. troops going north to the border of Manchuria unless an all-out war is sought, a war in which "unconditional surrender" was the aim, to be achieved only by the total destruction of China and Russia. This could be done only if the West is prepared to exhaust itself. What mess the world would be in afterwards is beyond calculation and imagination.

Should Newspapers Bother?

Last autumn we published some comment on the subject of book-reviewing. In a paper the size of The Examiner, we pointed out, the reviewing of books is a service offered to a minority of readers, most of whom read reviews in other papers. The preparation of a column of reviews each week can be an onerous chore, for newspaper men and women have a great deal of reading to do in the ordinary way of business, and they like to do some reading which is for their private pleasure, as well. Reading books for review is not a pleasure; it is work, and often hard work. We concluded by saying that we thought it necessary that we should continue to publish reviews, because we think that a newspaper ought to make up its own mind about as many things as possible, in order that it shall not lose its individuality.

We were comforted to read in the current issue of Newsweek that many papers —much larger papers than this—have been worrying about the same problem. Most papers publish no book reviews, just as they publish no opinions of their own about pictures or music, or anything else in the world of art. Only 304 of the 1,780 daily papers in the U.S.A. carry any book reviews at all. Of these, a good many deal with books simply as "news" —that is to say, if the book has some interest apart from its literary merit. What the figures are for Canadian dailies, we do not know, and do not particularly care; we have decided upon our own course, and intend to stick to it.

Newspapers are sometimes accused of being trivial and superficial publications, dealing only with what is ephemeral. In the hands of readers of superficial and trivial intelligence, many of them may appear in this light. But in any issue of any good newspaper there is a good deal of solid information and carefully considered opinion, as well as much which is of passing interest. It is our belief that a good newspaper should offer its readers the best opinion it can obtain on books, pictures, music and kindred subjects. Nobody is likely to take such opinions as the last word on their subject, but neither, we feel, will the intelligent and curious reader brush them aside as inconsiderable.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It began as pay-as-you-go, and now it's beginning to be pay-as-you-go-without.

ON THE MARGIN

Satire and Spring Fiction

AMERICANS IN GLASS HOUSES, by Leslie James (The Falcon Press,—British Book Service).

HERE is an answer to the American Margaret Halsey, whose sharp-tongued observations on the British made her a best-seller more than a decade ago. The writer, Leslie James, is obviously young, obviously full of ideas (he reeks of them), obviously alive. He is pictured on the back of the dust-cover as a bird wearing a tam and hoisting a newspaper to cover his face. The newspaper is a photographic wedding of the front page of the London Times, right hand, and of the New York Times, left hand. This gives a clue to the good-humour, comedy and pithy observations in the book, which deserves to be a best-seller among Anglophobes, Anglophiles, and Canadians. And a best-seller at two dollars is not to be scorned, these days.

The foreword says: "This book has been written to standarize, once and for all, the diverse impressions about America in European minds—for the confusion which exists abroad about America is equalled only by the confusion in America itself. Only if Europeans—especially the English—have a real understanding of America, will they be able to teach Americans to conduct themselves in the manner English gentlemen thought other Englishmen should conduct themselves, when England was the leading Power in the world".

That quotation puts in a nutshell the book and its author's style—and his sprightly view.

This is sure: that the English writer has been vastly titillated by his visit to the U.S. How long the visit lasted is not stated, but one may guess that it was at least six weeks and that the author covered a lot of cities and night-clubs and taximen in the period. A tribute to the American scene and people which the author did not and could not state is implicit in the book: it and they are invigorating. The book bubbles over with the stimulus. It is even frothy, and has no concern for, or even knowledge of, the sober sides of upper New England with its solid history and solid farms, the drawl and confidence of the mid-western farmers, the quiet ways of the southern states, and the fresh wholesomeness of the Pacific seaboard above Los Angeles and San Francisco.

THE author is impressed by what he thinks is the American insistence on numerical fixation: on measurement: "Even beauty is stastically measured in America".

"The major form of social competition in America is the cocktail party, or the dinner. Here the competition is also numerical, the object being to feed the guests larger amounts of food and drink than other hosts do. Such parties, which account for the notorious vulnerability of the Americans to ulcers, stomach trouble, high blood-pressure and other ailments—are reported in the local newspaper the next day. The report lists the total food liquor consumption, and the ten guests with the highest total food and liquor consumption during the evening"....

"Drug-stores maintain their enormous size and popularity because in American life sooner or later, everyone shows up in one. There is no better place for the perpetually self-measuring Americans to learn what their neighbours are doing and how they 'stack up against them'"....

"As Europeans know, Americans of both sexes are poor lovers. They bring to love-making, as to all other activities, two qualities only; energy and speed. Admirable as such qualities are in turning out unwanted consumer goods (see Industry, American), they are not adequate substitutes for the gloom which is so necessary for successful love-making".

The deliberately-contrived foot-notes are, by the way, as entertaining as the text e.g. "The fact that a successful financier has a chance of controlling Lana Turner is one of the reasons capitalism still appeals to young Americans, and even enlightened liberal Americans".

The virtue (to Canadians) of such a book as this, apart from its liveliness and opinionated spunk, is that it singles out traits, habits and manners which, of American origin have slunk across the border, and, not completely desirable, are fast becoming Canadian modes....A freshman book worth buying, for oneself or one's friends. THE FURIOUS EVANGELIST, by Hugh Hickling (McClelland & Stewart, Ltd.).

EVERY once in a while somebody dreams up a handsome revolution in England, governments are tossed aside and anarchy or communism reigns supreme — but not for long, the sturdy British, having had their say, slip back once more into their happy state of middle-class laissez-faire and all is well. Of The Furious Evangelist one can only echo the classic cry—"Once more into the breach, dear friends, once more...." for here we go again. This time the tale is told by such an infuriatingly stodgy solicitor that one hopes against hope that he won't be able to escape from the usual predicaments; but of course he does and lives to write his memoirs.

A chance meeting of Richard Civet with Kemmel Ross, the intrepid American Evangelist starts the story off and away we go, to political meetings, beautiful girls with razors sharp, bodies in the gents' cloaks, and wild dashes across England in pursuit of our villains. (Anybody who has travelled on an English train knows that wild dashes across country are impossible. Whoever heard of a country train actually making its connection?) There is a European assassination, the ever vigilant C.I.D. and of course, last but not least, THE PARTY. In this case The White Scythe. (What, no Red Sickles?) At various places on the cover of this book it is described as "Strangely intriguing" "A fantasy" (it is indeed) and also "A daring and intellectual work". I suppose the numerous Latin quotations account for the latter remark. In any case, The Furious Evangelist was not nearly as furious at the end of the book as was this reviewer at having to chase through it. S.S.T.

HOME IS AN ISLAND, by Alfred Lewis (Random House of Canada, Ltd.).

THE author of this book is a poet in his native language, which is Portuguese, and his poems and stories have been published in that language since he was seventeen years old. He emigrated from his home in the Azores when he was nineteen years old and now, well over forty, he has produced this, his first book in English, and a very beautiful book it is. His prose is most agreeable and although his English was, of necessity, self-taught, his command of the language is more complete than that of the average native student today.

The story of "Home is an Island" is that of a small boy growing to manhood in an Azorean Island and of his ambition to travel to the United States and return rich beyond the dreams of the wealthiest inhabitant, and of his mother's hopes and determination to have him enter the priesthood. Since the child is an excellent scholar, both the village priest and the schoolmaster take a special interest in him, but both of them respect his decision not to enter the novitiate and aid his father in raising the funds for his fare to America. The end of this book leaves Jose on his way to the boat, not yet sixteen but full of ambition and enthusiasm, and promising to return to the girl he loves, and his parents, in due time—a few years—when he has made his fortune. This is a wonderfully soothing book to read after the long Canadian winter because Mr. Lewis has the gift of being able to transplant his readers for the space of 308 pages into the drowsy warmth of the Azorean isles. On the cover, Mr. Lewis says he is working on his second book, which is to be the sequel to "Home is an Island" and I, for one, will be looking forward to reading it.

Letters To The Editor

COMBINE HOCKEY TEAMS

Sir: I couldn't help but comment on the two paragraphs of the Sports Show Window which appeared on your sport page on your Monday issue March 19th concerning the relative merits of the Peterborough Legion and the Peterborough Eagles hockey clubs.

No hockey fan in the city will deny that the Legion Clubs of the past three years and the Eagles Club of this year have been fine teams. The players had a fine spirit, played hard and clean and commanded quite a following in our city. This year they slipped a bit perhaps from injuries and were eliminated early in the playoffs.

Now your sports editor is agitating for the club to bring in four or five imports and strengthen themselves for next year.

As every fan knows both senior clubs in the past three or four years have found the financial situation anything but rosy and the obvious answer is one good strong senior club.

If the two senior organizations could get together and make a mutually satisfactory arrangement, Peterborough could ice a team of which it would be justifiably proud and have the solid support of all hockey fans in the city instead of having the fans here split in two as to their loyalty. This has been the case in the past several years and both the brand of hockey and the two clubs finances have been the losers.

Yours truly,
HOCKEY LOVER.

TEMPERANCE OR ABSTINENCE

Sir: More so than the reader, I realize the loss of effect that this letter will suffer by the omission of my name. However I know that it will not be as great as that suffered by the letter of Mr. E. E. Pugsley. Throughout the letter he shrieks abstinence, and only abstinence is proper. He signs the letter as secretary of a Temperance Federation. Such bold hypocrisy is rare.

I believe in temperance. I practise and encourage temperance in every thing including liquor. I have done this for several years. Through the eyes of the advocates of total abstinence I would be branded as a drinker. I would be categorized by their disreputable assertion "He drinks". When branding a man whom they know has taken a drink, they do not differentiate between him and a drunkard. For this reason I prefer to remain anonymous.

Mr. Pugsley sees the people of the world divided into two groups. First, those who are total abstainers. Members of that group who through mistrusting their own will power refuse even to pour antifreeze into their cars. I admit that there are also those abstainers who because they dislike the taste or odour of their first drink, never take a second. The second group is that of the drinkers. They are the wretched creatures who are the victims of the first drink. They are continually cluttering up our courts and lining the pockets of the distillers — the fiends. There is no intermediate group; but you will notice that Mr. Pugsley is a member of some middle group. He is not secretary to an abstinence federation, but rather a temperance federation. Temperance by one of the best authorities is defined as "moderate indulgence."

No, Mr. Pugsley, we humans cannot tolerate total abstinence. We inherited that from the first couple on earth. To clarify your position I suggest that you change your views to be temperate or failing that change your federation's name to that of abstinence.

THE SWALLOW.

MAY DO UNKNOWN GOOD

Sir: You ask does anyone read the Bible Message in the Examiner.

We, who read your daily "Bible Message" printed in the Examiner, would like to say thank you for the opportunity of voting in favour of your continuing to print it. We hope you will take into consideration the fact that it takes only a very small portion of your paper, and you never know the good it may do. Your paper goes into all types of homes and institutions and you never know when the "Bible Message" may attract the attention of someone who is down and out, someone who is sick, someone who has never been in the habit of reading their Bible (if they have one?). God says that "His word will not return unto Him void".

Thanking you again for the opportunity of voting in favour of continuing your daily "Bible Message" in your paper.

Yours truly,
MARGARET STEPHENSON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. (Gen. 1: 31.)

Among the gods there is none like unto thee, O Lord; neither are there any works like unto thy works. All nations whom thou hast made shall come and worship before thee, O Lord; and shall glorify thy name. For thou art great, and doest wondrous things: thou art God alone. (Ps. 86: 8-10.)

If we have forgotten the name of our God, or stretched out our hands to a strange god; shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart. (Ps. 44: 20, 21.)

Physician's Oath

(Winnipeg Free Press)

The refusal of the British Medical Association to attend a medical conference in South Africa is a notable protest against racialist policies in government, a gratifying evidence of the integrity of a noble profession.

The South African Medical Association invited the British doctors to a meeting in Johannesburg and proposed no discrimination against visitors who might not be of British stock. But the British Medical Association could secure from the South African Government no assurance that non-European doctors, men of coloured descent, would not be subjected to discrimination and affront at Johannesburg. Failing this guarantee, the British doctors wisely refused to attend.

Thus the medical profession in Britain has stood by its basic principles. As the British Medical Journal says: "Medicine can take no account of frontiers, or race, or caste, or religion." It points to the Hippocratic oath of the World Medical Association which says: "My colleagues will be my brothers. I will not permit considerations of religion, nationality, race, party politics, or social standing to intervene between my duty and my patient."

The meaning of the British doctors' protest against racialism will be understood the world over. It should penetrate even into the mind of the South African Government.

Need Eight Ocean Liners To Handle Migrant Influx

TORONTO —(CP)— A heavy movement of technical and skilled workers from England to Ontario is under way by sea and air and is expected to be in high gear by mid-April.

Ontario officials dealing with immigration said eight ocean liners have been mustered to bring the immigrants across the Atlantic Ocean in groups of 400 and 500. One United States ship has been diverted to call at Halifax to handle the traffic. Trans-Canada Air Lines is landing about 150 persons a week and has a waiting list of about 1,400.

"We have orders from Ontario firms on hand today for workers to fill about 4,500 jobs," one official said. "As fast as we fill them, we get new ones."

One of the largest orders is from the Ontario Hydro Commission, which needs 2,000 skilled workers this year for its new $167,000,000 Niagara construction. An order for 425 workers for the A. V. Roe Canada, Ltd., aircraft plant at nearby Malton now is being filled.

Other firms seeking skilled overseas workers include De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, Ltd., plant, which will employ thousands in an expansion of its operations here; General Electric Company in Toronto and Peterborough; Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd. in Hamilton, which needs 1,200 workers; and MacKinnon Industries in St. Catharines, which is building a $10,000,000 plant.

The movement is a selective scheme under which an English worker has a specific job to come to before leaving his homeland.

MONTREAL, March 28 (CP)— President Harry Davis of the Canadian Seamen's Union said on Tuesday that the Federal Government's plan to register and screen all lake seamen "will be used to blacklist and eliminate all active union men from the ships."

He said the plan was inspired by the ship owners in a move to destroy free trade unionism in the industry.

Pat and Whip Get Top Bout In Riotous Wrestling Fray

A riotous wrestling match was seen in the main bout of the pro mat card at the Brock Arena last night by a big crowd. Whipper Bill Watson and Pat Flanagan won a popular team-match deciding fall in six minutes over the villanous Tommy O'Toole and Iron Talun. They pulled the old schoolboy trick with Talun rushed into their corner by the Whip, Pat then clouting him back and Watson crouching to let the big goon go over him. As he fell, Whip grabbed him to pin Talun with a shoulder stand as the crowd cheered. Neither of the rough pair were anxious to start the final round.

Flanagan, who weighed 231 downed the 248-pound O'Toole in nine minutes with a fancy grip in the second round of the go. It was a reverse leg full nelson and shoulder stand, after he and the Whip, scaling 237, worked in fast relays on the groggy Tommy Before that, O'Toole and Talun at 311 pounds worked hard on first Flanagan and then Watson in their corner as the befuddled referee, Sam Gotter, tried to watch them and at the same time wave back the other partner when he tried to come in and break it up. It blew wide open when Flanagan ran around outside the ring to yank Talun out and hammer him, the whole four then mixing hard in the ring as the crowd went wild. Talun even threw the timer's table once at his opponents and the place was a mad house before the clumsy Talun and the scrappy O'Toole were subdued.

O'Toole Took It

The first fall went to O'Toole in 15 minutes over Watson when he used a sizzling roughing-up process of fists, chokes and knees with a shoulder spread at the last. He had come in fresh after Whip had been tossing the big Polish grappler around plenty. Flanagan before that held his own with O'Toole in some wide-open going, not much real wrestling but plenty of crowd-pleasing action. Four at a time were flying around the ring and the dazed ref couldn't keep up with the shenanigans, Pat and the Whip being wise to team wrestling against rough opponents.

A colorful character—a newcomer here—won the semi-final in 21 minutes, when 227-pound Chief Suni War Cloud pinned the 276-pound Wee Willie Davis. He war-whooped the Hollywood villain into submission with a triple whammy or "Indian death lock"—a sort of leg scissors with pressure. The lithe Indian came into the ring with full head-dress on and he whooped it up frequently when angry at illegal tactics pulled by the hulking Willie. The latter tried at times to scalp the heavy black locks off the Chief, while the Indian didn't have much to work on in retaliation on the balding Davis. Suni was flung out of the ring once but bounced back fast to smash his way to victory in rough going, with the referee busy issuing warnings right and left. It was a popular fall.

Bill Stack, who went 246 pounds tilted to a prelim draw in 30 minutes with 243-pound Kaye Bell. It was a so-so tussle, with a lot of mat work but slow at times. Stack was the aggressor for a space in clean going and then Bell roughed it to some extent. They bounced around off the ropes quite a bit and Stack caught Bell in a neat leg scissors once, but it was broken. The grappling was rugged enough but not too much open action enlivened proceedings, not in comparison with the other two bouts. Bell stalled quite a bit and was fortunate to gain the draw.

Soccer Report Submitted By Toronto O.F.A. Secretary

The following report was received by The Examiner today from A. M. Macgregor of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Football Association:

The Ontario Football Association being in receipt of the report of a committee consisting of Messrs. A. Arnold, president; A. M. Macgregor, secretary-treasurer and W. Simpson, council member, appointed by the OFA to investigate certain matters in dispute between the Peterborough and District Football Association and the United Electrical Workers' Football Club, now known as Peterborough United, and having regard to all the circumstances and the evidence submitted to the above committee and in the best interests of the game in Peterborough and district, have decided upon the following course of action:

That the Peterborough and District Football Association as presently set up, suspend operations as of March 31, 1951, and that they be replaced for the year 1951 by a commission of three to be known as the Peterborough and District Football Association Commission; with full powers to control and govern the game of soccer in the Peterborough district in accordance with the rules and regulations of the OFA and the DFA, with additional by-laws considered necessary to local management and approved by the OFA. The commission shall have power to add two more members to the commission should they find it necessary.

That the Peterborough District Football League take over control of its own affairs and appoint a management board to conduct the business of the league. The league shall be sanctioned by, and affiliated to, the Peterborough and District Football Association Commission in accordance with the rules of the DFA.

Name Three

On the recommendation of the committee, the OFA secretary hereby appoint Messrs. A. Featherstone and A. O'Halloran of Peterborough and Mr. R. Cox of Lindsay, as members of the Peterborough & District Football Association Commission; Mr. Featherstone to act as secretary-treasurer with a chairman to be appointed by the commission from the remaining members.

They shall meet at least once a month.

The commission shall either act themselves or appoint a committee of three to form a discipline committee.

They shall also appoint, in conjunction with other district associations concerned, two members to supervise the Eastern Ontario Football League. (See DFA Handbook re "Sanction and Control of Leagues and Competitions." Clauses 3 and 4, Page 41.)

Each club in Peterborough and district must be affiliated to the PDFA Commission.

The commission shall, if they deem it expedient, also have power to appoint a registration secretary. Every player must sign a registration form in accordance with the DFA rules and be registered with the OFA.

The Ontario Football Association further submit the following recommendations

Former Champs To Play Juniors

The entire Peterborough Hockey Club team that won the 1940-41 OHA Intermediate "A" championship and also the Eastern Canadian title will likely be in action Thursday night at the Civic Arena. They will play against this year's Junior Oddfellow club in an exhibition match, the entire proceeds of the night going to aid minor hockey here.

The team will be composed of: Goal, Ray Harding; defence, Don Crowe, Drake Jopling, Jim Ellis, Jack Gardner and Les Burton; forwards, Bun Kingdon, Honey Tompkins, Art Heal, Jack Jopling, Joe Blewett, Don Coughlin, Red Creighton, Archie Weir and a couple of others.

The first event on this big night for the minors will be the PMHA juvenile playoff between Clapper's and Lakefield. This tilt will decide the city championship and gets under way at 7:00 o'clock.

Another attraction that really has the fans steamed up is the skating race for hockey players. The winner will receive the Max Swanston trophy (on display now in Fashion Craft window) and a smaller replica. The latter becomes the possession of the winner. In addition to that there will $40 for first prize and $10 for second.

Such speed artists as Don Floyd, Bill McMaster (last year's winner), Joe Blewett, Bill Crowley, Curly Mason, Keith Montgomery, Jake Wade, Buck Legrow, Arnold Dugan, Andy Milne, Drake Jopling, Honey Tompkins and a number of the speedier juniors are expected to face the starter's gun. Several district stars have signified their intention of entering—and why not? Could you earn $40 any easier?

Syl Apps, Baldy Cotton and Reg Hamilton have been invited to do the oficiating. It looks like a big night for the fans and kids.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It is quite likely that the last hockey of the season will be seen here tomorrow night at Civic Arena. And what an attractive program has been lined up for fans at this annual "PMHA Night"! It starts at seven with the juvenile final for the city title between Lakefield and Clapper's. Then the puck-carrying race is on for the Swanston Trophy and $50 in prizes, featuring the fastest junior, intermediate and senior puckists in the city and district. At 8.30, the junior Oddfellows tackle the senior oldtime Petes in what should be a grand scrap. They played at Christmas and the juniors won by two goals, but the Petes didn't have Harding in the net. These older stars will bring back many fond memories. Likely, Syl Apps, Reg. Hamilton and Baldy Cotton will be on deck to officiate. The show should draw a whopping crowd.

An ice skating carnival put on by Trojans Athletic Club will be held Monday eve in the arena, one postponed from a month back. It will commence at 7.30 with costumed skating prizes, a broom-ball game between the juves and the executive, and a big mocassin dance on the ice at nine. Admission is low and plenty of prizes are being offered, Fred Jennings advises us. Money raised goes for promoting amateur athletics among the minors in this well-handled south-end club. The officers do a big job the year-around for young boys, and the lads participate in large numbers—but it takes money. We look for a hefty crowd as an ice carnival is always plenty of fun.

Softballers Get Busy

Some of the softball loops are getting re-organized already and the rest should do so early next month. Girls' league ought to be getting lined up once more. Civic League has had one meeting so far. The men's City Softball League has elected officers, and will hold another huddle April 1. Mutuals and UEW are the only entries to date, two more being required. Perhaps the East City squad, which won out last semester, will be back. Closing date for entries is April 15. The circuit operates twice weekly in twin bills under the arcs in Ashburnham Bowl. The girls' loop goes three nights a week there.

* * * * * *

And a senior ball meeting will be announced shortly to get the Petes re-organized. The loss of President Vern Dawson and Vice-prexy George Clarke leaves two big gaps to fill, and a strong executive is needed for a club in the Toronto Viaduct League. The Petes were runners-up last season to the champion Oshawa team, and the locals hope to take it all this summer. They'll miss shortstop Danny Brown — off in pro ball — both as a player and as coach of the PMBA, the minor ball setup. Another good full-time coach will probably be named ere too long, though there won't be any ball played for five or six weeks yet. Early in May, we expect.

Flan And Whip Take It

There isn't a smarter pair in pro wrestling in the country than Pat Flanagan and Whipper Watson when it comes to team matches. They teamed up here last p.m. before a real big crowd to down the rough Tommy O'Toole and the huge but clumsy Iron Talun in the main bout. But what action! The fans loved it as they served up a riot or "hey rube" all the way. Four in the ring at times—occasionally the ref got out in a hurry when things got too hot—the odd table tossed and the place in an uproar. A colorful Indian grappler called Chief Suni War Cloud (he tells us Suni is his California tribal name) took the semi-final o'er Wee Willie Davis, while Bill Stack and Kaye Bell went to a prelim draw.

Elsewhere tonight appears a report from the secretary of the Ontario Football Association. The provincial body, in an effort to settle differences between the local and district loop on the one hand and the Peterborough United Club of the Eastern League on the other, has appointed a three-man soccer commission to govern the game in this city and district. The three are Reg Cox of Lindsay, and Art O'Halloran and Alfred Featherstone of Peterborough. The present local setup is to suspend operations on March 31 while the new commission gets a tryout for a year. Each club in the city and district must affiliate with the Peterborough Soccer Commission. That's the present score.

CANADIAN SPORTS PARADE

THE decision to retain the Grey Cup final as a one game spectacle has been greeted with approval across the Dominion. Originally, financial and other considerations were thought important enough to warrant a two-game final but the annual meeting two weeks ago at Winnipeg (between the Western Conference and Big Four delegates) made the issue one of plain football common sense. Certainly no combination of games could hope to surpass the dramatic appeal of the traditional sudden-death battle. With the 'double-feature' threat definitely scrapped, we can look forward to November and the oldtime thrills of the 'one-shot' game.

Enter the Tarpaulin:

After the debacle of 1950 (when East fought West for the Grey Cup on a field resembling a mud-turtle's paradise), the Leagues finally voted to purchase a tarpaulin. The estimated cost of the tarp (including tax) will be $9,000. It will cover Varsity Stadium field completely, with an additional 10 yards behind each goal line and an extra 5 yards overlapping both touchlines. Spread fully, the tarpaulin will measure 130 by 75 yards.

The new field-covering (with its promise of better playing conditions) must come as a surprise to oldtimers like Bill Foulds (Board of Governors CRU), who played football where they found it, in rain or sleet or snow. As quarterback for 'Varsity' in 1908-09-10, Bill Foulds considered the breaks of the weather part of the breaks of the game and played accordingly.

However, this is 1951.

Travelling Tarpaulin?

A suggestion was made at the Winnipeg meeting that the tarpaulin could be made 'available' for other games throughout the country. There was no specific mention made, for instance, of the Western playoffs but the idea is intriguing.

Just imagine the transportation difficulties as the frozen tarpaulin is hauled off a football field in the East for an immediate trip to Winnipeg. Even in sections, the total weight of the moving job would constitute a lift of 15 to 20 tons. The railroads would likely blink their eyes if offered the challenge of carting the tarp out West? As for the airlines, they undoubtedly would suggest attaching a propeller or two and flying the thing under its own power. They would probably all advise that the pilot should be the coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

As for sending it parcel post, well, the tarp could become the straw which broke the back of every camel in Manitoba.

Seems to us that when the tarpaulin arrives, it's here to stay.

Senior Dukes-1950-51:

Coach Flash Hollett of Marlboros wears a sad and downcast look these days. His team failed to last the course in this season's Senior O.H.A. race and Flash (after a long and colorful career in the N.H.L. as a player) finds himself a losing coach in his first year as team mentor.

Hollett feels that the mixture of youth and experience which made up his 1950-51 Dukes, looked better on paper than in practice. Apparently the six or seven ex-pro players who formed the nucleus of the team had difficulty finding practice hours because of their 'bread and butter' jobs. This problem alone constituted a major hazard (as any coach will tell you) and was particularly true in Hollett's case when Marlboros' chief opposition team consisted of youngsters eager to practice and play and reach hockey stardom.

"If I'm fortunate enough to coach the team next season," stated Flash, "I'm going to stipulate PRACTICE with a capital 'P'. I've learned a lot the hard way about coaching and I'm hoping to cash in next year with a team that's rarin' to go!"

Girl Goalie Holds Own In Peewee Tourney

GODERICH, March 28 (CP).—More than 600 pint-sized puck stars—including a girl goalie who more than holds her own—started Tuesday in Ontario's largest peewee class hockey tournament.

The winner in the event, sponsored by the Goderich Lions Club, meets the eastern provincial champs for the D. D. Mooney Trophy.

In three classifications — A group for centres of 1,000 population or more, B for 500-1,000 and C for 500 and under—the players will keep going until Saturday in 26 games plus playoffs.

As always with kid[illegible] under, there are the od[illegible]

Teeswater lost 5-4 t[illegible]h today but it wasn't the fault of goalie Betty Lou McIntosh who sparked her team through 46 minutes of overtime before being beaten. Up front, the Teeswater squad carried two sets of twins.

Ingersoll has been established a favorite.

B. Nicholls Leads

Brintons rolled high pinnage of 2,957 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League, as Marines led in singles with 1,054. B. Nicholls had top three of 716 and best single of 291 for individuals. The blind score of 467 was taken by E. Thompson and D. Hendren with 468. Blanks were counted by Brintons, Marines and Dickson's over Aces, Sevenaires and Collis, with Curtin's and Towne Togs getting 2-1 wins from Cardinals and Arcos. Standing now with four nights to go: Togs 53, Cardinals 51, Marines 45, Brintons 36, Curtin's 35, Arcos 34, Dickson's 32, Collis 31, Aces 17, Sevenaires 11.

Good singles rolled included: A. Dixon 286, J. Castle 279, B. Pogue 278, D. Martin 265, M. Hill 279, I. Buckton 248, T. Grierson 245, M. Rogers 243 and 253, M. Thompson 242 and 266. Neat triples were B. Pogue 691, M. Thompson 690, B. Morrow 686, M. Rogers 666, A. Dixon 665 and M. Hill 663.

Canadiens Stage Upset By Edging Wings 3-2 In 4th Overtime Period

DETROIT, March 28. (CP)—The underdog Montreal Canadiens are off to a zipping start in the Stanley Cup playoffs—thanks to Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, the Canadiens' colorful whiz on skates. Black-haired Richard rammed in the spectacular goal that ended a two-hour marathon early today and gave the Canadiens a 3-2 victory over the mighty Detroit Red Wings, regular-season National hockey champions and cup defenders.

Richard, the League's second leading scorer, swiped the puck just after the fourth sudden-death overtime period started. He did a solo dash down the ice and slammed one past Detroit Goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Previously the teams had fought scoreless through three 20-minute extra periods.

Holds Edge

Montreal, which finished third in league, now holds a 1-0 edge in the best-of-seven semi-final playoff.

Richard's goal came with the game clock showing 61:09 minutes of overtime play gone. It was 1:10 a.m. EST—almost 4¾ hours after the opening face-off—and 13,246 fans were wondering how much longer they'd have to stick around.

But it broke no records for overtime play. The league record stands at 116:30 minutes of overtime and the Detroit Olympia mark at 70:18.

The league record is Detroit and Montreal property. They set it in a 1-0 Detroit victory March 24-25, 1936.

Brilliant goaltending by Sawchuk and Montreal's Gerry McNeil kept the game going after Montreal came from behind to tie the score midway through the third period.

Block Many Shots

Sawchuk blocked 42 shots, 22 of them in overtime. McNeil halted 62 shots, 38 of them in overtime.

Montreal's game-tying goal in the third period was fired by Bert Olmstead, who took a rebound and arched a high shot in from only five feet out at 9:08.

Detroit's Gordie Howe, league-leading scorer, rammed in the first goal at 12:15 of the opening period. The Canadiens came back 70 seconds later when Emile (Butch) Bouchard connected. Leo Reise scored for Detroit just 1:10 minutes after the third period began.

BOOKMAKERS CLEAN UP

Bookmakers won an estimated $1,125,000 from bettors who wagered at the big Easter horse race carnival at the Randwick track at Sydney, Australia.

Not one of the favorites won in the 14 races run Saturday and Monday. It was the worst showing of favorites in the current racing season.

Corbett Files $300,000 Suit

VAN NUYS, Calif., March 28 (AP). — Jack Corbett, former owner of the El Paso Club of the Arizona-Texas League, said Tuesday he will file a $300,000 suit in Cincinnati Federal Court attacking organized baseball's reserve clause.

A year ago, president George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors) suspended Corbett and fined him $1,000 in a dispute over a player from the Mexican League.

Corbett said "the main issue involved is the ownership of the contracts of several ballplayers from Mexico which were declared null and void by president Trautman on order of Commissioner (A. B.) Chandler.

"This is not within the authority of the commissioner or president Trautman. I have the contracts approved by the minor-league office, but the rights to the services of the ballplayers were denied me.

"I have sent them a bill for $100,000 which I consider a fair value for the players. When the suit is filed it will be for triple damages under the anti-trust law, so it will be for $300,000."

Banff Lad Places 1st In Slalom

BANFF, Alta., March 28 (CP)—Eighteen-year-old Gordie Morrison of Banff Tuesday placed first in the giant slalom event as trials for Canada's 1952 Olympic ski team continued on nearby Mount Norquay.

Morrison flashed down the tricky course in 1:53.8 seconds, just four-tenths of a second faster than Montreal's Porky Griffin. Canadian champion Bob Richardson of Montreal was third in 1:54.9.

Joanne Hewson of Montreal came first in the women's section in 1:59.6. Rhoda Eaves, also of Montreal, placed second in 2:03.6, just 2.9 seconds faster than Lois Woodworth of Banff.

Trial officials Tuesday announced a change in the schedule starting today. Because of melting snow and the fact that several skiers must leave for home Friday, several days' events will be condensed into a single day's running. Both the slalom and giant slalom will be held today.

Two Ontario skiers finished 7th and 8th, in the giant slalom event. G. Georgas of Owen Sound was 7th with 2:00.0 followed by Bill Irwin of Port Arthur, with 2:00.8.

2 St Kitts Stars Play For Nanaimo

VANCOUVER, March 28 (CP)—Two St. Catharines lacrosse stars likely will play this season for Nanaimo Native Sons of the Intercity Lacrosse League.

Coach Lloyd Steele said the players are Nip O'Hearn who plays hockey in the winter, and Gerry Fitzgerald. He said he is negotiating with the two and expects they will join the team.

Nanaimo has been admitted to the league on a trial basis.

JIM GILLIAM, left, second baseman, and pitcher Joe Black, two new players with the Montreal Royals, talk things over at the team training camp in Vero Beach, Fla.

Cobourg Pavs Trim Merchants

COBOURG, March 28.—Belleville Merchants were badly outclassed in the final period of the hockey tournament here, and Cobourg Pavs rapped in seven goals to win 15-7.

Victory gave the Pavs the title for the second consecutive year.

Former Port Hope Redmen, who may come here next year, Buck Legrow and Tom Casey, were winners' stars, and with teammate Kelly scored eight of the Pav goals.

Maudrell, Smith, F. Mortimer and Wilcox accounted for the others.

Montgomery led the losers with two counters, Hurst, Adams, Bone, Hatfield and Williams getting singles.

Marlies Blank Teepees 2-0 In Ragged Tilt

TORONTO, March 28 (CP). — The fighting spirit that Monday won St. Catharines' Teepees a highly satisfying overtime victory against Toronto Marlboros was not in evidence when the two teams squared off here Tuesday night.

Both teams played tired and ragged hockey in their third game in as many days of the best-of-five Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-final.

John Lumley scored the only two goals of the game in the second period to give Toronto a 2-0 shutout over Teepees and move them ahead 2-1 in the series.

Noted For Upsets

The next game in St. Catharines Friday night could wind up the series. But Teepees, who finished sixth when the regular league schedule was over, have established a reputation for upsets during the playoffs.

They won their best-of-five quarter-final with Guelph Biltmores, last year's eastern Canada junior finalists, with a 1-0 victory in the fifth game, and copped a sensational 5-4 edge in their second tiff with Marlboros after the game had run into two overtime periods.

Tempers frayed and snapped Tuesday night as referees Jack Liscombe and Jack Mehlenbacher adhering to the OHA directive, sent every minor offender to the penalty box.

Marlboros' Ron Hurst picked up three minor penalties and a match misconduct and his teammate Danny Poland got a misconduct for catcalling from the bench.

Request Bylaw To Regulate Parking Near School Permitting Summer Theatre

Parking Problem Held Major Factor In Eliminating Ground For Complaint About Summer Theatre

A city bylaw regulating the hours of parking in the vicinity of Queen Mary auditorium may be one of the major factors in allowing the Board of Education to reverse its decision on the Summer Theatre. Tuesday night a three-man delegation from the citizen's committee met with the appointments committee of the Board of Education to arrive at some formula whereby the Summer Theatre would be able to operate this summer at Queen Mary. An understanding was reached that the citizens' committee should go ahead and make preparations for this bylaw.

Members of both the Board and the committee agreed that the parking problem would be the major factor in eliminating grounds for legal action.

The Board had previously turned down the request of Michael Sadlier and his associates to operate this year in Queen Mary auditorium because of legal advice. There had been several complaints about the theatre and a letter from C. L. Upper, 602 Hopkins Ave., written to the Town Planning committee caused the board to seek the advice of their solicitor, T. J. Carley, K.C.

Mr. Upper's letter, which was passed on to the board from Town Planning, complained of cars parking in front of his place, on the boulevard, using his driveway; also of noise late at night by departing theatre patrons, and hammering and other noise on Sundays during the theatre season.

Wants Area Defined

His letter ended by asking for a definition of the zoning of that area.

Mr. Carley held that if Mr. Upper's charges were true the theatre could be judged an "actionable nuisance." So the Board ruled out the use of the Queen Mary auditorium this summer and offered the PCVS auditorium instead at the same rental.

In doing so it touched off the controversy of the year so far in Peterborough.

Brief Presented

A theatre committee was formed to champion the cause and 27 members crowded into the Board room on March 20 to hear their chairman, Ross Thompson, read a brief.

The committee offered to see that a police officer was on duty to see that no car was parked so as to destroy property, create a hazard or obstruct a driveway; that the audience would enter by the main door only, and scenery and other properties would be brought in and removed through the west door; and that no noisy work would be done in the auditorium after evening performances and on Sunday.

To try and reach a satisfactory arrangement a second meeting was arranged with Board members Tuesday night.

Frank Jobbitt, chairman of appointments, again explained if the decision is to be changed it will have to be brought up at the monthly meeting on April 12, and a two-thirds vote of the members is required.

New City Hall May Be Ready By Early Fall

Peterborough's new city hall may be completed in October as present prospects are indicating to Mayor Swanston.

Progress reports to the council have all been favorable through the winter, and are encouraging the expectations that the bulk of the work will be finished by fall.

"Mr. J. H. Eastwood of the Eastwood Construction Co., the general contractor, recently told me we might begin thinking of the opening in October," Mayor Swanston said.

That is the present outlook, and for the event of moving in to the new quarters His Worship has been sounding members of the council on their opinions of plans

"It has been suggested now and again that we might invite the Mayor of Peterborough, England, and also of Peterborough, New Hampshire," Mayor Swanston said.

There has been no discussion yet by the council, but it is likely that heads of other city councils will be invited for the opening of the newest city hall in the country.

A BLIGHT ON PROPERTY values in the neighborhood of Aylmer and Dalhousie St., the old Duke Lundy house, owned by Percy Dunford, was discussed again at Monday's City Council meeting. The owner has defied city administrators to date in their effort to have him repair or clean up the property or to sell it to someone who will.—Examiner Staff Photos.

Foreman Said Key To Safety In All Factories

Foremen are the key men who must act as policemen in seeing that safety rules in their plants are obeyed and fingers, arms, legs and eyes are saved from injury, H. A. Baptie, personnel manager of the Western Clock Co. told the annual conference of the Peterborough-Lindsay district Industrial Accident Prevention Associations Tuesday night in Lindsay.

"The Ontario Workman's Compensation Act of 1915 was written in blood," Mr. Baptie said "Because this was literally true, foremen should not shirk their duty to see that safety rules in their shops were obeyed, even if it meant that they lost some of their popularity among their men."

Ontario has about 2,600 accidents in industry weekly the speaker said. Yet most foremen and workmen know the safety rules.

"Knowing the safe method is useless unless it is habitually practised and, if necessary, enforced," he said. He added that foremen must insist that his employees follow safe working methods whether they wanted to or not.

Accept Responsibility

"When foremen accept this responsibility in the same degree that they accept the responsibility for production, then accidents in industry will hit the toboggan chute," Mr. Baptie said.

It was the foreman's duty, he said, to see that each employee under his direction was physically capable of doing the work he was given; that he was temperamentally suited to the job; that he was properly instructed and trained to do his job; to see that all machinery was in safe operating condition and that all safety regulations were strictly enforced.

Studies of causes of accidents revealed that proper supervision could often cut down the number of accidents. Taking chances, unnecessary haste, hazardous short cuts, and other unsafe practices were discouraged by strong leadership, mature judgment and proper example.

In every industrial plant the general manager was responsible for the successful operation of his plant. But very often the plant was too big for personal supervision, so the job was handed down to the foreman.

Freak Circumstances

"The Workmen's Compensation Board tells us that no matter how unusual an accident you have suffered, no matter how freakish are the circumstances involved, they will produce —not one—but several cases from their files with practically identical circumstances."

People apparently didn't learn from the mistakes of others. For this reason the foreman had to be part policeman on his job.

"We in Ontario can be justly proud of the fact that our injured workmen receive the best medical, surgical and hospital care that money can provide, as well as the protection of the best and most liberal compensation act in existence anywhere," Mr. Baptie said.

But it was better by far to prevent an accident than to bandage an injury that could have been prevented.

Once Penniless Warsaw Man Shows Gratitude To Country

A large scoreboard at the Warsaw Memorial Arena will show Levon Krikorian's gratitude to the country where he found a home and prosperity. The scoreboard is being erected by Mr. Krikorian, now owner of a Warsaw restaurant, who came to Canada as a penniless orphan of 10 in 1923. He started working on farms in the Warsaw district as soon as he came to Canada. Later he moved to a dishwashing job in Peterborough, then shined shoes in Toronto and when war broke out, enlisted in the Canadian Army.

At war's end Mr. Krikorian returned to Warsaw and with his gratuities and his hand-labor built a restaurant on the village's main corners. The business has prospered since.

When the memorial arena was projected, he lent a hand with its construction and served free soft drinks to other volunteer workers. He closed his restaurant when dances and other money-making ventures were held to finance the arena so it would not compete with them.

Recently he donated money to his church to purchase hymn books.

HEAR ESTIMATES

The Peterborough county council meet for a two-day session, Thursday and Friday. Number one item on the agenda will be striking the estimates for the year. It is expected that the Civic Hospital deficit will also be discussed.

MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, who were married at Peterborough, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Vancouver. Mr. Cox, 76, and his 74-year-old wife came to Vancouver in 1912, but lived in Fraser Mills for 25 years. They have no children.

COMMISSION MEETS

Charles Forsyth, general secretary at the YMCA, will attend Saturday in Niagara Falls the annual meeting of the commission to study the work of the YMCA in the United States and Canada. The commission includes 28 representatives from the United States and two from Canada. Two topics scheduled for discussion are: The secretaries as social workers; the YWCA's part in civil defence.

Kennel Club Hunt Sunday

The Kawartha Kennel Club held held its annual meeting and election of new officers on Tuesday evening. David Henderson was elected president, Mrs. L. R. Groombridge vice-president, and Miss Ethel McFayden secretary. New directors are Herbert Routley, William Thompson, Edward Roberts, Jerry Coughlin and Fank Millard and Bud Lloyd.

The club will hold a hunt next Sunday, April 1st, four miles from the city on the Warsaw Road at the five-roads corner. Starting time will be 8 a.m., and ample road signs will be posted to direct members to the starting point. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to owners of winning animals.

Following election of officers, Herb Routley spoke on methods of conducting successful field trials gained from his many years of field judging. H eforecast that the Karwartha Kennel Club, if past interest was any indication, was shaping up to one of the province's largest clubs. It is estimated that more than 100 members will meet on Sunday and it was pointed out by club officials that it was not necessary for future members to have registered dogs in order to join in the activities.

Fine Toronto Salesman For Claiming Benefits

A Toronto salesman, Norman Farthing, was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of making false statements to obtain unemployment insurance at the Peterborough office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Commission prosecutor, Eric C. Naylor, testified that Farthing had come to the Peterborough office three times in May and applied for unemployment insurance from May 22 to May 31. He received $15.25 and $24.40 was withheld from him. He was ordered to repay the $15.25 within 15 days.

Alert 'Phone Operator Saves Couple

Escaping Coal Gas Half Suffocates Couple and Child, 2

A Peterborough couple and their 20-month-old baby girl escaped asphyxiation early today through the alertness of a telephone operator and quick action by city police.

Coal gas that overnight seeped from their furnace overcame William G. Anderson, 29, and his 21-year-old wife Margaret as they were getting up this morning. They live at 715 Hermar Ave.

Mrs. Anderson collapsed on the floor after lifting the phone from the cradle to call for help. And the operator, Hilda Crowe, 19, of 51 McDonnel St., heard the groans from the stricken woman and called a "test" man to trace the call.

"Couldn't Hear"

"The call came over information at 7:30 a.m.," related Miss Crowe who has been a Bell Telephone operator for 18 months. "I couldn't hear her at first, and when she gave the number '715'. I didn't know whether it was her address or part of her telephone number. I knew something was wrong so I got the 'test' man to trace the call."

When the number was traced after nearly 15 minutes the police were called.

"I could hear her moaning all that time," said Miss Crowe. "Though I tried to get her to say something, all she could do was repeat '715.'"

Sergeant Gordon Puffer dispatched Constables Ernest Beatty and Douglas Stark to the Anderson's home at 715 Herman Ave. They found the doors locked but got in by smashing a cellar window.

House Full of Fumes

Inside they found the place full of fumes and Mr. Anderson unconscious between the bedroom and the bathroom and Mrs. Anderson also unconscious on the floor by the dangling phone.

City workmen assisted the police to remove the couple to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Anderson, 719 Herman Ave.

An inhalator crew consisting of Budd Cruikshank, Ed Close and Jack Pruner was summoned from the fire department. The crew worked on the couple for 17 minutes.

The baby, Diane, was badly frightened but not otherwise seriously affected by the gas.

Dr. Irwin P. Campbell attended the family.

Still Groggy

Shortly after one p.m. today they were still groggy and were sleeping off the effects of the gas at the home of Mr. Anderson's parents.

Mr. Anderson is a welder at CGE and normally gets up about 6:30 a.m. to work the day shift. His mother, who lives next door, noticed no sign of movement at 6:40 a.m. and phoned, thinking they had slept in.

"When I received no answer I thought Bill had gone to work and Margaret had slept in," said Mrs. Anderson Sr. "It was lucky they were found when they were or it would have been too late to save them."

Oshawa Police Station Costs $201,000

Oshawa city council has let a contract to Mayer Construction Company for a new police station costing $201,000.

Original estimate was $175,000 with an additional $30,000 for furnishings, but contractors' bids ranged from $355,400 to $239,000. Revision of the plans pared about $38,000 from the Mayer Company low bid which was recommended to the council at $201,000. It is expected that work will be begun at once.

Fund Totals $80,730

The Red Cross and Community Chest Fund in Peterborough collected a total of $80,730.27, officials announced today after making a count. This is still more than $4,000 short of the $85,000 target that was set. The fund has not yet been closed.

The division reports total as follows:

Special Names	$ 23,000.00
Women's	6,668.85
Retail	15,187.06
Industrial	35.341.00
Penny-a-Day Drive	533.36

Garage Safe Cracked, Truck Stolen

The safe of the body repair shop of Lillico Motors on north Water St. was cracked open and $65 taken, along with a panel truck some time during the night. The truck was later discovered parked at Langdon and Hilliard Sts. in East City about 10 a.m.

Entry was made through a window on the east side of the building next to the Otonabee river. The thieves then went to the north end of he building and took tools with which to break open the safe.

They dismantled the door of the safe and took it completely off, but got only $65 for their trouble.

Near the south door, the thieves moved a new truck out of the way and then drove out the other older panel truck which they abandoned in East City.

The break-in was not discovered until this morning. Constable Reg. McMillan carried out a preliminary investigation. Detective-Sergeant W. A. (Bud) Clarke is in charge of the investigation.

Child Suffers Fractured Leg

Five-year-old Beverly Wood 2 Bruce St., had her left leg fractured near the hip when she was hit by a car as she ran across George St. north of Charlotte St. about 4.30 Tuesday.

The child's mother had grabbed for the youngster to prevent her running out into the street, but the young girl escaped, police said.

Driver of the car was Barnard Reynolds, RR 2, Norwood. He said as he drove north on George St, he saw a car double-parked on the east side. As he was passing it, the youngster ran from in front of the double-parked car directly into the path of his car. Only a spot where mud had been brushed off the right front fender showed what part of the car had hit the girl.

Almost immediately the child was picked up and taken in Reynolds' car to the medical center on Charlotte St. and from there to Civic Hospital. Her condition was reported good today.

Constable Andre Dalton who investigated said the car left skid marks of about 17 feet and when he tested the brakes they were excellent.

Ask Council To Pass On Pari-Mutuels

Exhibition Directors Revive Question Race Horse Betting

Peterborough Exhibition directors decided Monday night to ask city council their opinion of a revived proposal to apply for a pari-mutuel betting permit for a harness race meeting.

Several years ago the directors banged the door against a betting plant project, but it crops up again with the spring time. The board is wondering whether city council would give its approval of the gambling adjunct, and is submitting the question to them.

Erection of a wire fence on the west side of the park may have to be left in abeyance again this year. Estimated cost is $3,000.

The improvement of the Lansdowne St. front since the board fence vanished has recommended the extension of wire along Park St. Apart from the Exhibition, that change would broaden traffic visibility at the Park-Lansdowne corner, and would soon lead to removal of some of the odd buildings on the west side.

Son Saves Life Of Lindsay Man

A chance visit by his son Monday night probably saved the life of John Copeland, 167 William St., Lindsay. Harry Copeland, 169 William St., son of the 82-year-old man, found his father's home filled with smoke and his father in a dazed condition. The fire department extinguished the small blaze and the elderly man sent to the Ross Memorial Hospital for attention.

Harry Copeland said later that he went to visit his father next door and found the upstairs filled with smoke. His father, dazed, was sitting downstairs in his pyjamas. At the hospital the father was found to have escaped with a burn on his leg.

The burns led firemen to believe that Mr. Copeland tried unsuccessfully to put out the fire which seemed to have started by some unknown cause in the bed. The fire was confined to the bedroom.

Asks Special Investigation Of Large-Scale Gambling

TORONTO, March 28—(CP)—Opposition members of the Ontario Legislature in a standing vote failed Thursday to halt a Municipal Act amendment Tuesday to allow municipal councils the power to control loudspeakers on roads, public and adjacent lands. Those opposed claimed limitations of free speech and a C.C.F. motion by William Dennison (CCF—Toronto St. David) asked restriction of control in the 60 days before elections or votes under the liquor licence and labor acts. He argued loud speakers were needed by groups unable to afford other advertising methods.

The Legislature today votes on a motion to establish a select committee of the Ontario House to review administration of criminal law in the province.

In committee of the whole the government turned back opposition amendments to two important government bills—one calling for equal pay for women doing equal work with men and the second an amendment to the Liquor Licence Act.

Review Administration

A select committee of the legislature to review administration of criminal law in the province was proposed by Attorney-General Porter. His motion to establish the committee will be voted on today.

Mr. Porter will be chairman of the committee, expected to meet following the close of the present session of the house. Premier Frost proposed that two Progressive Conservative members and one member each from the CCF and Liberal parties make up the committee's membership.

The attorney-general's motion contained a directive to make a special investigation of the handling of large-scale gambling and similar offences.

Gambling, he said, "carries with it many other evils and allied crimes," and held the danger of connections with gambling syndicates in the United States.

The premier assured the house that the committee would not over-emphasize the Windsor situation—focus of last week's debate in which the government announced its plan.

Lists Other Questions

Mr. Frost listed other questions the committee can consider, such as whether present three-man police commissions are adequate in larger cities, whether the fee system for justice officials in smaller centres is satisfactory, and whether the former system of special crown counsel for special cases should be revived.

Mr. Porter said his own department would be opened to the committee's inquiry. "We have nothing to hide," he said, "but there have been suggestions made, and innuendos."

The liquor licence bill was amended by Premier Frost on one point which attracted strongest opposition.

First draft of the bill would have allowed the Liquor Licence Board to suspend licences without giving reasons. The premier changed it to require the board to give reasons at a subsequent hearing, after CCF Leader Jolliffe termed the clause "totalitarian."

Premier Frost said the new section was aimed at halting applications which the board knew could not succeed in a public hearing.

Granted Writ

MONTREAL, March 28 (CP).—Count Jacques de Bernonville, fighting deportation, Tuesday was granted a writ of habeas corpus by Mr. Justice Roger Brossard of Superior Court. The writ orders Montreal immigration superintendent to bring the Count to court Thursday to justify "deprivation of the liberty of the petitioner, Count de Bernonville, which the latter alleges is illegal."

Smythe Ranks Bruins As Even Choice

TORONTO, March 28 (CP) — Conn Smythe, canny boss of Toronto Maple Leafs, doesn't agree with the betting men who class his team 2½-to-1 favorites over Boston Bruins in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final the two teams open here tonight.

"I said a while ago the Bruins are an even-money choice in this thing and I still think they are," said Smythe. He disclosed that rookie Al Rollins will be Toronto's starting goalie and that left-wing Harry Watson, who has a shoulder separation, will be the only Toronto regular to sit out the opener.

The Leafs are spending the week at their training-camp quarters at St. Catharines. They'll travel to Toronto tonight just before game time and return afterwards.

Stay For Two Games

The Bruins left Boston Tuesday and arrived here this morning. They'll stay here until after the second game of the series Saturday night. Their injury list includes centre Milt Schmidt, who will play in the opener despite a bad knee, and defenceman Murray Henderson, who won't be ready until the third game next Sunday.

Coach Joe Primeau agreed with boss Smythe that Boston "will be tough to beat."

He had a serious talk with his boys Tuesday at their retreat to make it clear this whole operation is a new venture.

The choice of Rollins as a starter marks the beginning of a new era in Maple Leaf goaltending. It's the first time since he joined the Toronto team in 1936-37 season that veteran Turk Broda has stood in the wings as a substitute in the annual post-schedule playoffs. The Turk missed the 1944 and 1945 playoffs while in the Canadian army.

GREAT RIVALS—Gordie Howe of Detroit and Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal finished one-two in the NHL scoring race and are still starring as Stanley Cup playoffs get underway. Howe was well ahead of Richard in assists with 43 to 24, but only nosed out the Rocket by one goal during the season, 43-42. Last night as Canadiens squeezed out a 3-2 overtime Stanley Cup win in Detroit, Gordie cuffed in the first goal, but Maurice tallied the winning marker. They are shown before the series, Howe at left, shaking hands.

Toronto Team Gains In Cage Tourney

TORONTO, March 28 (CP). — Toronto's Humberside Collegiate advanced Tuesday night in the Ontario interscholastic basketball tournament with a 31-24 decision over General Commerce cagers but the most spine-tingling show was put on by Sudbury Tech Blue Devils and Ottawa Glebe Collegiate who fought down to the wire before the northerners won 45-42.

The game, at Hart House, was a frenzied nightcap that could have gone either way.

Humberside, winners of the city secondary schools turnament beat the same team Tuesday night they downed then. Other games saw Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute beat Toronto Runnymede 50-42 and Windsor Patterson edge Sudbury High 45-42.

In consolation play, Belleville Collegiate beat York Memorial 45-33 and Hamilton Central downed Leamington High 37-28.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Goalie Terry Sawchuk fell one goal short of the National Hockey League's Vezina Trophy but his Detroit Red Wings will give him a $1,000 bonus for a fine effort.

Detroit vice-president James B. Norris announced Tuesday that the club would pay a consolation prize to its brilliant young rookie from Winnipeg.

Sawchuk, registering 11 shutouts, lost out on the trophy to Toronto's Al Rollins. The Red Wings permitted 139 goals to 138 for the Maple Leafs.

The Vezina Trophy carries an award of $1,000 and that sum usually is matched by the winning goalie's home club.

At Philadelphia, George Chenier, Canadian titleholder from Toronto, edged out Onofrio Lauri of New York 125-120 in the Ralph Greenleaf Memorial pocket-billiards tournament Tuesday night.

Welterweight champion Johnny Bratton, 23, of Chicago, settled a $2,355 alimony claim by his ex-wife with a $1,000 payment, it was reported in Superior Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Cleodora Bratton, 22, previously asked Bratton be held in contempt of court unless he paid $2,355 in arrears on alimony and support for their son, Dama, 7. Bratton has remarried.

Bratton is recognized by the National Boxing Association as welter champ.

Don Cockell, British lightheavy champion, won the European light-heavyweight title Tuesday night by beating Albert Yvel, the French champion. The referee stopped the fight in the sixth round of a scheduled 15-rounder.

At least 15 valuable trotting horses were destroyed Tuesday when a fire swept through barns at the Trenton, N. J., State fair grounds.

Charles Miller of Philadelphia, a horse handler, was trampled and injured seriously by a horse he tried to lead from the flaming barn.

The horses, which were in training at the fair grounds track, were owned by Lester M. Page of Belfast, Maine. Ernest Roediger of Norristown, Pa., and Thomas A. Dunn of Philadelphia.

Student Amp Active In Sport

VANCOUVER—(CP) — Ronnie MacLean, 16-year-old Burnaby high school star athlete, had his right leg amputated below the knee seven years ago.

Playing beside a Calgary railway track he slipped and fell beneath a moving tram.

His parents moved to the coast shortly after and dauntless Ronnie started playing soccer on crutches. He was so successful that he became team fullback. Later he was shortstop on the softball team.

Five years later, he was fitted with an artificial leg, and when he started at Burnaby High School he went in for tumbling.

That was not all. He played English rugby, baseball, basketball and this year started American football, playing "at least three quarters of every game."

"Everyone looks on my leg as a handicap," said Ronnie, "but why should they?"

"I can do everything they can do, can't I."

Haliburton Trounces Greenshirts 5-2

LINDSAY, March 28.—Playing his first game in the nets this year, Al Blanchard held Sutton Greenshirts to two goals, while Haliburton Huskies took a 5-2 decision and squared the best of five ORHA senior series at two wins each.

Griffin scored the only goal of the first period for the Shirts, but Curry Bishop and Ron Carnochan tallied in the second to give Haliburton a 2-1 lead. Learoyd knotted the count early in the third and Grant Robertson got that one back for the Huskies five minutes later. The winners took advantage of Sutton penalties in the late stages and Buddart and Sisson scored the clinchers.

PERENNIAL CHAMP—Dick Button, who at 21 has a firm grasp on the world figure-skating title, outdistanced the field to retain the North American title in the championships at Calgary. The Boston skater wears the winner's 10-gallon hat while holding the trophy.

Jamieson To Play In Brown's Minors

COBOURG, March 28—Mrs. W. Jamieson, mother of Bill Jamieson, confirmed Tuesday that the Cobourg lefthander had caught on with the St. Louis Brown's minor league setup.

Jamieson in a short note, stated he was going to play in the Wisconsin State League with Appleton. He will report to that team from the Brownie camp in a few weeks.

Jamieson last year was the best lefthander in the Lakeshore League and caught the eye of Philly scouts at a Toronto tryout school. In the shuffle that ensued after Toronto and Philadelphia parted company, Jamieson wound up with the Browns.

Old Maroons, Detroit Hold Overtime Record

DETROIT, March 28 (AP). — The first 1951 Stanley Cup playoff game which ended here early today after 61:09 minutes of overtime was a piker compared to the National Hockey League playoff record of 116:30 in overtime run up between the old Montreal Maroons and Detroit back on March 24, 1936.

Shortest overtime session on record also involved Detroit who lost to Toronto April 9, 1930, by a 4-3 score after 30 seconds.

Canadian Jet Attempts Break Record

LONDON, March 28 (Reuters) —The world's most powerful fighter, Canada's Avro CF100 jet, will attempt a record-breaking non-stop flight across the Atlantic within a fe wdays. it was announced Tuesday by the Hawker Siddeley Aircraft Company, an associate of the Canadian firm.

The plane will fly from Gander, Nfld., to Shannon, Republic of Ireland, or to London — the longest non-stop transatlantic flight ever undertaken by a fighter.

The CF100, the first long-range all-weather day and night fighter of its type, has been specially developed for Arctic combat, the announcement said.

In Ottawa, an RCAF spokesman said the jet aircraft will not be making the flight until April "and maybe not until May." It would not be an official attempt at setting a record in that certain rules laid down by bodies responsible for keeping "records" would not be followed.

However, the departure and arrival times of the jet plane would be kept. The flight's principal purpose was to get the CF100 to England so it could be demonstrated to the RAF.

ARTIST AT WORK—William Oosterhoff, government painter, puts the finishing touches to a piece of sculpture soon to be carved in stone inside the entrance to Canada's Parliament Buildings. The bird a crane, will be placed in the Quebec section.

Ottawa Sculptor Carving History On Capital Hill

By KAY REX

OTTAWA,—(CP)—At 12, William Oosterhoff whittled figurines out of potatoes when he should have been peeling them for the family dinner.

At 56, he's still "whittling." But the slim, dark Dutchman—he was born at Delft, Holland—now is an internationally-known sculptor whose achievements are pushing Canada into the artistic limelight.

He believes Canadian motifs should be used on Canadian buildings. He can't see why European designs are chosen "when we have all kinds of material for Canadian ideas."

Since coming to Canada 26 years ago, sculptor Oosterhoff has put his theories into practice. His carvings can be seen at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto and the Arts and Sciences building of McMaster University at Hamilton where he lived for some years.

Now, as government sculptor, he has been given the most Canadian job of all — finishing the ornamental carving on Canada's Houses of Parliament.

Sense of Humor

Laughter lines are etched around the eyes of this white-smocked artist who works in a "studio" on the fifth floor of the parliament buildings.

But he only grins when asked whether his sense of humor may one day find outlet in a caricature or two on parliamentary walls.

At the moment he is engaged in the more sober task of mapping out designs for the untouched stone in the centre vestibule.

This job will take "four or five years" of the 20 he figures necessary to complete the work of etching history on parliament hill. The ornamental carving already has been going on for the last quarter-century, well before Mr. Oosterhoff took over two years ago from the former sculptor, Cleophas Soucy.

But it still is far from completed.

Needs More Workers

"The way we are going, it will take another 20 years," he says. "There just aren't enough trained stone-carvers available."

He has two. He could use another three.

Eventually, the centre vestibule will bear crests of Canada's 10 provinces and provincial capitals. And Mr. Oosterhoff has plans for the several blocks of stone remaining.

"There's a corner-stone. I've been turning over in my mind a design of 'two keys' for 'Freedom,'" he said.

"A lamp burning" will be carved into another spot— "for Wisdom." The design for wisdom is complete and ready to be cast.

Working such set designs as provincial crests into the varied blocks of stone is no mean task.

Toronto's coat-of-arms, one of the few so far completed in the vestibule project, was placed in a circular block three feet in diameter.

To make it conform, the "supporters," two figures on either side of the crest, were omitted.

Absolutely Correct

But Mr. Oosterhoff assures that the crest itself is absolutely correct.

One big problem was in deciding what to do with a huge block 30 by 14 inches in size and part of the panel to represent Quebec.

"At first I didn't know what would happen there," he said in his slightly-accented English. He was "flabbergasted" by its size.

Then he rifled through the books he has on Canadian birds, animals and flowers. The idea came "very suddenly." And under Mr. Oosterhoff's hand a crane with wings half-lifted against a background of water-lillies came to life in the soft modelling clay.

This latest design soon will be put in its permanent spot.

Harris Reports Promises Kept

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP). — Citizenship Minister Harris said Tuesday night the Liberal Government has been carrying out the promises made in the 1949 Federal election campaign.

In a speech prepared for delivery over a national network in the CBC's "Nation's Business" series, Mr. Harris said the Liberal Party had promised to work for peace and security.

Mr. Harris said that when the Korean emergency arose last June, the government immediately took action" to give assistance to United Nations. Since then a special brigade had been recruited and trained for service in Korea. At the same time Canada had retained specialized forces for the defence of this country.

He said the government has caried out its promises to find markets for exports, to provide better social security legislation, to keep employment at a high level, to give a lead in the construction of houses, to work for complete recognition of Canadian nationhood, and to provide better treatment of Canada's Indians.

He referred briefly to immigration and said that since the beginning of the year immigrants have been coming to Canada in "greater numbers than at any time in the past 20 years." He gave no figures.

Sentenced To Hang Gets 2-Month Stay

LONDON, Ont., March 28 (CP) —Walter George Rowe, 29, of Detroit, sentenced to hang April 5 for the gas station shooting of Clare Galbraith of London, on Tuesday was granted a two-month stay of execution. Date of execution was moved forward to June 5 by Mr. Justice Laidlaw of the Ontario Supreme Court after hearing an application by W. R. Poole, counsel for Rowe.

Postponement is to allow hearing of Rowe's appeal against the murder conviction, before the Canadian Supreme Court. No date has been set for the appeal, but it likely will be late in April or early May. Rowe was found guilty January 13. A subsequent appeal before the Ontario Court of Appeal was dismissed.

Warns Youth Keep Religion

OTTAWA, March 28 (CP) — Canada's top military authority said Tuesday night it is essential to the future of this country that its youth adhere closely to christion religion and its principles.

Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian Chiefs of Staff, told 175 teen-age delegates to the Eastern Ontario and Quebec Regional Hi-Y conference, that Canada's youth can play an important role in the ideological struggle between Communism and democracy.

He said if the Hitler youth movement—whose members "forsook God, family and religion for a ruthless leader who failed"—had been established on a sound basis of christianity, "what a powerful, lasting organization it would have been."

He advised his young listeners that christianity "will help you to develop your character and can only be a power for good."

British Doctors To Decide If Walk Out On Scheme

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, March 28 (CP)—A conference Thursday may determine whether Britain's family doctors decide to walk out on the National Health Service.

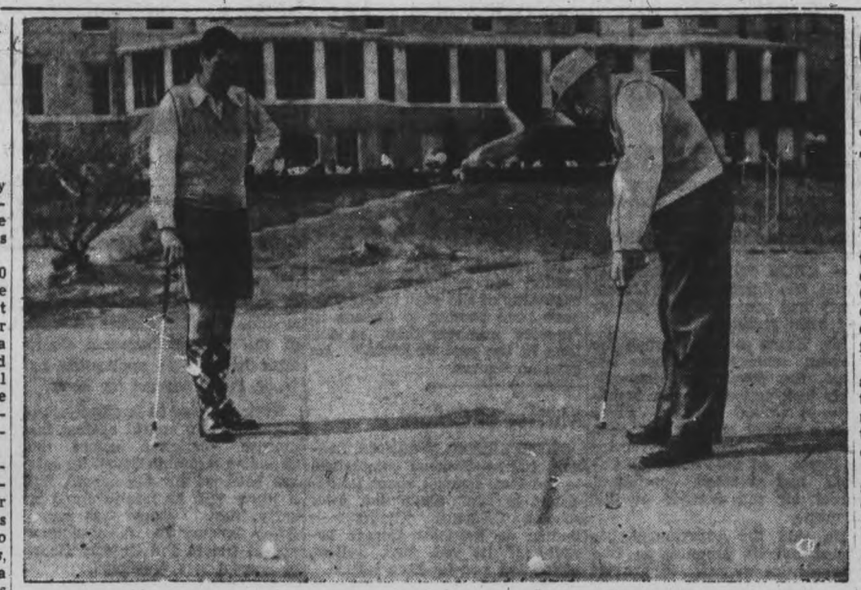
For nearly a year doctors have been saying they will quit the service unless the state does something about their salaries. It was originally decided to consider withdrawing by December, 1950, but action was suspended pending discussions.

Now representatives of the 20,000 doctors, or general practitioners as they are usually called, will meet in London to discuss developments. The expectation is that they will again postpone recommending a general withdrawal from the service.

Hope has been expressed by those who plead the doctors' case that the new health minister, Hilary Marquand, will prove more flexible than his predecessor, Aneurin Bevan.

When it was announced that Bevan was moving to the labor ministry, Harley Street danced with joy. Its anticipations were further roused when Marquand, a quieter personality than Bevan, said it appeared there was good ground for a review of salaries in the medical profession.

Need Switch



A recent newspaper survey concluded that one of the service's biggest needs is to move doctors from wealthier sections to poorer industrial areas.

A round sum of £50,000,000 ($150,000,000) is allocated to the 20,000 doctors. They receive about 18 shillings ($2.70) a year for each patient on their lists to a maximum of 4,000. It is often said that not many doctors have full lists, and that those who have are unable to do justice to individual patients because of overwork.

It appears to be widely recognized that under the health service the lot of the family doctor is not a happy one. He complains that he gets a status inferior to that of specialists and consultants, has no time for research, takes a beating from querulous patients who visit him more frequently since they do not pay directly, and sees no sign of the health centres that were supposed to be built to help him in his work.

"The conception of the free-for-all service is a good one," one family doctor told this writer, "but it has developed to be more of a sickness service than a health service."

On the other hand, no political party opposes the plan in principle. It is conceded that the service is an established part of the welfare state, and the job is to smooth out the rough spots and do as much as can be done with limited resources.

Menacing Health

TORONTO, March 28 (CP).—Toronto teachers hot in the pursuit of additional degrees and the extra money they bring, may be doing so to the detriment of their health and the progress of their classes, members of the board of education said Tuesday. The board was discussing provisions of its sabbatical leave plan. They receive half their year's salary and the board pays their fees if they take a course.

Fire 4 People In US Consulate

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) — The State Department announced Tuesday night it had fired four persons in the U. S. consulate at Hong Kong after they confessed to being homosexuals. One of them also confessed, the department said, to accepting about $10,000 in bribes on visas for Chinese to come to the United States.

The dismissals occurred last December. A formal statement issued by the department identified the diplomat who confessed to accepting bribes as vice-consul John Wayne Williams, 25, of Carrboro, N. C.

The statement did not name the persons involved in the three other homosexual cases. It said none of these was found to be involved in the visa irregularities.

The investigation which resulted in the disclosures was made last year by Julian F. Harrington, a veteran foreign service officer.

Defends Settlement

MINNEDOSA, Man., March 28 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson in a prepared address Tuesday defended the $65,000,000 wheat settlement to western farmers. Referring to the Anglo-Canadian agreement, Mr. Garson said it was "part of a broad policy followed by the government to avoid the tremendous fluctuations in international trade and domestic prices which followed World War One."

Convict Policeman

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—Aaron Fel, retired policeman convicted of perjury, Tuesday was given the maximum sentence—2½ to five years in prison. He was also fined $5,000. He is the first policeman to be sentenced since an investigation of gambling and police opened in Brooklyn last fall.

How Much Ton Snow Worth Customs Dept. Says £30

LONDON, March 28 (AP). — How much is a ton of snow worth? Genuine imported snow, that is.

His Majesty's Customs and Excise Department figures £30, 6s, 8d.

Thirty Norwegian skiers who packed 50 tons of the fine white stuff into boxes say it isn't worth a penny.

The question came up when the Ski Club of Britain and the British Central Council of Physical Education invited the Norwegian skiers to come to London for some ski jumping.

But please bring your own snow, the skiers were asked.

The skiers agreed, crated the snow from a few handy drifts near Oslo and a Norwegian shipping company hauled the crates to England free.

In the meantime, customs and excise got in touch with D. G. Ross, secretary of the committee running the show.

No Way Out

The C and E agents dug up a copy of the Import Duty Act of 1932. This imposes a duty of 10 per cent by value on all but a few imported goods.

Snow is not one of the exceptions.

The committee, said the agents, should expect to pay about £20 to £30 duty.

This snow news gets a cold reception from the committee. Ross hasn't given up hope, however.

The committee staged the same stunt a year ago but didn't get involved with customs duty because the snow was brought in on a special treasury licence.

Ross said today he still hopes to get a similar licence this time.

"We didn't think we really needed one," he said, "but we have no money to pay duty on this gift."

The snow, when it eventually gets through customs, will be packed on an artificial jump which has been constructed on Hampstead Heath, a large natural wooded park in Northwest London.

The Norwegian skiers are scheduled to compete against skiers from Oxford and Cambridge Universities Friday and Saturday.

1st Officer Casualty

FORT LEWIS, Wash., March 28 (CP)—The first Canadian officer casualty to come home from Korea landed by plane at McChord Field early Tuesday. He is Lieut. A. G. (Al) Wagstaff of Vancouver, wounded by Chinese machine-gun bullets. He is encased in a cast from the waist down.

Move 2 Sick Sailors

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 28 (AP)—A United States coast guard cutter Tuesday pushed through ice-filled Buffalo harbor to remove two ill crew members from two freighters icebound since Sunday. The men are Robert Oinas, Hancock, Mich., second mate on the W. F. Stifel, and Clarence McTevia. Marine City, Mich., first mate on the Perseus. Neither was in serious condition.

Cautious Policy Said Better Than Controls

By The Canadian Press

The pressing problem of inflation is discussed by Morgan Reid, economist for the Robert Simpson Co. Ltd., Toronto, in the current edition of Public Affairs, published by the Institute of Public Affairs of Dalhousie University.

Mr. Reid says that monetary and fiscal policies "are still the the most effective instruments to meet and arrest inflation, rather than . . . the straight-jacket of controls."

"All levels of government," he says, "should make every economy consistent with the efficient functioning of essential services. When our existence as a nation is edangered it is no time to contemplate an expansion of costly measures of social security—irrespective of their desirability in normal times.

"While a modest increase in interest rates would not of itself act as a deterrent to inflation, it would help, paricularly in view of the enormous capital expansion program indicated for 1951."

John F. Fairlie, manager of the economics department of Imperial Oil Ltd., Toronto, discusses oil and national strength in the same issue.

"Investment by the oil industry and by the public in the exploration and development of important new oilfields," he says, "has in four years brought Canada's oil reserves in terms of national consumption into a position comparable with that of the United States."

"Various discoveries have increased Canada's prairie oil reserves in the space of four years to roughly 1.1 billion barrels, roughly 25 times what they were when Leduc was discovered."

UAW Members Vote On 20-Cent Raise

TORONTO, March 28 (CP).—Members of the United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) are voting on a 20-cent "package" increase offered by the Massey-Harris Company Ltd. Balloting is being held Tuesday and today in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock.

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, said Monday night the new offer is "a very fine contract."

Included in the contract is a six-cent-an-hour increase which the company granted last October as an interim boost to meet the rising cost of living.

Aiken Criticizes Court Handling Of Liquor Cases

OTTAWA, March 28 — (CP).— The Rev. M. J. Aiken, Peterborough, president of the Ontario Temperance Federation, today criticized Ontario courts for apparently accepting drunkenness as an excuse for wrongdoing.

"The good name and reputation of the courts are suspect," he said in an address prepared for delivery to the federation's annual convention. "All too often, guilty persons escape punishment for their crimes and the only mitigating circumstances seems to be that the criminal was too drunk to be responsible.

"This is a condition of affairs which promises nothing good for the future well-being of our national life."

Drinking among juveniles "seems to be shockingly on the increase," with offenders often telling of buying liquor through recognized channels.

Alcohol was "a considerable factor" in the increase in the number of illegitimate births from 1,519 in 192 to 4,795 in 1948.

Alarming Increase

Mr. Aiken described as "alarming" the increase in the number of murders, brawlings, killings, assaults, indecent assaults, broken homes and juvenile delinquency. He said liquor was often found to have a part in such affairs.

"In fairness to the Ontario government, it ought to be said that there appears to be an awareness of the greatness of the scourge of this traffic. There is a greater spirit of co-operation and help from the Provincial Government in combatting the liquor traffic than has been evident for many years."

But much more could be done by the government in the matter of legal action, he said.

The Rev. Albert Johnston of Toronto, federation secretary, commended the Ontario government for its efforts to reclaim alcoholics.

"It is a matter of great satisfaction to note the institution on a provincial basis of a rehabiliation program which has a potentiality comparable to anything similar anywhere," he said.

"Within the scope of the present law we have found the (Ontario) government extremely receptive to our suggestions."

However, it was "very hard" to obtain a definite ruling on hours of sale.

The Rev. W. Gray Rivers of Merlin was appointed field secretary. He succeeds the Rev. John Linton of Toronto, who resigned to become secretary of the Canada Temperance Federation.

Uniform Teacher Training Needed In Canada Convention Told

TORONTO, March 28 (CP). — A uniform plan of teacher training is needed to fulfill the aims of the recent report of the Hope Commission on Education, it was agreed Tuesday by delegates to the Ontario Educational Association convention.

Teachers and principals among the 9,000 delegates to the convention met for the first time with Royal Commission members since the lengthy report was issued late last year. They went on record as backing the report which was started five years ago and cost $290,000 in examining Ontario's education system, apart from the universities.

Norman McLeod, commission member and principal of Toronto's suburban Leaside high school drew applause when he said that education requires a full-time cabinet minister. Attorney-General Dana Porter now has both departments.

He also warned against letting the report become a political football.

He said he realized aims set out in the report were idealistic but it was hoped to obtain the finest teachers for Ontario schools. It had taken a long time to complete the report but a similar survey in Britain took 26 years.

Morgan Reid, executive member of the Canadian Research Committee on practical education said that education which makes for thinking persons is the only answer to a trend toward shifting responsibility to the group from the individual. No greater challenge to education existed than the task of creating in students early a belief in their own importance and their responsibility to society.

Mr. Porter said the education department intends to change the curriculum so that only three instead of four optional subjects are necessary for the secondary school graduation diploma.

"This will permit pupils of average ability to concentrate more time and effort on each option. It will probably mean a better selection of pupils in mathematics since not all who now take mathematics under a four-option plan will choose that subject under a three-option arrangement."

Dr. J. G. Althouse, chief director of education, said farm boys and girls are getting a better chance than formerly at a high school education. Rural high schools have increased from 12 to 78 in the last few years and there is a 40-per-cent increase in enrolment.

H. E. Dickinson of Toronto, chairman of the new Trustees' Council, said negotiations are under way between the council and the Ontario Teachers' Federation to devise a practical plan for a province-wide salary scale for teachers.

Canadian and American girls lack the self-respect for themselves that should make their married role seem important to them, Dr. Katherine Whiteside-Taylor, co-ordinator of family life education at Long Beach City College, Long Beach, Calif., said in an address to the home economics division. She said that women should regard themselves as homemakers rather than housewives—as the co-ordinator of family relations.

John J. Connolly of Ottawa, president of the Catholic Education Conference, told the conference that secular education has created indifference to religion.

"We may be living in a post-Christian era," he warned.

The conference will review the principles of Catholic education to classify them and make them more widely understood.

Editorial Sparks Hot Debate Over Care of Small Children

EDMONTON — (CP)—Would you enter a strange house if a baby was crying and there was no one home?

Better think twice before you answer or you may find yourself in a jam.

An Edmonton bill collector provided the spark to a red hot debate recently when he heard a baby crying but no one answered his repeated knocks on the door.

Fearing something was amiss, he went in, found no one at home and comforted the child. Later, he discovered the child's mother visiting a neighbor.

The next day an editorial in The Edmonton Journal criticized the mother for leaving her child alone and praised the collector for his action.

The editorial pointed out that leaving small children alone at home often resulted in tragic fires and accidents. It said "the collector's thoughtfulness might easily have been the means of preventing such an outcome."

Counter Claim

At this point the mother entered the fray defending her action in a letter to the editor. She claimed she only left the child for a few minutes to attend a neighbor ill with pleurisy.

The baby's crying, she contended, did it no harm and she rebuked the bill collector for entering her home without permission.

The collector, a father of three children, answered in another letter that he thought it his duty to investigate the child's cries.

"I believe," he wrote, "that a home should be a sanctuary and that if any of my children are ever in distress there will be some Good Samaritan, be he collector, milkman or just passer-by who will have the consideration and thoughtfulness to render assistance—which I tried to do."

That should have ended the matter but by now the public had taken notice of the affair and soon The Journal started receiving indignant letters, some criticizing the collector and others the mother.

Many Opinions

Some people thought the collector should be prosecuted as a trespasser and others congraulated him on his action.

One woman said "He was just a redblooded being who heard a baby's cry and naturally went to see what he could do to help."

Another letter, signed "Two mothers who occasionally let their children cry," asked:

"How would anyone feel, if every time her baby cried, some complete stranger were to walk in expecting to find a neglected baby."

And so it went pro and con for almost two weeks until The Journal finally appended this note to the end of its editorial page:

"With today's letters, the debate on the collector is closed."

Frances N. Clarke Is Wed In Hart House Chapel

A wedding of local interest was solemnized at the candlelight service in Hart House chapel, University of Toronto, on Friday evening, when Lela Frances Natalie, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Wesley Clarke of Peterborough, became the bride of Melvin Shepherd (Bill) Ketcheson, BA, DC, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ketcheson of Weston. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Stuart Johnston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon net over ivory satin, fashioned with long full sleeves, soft blue satin girdle and a short train. Hand-painted designs of pink roses and blue lovers' knots with seed pearls outlined the low neckline. Her full length veil of tulle, which had also been worn by her paternal grandmother, was caught by a coronet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and blue sweetpeas with white satin streamers caught with rosebuds.

Miss Eva Benning of Toronto and Miss Genevieve Knudson of Iroquois were bridesmaids, wearing respectively gowns of blue and pink net over taffeta, with lace caps holding short veils. Their bouquets were of white carnations and blue and pink sweetpeas.

Dr. Orvel Ketcheson, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. L. Metcalfe of Weston and Mr. B. Yokabenos of Ottawa.

Mr. D'Alton McLaughlin played the wedding music, and Mr. William H. Ketcheson, father of the groom, sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

Receiving at The Towers, the bride's mother wore mist gray with a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother assisted in brown lace over blue satin, and her corsage was of pink roses.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose navy blue suit with white trim, matching hat and navy blue accessories.

Out-of-town guests were from Brantford, Millbrook, Campbellford, Lakefield, Ottawa, Iroquois and Peterborough.

Broiler Flounder Fillets In Special-Purpose Menu

Fish Dinner:
Appetizers: Cheese Stuffed Celery
Carrot Sticks
Radish Roses
Broiled Flounder Fillets (see notes)
Scalloped Tomatoes (see notes)
Boiled Rice Chinese Style (see notes)
Gingerbread Upside Down Cake (see notes)
Coffee or Tea

Directions

Flounder fillets are "middlin'" economical and have fine flavor. Dry the fillets well and dip in beaten egg diluted with 2 tablespoons water, drain then dip in salted and peppered fine bread crumbs. Place on greased broiling pan and broil under very high heat until golden. (I place each fillet on a piece of cooking parchment to facilitate turning over the first time.) Turn over and cook other side. Do not over cook. You want the fish cooked through but not at all dry. Serve with wedges of lemon. They may be fried or baked but both of these methods are apt to make the fish drier.

✧ ✧ ✧

Scalloped Tomatoes

Saute 1 small grated onion in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine until transparent. Add 1½ cups soft breadcrumbs and remove from heat. Add ½ teaspoon salt and shake of pepper. Line a buttered baking dish by shaking a few soft breadcrumbs around in it. Add the onion-crumb mixture to 1 28-ounce tin tomatoes, pour into casserole, cover with another ½ cup buttered crumbs, sprinkle top with paprika. Bake uncovered in moderate oven for one-half hour.

✧ ✧ ✧

Boiled Rice Chinese Style

So you liked the idea of eating more rice and keeping down your blood pressure? It was interesting to read the letters from folks who were interested in this news. Some of them grasped at it like a drowning man to a straw—but were stymied at how they could consume the equivalent to 1 cup dry rice in cooked rice per day. I am too! But do serve rice oftener—brown rice in the Moore house.

Wash one cup rice under running water in a sieve for 1 minute. Add it to exactly 2 cups boiling water; 1 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons butter and margarine, stirring all of the time to keep it boiling without boiling over. Cover, turn off heat. When boiling subsides turn on burner to simmer, and do not lift lid for 30 minutes. Water will be absorbed and each grain seperate. Keep covered and remove from heat. The steam loosens the grains which have stuck to bottom of pot, if it is allowed to stand in warm place 10 minutes.

Gingerbread Upside Down Cake

Cream ½ cup shortening; beat in ½ cup sugar and 1 egg, and 2/3 cup molasses. Sift together 2 cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon soda and add them alternately with ¾ cup sour milk to the creamed mixture. Add 1 or ½ teaspoon each ginger and cinnamon. In a deep cake pan melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, drizzle over this ½ cup corn syrup. Sprinkle over ½ cup chopped nuts if desired. Cover with 2 pared and sliced apples. Pour batter over. Bake 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr. Turn out as soon as baked. Good with cream or creamed cream cheese softened with milk.

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"He assumes that professional attitude ever since he swiped a doctor's stethoscope!"

DOROTHY DIX

Why Should It Embarrass Man To Use Dish Towel?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: In a short time I am going to marry a very fine young man. I love him very much and I know that he loves me. Never in the world would I think of embarrassing him, but he is terribly afraid that I might some day do so by asking him to do some domestic task at which he might be discovered by others. On one occasion I handed my fiance a dishtowel and he was horror-stricken and begged me never to do it when anyone was around. It that such a disgrace? Does that make a man seem effeminate? I do not expect to make my husband a housemaid, but I cannot see how a man would be degraded by helping his wife. I think it would be a lot more manly than just standing around and letting her do it all. What do you think? ALVIRA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am with you heart and soul, Alvira, and I would be a trifle hesitant about marrying a man who shied away from a dish cloth the way your boy friend does. I would be afraid he would make one of the superior husbands who leave all of the hard household chores, like stoking the furnace, to the wife; who think it is all right for mother to push the perambulator while father twirls a cane when they take Junior out for a ride on Sunday and for a woman to pack home the groceries from a cash and carry store, but that it would be beneath a man to so demean himself.

His Ideal Archaic

At any rate you can tell your young man that his idea that there is something disgraceful in being caught in a kitchen with a dish towel in his hand is as archaic as pegtop trousers and brass buttons and stocks, and has no place in this modern era when cooking has become a fad with men.

Considering that men get just as much pleasure and comfort out of the home as women do; considering that they are just as keen on a good dinner and as pernickety about the state of the bathroom and raise a ruction if the floor hasn't been properly swept, there is no good reason why they shouldn't do their part toward helping to achieve the results they enjoy so much.

If a man makes the money that supports his family and if his wife is a strong and able-bodied woman, then he should not be called upon to do housework. He should not be expected to buy the bacon and fry it, too. But if the wife is delicate and frail, then it is certainly up to the husband to help her with the housework. And whether the wife is sick or well he is a poor sport if he won't pinch-hit for her in any emergency.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Some time age my younger brother secretly married against our parents' wishes and brought his wife home for us to support. They have settled down to a life of ease and idleness and his wife will not even help my mother with housework. I have a good job and had looked forward to marriage, but this is now impossible with this added burden on my shoulder. What is the correct solution of the problem? JOHN

ANSWER: The correct solution of the problem is to throw your brother and his wife out of the house, and make them support themselves. That is the best thing for them as well as for you, because it's the only way to turn them into decent, self-respecting human beings. Otherwise they will develop into parasites, than which there is no more contemptible thing.

Why should you deny yourself the happiness of marriage in order to support your brother's wife because he is too good-for-nothing to work for her? Answer that question honestly, and you will have the answer to your problem.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What are some examples of character?
A YOUNG MAN

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A young man shows character when he refuses to drink when everybody else is having one more; when he refuses to buy the automobile he can't afford. A young man shows character when he lives up to his conviction of what is right and proper, instead of taking the easiest way and going with the crowd.

6—In Memoriams

LITTLE—In memory of a dear mother, Ida Little, who passed away March 28, 1947.
Her memory is as dear today
As in the hour she passed away.
—Ever remembered by daughters Olive and Myrtle.

LITTLE—Mrs. James Little who passed away March 28, 1947.
More and more each day we miss her,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within our hearts concealed.
—Lovingly remembered by son and daughter-in-law, Russell and Margaret.

MAXWELL—In loving memory of Eliza Ann Maxwell, who died 11 years ago, March 28, 1940.
From our happy home and circle
God has taken one we loved,
She is borne away from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
No one knows how much we miss her,
None but aching hearts can tell,
Lost on earth but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well.
—Sadly missed by her daughter Elizabeth Montgomery and grandsons Noble and Arnold.

Open Canal

LONDON, Ont., March 28 (CP) —A concrete-lined canal which will channel the Thames River past the Fanshawe dam site to allow river-bed excavation, was opened Tuesday. The 1,500-foot-long diversion is expected to carry the full river flow in about a week when a temporary coffer dam, now under construction upstream from the site, will close off the old river.

Rap CBC Power Grant Licences

SAO PAULO, Brazil, March 28 (AP).—Goar Mestre, president of the International Association of Broadcasters, said Tuesday night that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should not be the government's agency for granting licences and regulating private broadcasting in Canada.

Mestre, head of the Cuban delegation to the worldwide independent organization, said the Canadian government should not "allow official broadcasting enterprises to have commercial publicity competing with private radio stations."

The IAB Monday night passed a resolution describing the Canadian radio set-up as "undemocratic." It urged the Canadian Association of Broadcasters to ask the government to appoint a "completely independent agency" to control broadcasting.

Describing the government-controlled CBC and its relationship with private stations as a "peculiar situation," Mestre said: "But what is even worse is the fact that the CBC, which operates all official stations, is the agency which grants licences to private stations, regulating also all questions relating to private broadcasting, with which it competes."

In Ottawa Tuesday, CAB head T. J. Allard said his association has asked the government for an independent controlling agency. The CBC had no comment.

Request Bylaw

No Parking In Theatre Hours

If the bylaw passed it would mean no parking during theatre hours on Monaghan Rd. from Weller St. north to Woodland Ave. And from Monaghan west to Albertus Ave. on Hopkins Ave.

On the west side of Monaghan there is already no parking allowed between Weller and Elm Sts.

W. B. Gordon and Mrs. Blake Bell both said that a parking bylaw seemed to be the key to settling the matter. The three-man committee then agreed to look into it.

The city will have to pass the bylaw and it will also have to be approved by the Highways Department. Citizens on those streets who will be affected will also probably be asked to sign a petition approving the restrictions.

Solve Difficulty

Dr. Ralph Honey said he thought the bylaw would solve 95 per cent of the difficulty. The other five per cent would be the promised supervision by Mr. Sadlier.

Mr. Thompson said he didn't see the necessity of a bylaw if the other measures to eliminate a nuisance were observed. But the Board members, led by Mr. Gordon, held out for this initiative to be taken by the committee.

John C. N. Currelly suggested that the Board see Mr. Upper for the purposes of good will. And this view was supported by Stanley Adamson. Mr. Jobbitt said that this matter should be dealt with at the regular Board meeting.

"If the citizens up there get up a petition for a no-parking bylaw there is no reason why the Board shouldn't give the petition its backing," said G. Wilson Craw.

Dr. Morgan said another means of eliminating a nuisance might be by starting the plays a little earlier. The Queen Mary building could then be vacated by 11 p.m. In this he was supported by the third member of the citizens' committee, Peter McCombe.

Dr. Morgan also said that when the Board offered Mr. Sadlier the collegiate auditorium they thought it was "a pretty good second choice." Only later did they learn of objections to it. The Board, he felt, had acted in perfectly good faith.

Mr. Carley, in response to a request by Mr. Jobbitt, explained the rights of the Board. He said they were spending the money of public school supporters: the cost of maintaining the auditorium was not levied on the general tax rate as, say, the collegiate.

It was entirely up to the Board's discretion whom they allowed to use the property. They were under no obligation to make it a recreational centre, and they had no right to use the public school supporters' money to subsidize a commercial enterprise.

Music Teachers Hold Annual Convention

KINGSTON, March 28 (CP) — Delegates from most of the 40 branches of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association gathered today for the opening of the 13th anual convention, being held in Kingston for the first time.

Delegates represent branches from Kenora, Fort William and Port Arthur in the west, to Sudbury and Timmins in the north and Ottawa and Cornwall in the east. Mrs. Edna Marie Hawkins, Montreal, president of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' Associations, in which seven of the 10 provinces are represented, is also attending the convention.

Couldn't Recall Fined $15, Costs

A man who said he was too drunk to remember what he did, pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of vagrancy and was fined $15 and costs. He was Joseph Foley, 338 Ludgate St.

"The evidence is that you were not as drunk as all that," Magistrate Philp KC said.

Constable Andre Dalton testified that shortly after midnight on March 23 he was sent to Edinburgh and George Sts. He found tracks in the fresh snow which led into the lane behind stores north of Edinburgh St. The tracks came back out and crossed Edinburgh St. into a lane south of the street.

The tracks finally led to a stairway at a house on the north-west corner. At the top of the stairs in a doorway, he found Foley crouched in the doorway.

He asked Foley if he lived there and Foley answered him in obscene language to the effect that it was none of the officer's business. It was some time before the accused would tell who he was and where he lived, but he would give no explanation of why he was in that neighborhood.

When the constable started to take him to the police station in the cruiser, the accused balked and the constable had to use force. Arriving at the police station, Foley flung himself on the ground and wouldn't get up. Again the officer had to use force. He said Foley had been drinking but was not drunk.

"I had been drinking and I don't remember," was Foley's explanation. "I was on my way home over the London St. dam and I guess I got turned around."

Judges Sympathize With Errol Flynn

LOS ANGELES, March 28 — (AP)—Errol Flynn, who once remarked "I may have to print my own money unless my alimony is reduced," found sympathetic listeners Tuesday in the District Court of Appeal.

The three-judge court ruled unanimously that Superior Judge Otto J. Emme was wrong in not giving the actor a full hearing when he tried last year to pare his payments to first wife Lili Damita. The case was sent back for retrial.

Involved is a complicated bit of financial history:

When Flynn and the actress were divorced, he agreed to pay her $18,000 annually in tax-free alimony and $1,000 back taxes for two years.

But Lili contends—on orders from the Internal Revenue Bureau—that the $11,000 is income, and that Flynn also must reimburse her for the tax she has to pay on that. Such a thing could go on indefinitely.

Flynn pays Miss Damita $5,200 a year for support of their son, Sean, 10. He pays second wife Nora Eddington, now Mrs. Dick Haymes, $550 monthly for support of their two children, Deirdre, six, and Rory, three. He is married to third wife Patrice Wymore, also an actress. His income is around $200,000 a year.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., March 28 — A large carrier-type plane with a crew of three aboard is overdue from a routine night training flight, Pacific Fleet Air Force headquarters reported today.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of careless driving against Wilbert Thackeray, 465 Stewart St., was dismissed in police court today.

The charge arose out of an accident shortly after midnight Jan. 7 on Otonabee St., the eastern extension of Lansdowne St., beyond the lock bridge.

Thackeray's car and a car driven by Frank Brown, 297 Murray St., were both going in the same direction. They collided when Thackeray attempted to pass Brown.

Brown said he first became aware of something wrong when he felt a slight bump in the rear as he was driving west about 100 yards east of the bridge. He looked in his rear vision mirror and saw the Thackeray car going into the south ditch.

He said he had been driving on his own side of the road, north of the white centre line and had not veered to the left as Thackeray started to pass him.

Mrs. Esther Sutherland, a passenger in his car, said she just heard a click and felt a slight jar.

Patrol Sergeant Claire McGillen testified that tracks in the snow on the south shoulder of the road indicated the Thackeray car had skidded 50 feet sideways with its rear wheels in the snow and its front wheels on the pavement.

The rear of the car hit a hydro pole and the car was swung around facing southwest. The rear also hit a highway sign post 17 feet farther on and the car ran into the ditch.

In the car with Thackeray was his sister, another man and another woman. The officer said Thackeray had been drinking but was not drunk. He added that the highway was more snow covered than bare, and that there was no white line at that point.

Thackeray said he had been following the Brown car about a block and started to pass it when he was about 600 or 700 feet east of the bridge. He said he blew his horn three times and then started to pass. But as his front bumper got about one foot past the rear bumper of the Brown car Brown started to drift over to the south.

Thackeray pulled sharply to the left and put on his brakes. As he did so, the corners of the bumpers of the two cars clicked. He said as he was turning, his rear wheel got caught in the deep snow and he was unable to turn out off the shoulder.

Basil Goulah, who had been a passenger in the rear seat of the Thackeray car, corroborated Thackeray's evidence.

She was predeceased by her husband 18 years ago. Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident against John Dinsdale, 537 Armour Rd., was dismissed in police court at the suggestion of Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, KC, after the accused's evidence was heard.

The charge arose out of an accident in which Dinsdale's car and a car driven by Lauri Heinonan, 297 McDonnel St., collided at Sherbrooke and Aylmer Sts. the night of March 14.

Heinonan said that after the accident he stopped and looked out of his door to see the fender damaged. When he looked up at the other car it was some distance up Aylmer St. He followed it around the corner into King St. and found it stopped on the street in front of the bus depot.

Dinsdale and a passenger in his car said, after the accident, Dinsdale drove on to get clear of traffic and avoid a further accident. They said the passenger waved to Heinonan out of a rear window to beckon him to follow.

When Dinsdale was about to turn the corner, he opened the door on his side and looked back to see that Heinonan was following him.

Heinonan said he saw none of this.

Pats, Australians Chalk Up Gains On Muddy Front

TOKYO, March 29. (CP)—The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and Australian Diggers forded rushing streams and scrambled over hills soggy with three days of rain to roll up sizable gains on the muddy Central Korean front today. The Commonwealth forces racked up their gains in rugged country northwest of Kaplong which is 12 miles south of Chunchon on the road to Seoul. AP correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported the advances were significant, but the distance could not be disclosed. He added:

"Only the difficulties of the going determined the speed of their advance."

Reuters News Agency earlier reported that American and British troops scored fast gains of three miles to move within five miles of the 38th Parallel in a new offensive launched northeast of Seoul.

The determined Allied push forced freshly thrown-in Chinese Reds to withdraw to the north, Reuters said.

Stiff Defence

But elsewhere in the central and western sectors, the Communists fought their stiffest defensive action of weeks. They were dug in about four miles south of the Red Korean border in both areas.

The Red stand came as China rejected Gen. MacArthur's bid to talk peace with the Communist commander in Korea.

MacArthur's headquarters told of Red troop movements which indicated the Communists might be massing for a spring offensive timed to strike when April's seasonal rains bog down the Allied heavy weapons.

Reject Peace Offer

In a Peiping broadcast spurning MacArthur's peace talk offer, Red China said it was impertinent and insulting and "worth only a single laugh."

It said "the entire Chinese people will . . . fight unrelentingly until the aggressor is completely driven from Korea."

The Chinese Thursday fought their stiffest action in weeks north of Munsan on the western front. Firing from dug-in positions about four miles south of the border, they all but stopped the allied advance in the west.

Grenade-tossing Reds drove American infantrymen off a 1,000-foot crest north of Uijongbu during the night. But they withdrew mysteriously to another hill and the Americans reoccupied the crest at dawn without a fight.

In central Korea, a strong Red stand repulsed American patrols on a seven-mile-wide front. The Communists were fighting half way between the border and Chunchon, which is eight miles south of 38.

List Of Jobless Drops 6,500 In Two Weeks

OTTAWA, March 29. (SP)—The number of registered unemployed in Canada dropped 6,500 in the two-week period ended March 1, the Labor Department announced today.

A total of 296,700 were registered for employment at National Employment Service offices on March 1, compared with 303,200 at Feb. 15. The number of unemployed at March 1 was 79,300 lower than at the corresponding date of 1950.

The department said a gradual return to work by many persons seasonally unemployed during mid-winter has become apparent in recent weeks.

The decrease in unemployment was not general across the country.

There were improvements in British Columbia and Ontario, little change in the prairies and slight declines in employment in Quebec and the Atlantic provinces. The declines were primarily the result of the approach of eastern logging to its usual late-winter slump.

Demand For Goods

The department reported a "consistently strong domestic and foreign demand for Canadian goods."

"An important part of this, of course, has been the expanded defence production program, the employment effects of which—although still largely confined to manufacturing industries — are now becoming more apparent.

"The impetus of these forces will in all probability carry employment levels rapidly upward in coming months."

Following are the number of unemployed by regions at March 1, with figures for Feb. 15 in brackets:

Newfoundland, 11,900 (11,000); Maritime region, 33,300 (32,900); Quebec region, 92,500 (90,800); Ontario region, 63,400 (66,700); Prarie region, 50,800 (51,800); Pacific region, 44,800 (50,000).

Gromyko Agrees To Drop Item

PARIS, March 29 (AP).—Andrei Gromyko Wednesday dropped his insistence that the Potsdam agreement on the demilitarization of Germany become a topic of a new Big Four foreign ministers meeting. The Soviet deputy foreign minister agreed for the first time to inclusion of the question of the "level of arms" of the United States, Britain, France, and Russia on the proposed agenda.

He also abandoned his stand that German disarmament must be discussed as a separate topic.

These developments in the 19th meeting of the four powers' deputy foreign ministers led western authorities to say guardedly that the four powers at last may be making some progress toward arranging the work sheet for a foreign ministers conference to ease world tensions.

"The proposal, at first glance, seems to indicate that Russia has moved a step toward meeting the West, but really we must study this item," a high official said. "Obviously it contains some flaws."

A French source commented that "it certainly permits the discussion to be usefully continued."

Complicated Matter But Soldier Gets Wife

SEATTLE, March 29 (AP) — This is almost as complicated as one of those "I'm-my-own-grandpa" stories.

Pte. James D. Christensen, 19, married his mother's second husband's 16-year-old daughter.

The wedding Tuesday climaxed a 30-day furlough for Christensen from Alaska. The furlough gave him a chance to get acquainted with his step-father. George Miller—and his pretty step-sister, Edith Miller.

His marriage to Edith makes Christensen's step-father his father-in-law. Mrs. Miller, who is her son's bride's step-mother, is also her mother-in-law.

"Gosh," Christensen observed, "I guess that makes my mother my mother-in-law."

See Import Controls If Make Utility Goods

OTTAWA, March 29 —(CP)—Import controls may again be imposed in Canada, if and when this country ever embarks on a program of producing "utility" goods, a government official said today.

However, unlike the controls of 1947, they would not be imposed for the purpose of saving dollars.

Main purpose of such controls would be to eliminate any "unfair competition" which might result from "utility" production—manufacture holding use of essential materials to a minimum.

Institution of such a program, for the purpose of curbing the use of essential materials such as steel in civilian production, now is under study.

Some possible effects include the banning of the use of chrome in passenger cars, cutting down the use of steel in the production of washing machines and electric stoves and refrigerators and banning the use of tin in the manufacture of beer cans.

Give Russia Atom Secrets 3 Convicted

Two Men, Woman Found Guilty After Seven Hours

NEW YORK, March 29. (AJ) Two men and a woman were convicted today of passing wartime atomic secrets to Russia in the first atom spy trial in the United States. The jury returned its verdict at 11 a.m., EST, after seven hours and 18 minutes of deliberation.

The convicted defendants, who could receive the death penalty, are Julius Rosenberg, 34-year-old electrical engineer; his wife, Ethel, 35, and radar expert Morton Sobell, 33.

The prosecutor did not ask for the death penalty, however, during summation.

The jury had weighed the fate of the three dependants for one hour and two minutes today after being locked up for the night at 12:40 this morning.

Worked With Fuchs

The trio was accused of relaying atom secrets to an international Red spy ring headed by Klaus Fuchs until his arrest in England early last year. The secrets, the government contended, included drawings of the atom bomb dropped on Nagasaki, Japan, in 1945.

The government's star witness in the case was David Greenglass, brother of Ethel Rosenberg. Greenglass, who pleaded guilty to the espionage indictment, is awaiting sentence for his part in the plot.

The espionage indictment also named a fifth defendant, Anatoli A. Yakovlev, who is now believed to have fled to Russia.

Greenglass is a former army technician who served at the atomic bomb centre at Los Alamos, New Mexico. He said the information he obtained there was turned over by him to the Rosenbergs for relay to the Russians.

Turning to the defendants, Judge Irving Kaufman said:

"That citizens should lend themselves to the destruction of their own country by the most destructive weapon known is so shocking that I can't find words to describe the loathsome offence."

He then fixed April 5 for imposition of sentences.

WomanGivesHusband Typhoid Three Times

WASHINGTON, March 29 — (AP). — A California "Typhoid Mary" apparently has given her husband typhoid fever three times, the US Public Health Service said today.

It said a 32-year-old man, married to a known typhoid carrier, was stricken first in January-February, 1950, against last May, and for the third time in January this year.

Each time he was treated with chloromycetin and streptomycin, and discharged as cured.

The report said the man "is now clinically well," but it did not indicate what, if anything, was being done about the wife.

Reject Sally Rand Offer To Re-Enact Lady Godiva

COVENTRY, England, March 29 (AP)—A pretty British actress was chosen today from a field of 117 to re-enact the famous ride of Lady Godiva June 23.

The winning applicant is 28-year-old Ann Wrigg, a curvesome brunette.

Fan dancer Sally Rand, who had cabled an offer to emulate the legendary nude canter down to the barest detail, was turned down.

"Miss Rand," said a spokesman for the 15-member selection commitee, "was never in the running. It might have been good publicity for her but it would have attracted to our pageant people of the wrong kind—peeping toms of the worst sort."

Miss Wrigg is five feet, 4½ inches tall and weighs 126 pounds.

"I applied for the job," she said, "because I am mad about horses."

Lady Godiva is supposed to have ridden unclad through Coventry in the 11th century on a white horse. Miss Wrigg will be outfitted with a horse, a long flaxen wig and a skin-tight, flesh-colored bra and panties set.

The original Godiva was a Saxon lady, the wife of Leofric, Earl of Mercia and Lord of Coventry. According to the legend, Leofric made the people of Coventry miserable by taxing everything but the air they breathed.

Lady Godiva nagged him constantly to remit some of the taxes. In a fit of temper one day he said he'd do it if she would ride naked through the city streets.

Lady Godiva took him up. She ordered everybody to stay home that day with the shutters closed. Then she stripped and made the ride.

One low character, a tailor, is supposed to have laid down his sewing for a peep. The legend says he was struck blind.

Coventry has been celebrating the event, off and on, since 1678.

BEDOUIN TRIBESMAN in the background is shown telling RAF officials where body of Flt.-Sgt. Arthur M. Rowe of Campbellford is buried in Egypt. Drifting sand had hidden the grave since the war.

Arab Tribesman Leads Searchers To Pilot's Grave

ISMAILIA, Egypt —(CP)— More than eight years ago death overtook Flt. Sgt. Arthur M. Rowe, of Campbellford, when his RCAF plane crashed in the desert near El Ballah airfield, Egypt. He was buried on the spot in a sandy grave, marked by an Air Force cross.

Six years later when the Imperial War Graves Commission sought to recover the body for re-interment, desert winds had obliterated all trace of the lonely grave. For two years RAF search parties probed the area where the aircraft was believed to have crashed, but to no avail.

Assistance of the RAF police wing at Ismailia was then enlisted. After a further abortive search the airmen in turn approached Sheik Gossam Gomaa Gamaan, head of the Moaza tribe of Bedouins.

The sheik promptly organized a thorough canvass of his widely-scattered followers and finally traced an aged tribesman who claimed to know the exact location of the Canadian's grave. He led a police party to a spot some miles from the scene of previous searches and told the men to start digging.

Minutes later, a body identified from a driving licence as that of Flt. Sgt. Rowe, was found buried about three feet under the sand. The remains were re-interred in the British military cemetery at Fayid.

Formal acknowledgement of the co-operation extended has been conveyed to the Bedouin tribe by Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, RCAF Chief of Staff. Group Captain E. R. Richdale, command provost marshal of the Middle East Air Force, made a special trip into the desert to deliver the message of thanks. A group of sheiks who travelled hundreds of miles by camel, attended the ceremony.

France Torn By More Strikes

PARIS, March 29 (Reuters)—France's wave of strikers threatened to spread today, with growing discontent among unions at the government's refusal to sanction higher wages.

Tax collectors, post office men, civil servants, hospital staff, morticians, garbage collectors, and other municipal employees were among the latest reported threatening action.

Results of a strike ballot among workers on the national airline, Air France, were awaited.

Workers in nationalized factories planned demands for a 15-per-cent increase.

Paris subway and bus employees have been out 14 days. More than 2,000 strikers, dispersed by steel-helmeted security guards after a two-hour demonstration outside the transport ministry Wednesday, shouted: "We'll come back tomorrow."

Arensenal workers in Brest, Brittany, and at Toulon; in the south, downed tools and other minor strikes continued to flare up.

US Gets New Spy Leads From Former Freda Linton

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29. (CP)—New leads that may help investigators of subversive activities in the United States were laid before a federal grand jury here Wednesday by Mrs. Freda Linton Alexander, who was cleared of spy charges in Canada two years ago. Tom DeWolfe, assistant US Attorney-General, said the information was contained in testimony by Mrs. Alexander, who with her 21-month-old daughter, Deborah, leaves for Canada today.

Mrs. Alexander, former National Film Board secretary, and her daughter have been held in detention for 3½ months at immigration offices here. Following Wednesday's hearing, immigration director Bruce Barber said they would leave by plane today for New York and Montreal.

Mrs Alexander emerged from the grand jury hearing pale and shaken. She was reluctant to comment either on the line of questioning or upon the conditions of her detention.

Told To Free Her

DeWolfe telephoned the department of justice in Washington with a report of what Mrs. Alexander told the jury. He said he was told by Assistant Attorney-General James McInerney to release her to the immigration department for deportation to Canada.

DeWolfe said:

"There is no doubt she has made false representation of citizenship to get a job in Nevada—she admits it."

But he said she would not be prosecuted on those charges in Nevada, but would be sent directly to Canada.

DeWolfe said: "The inquiry was not fruitless. It provided new leads that should be useful to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in its investigation of subversive activities in the United States shortly after the Second World War."

He said the testimony by Mrs. Alexander had nothing to do with the atom bomb.

DeWolfe said that in the Canadian Soviet spy ring Mrs. Alexander was a friend of convicted spy Fred Rose. She slipped into the United States at that time. Subsequently she returned to Canada and the charges against her were dropped.

"That does not mean she was cleared," DeWolfe emphasized.

Run School For Spies Against Germany

BONN, Germany, March 29 — (AP)—The Socialist party charged today that 3,000 West German Communists are being schooled in Soviet-occupied Germany to act as spies and saboteurs in Western Germany.

"The aim of these Communist groups is to disturb and cripple the West German Republic and to act as spies in delivering all desirable information to the Soviet Union," said the Socialist party press service.

The Socialists claimed to have copies of instructions given the student spies.

Steal Cash Register Then Flee In 80 MPH Chase

TORONTO, March 28. (CP)—Detectives armed with submachine guns took up the hunt for two armed holdup men after they exchanged shots with a police cruiser early today. The bandits, who stole a cash register containing $70 from a restaurant in northwest Toronto, escaped after an 80-mile-an-hour chase during which police fired 10 shots and riddled the rear window of their car. Three bullets from the escaping thugs pierced the windshield of the cruiser.

The chase ended when the police car stalled.

The bandits' stolen car later was found abandoned in a west-end lane.

TORONTO, March 29 (CP). —John Stockman, 29, was arrested in his west-end apartment on charges of shooting with intent to maim, a few hours after two holdup men escaped a pursuing police cruiser during a shooting affray.

Took Taxi

A taxi driver told police he picked up two men near the spot where the car was found and drove them to different sections of the city.

Lee Jones, daughter of the proprietor of the restaurant, said one of the thieves threatened to kill her if she did not remain still while he removed the cash register from the counter.

Mustn't Waste Power-Saunders

TORONTO, March 29 —(CP)— The Ontario legislative committee on commissions was told today by Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders that despite vastly increased development which was taking place at an unprecedented rate Ontario citizens must not waste power.

At the same time the chairman warned that it was imperative that an early start be made in the development of the presently wasted power potential of the St. Lawrence River.

"If we are to continue to provide low cost power to the people of Ontario, it is essential that we get started almost immediately with the St. Lawrence," he told the committee. "At present 2,200,000 horsepower is going to waste. Half of that power would be available to the people of Ontario if the St. Lawrence were completed."

Mr. Saunders said that the development of the river would mitigate power shortages for many years to come and, in addition, would provide strategic advantages to the benefit of both countries.

Mr. Saunders, replying to questions from the committee, said he was "very hopeful" that the St. Larwence seaway and hydro project would be approved this year. An immediate start would bring in new hydro by 1956.

Water Supply Cut

RANGOON, March 29—(Reuters)—Rangoon's water supply was cut off today when Communists destroyed the main pipeline leading from reservoirs 50 miles from the city.

Rescue Seven People Marooned In Snow

DENVER, March 29 (AP). — Snow weasels plowed through five miles of drifted snow today to rescue seven persons, including two children, marooned by a mountain storm two days and nights.

An air force plane circled over the carload of stranded picnickers on the Rampart Range road southeast of Denver and guided the two tracked vehicles to it.

The weasel crews signalled to the planes that all seven persons were safe and carried them to a ranger station where ambulances waited to bring them to Denver.

Bat Steals Show From Opera Singers

BALTIMORE, March 29 (AP) —The Metropolitan Opera Company presented Johann Strauss' "Fledermaus" (The Bat) here Wednesday night—but the show was almost stolen by a real one.

"Minor Key" is the scene-stealing bat's name. He's an old inhabitant of the Lyric treatre.

The erratic bat zoomed from the rafters during an aria by Prima Donna Jarmila Novotna and delighted an audience of 3,000.

Theatre people said the bat has been in the rafters for the last five or six years and all efforts to capture him have been futile.

This was his first public appearance since he startled an audience at a symphony concert a year ago.

Novotna maintained her poise last night.

As the bat dipped about her head of his daffy flight, she only smiled a little and waved at him with a long cigaret holder.

Red Shots At Berlin Buses Bring Sharp UK Protest

BERLIN, March 29 (CP). — Britain sent a sharp protest to Soviet authorities today concerning Wednesday's shooting attack on American sightseeing buses by East German Communist police. The buses carried 73 Americans, none of whom was hurt.

The note, by Maj.-Gen. G. K. Bourne, British commandant in Berlin, was submitted as American officials prepared to register their protest verbally at a face-to-face meeting with the Russians.

Gen. Bourne's letter demanded that "the culprits be brought to account."

The British commandant sent the protest, officials said, because the incident took place on the British corner of the Potsdamer Platz, where the British, Russian and American sectors of Berlin meet.

The American commandant here has termed the shooting "a wilful and unprovoked attack."

Maj.-Gen. Manuel Mathewson, U.S. commandant, asked for a meeting with Sergei Dengin, head of the Soviet control commission for East Berlin, to register a formal protest.

American officials said the issue at stake is the right of allied personnel to travel with safety in four-power Berlin, including the Russian sector.

Mathewson was reported to want a public reiteration of that right by the Russians themselves and some kind of assurance that the East German Communist police force is so advised.

The East police opened fire on a convoy of U.S. Army buses carrying tourists, including women and children, on a regularly-scheduled sight-seeing tour of the city. Three shots punctured one of the buses but no one was hit.

Express Request To Raise Rate On Fish Rejected

OTTAWA, March 29—(CP)— The Board of Transport Commissioners today denied a railway request that higher express rates on fish be put into effect immediately.

The board rejected a motion in which the railways Wednesday called for dismissal of complaints against the proposed new rates, which range up to 68 per cent over existing charges.

The commissioners held the complainants had made out a prima facie case against the higher rates, and the railways would have to bring in evidence to show they would be "reasonable" and not "unjustly discriminatory" in relation to other express rates.

Complainants

Complainants against the increases are the Fisheries Council of Canada, representing processors and distributors; the Maritimes Transportation Commission, the Saskatchewan Government, and the fish industry of Alberta and the Northwest Territory.

They were in the middle of argument against the railways' dismissal motion today when the board, after government consideration, announced it was rejecting it.

The higher rates were sought by the railways originally in 1949. They have been held up by the board since then, and the commissioners now are hearing evidence to determine whether the suspension should be lifted.

The new rates would apply chiefly to shipments of fish and frozen fish from the Maritimes and Prairie area, and today Alberta counsel J. J. Frawley argued that was a major basis for the claim of "unjust discrimination."

Auriol Pledges French Support

WASHINGTON, March 29 — (AP). — President Vincent Auriol of France today pledged President Truman "all our support" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He also said the French people are determined "to defend themselves against foreign aggression."

Auriol and Truman had an hour-long conference in the Cabinet Room of the White House. Auriol spoke in French and Truman in English with interpreters translating their remarks.

The White House announced afterward:

"The remarks of the President of the French Republic included a statement that the French people were determined to defend themselves against forign aggression and that, in this spirit, they were giving all out support to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

More Canadians Sail For Service In Korea

FORT LEWIS, Wash., March 29 (CP)—The movement of Canada's 25th Brigade to Korea has started.

It was announced Wednesday that a small advance party has sailed from a west coast United States port bound for the war-wrecked peninsula where one Canadian battalion has just gone back into the line.

(In Ottawa, defence headquarters said the bulk of the brigade, about 5,000 men, is expected to sail in April. There have been difficulties in arranging shipping.)

The advance party "will make arrangements for the arrival of combat elements of the brigade." It sailed aboard the United States troopship Joseph P. Martinez, the ship which carried the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to Korea late last year.

Canada Notes US On Food Price Percentage Markup

OTTAWA, March 29. (CP)—A high Government official said Wednesday night that a system of controlling margins between wholesale and retail prices in Canada is under active consideration. For that reason, he said, close attention is being paid to steps taken in the United States. He expressed interest in the US order Wednesday night, launching a new "percentage mark-up" system of food price controls. If and when the system is brought into operation in Canada it will be applied on all items generally, the official said. He emphasized, however, that there are no prospects of having the program launched in Canada "in the immediate future."

New Markup System

WASHINGTON, March 29. — (AP)—A new percentage markup system of food price controls was ordered Wednesday night by the federal government and officials predicted it will bring more price reductions than increases.

The Office of Price Stabilization issued three regulations applying to about 560,000 US retail food stores — independents and chains — and about 10,000 food wholesalers.

The orders affect about 60 per cent of the food on shelves of grocers and about $20,000,000,000 of the business they do each year.

Not covered by the new orders are: Fresh milk and cream, bread, fresh fruits and vegetables, sugar, ice cream, soft drinks, candy, and fresh meats.

The new pricing method fixes specific percentages which food sellers can add to what they pay for food items. The system must be put into effect between April 5 and April 30. After the April 30 deadline, grocers must recalculate their prices every Monday, based on their newest costs of food de-

First Big Move

Price Director DiSalle told a press conference that "this is our first big move in the food field since the general freeze order. It affects a big chunk of food items."

DiSalle stressed that housewives should not look for big general reductions. He said some price changes up or down will vary with stores and with localities across the country.

Edward F. Phelps, OPS assistant director, said the "most important aspect of the new orders is that they will pave the way for effective dollars and cents community prices which is the most effective way of controlling prices."

Crowley Buys 2 Race Horses

While Peterborough colors fly in the harness racing events at Sportsmen's Park in Chicago, another set of stable colors has been added to those of the district.

J. J. Crowley of Peterborough purchased two pacers from Gordon Lawrence of Blenheim. They are the three-year-old pacer, Jimmy Forbes by Frisco Forbes, eligible for many important stake events this year and Buster Brown, a four-year-old.

While this transaction was taking place, three Peterborough and district horses were being taken to Chicago for the first stay on an American tour of harness racing tracks. These horses are: Aprilway, owned by Merton Storey; Blacklock, owned by Wilbert Hillock, and Canada Direct, owned by Edward Birtch of Smiths Falls.

Aprilway and Canada Direct were recently featured in purchases between Mr. Storey of Peterborough and Mr. Birtch. Early this year Mr. Storey bought the pacer, Aprilway, for an undisclosed amount. Aprilway made several impressions on American harness racing fans last season.

Canada Direct, formerly owned by Mr. Storey, was sold to Mr. Birtch a month after the Aprilway sale. An eight-year-old pacer well-known throughout New York State for placing in the money during the past several seasons and at Thorncliffe racetrack at Toronto where several upsets have been registered.

Will Discuss Farm Problems

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP). — Advisers to Agriculture Minister Gardiner will meet with him here next week to discuss new problems appearing on the Canadian agricultural scene.

Chief of these is the question of a support policy for cheese and butter for 1951. In official quarters it is anticipated that both products will be supported at prices higher than in 1950.

The floor for butter in 1950 was set at 53 cents a pound wholesale. This is likely to be boosted to 60 cents. Cheese is likely to be increased to 30 cents.

Both dairy items are receiving the attention of the Agriculture Department. The 1950 support price for butter runs to April 30; that for cheese was terminated last December 31.

Cow Produced 108,000 Lbs. Milk

A production certificate for his Holstein cow Keendale Lodge Pietje Lass was awarded Stewart Nelson at the Peterborough County Holstein Club's annual dinner Wednesday night.

The award was made by Roy Ormiston, district field man for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

The premier breeder's award for the club was to have gone to Joseph Tully, well-known and well-liked county breeder, who died recently. Mr. Ormiston recalled that Mr. Tully was one of a few Canadians who were awarded the master breeders' shield by the Canadian association.

No Houses Built Under New Law Charge By CCF

TORONTO, March 29—(CP)—A C.C.F. member charged in the Ontario Legislature Wednesday that not a single home was built in the province last year under legislation providing for provincial homesite development.

Eamon Park (CCF—Toronto Dovercourt) said the government was all "pious claims and boasting utterances" last year in introducing the legislation.

Premier Frost replied that 33,000 houses were built last year in Ontario—a record number. The province was prepared to enter low-cost housing agreements with municipalities, but none had asked for it.

The Legislature also gave second reading to the proposed new rent control bill, which will assume Federal controls when they expire April 30.

No Strong Opposition

There was no strong opposition, although C.C.F. members criticized the measure of decontrol already permitted under Federal laws. William Dennison (CCF—Toronto St. David) asked that the government use its powers under the new bill to reduce excessive rents, and admitted that some rents might have to be raised.

Campbell Calder (L—London) said the government would have to use tact because antagonism between landlord and tenant was "nearer class warfare than any other thing in civil life."

Attorney-General Porter said the government would have power to order any corrections in the rent structure if felt necessary. It would be advised by two committees to be set up under the bill—a select committee of the Legislature and a three-member committee with a judge and representatives of landlords and tenants as members.

The bill's method in taking over Federal controls unchanged at the outset was "the only practicable way under present conditions," Mr. Porter said.

Mechanical Signals

A bill to remove a Highways Department regulation requiring approval of all signalling devices on automobiles was introduced. Highways Minister Doucett said he understood within two years mechanical signals to indicate turns would be standard equipment on all new cars made.

Another C.C.F. member, Robert Thornberry (CCF—Hamilton Centre) spoke in the housing debate. He said the houses referred to by the Premier as built last year would have been erected with or without last year's law. He urged the government to help improve the supply of building materials.

Mr. Park said the number was still 20,000 below what was needed to match the population increase.

Some financial companies were anxious for the government to stay out of house building and "the government is more anxious to please them than to please the people."

Phone System

Government proposals for the first exploratory steps toward an expected province-wide rural telephone system were placed before the legislature by G. H. Challies, vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

First move under Wednesday's new bill, Premier Frost told the House, would be consolidation of telephone equipment and experienced personnel from various government departments under Hydro Commission leadership.

The new section of the commission would confer with the present 518 rural telephone companies, said Mr. Frost, to decide on methods of improving telephone service, provide the companies with technical advice "and also purchase for them materials and equipment at once."

"It is desirable that there should be a period of investigation, after which it can be decided what course to take. It is quite probable that a telephone commission, somewhat after the lines of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, should be formed . . . and all are satisfied that this is the right course."

The premier listed present government facilities which could be used in improving rural phones—35,000 miles of rural power lines available for communications, private phone systems of the Hydro Commission, the Department of Lands and Forests and the Ontario Northland Railway and a section of the Municipal Affairs Department which has long supervised rural telephone matters.

Teplov sent the notice to officials of the United Nations-sponsored organization. It said the four-man team will observe meetings of the operations division and the communications division.

Predict Drop In Retail Butter Price

TORONTO, March 29 (CP). — An immediate drop in the retail price of butter was predicted Wednesday by wholesalers who reported the wholesale price was off eight to 10 cents a pound. The retail price here Wednesday was 88 to 90 cents a pound.

Heavy supplies and buyer resistance to high prices were the reasons given for the price drop. Margarine sales in Toronto showed a gain of 25 per cent this week.

Down In West

Wholesale and retail butter prices dropped three cents a pound in Regina Wednesday as cream stocks from Saskatchewan dairies began pouring into creameries faster than at any time during the winter.

Butter retailed at 75 cents a pound. One chain store sold its own brand at 74 cents. The wholesale price was 73 cents a pound as compared with 76 cents Tuesday.

Wednesday's drop was the second this week. On Monday the retail price dropped to 78 cents a pound for an all-time high of 80 cents.

A similar three-cent price drop occurred in Winnipeg, where merchants said a further decline of three to four cents a pound is expected by the end of the week. Top-grade butter sold in Winnipeg at 78 cents as compared with the previous 81-cent level.

BRAVE LETTER CARRIER SNATCHES SMALL BOY FROM FIERY DEATH

James Philpott, of Toronto, suffers severe burns rescuing youngster from blazing Scarboro home

1. Postman James Philpott, gray-haired veteran of two wars, was delivering mail on Meadow Avenue in Scarboro. While handing letters to a lady at one door, she suddenly pointed to a cottage-style house across the street. Flames were coming from several of the windows! Without a second's hesitation, Philpott dropped his mail-bag and raced across the road.

2. A roaring mass of flames met him as he wrenched open the front door. From a back room came the hysterical cries of a child — pathetic screams that gave Philpott new courage as he plunged into the inferno. Finally he found the 4-year-old boy huddled on the floor . . . the fire licking closer and closer to him. The back door was locked and Philpott, carrying the child, had to fight his way to the front again.

3. Despite the fury of the fire, he managed to calm the boy enough to find out that there were no others in the house. Then, although both had been burned by melted, falling paint, he dashed through three blazing rooms and out the front door to safety. We are indeed proud to add the name of James Philpott to the list of those who have won The Dow Award.

Alimony Suit Embarrassing

TORONTO, March 29 (CP) — Dr. James L. Blaisdell testified in an Ontario Supreme Court hearing yesterday that he was forced to resign from the staffs of the London Sanitarium and the University of Western Ontario because of embarrassment over his wife's alimony suit against him.

Mrs. Blaisdell, separated from her husband since 1947, is asking $200 a month alimony. Her husband yesterday dropped a counter-claim for an annulment and offered to re-establish their broken home if Mrs. Blaisdell met the costs of the legal action.

In evidence yesterday, Mrs. Blaisdell charged—and Dr. Blaisdell denied—that he had been drinking heavily when they lived together in Ottawa and Timmins.

"I might have been drunk on occasion," Dr. Blaisdell said.

One of Mrs. Blaisdell's two sons by her previous marriage said his mother and stepfather had quarrelled continually when he lived with them in Timmins.

Mother Driving Sick Baby Leaves OPP Escort Behind

TORONTO, March 29.—Mrs. Walter Whitelaw of Hamilton outdistanced half of her provincial police escort along the Queen Elizabeth Highway Wednesday in an 85-mile-an-hour dash to save her baby's life.

Her 2-year-old son, Danny is resting comfortably in the Hospital for Sick Children recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

According to police, Mrs. Whitelaw's baby was given a tonsil operation 10 days ago. He developed pneumonia as a result and his mother decided to bring him to Toronto.

The Provincial Police sent two police cruisers to escort the Whitelaws to this city. While Mr. Whitelaw sat and held little Danny, his wife proceeded to give two provincial police officers the time of their lives.

One police car led the way and the other followed the Whitelaw car. Mrs. Whitelaw pushed her accelerator down and kept a steady speed of 85 from Hamilton to Toronto. The police car in front, siren screaming full blast, managed to keep in front of her. But the second car soon dropped behind.

When a city police cruiser picked the Whitelaw car up at the city limits to escort it the rest of the way to hospital, the one provincial cruiser stopped for coffee after the ride. There was no sign of the second car that began the escort with him. By radio the second driver reported he was still several miles from the city.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 29 — (ENS)—The Young People's Society of St. John's United Church held their regular meeting this week in the form of an Easter party. The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith opened the meeting with the singing of hymn 86, then the social convener, Rose Simpson, took charge of the worship service. Pat Armstrong read the Easter message.

Mr. Smith gave a talk on the appearance of Christ to His disciples after the Resurrection. He illustrated his talk with pictures depicting their meeting with Him and showing Christ's place in the home. Walter Elliott favored the group with a solo, and Rose Simpson led in prayer.

Earl Taft, vice-president, took over the meeting and welcomed three visitors to the gathering. It was decided to invite the English Line YPU to a party April 9.

Phyllis Higham and Earl Taft presented Rose Simpson with a lamp as a pre-wedding present and a token of appreciation from the group.

Everyone divided into groups and the boys united their efforts to produce some novel Easter bonnets from crepe paper. Barbara Finley received the prize for the prettiest bonnet. Dr. Smith directed games, and the meeting closed after refreshments were served.

Chinese Communists Control West Tibet

KALIMPONG, India, March 29 — (AP) — Chinese Communists based in Sinkiang province have assumed effective control of Western Tibet, forcing the Dalai Lama's viceroy to flee to his winter capital at Gargunsa, it was reported here today.

Reliable sources arriving here from Yatung, the Dalai Lama's provisional capital since he fled southward from Lhasa, said that all but one of Western Tibet's district governors also have fled.

The reports said the Communists also were in control of Northern Tibet and a large Communist force had reached Nagchu Dzong, north of Lhasa.

Reports from Yatung Wednesday said the Dalai Lama, the country's young ruler, had named a new pro-Communist Prime Minister who would head a peace-seeking mission to Peiping.

Plan Junior AA

OTTAWA, March 29—(CP)—A junior branch of Alcoholics Anonymous to help youthful drunkards reform is planned for Canada's capital, the Rev. John Linton, general secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation, said Wednesday night. "It's not true that all alcoholics are old people," he said. Ottawa Alcoholics Anonymous had reported to him a number of cases in which persons joining the organization started to drink when they were nine years old.

Canadian Radio Has Lost Chanteuse Gisele To US

TORONTO (CP)—One of Canada's top radio entertainers, the French-Canadian Chanteuse Gisele, has accepted a United States offer and will broadcast over American networks henceforth.

The lovely French-Canadian girl from Winnipeg, whose full name is Gisele La Fleche, will live in Hollywood and starts in April on Bob Crosby's Club Fifteen show. Gisele will share singing honors with Jo Stafford, appearing on alternate programs.

She isn't the first Canadian to go abroad in search of greater radio opportunities, of course, and she won't be the last. And Gisele isn't likely to return for some time. After guest appearances on Edgar Bergen's show from Atlanta, Ga., and another spot with Morton Downey, she signed a fiveyear contract with the sponsors of Club Fifteen.

Gisele, now 24 years old, started as a violinist but began singing for the troops and that led her into radio. She had 26 weeks on a Montreal department store radio program and starred on the government's "Comrades In Arms" program in 1949.

Summer Program

April starts another summer series of the CBC "Summer Fallow" program, replacing the wintertime National Farm Radio forum on Monday nights. The series covers a wide range of topics from coast to coast and while it is aimed at the agricultural community it has wide appeal for other classes.

New writers and radio artists are being introduced this year, and among topical programs are scripts dealing with fishing off the Grand Banks; the oyster farmers of the Maritimes; the country veterinary surgeon, lawyer, and hired man; general farm and rural topics including the country general store, rabbit raising in British Columbia, and the like.

The line-up includes a biographical tribute to Canada's youngest Dean of agriculture, J. W. Grant McEwan of the University of Manitoba. Another program will be in the form of a tribute to David Mills, called the Father of scientific agriculture in Ontario.

Soil conservation and the battle against mice, the Winnipeg goldeye and the hazards of livestock production afford material for others in the series which continues until the farm forum resumes in October.

Make 3 Ports Ghost Towns

TOKYO, March 29—(AP)—United Nations naval bombardments have reduced three North Korean ports to ghost towns, Rear Admiral Allan E. Smith said today.

Civilians have fled the three cities — Wonsan, Songjin and Chongjin. But Red troops must stay to guard against U.N. landing.

"You can't drive a car through Wonsan," Smith said. 'You can't sleep in the town, except the sleep of death."

Wonsan has been shelled for 41 consecutive days. More than 40,000 rounds have been poured into the city. And the shelling goes on.

Smith's fleet consists of warships of five countries—U.S., United Kingdom, Australia, Netherlands, and South Korea. Smith said his blockade has absolute control over 250 miles of Red coast line.

Half A Man For Education Not Good Enough

We have come to expect lively discussion and some interesting suggestions from the annual meeting of the Ontario Educational Association. We think that the delegates at this year's session have the support of those people in Ontario who are truly concerned about education when they ask that the post of Minister of Education be regarded as a full-time job, and not as one which can be combined with the premiership or another portfolio. Some very able men have served this province in that position; the names of Howard Ferguson, George Henry and George Drew come immediately to mind; but these gentlemen combined the Department of Education with the heavy duties of Premier, which meant that education had to be content with the leftovers of their time and energy. There was a period of advance in the Department during the tenure of Dr. Duncan MacArthur, but it was all too short. At present Mr. Dana Porter divides himself between Education and the heavy tasks of Attorney-General; but is it fitting that the Department of Education should be headed by half a man?

* * *

This habit of Cabinet pluralism is directly responsible for many of the things that are wrong with education in Ontario at present. For there are many things wrong with our provincial educational system, and many people are conscious of them. We talk a great deal about Education in Ontario, but we are too convinced of our own virtue and excellence in that respect to be quite safe. The fact is that the Ontario educational system won high praise in the U.S.A. two or three decades ago, and we are still basking in that glory; we have made no great strides since. The plain fact is that many people in Ontario are concerned about the sort of education their children are getting, and are at least equally concerned with the education which they are not getting. It appears that the standard of true education is falling, and universities complain that children reach them from the provincial schools ill-prepared for higher education.

* * *

This state of affairs may be traced, without much trouble, to the fact that the portfolio of education in the Ontario Cabinet is regarded as a part-time job. The Minister does not give enough energy to it, and in many cases he is not qualified to express any opinions about education which go beyond the usual platitudes to the effect that education is a good thing and that everybody ought to have some of it.

* * *

The Minister depends, in his decisions, upon his higher assistants in the Department, and the melancholy fact is that, although some of these gentlemen are energetic and able, they are hindered in their work by others of their number who have been too long in their jobs, and who appear to have lost any power of decision which they ever possessed. The Department of Education is full of dead wood, and it is high time that it was cleaned out and re-organized. But is a part-time Minister, imperfectly acquainted with the needs and procedures of education, capable of such reform? Of course not.

* * *

What Ontario needs is a first-rank educationist as Minister of Education; there are such men on both sides of the political fence, and we are sure that one of them could be elected to the Legislature. A Minister of Education ought to be a man who has been, or is capable of being, the head of a university. Such a man could houseclean the Department, and reclaim Ontario education from the muddle into which it has slipped during years of part-time, superficial guidance. Such reform is long overdue, for education in Ontario at present is as shallow as it can get without becoming farcical.

The Boot On The Other Leg

The Agricultural Committee of the Legislature, in its laughable crusade to save Ontario from margarine, has recommended amendments to the margarine control law which would make it impossible for any advertisement for margarine to state or imply that this food was related to any dairy product; margarine advertisements would not even be allowed to show a dairy scene. As margarine contains a good deal of milk, this seems strange, but the contortions of the dairy lobby have always been strange.

The margarine manufacturers, of course, have it in their power to retort to this foolishness with some interesting advertising of their own. Suppose, for instance, a margarine advertisement showed a picture of a dairy-cow which had, as cows tend to do, rolled in its own manure, with the legend: "Eat the products of this filthy animal? Ugh! Eat chemically pure margarine!" Another advertisement might read: "Where does your food begin? In a filthy barnyard or in the antiseptic atmosphere of our factory? Make sure the food your children eat is CLEAN!" Or, more simply: "A peanut never gets TB, but a cow does: Eat Margarine." Or, "Have you ever smelled a dairy on a hot day? Phew! Try margarine, the food you can buy without gagging!" A strong campaign of this kind would quickly persuade the public that butter was a thing to be avoided.

Agriculturists and dairy producers would do well to remember that Ontario is now primarily a province of town-dwellers and factory and office workers. Such people might well prefer to eat a product from a factory instead of the product of that mysterious, remote and possibly insanitary place, a farm. A farm or dairy scene on an advertisement might be a business killer, instead of a business getter.

The Provincials Blockade Peterborough

All highways to and from Peterborough were blocked Tuesday evening for hours by Provincial police. It was really rather thrilling. Quiet Peterborough drivers sauntering down to Port Hope came over the crest of a hill near the County line and suddenly were confronted by a car set ominously sideways to the road, other stopped cars' lights glaring, and flashlights blinking. An accident? Something's up, anyway.

We drove up to the cross-road with care, stopped when a flashlight was waved, and leaned out the window. Ah! the car blocking the road sideways is a Provincial Police cruiser. No accident at all. A policeman comes over, throws the beam of his light on our face, says mysteriously, sombrely: "Have we had you before?"

Now, that is a puzzling question to answer. But apparently the policeman doesn't want an answer; he is only making small-talk while his eyes take in the occupants of the car, the licence and model. "All right," he says, "Go ahead; watch out for the cars ahead."

We drive on meekly instead of blurting out our wild curiosity: why the road block? What are they looking for? A loose murderer? A rum-runner? A baby-snatcher? A thief? A cargo of illicit diamonds?

An hour later, on the way back from Port Hope we can hardly wait to get to the place of the road-block. Is it still blocked? Has the wanted been found? Sure enough, there is the road-block again, but now the O.P.P. cruiser is not across the road, but purring beside it ready to pounce on any suspect attempting to drive through at 100 miles an hour. And now the policeman's flashlight is dim—battery run down from so much flagging of cars. We open the window and before the officer has time to say "Have we had you before?" we say: "We have been here before."

It is all very exciting. This time our curiosity has a lid over it. It's better to keep the reason of the road-block a mystery. It might turn out to be something very hum-drum, a search for Husband X to tell him to report to the hospital where his wife had just been taken to have her first baby. Anyway, we are sure that the police would not blurt out to a mere passer-by like ourself why they are stopping cars. "We have our reasons," they would undoubtedly darkly say.

We drive on. A minute later the cruiser is suddenly on our tail. It speeds right up to our bumper. Its lights outline everyone in the car. Apparently satisfied with this re-check on our licence number and the backs of our heads, the cruiser falls back and we drive along quietly and alone through the night.

These alert fellows, the reporters, will not be fobbed off by any such answers as the police would have given us. Sure enough, it was all in the Examiner yesterday. All highways to Peterborough were blocked Tuesday evening in the hope of catching some bank robbers making off with a $5,000 swag from Colborne. Road blocks had been set up all over the district within twenty minutes of the discovery of the Colborne robbery. It goes to show how efficient the O.P.P. and their radio network and cruisers are, doesn't it? And it is really very exciting; gave us something to talk about all the way home, and even today, for the blockade has continued.

Russia's Ogre: Starvation

by EDWARD CRANKSHAW

IN two previous articles I considered the size and condition of the Soviet Army. The conclusion reached was that although it is very much the most powerful military machine in the world, it is not quite so formidable as its size would suggest. But an army does not function in a vacuum: it has to be supplied and sustained by the home-front. And in considering the effectiveness of the Soviet Army we have to ask whether the Soviet economy is capable of supporting it through a major war.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO matter how great the initial successes of the Russians in any attack on the West, from the first day of the campaign the whole apparatus of Anglo-American airpower, including the atom-bomb would be brought to bear on the cities of the Soviet Union and on the vital centres of the long lines of communication of the Soviet armies. At the same time the British Empire and the U.S.A. would be building up their land-forces and exploiting their naval supremacy. It is estimated by military experts that for a sustained major war the Soviet Union would have to supply from eight to ten million men to its armed forces, at the expense of industry and agriculture.

✧ ✧ ✧

STALIN, when he thinks of war with the West, has thus to take into consideration many factors beside the fighting strength of the peace-time armed forces. He has to think about his industrial capacity in general, and oil in particular; he has to think about his transport, his food supply; he has to think about the morale of the Russian people and the reliability of the East European satellites; above all, he has to think about his man-power.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE are so accustomed to thinking of Soviet man-power as inexhaustible that it may seem strange to start an appreciation of Soviet strength with an enquiry into numbers. But in fact the man-power of the Soviet Union is very far from being inexhaustible, although until very recently the Soviet leaders, slaves of tradition, have behaved as though it was. Nobody knows the exact population of the Soviet Union, including the post-war annexations (the Baltic States, the Polish Ukraine, etc.); but it is something in the neighbourhood of 200 million. Thus the vast area of the Soviet Empire which bulks stupendously on the map as one sixth of all the land in the world, carries a population only four times larger than that of Great Britain. It barely exceeds, that is to say, the populations of Great Britain and the United States (America has about 140 million) combined.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT present there are known to be some 35 million workers employed in industry and nearly 50 million in agriculture. The white-collar classes, the army and police, and the population of the labour camps account for the rest of the adult population. In agriculture — so urgent is the need for man-power in the factories—women greatly outnumber men.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS labour force, plus some millions in the labour camps who appear in no statistics, is required to feed the Soviet Union and supply it with the sinews of war. At the moment the armed forces dispose of some three millions (Mr. Strachey's recent figure of four millions was arrived at by including the military formations of the police, which have never been used to fight even in the most desperate crises.) To sustain a major war the Kremlin would have to call on another five to seven million, taking these from industry and agriculture.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE crux of the matter is agriculture. Any serious depletion of the agricultural labour force would bring the country to the brink of starvation. During the last war the whole population of the Soviet Union was seriously undernourished and some millions died of hunger. This was due in the first instance that quite early in the struggle the Germans occupied the great grain-producing, areas of the Ukraine; this pattern would not be repeated in a future war. But this was not the only cause of the trouble: over large areas of Russia during the last war the collectives failed to do their duty, partly because not an able-bodied man was left and the work was too much for the women and children and old men, partly because the heart of many of the peasant women was not in the war (this applied particularly to 1941 and 1942). I myself in those early days saw endless acres of grain being left to rot in the fields, far from the front line, simply because the remaining peasants were weary and disillusioned and knew there was nothing to buy with the money they might earn.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS pattern would certainly be repeated in any future war. Further, such is the state of agriculture in the Soviet Union that today, thirty years after the Revolution, and with all the proud boasts of mechanization, the production of grain (which is the measure of all food in a land where meat and butter and fresh vegetables and fish are considered as luxuries), is still lower per head of population than it was in 1914. It is lower, even, than it was in 1940, on the eve of the last war. For although the Soviet Union has added rich agricultural land to its territory, it has also added the populations of the annexed lands and their cities. And in spite of this increase of territory and population the harvests of 1949 and 1950 barely exceeded the harvest of 1940.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the reality behind the new agricultural revolution now being carried out in the teeth of popular resistance—a move to rationalize, cost what it may, the primitive techniques of the Soviet countryside. It is a revolution which cannot possibly pay dividends for at least ten years to come. Until then, the subsistence margin in the Soviet cities will be perilously narrow.

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

TAXI!

At an all-in wrestling contest the main bout was between a giant Cossack and a Scots champion. The M.C. announced the Cossack first, and on the stage strode the giant figure, clad, not in the usual dressing-gown, but in a resplendent brass-buttoned, general's-cum-commissionaire's red overcoat. As soon as he was on the stage he raised his hand aloft in salute.

It was an effective entry, but it was speedily spoiled by a loud voice from the gallery shouting "Taxi!"

IN HIS TRUE LIGHT

Letters To The Editor

BIBLE MESSAGE APPRECIATED

Sir: I hasten to answer your editorial "Does anyone read the Bible Message", appearing in last night's edition of your paper.

May I commend you for continuing the practice of printing these messages—God's Word to man,—each day, even though other newspapers have discontinued to do so. I can say that there is a seeming lack of interest in this article; but may I beg of you to continue publishing it. 'Tis true, that folk do not bother to tell you how much it is appreciated. But they do, nonetheless.

And for the sake of the untold number of invalids and bed-ridden people, who can read, but cannot write,—(they are too feeble), please do not eliminate these daily articles, which help to remind us that even in this world of turmoil, God is still on His throne.

With every good wish,
Yours sincerely,
CYRIL EVERITT (MAJOR),
President, Ministerial Association.

LIBERTY TO PRINT SCRIPTURES

Sir: With regard to your question "Does anybody read our Bible Message, or care whether we print it or not?" Yes, Mr. Editor, writing for my wife and myself; we care.

I'm sorry to learn the reason for inserting a portion of God's Holy Word in the daily newspaper—a custom from bygone days to fill up an awkward gap. To think of this day in which we live—just a glance at today's front page—war, peace talk, atomic bomb, perjury, robbery, crimes and murder. Yes, Mr. Editor, surely you have just a little corner to print a verse or two from the Precious Bible each day. You may wonder how many read your daily Bible Message—God knows. We are living in Canada, not Russia; where you have the liberty to print a portion of the Bible and anyone may read it. We do hope and pray that you will continue to print your column "Bible Message".

A Customer,
W. P. LAVERTY.

NOTHING MORE NECESSARY

Sir: I wish to say how much I would regret your leaving out the Bible Message each day. I always read it. I have often remarked that the Examiner is one of the few papers that reserves a space for a portion from the Book of Books.

I realize you could use the space for something "more popular", but certainly not anything more necessary in these days of perplexity and tension.

I hope you continue the editorial page as it is now. I enjoy it every day—all of it.

Very truly yours,
(MISS) L. A. SIMPSON.

LIKES TO HEAR BOTH SIDES

Sir: Re your editorial, "Does anybody read the Bible Message?" I would like to say "I do".

Although I am not a regular reader of your paper owing to my being out of town each week-end I do have the privilege possibly four or five times each week.

I usually make it a point to read "The Message" and although you might find a more popular message (to some) or I should say subject to occupy the space I do not believe you could find a more important subject. This is my first letter of this kind and I would like to say here that I also read your "Letters to the Editor" section—that is —I read those that appeal to me—e.g., bus service, discussions on England etc. Re: bus service—while I admit there have been cold days when I found myself wondering if the driver had dropped in for a beer, I also realize the many factors which affect a timetable. I would like to add that during my 10 years here in Peterborough and using the P.B.L. I have yet to find a discourteous driver on the Byersville route. Re England— I came from there in 1928 as a $10.00 per month immigrant. I have many fond memories of my childhood there (also some not so fond), but I have found this country to be all a man could wish for. Sure I have had to work but the co-operation of the people who worked alongside me has helped me over the rough spots—as far as the advertising on the other side goes—it is no different from advertising the world over and it depends upon how gullible the reader is—also what effort he or she exerts to make the ad come true.

There are many other interesting (to me) subjects in the "Letters to Ed." section and I reserve the right to hold my own opinion of same BUT I am pleased to see you publish both sides of a question which in my opinion is as it should be. We can read the letters but we do not necessarily have to accept their contents. Hoping you will see fit to retain the "Bible Message" in your paper and thanking you for the privilege of expressing my opinion.

I remain,
Yours truly,
R. MARKER.

EASILY READ IN NEWSPAPER

Sir: In response to inquiry as to whether or not the people read the Bible Message, we would like to say that we read it and enjoy it. We would like to see it continued in your paper.

In these days the Word of God is read much too seldom and it is an excellent idea to have it in the daily newspaper where many people will read it without taking the trouble to read their Bible.

Trusting you will receive many such replies as this.

We remain,
Yours truly,
MR. AND MRS. H. C. PULLYBLANK.

ED. NOTE: Brief letters in support of the Bible Message have also been received from Mrs. Thomas Menzies, Mrs. Mary Reid (Keene), Mrs. Walter Allen, John J. Coones (Lakefield), Mrs. Raines, Mrs. May Johnston, Mrs. R. Bonney, Mary G. Bowers, Evangeline Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. A. Macklin, Mrs. Greta Derrick, M. H. Massey, H. E. Choate, Edna Robinson, Loreta Sedgwick, C. Guerin, Maretta Adamson.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there sat a certain man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, being a cripple from his mother's womb, who never had walked: the same heard Paul speak: who stedfastly beholding him, and perceiving that he had faith to be healed, said with a loud voice, Stand upright on thy feet. And he leaped and walked, and when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted up their voices saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The gods are come down to us in the likeness of men....

Then the priest of Jupiter, which was before the city, brought oxen and garlands unto the gates, and would have done sacrifice with the people. Which when the apostles, Barnabas and Paul, heard of, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying out, and saying, Sirs, why do ye these things? We also are men of like passions with you, and preach unto you that ye should turn from these vanities unto the living God, which made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein....And with these sayings scarce restrained they the people, that they had not done sacrifice unto them.

And there came thither certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who persuaded the people, and having stoned Paul, drew him out of the city, supposing he had been dead. Howbeit, as the disciples stood round him he rose up, and came into the city: and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

And when they had preached the gospel to that city, and had taught many, they returned again to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioch, confirming the souls of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God. (Acts 14: 8-11, 13-15, 18-22.)

A New Highway

(Sudbury Star)

The joint announcement by Sudbury and Parry Sound members of the Ontario Legislature, Hon. Welland S. Gemmell and Allister Johnston, that the first motor traffic will roll over the Sudbury-Parry Sound highway in July of this year, is news of great moment to both districts.

It will mark the end of the 'round-the-world route by which people travelling from Southern Ontario by highway reached Sudbury, Manitoulin Island and Sault Ste. Marie. It will likewise mean that people of this district will no longer be required to take the world highway cruise to reach Toronto.

One of the very important things also, will be that of bringing Sudbury markets closer to the people of Parry Sound.

The real value of the highway link rests in the saving of time and distance in reaching Southern Ontario from the vast section of the province lying to the west of North Bay.

HOW MUCH?

"I can't stand this money—money—money business much longer. The next time you mention money, I'll leave you."

"How much, dear?"

"Now you've all decided it's cheaper to go by bus, I suppose, I'll have to go by train."

Franco-British Turf Duel Starts Saturday

By VERNON MORGAN

LINCOLN, England, March 29 (Reuters)— First major Franco-British duel of the 1951 British turf season is expected to feature the one-mile Lincoln Handicap Saturday.

Carrying French silks will be the Comte de Chambure's Astromonte, assigned 111 pounds and ridden by Rae (Snapper) Johnstone, Australian-born invader who carried off four English classics for French owners last season.

The home-bred hope is E. Wanless' Masked Light, top weighted at 126, with champion jockey Gordon Richards—winner of last year's Lincoln on Dramatic—in the saddle.

Masked Light currently reigns a 6-to-1 favorite with Astromonte quoted second at 11-to-2.

About 30 other horses—one of the smallest fields in several years—will contest the £1,820 (about $5,460) added sweepstake. One of England's prettiest racing venues, the course stands in the lee of the ancient cathedral city of Lincoln.

Frequent Successes

If the French threat wins the Lincoln it will be the first time since Tapin's victory in 1925. But French successes have grown more and more frequent on British tracks since the Second World War and it never pays to overlook the trans-channel challenge.

Among other English horses shooting for the Lincoln, the best-backed is A. Francis' Flower Dust, ridden by P. Maher and carrying 120. Bookies make this a 10-1 chance and rate Eph Smith's mount, Richard Louis, fourth favorite at 100-to-6. Smith has won three Lincolns in recent seasons.

At 25-to-1 is Seconds Out, aptly-named entrant of boxing promoter Jack Solomons. Track gossip says Solomons has backed his four-year-old heavily enough to win more than £50,000 (about $150,000) if the colt comes home on top.

Niagara Team Wins Basketball Title

TORONTO, March 29 (CP)—Niagara Falls Red Raiders Wednesday night won the Ontario interscholastic basketball championship, defeating Toronto Humberside Collegiate 43-32 in the final game of an elimination tournament.

Sudbury high school took the consolation cup, defeating Hamilton Central Secondary School 41-36 on the strength of a fourth-quarter rally.

Earlier, Niagara Falls had entered the final round by beating Windsor Patterson Collegiate 59-49. Humberside had beaten Sudbury Tecn 45-32 to reach the final.

Find $33,736

YONKERS, N.Y., March 29 — (AP) — Two grade-school boys poking through the attic of a vacant house Wednesday found a can containing $33,736.25, more than $500 of it in gold coins. The money was claimed by a bank as trustee of the estate of the late owner of the house, Mrs. Franklin D. Bigelow, who died Aug. 16.

THIS IS THE BIG MONEY GOAL—Maurce Richard of Montreal Canadiens is partly screened here by Red Kelly, Detroit, Red Wings' star defense-man in first game of Stanley Cup playdowns, but you can see the rocket raising his stick in triumph. The cameraman was a split second late at that. For the puck (see arrow) has rebounded from the cords as Terry Sawchuk sprawls head-first away out of the goal. Canadiens won 3 to 2.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Arctic Gold, British-bred steeplechaser owned by American sportsman Jock Whitney, remained a 15-2 favorite Wednesday night for the Grand National Steeplechase.

The 4½-mile jumping classic is scheduled at Aintree, near Liverpool, Saturday, April 7. A field of 42 horses is expected to start.

A bookmakers' callover Wednesday night gave odds on 20 of the horses, with the rest of the field quoted at 100 to 1 against.

Freebooter, winner of last year's Grand National, and Shagreen were second favorites at 9 to 1. Next came Roimond at 100 to 8.

In New York, Dr. Forest C. (Phog) Allen, stormy petrel of college athletics, called Wednesday for college presidents to surrender their power to a national commissioner who would receive $100,000 yearly.

"Until we get a national commissioner of intercollegiate sport we will never put a ceiling on aid for athletes," said the Kansas basketball coach at a luncheon given by the New York Herald-Tribune for its east-west basketball game.

"I was told that Bobby Reynolds (all-America halfback at the University of Nebraska) was offered $10,000 and a Cadillac to go to some other school," said Allen. "He didn't go. That raises the question of what he gets at Nebraska."

Baseball leaders, fans, state and city officials thronged the Church of Advent (Episcopal) Wednesday for the funeral of Eddie Collins, 63, one of baseball's immortals and a member of the game's Hall of Fame.

A requiem mass was celebrated for the Boston Red Sox vice-president who died Sunday after a 44-year career as player, manager coach and executive with Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and the Red Sox.

Mrs. Ted Williams, wife of the Red Sox slugger, represented her husband. It was Collins who brought "the splendid splinter" to the Boston club during his brief service as a scout.

Police are looking along the athletic seaboard for at least four more fixers of college basketball games, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Wednesday night. He added that "one or more of the four sought may have had confederates, fellow-conspirators."

Seventeen college basketball players have been arrested in New York since the biggest scandal in intercollegiate sports exploded some weeks ago.

PORT HOPE, March 29.—William Lightle was re-elected president of the Port Hope Intermediate Baseball Club at the organizational meeting of the executive. Bernie Lawson was named vice-president and Harold Tozer secretary. A treasurer will be elected later.

The team will again be entered in the Lake Shore League OBA group this season. It was eliminated in the final by Cobourg last year. The Bowmanville Legion Challenge Trophy, won by Port Hope for the first time last year, will be defended in Bowmanville June 30.

Gas and Stomach Disorders Made Him Tired, Rundown

Couldn't sleep well, got dizzy spells, "very poor appetite, had no energy," says this man. Tells how Syntona helped him.

MR. OLIVER GUILFOYLE

When the stomach is out of order and food fails to digest properly many common symptoms may follow. Appetite is frequently lost and you may feel fatigued, nervous and unable to get sound sleep. Constipation, backache, sick throbbing headache and dizzy feelings are just a few of the symptoms which may add to your suffering.

Syntona Herbal Compound has proved highly beneficial for men and women suffering this way because it acts on kidneys, liver and bowels while at the same time relieving the sick, upset condition of the digestive system. "It is a medicine which every person should know about," said Mr. Oliver Guilfoyle, Granton, Ont., in a recent report.

"I don't know what I would have done without Syntona. I was suffering terribly with gas, cramps and constipation. I got awful dizzy feelings, couldn't get my proper sleep, and had no desire to eat. Syntona was the only thing that would settle my stomach and help make me feel better, so I decided to take it regularly for awhile and almost each day I could see that I was improving. Now, it has cleared up all the gas, cramps and other distress in my stomach. Constipation is relieved, my appetite has returned, sleep is sound and restful and I am feeling like myself once again.

"I have no hesitation in recommending Syntona to anyone suffering as I did."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

Local boys and girls playing at the Granite Club, Toronto, yesterday, did not do too well. It could have been an off-day.

Ray Best lost his first, won the second and lost the third; A. W. Smith won his first, lost his second, and Gar. Grown lost two straights. Dr. C. McKee and Dr. R. Clark are playing today. The 'spiel concludes Friday.

The semi-finals and the finals in both the Sturgeon main event and the consolation event will be played Saturday night.

This information came to us recently: the ladies' annual banquet and meeting will be held at the Kawartha Club, Wednesday, April 11.

We don't know what the program is for the remainder of the season. We'll look around this evening and maybe have something for Friday's column.

Final games for the intermediate and senior girl basketeers will be staged tomorrow eve in the YWCA, starting at 7.15. Lindsay edged Black's 28-27 in the opener of the two-game intermediate playoffs, so the return should be a keen one with a title at stake. Neill's took a 51-39 victory over Nurses in the senior fray, and the latter will have to hustle in the return match or they've had it. The junior finals betwixt CGE and Normals will start next week. Meantime, the PCVS midget boys are in a tournament down Kingston way this week-end, and there'll be a playoff tournament later in Peterborough. Basketball is just about over for this season.

The puck-carrying race by speedy hockeyists, going against the clock, will be held tonight at eight or shortly after. Between two hockey games staged in connection with "PMHA Night" at Civic Arena. We mentioned some of the faster players the other evening, but not all of them by any means. The race is open to anyone in the city or district of junior age or over—and fast-stepping hockeyists should take a crack at it. Mayor Max Swanston has put up a trophy for annual competition in this event, and there'll also be first and second prizes of 40 bucks and 10. Bill McMaster won the race last year.

Former Hockey Stars

The evening there (proceeds going to aid minor hockey in the city) starts at seven when Lakefield and Clapper's have their final PMHA juvenile playoff, each having won a game. Then the races, followed at 8.30 by an interesting exhibition between the junior Oddfellows and the oldtime Petes, as lined up by Red Creighton. Seeing some of those stars of a decade ago in ice action once more will revive pleasant memories for most of us. Pretty much the same squad which won the Eastern Canada title in 1940. We trust the whole gang shows up as it could be a right nifty struggle before a big crowd. Harold Cotton will be here. Drop around and have fun, folks, and also help keep minor hockey going here.

While Leafian fans were happy to hear that Al Rollins had won the Vezina Trophy as top goalie, many puck followers believe Terry Sawchuk of Detroit really rated it. It's true that Rollins let in one goal less than Sawchuk during the NHL schedule, but tall Al played in only 40 league games while Terry had to labor in all 70. Any time Rollins didn't feel up to par—or if Conn Smythe felt Turk Broad might go better, like against Detroit — Al sat it out and Broda tended goal. But Sawchuk had to go in every game no matter how he felt and regardless of how tough was the opposition. There should be a better method of deciding the trophy winner, we feel.

Brintons Take Title

About 1,400 Belleville fans saw Peterborough Brintons capture the Trent Valley Hockey League title last night, beating Trenton Taximen 11-5 to take the final series in four games. Jack Harris' squad were trailing 5-4 going into the third but erupted then to fire seven straight cookies into the Trenton twine, Ace Reid and Harold Willshaw proving the payoff men. Whole team was in fine fettle, from Goalie Byers out and the bunch may be justly proud of their first-year accomplishment. They lost but four loop games all season and dropped just one in the playoffs. League president Art Duncan presented the winners' trophy to Ken Anderson, team captain, at the finish while the fans cheered and the Taximen congratulated the classy Brintons. Our congrats, too.

Same applies to the Omemee Black Hawks, who last night in Lindsay defeated Oxford Centre to win the Ontario Rural Hockey Association intermediate "A" championship in two straight games. Grabbed the first one a few nights earlier in Woodstock. Nice work, Hawks. This team has been dishing up good hockey for years on their own—though combining with the Petes for some seasons during the war and immediately after. Many local fans will recognize the names of veteran Black Hawk performers, some of whom have been at it as long as we can recall. Like big Tom Parsons, for instance, and his brother Floyd. Jamieson is another. Yes, they've had many hectic hockey battles in the Omemee arena, in the old Brock St. rink, and in far-off centres. Last night, Bill Parker, Orland Crawford and Hubert Fox, as a line, accounted for eight of the 14 goals.

White Sox Sure Boston Trade Boosts Chances

By GAYLE TALBOT.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29 — (AP). — Nothing has happened yet to convince Chicago White Sox that they did not at least break even with Boston in the winter's biggest player deal, or that they are not on their way up in the American League.

Paul Richards, thin, square-jawed new pilot of the Comiskey clan, has whipped his athletes into shape under a vigorous training routine. Maybe they are not any better than the team which finished sixth last year, but they at least look better.

From Boston the White Sox got a run-producing outfielder in Al Zarilla, who hit .325 for Boston last year; Joe Dobson, a veteran right-hand pitcher; and Dick Littlefield, a promising young southpaw.

To get these men, the Sox surrendered pitchers Bill Wight and Ray Scarborough.

If left-fielder Gus Zernial gets off to as great a start as he did last year and keeps it up, the Sox will get some runs. Gus hit 29 home runs and drove in 93 scores last season.

First-baseman Ed Robinson hit .311 after joining the Sox last year from Washington. Chico Carrasquel, the team's superb shortstop, was a troublesome .282 hitter. Dave Philley, whom Richards is transforming from an outfielder into a third-baseman this spring, drove in 80 runs last year.

May Make Fifth Spot

Experts travelling with the Sox think they might climb over Washington into fifth place. There even has been talk about beating Detroit out of its place in the first division.

The Sox are fairly well blessed with pitchers. Bob Cain and Billy Pierce are considered among the finest southpaws in the game. Howie Judson is one of the league's better right-handers, and Luis Aloma one of its best relief pitchers.

In addition, there is one Marvin Rotblatt, young southpaw who won 22 while losing only nine at Memphis.

As of this season, the team has two better-than-average catchers in Phil Masi and Gus Niarhos. Gus hit .324 after switching from the Yanks last year.

Nelson Fox, a fine fielder if indifferent hitter, will again do most of the second-basing, and Floyd Baker fills in competently either at third or second. Veteran Hank Majeski, who hit .309 in 12 games last year, is available at third, depending upon how well Philley does.

STILL IN RUNNING

George Chenier, Canadian champion from Toronto, remained in the running for the Ralph Greenleaf memorial pocket-billiards championship Wednesday night with a 125-111 victory over U.S. champion Joe Canton of Watervliet, N. Y., at Philadelphia.

Brintons Gain TVL Crown Ousting Trenton In Finals

Championship hockey honors came to Peterborough last night as Jack Harris' fighting Brinton Carpet team defeated Trenton Taximen 11-5 in a stirring two-way duel at the Belleville Arena to win their best-of-five final series for the Trent Valley League title in four games.

President Art Duncan presented Captain Ken Anderson with the handsome league trophy immediately after the game as the Taximen congratulated Brintons and 1,400 Quinte district fans cheered the victors for a magnificent display. It was a good, clean game as was the entire series and the better team won on the play, though Trenton fought hard to the finish.

Rally In Third

Last night's struggle resembled the third in that Brintons staged a remarkable last period rally after starting the frame with a one-goal deficit with the home squad leading 5-4. But Brintons opened the third fast and sustained a whirlwind pace throughout to pump no less than seven tallies behind Bridgeman while Byers held the opposite citadel tight, despite many hard thrusts.

Ace Reid and Harold Willshaw led the sharpshooters in the dramatic finale, the former whistling four biscuits into the mesh by dint of speed and headwork, and he passed for another while the latter tallied one and assisted on four to prove equally effective in a great show and spark the victory march. Ken Lawson and Bill Huard each notched one in the final with Ken Anderson and Don McIndoo setting up the plays. Thus the game was virtually salted away in the one frame, after a nip and tuck battle for two spicy periods that captivated the large gathering.

Scored First

Trenton opened as Morris Jones and Don Barr clicked on close in ganging plays early. The Harris squad fought back and Lorne Eakins started them on the upgrade with a sharp drive to the upper left corner. Trenton tallied two more by the three-quarter mark by Black and McDonnel with Beale and Jones in but Reid and Bill Huard, who played a whale of a game at centre, regained this pair late in the stanza from Wilshaw and McIndoo to cut the homesters to a 4-3 edge on the period.

Close-checking hockey featured the mid-session with each team adding a counter, John Richlark at the quarter mark on a low wing drive while Henry Filion scored late on a mad scramble over the prostrate Byers. Play on the whole to this point was reasonably close with no pronounced margin either way though Taximen showed a slight edge in the first period.

Superior condition and reserve power paid off for Brintons in the last frame as they swarmed around Bridgeman like country cousins and left the weary Taxi defence flat-footed time and again with neat, well-timed passes. Their team-play was a treat to watch and the Peterborough boys got a big hand after a well-deserved triumph.

Decide Hamilton Stay In Lacrosse

HAMILTON, March 29—(CP)—Hamilton will be represented in senior lacrosse in the coming season, it was announced Wednesday night.

Doubt about whether the team would operate was removed by Lefty Jordan, Hamilton trainer who said the Tigers would be run on a co-operative basis with the players sharing the expenses and profits, if any.

Hornets Crush Indians 7-2, Make Semi-Final

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 29—(AP)—Pittsburgh's high flying Hornets today pointed for their semi-final Calder Cup series with the Hershey Bears after knocking the Springfield Indians out of the American Hockey League playoffs in three straight games.

Ray Mannigan socked home three goals and as many assists Wednesday night as the Pittsburghers belted hapless Springfield 7-2. The Hornets had blanked the locals in the two previous contests, 6-0 and 9-0.

Victory was doubly sweet to Pittsburgh which was first declared ineligible for the post-season games by league president Maurice Podoloff for using an ineligible player. Then the loop's board of governors reversed Podoloff.

Pittsburgh sewed things up in the first period on two goals by Hannigan and one by defenceman Frank Mathers. Springfield did the scoring in the next session with Leo Curick and Sammy Casanto lighting the lamp.

In the finale, Pittsburgh added four more, two by George Armstrong, one by Andy Barbe and another by Hannigan.

The Hornets and Hershey open their best of five series in Hershey Saturday with the other games scheduled as follows April 3, Hershey; April 5, 7 and 10, at Pittsburgh (last two if necessary).

The winner will meet Cleveland's Barons, who disposed of Buffalo in four straight playoff tilts.

All NHL Players Agree Semi-Finals To Be Tough

TORONTO, March 29—(CP)—Take it from the players themselves, this Toronto-Boston Stanley Cup semi-final is going to be "plenty tough."

Both clubs Wednesday night reviewed their series opened from different angles, but they were agreed a rugged battle is only beginning.

Bruins' dressing room sounded like a wild west show after their 2-0 victory over the Maple Leafs.

The reporters swarmed around goalie Jack Gelineau who turned in a superlative effort in shutting out the Leafs. "Yes, it was my first shutout over Toronto but I earned it tonight," he said, as he reached for a towel to wipe the perspiration.

"It's going to be a rough series, all right."

No Predictions

Coach Lynn Patrick was jubilant over Boston's first victory on Toronto ice this season. But he wasn't making any predictions as to who would win the semi-final round.

"You can say the first team that wins four games will take it," he said with a smile. "Like Jack said—it's going to be tough."

Patrick Singled out Bill Ezinicki, whom Leafs traded to the Bruins early this season, for special praise.

"Ezinicki tonight played the best game since he came to us. I don't think Conn Smythe will be any too happy about that."

Ezinicki, who played a bruising game from his right-wing spot said, "It sure feels good to win that first one, but we won't feel happy until we get all four of them."

The Leaf dressing room was quiet as the players hurried to the showers and changed to street clothes.

Smythe reminded reporters that "I told you two months ago that Boston would be a solid outfit.

"Give them a yard and they're hard to beat."

"We didn't have too much tonight," he added with a shrug.

Max Bentley, Leafs' dipsy-doodle centre, thought Gelineau played a good game. "In fact he played a perfect game, we couldn't beat him," he added as an afterthought.

"This series is going to be plenty tough before it's over."

Coach Joe Primeau echoed Bentley's opinion. He declined to predict who would win out.

Leafs Beat Hawks

Leafs ousted Hawks 2-1 in a sudden-death peewee hockey semi-final playoff at the arena, illness and holidays cutting down on both lineups. It was a hard-fought fray with Leafs having a bit more push, Johnson, Trotter, Longo and Ashby shining for them. Smillie and Stevens stood out for the losers. The latter got the Hawks' goal as Johnson and Playford counted for Leafs. Hawks drew three of the four penalties. Teams:

Hawks: Smillie, Hotston, Baker, Stewart, Stevens, Chesney, Haig, Olmstead, Kimball, Brown.

Leafs: Trotter, Aulbrook, Ashby, Burns, Shaw, Longo, Johnson, Playford, Lesurf, McFadden, Varga.

Referee, B. Huard.

Underdog Bruins Upset Toronto 2-0 In Opener Rollins Has Knee Injury

TORONTO, March 29. (CP)—Boston Bruins, who may well turn out to be the surprise package of the National Hockey League playoffs, hold the upper hand in their Stanley Cup series with the favored Toronto Maple Leafs. Bruins, classed as 3-to-1 underdogs in pre-game betting, upset the Maple Leafs 2-0 Wednesday night for a vital first-game victory in their best-of-seven semi-final series. And the Leafs are faced with the loss of their star rookie goalie, Al Rollins, for about 10 days.

Making the best of their scoring chances and backed by the superlative goaltending of Jack Gelineau, Boston hopped to a 1-0 lead in the first period and added a clinching goal early in the final frame.

Their win was convincing. They outhustled the Leafs from the opening whistle and played sound defensive hockey after Rookie Lorne Ferguson opened the scoring about the 16-minute mark of the game.

Ferguson, a 20-year-old left-pounced on the puck lying almost at Rollins' feet, and drilled it home from pointblank range.

Rookie Gets Chance

Ferguson's linemates, Johnny Peirson and Paul Ronty, had worked the puck around to the front of the Leaf net and a mental lapse by defenceman Fernie Flaman gave the rookie his chance.

Less than a minute later, Rollins strained a knee ligament when he charged out almost to the blueline to knock a loose puck away from Pete Horeck. Horeck, streaking in from the centre ice zone, collided with Rollins and the game was held up for about 10 minutes while the goalie went off for medical examination.

He attempted to return to play but found his knee would not respond. An intermission was called and the remaining three minutes were played just before the start of the second period.

May Be Out 10 Days

Veteran Turk Broda, who has split the Toronto goaltending job with Rollins this season, finished the game. It is feared Rollins may be out for the next 10 days.

The one goal Broda allowed came at the 1:12 mark of the closing frame when Bill Quackenbush blasted a long, angle-high shot that Woody Dumart's stick deflected into the open side of the net.

The shots -on-goal records showed Toronto with a wide margin—24 to Boston's 12— but Gelineau, who posted his first shutout of the season over the Maple Leafs, was superb.

Referee George Gravel handed out four penalties, three of them to Bruins. Two of the sentences were majors to Boston defenceman Hal Laycoe and Tod Sloan, Toronto winger, for fighting early in the second period.

Inspiring the Bruins to their first win here in eight attempts this season was 33-year-old Milt Schmidt. The veteran centre, playing despite a knee injury, turned in a fine two-way performance.

Coach Lynn Patrick of the Bruins used him practically without respite during the final period when the Leafs put on a sustained offensive to whittle the score.

Richardson Wins Two Ski Events

BANFF, Alta., March 29 (CP)—Bob Richardson of Montreal placed first Wednesday in both the slalom and giant slalom events as trials for Canada's Olympic ski team continued on nearby Mount Norquay.

It marked the first time that two events were held on the same day. This was necessitated by the rapidly-melting snow.

Richardson won the slalom run in 1:57.9 with George Merry of Rossland, B. C., a close runner-up just 2.9 seconds later. Jim (Porky) Griffin of Montreal was third.

In the giant slalom, the Canadian champion was clocked at 1:40.0. Griffin ran second in 1:41.9. Banff's Gordie Morrison was third.

Rosemarie Schutz of Montreal won both events in the women's section. She took the slalom in 2:14.9 and the giant slalom in 1:46.2. Rhoda Eaves, also of Montreal, came second in the slalom and third in the giant slalom.

MORE TV, RADIO FOR BALL

Baseball games will be broadcast and televised to more people this year than ever before.

Although some minor league owners have contended the two mediums are killing their clubs, the trend in recent years to increase coverage of baseball has not been stopped. There are 1,005 radio stations slated to handle games in 1951 against about 800 last year.

Alfalfa Seed $45 A Bushel

Farmers in Haldimand county are sowing alfalfa on their fall wheat, as reflected in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Severe shortage of alfalfa seed in Lincoln County is indicated by prices up to $45 a bushel. Dufferin farmers are carrying over more grain in their barns than usual.

Membership of Grey artificial breeding unit has increased to 215 since Oct. 1. One unit is operating, another is about ready to begin, and some other centres are planning to organize.

Top barley price was $4 a bus. at Huron seed fair; average $2.81. Oats $3.50 with $2.47 average a bus. in 10-bus. lots.

Barley top was $3.10 at Guelph, and oats $2.40. "The lack of exhibits in clover and alfalfa classes indicates that the supplies of these seeds are "scarcest ever."

Northumberland: "The cereal seed situation seems excellent with fair material in farm granaries and sufficient supplies of excellent registered material available. A married man employed five years in his last place, feels he cannot stay at $125 a month, with free house, hydro, milk and wood, when his brother shows him industrial wages of more than twice the cash amount."

Prince Edward: Pure - bred calves for calf club purposes are costing around $200 each. Local creameries are paying 85c a pound butterfat for cream delivered. Weanling pigs in Victoria bring $12 to $15 each.

Grenville says around 450 farmers attended the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeding Association last week. Demand for dairy cattle is keen in Dundas County.

Barley is selling at $2 in Renfrew and oats at $1.10.

Fire Several Shots At Tourist Buses

BERLIN, March 29 (CP)—East German police Wednesday fired several shots at some United States army buses carrying American tourists, West Berlin police headquarters disclosed. No one was injured.

The incident occurred at Potsdamer Platz, Berlin's "trouble spot" where the British, Soviet and American sectors meet.

U.S. authorities demanded an immediate audience with the Russians for an explanation.

The Communist police fired 12 pistol shots at five buses carrying tourists on a tour of Berlin sponsored by the army's special services.

The buses were exactly on the border separating the Soviet sector from the west.

Warn US Troops In Europe Against Red Propaganda

By JACK HENRY

HEIDELBERG, Germany — (Reuters) — The U.S. military authorities have circulated a blunt warning to American servicemen in Europe to be careful how they behave among people of Allied countries.

The aim is to thwart Communist attempts to divide the United States from her friends.

A cartoon showing an annoyed Scots captain marching smartly past a group of lounging American soldiers jeering at his kilt was used to illustrate what American soldiers should not do.

The warning, which emphasized the importance of strengthening American-Allied friendship, appeared in a recent issue of the information bulletin of the the United States forces European command.

A lang article headed "Getting Along With Our Allies," gave American servicemen tips on how to conduct themselves overseas, including warnings not to brag, not to drink too much—and not to judge an ally by his plumbing.

Have Common Foe

The bulletin said, "You and your allies are friends because you are both bifter enemies of Communism."

A special section on "Germany's Role in Western Defence" states that every American serviceman in Germany is "an important element in determining whether German participation in the defence of the West will be wholehearted."

It stressed that American forces in Korea are getting active military support from Australia, Britain, Canada, France, the Netherlands and Turkey, apart from South Korea. Elsewhere British troops were fighting Communist guerrillas in Malaya and French troops were battling against Communist forces in Indo China.

Aware Of Weaknesses

Warning American troops of Communist methods in creating "discord between us and our allies," the bulletin declared that the Communists are fully aware of potential weaknesses in the coalition allied nations.

"They will tell our Asiatic allies that all who fight on our side in Asia are 'tools of Yankee imperialism.' In Europe, they will spread the lie that 'the United States will fight to the last Frenchman and Englishman," it said.

"To Americans who will listen they will loudly annouce that 'the United States is once more preparing to fight England's war'."

Riot of Color

LONDON — (CP) — Floral colors of the Festival of Britain Pleasure Gardens, Battersea Park, will have a theme of gold, purple and scarlet. The display will include 40,000 tulips, 17,000 pansies, 12,000 wallflowers, 7,000 begonias and 25,000 hollyhocks.

To Get More Butter Need 62-Cent Price

WINNIPEG, March 29 (CP)—Dr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said Tuesday that the government must set a floor price of at least 62 cents a pound for butter to avoid another shortage and consequent price increase next winter.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Manitoba Dairy and Poultry Co-operative, he said present high prices of butter are due to the low floor price set last spring, which did not encourage farmers to produce larger quantities.

He also said that the refusal of the government to set a new floor price on eggs might result in lower production and higher prices next winter.

Over-Confident War Distant

MONTREAL, March 29 (CP)—Rhys M. Sale, president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, said Wednesday that it is dangerous to assume there will be no world war within the next three years.

In a luncheon address prepared for delilvery to the Advertising and Sales Executives Club of Montreal, Mr. Sale said government statements invariably forecast a 1954 peak in Canada's defence program.

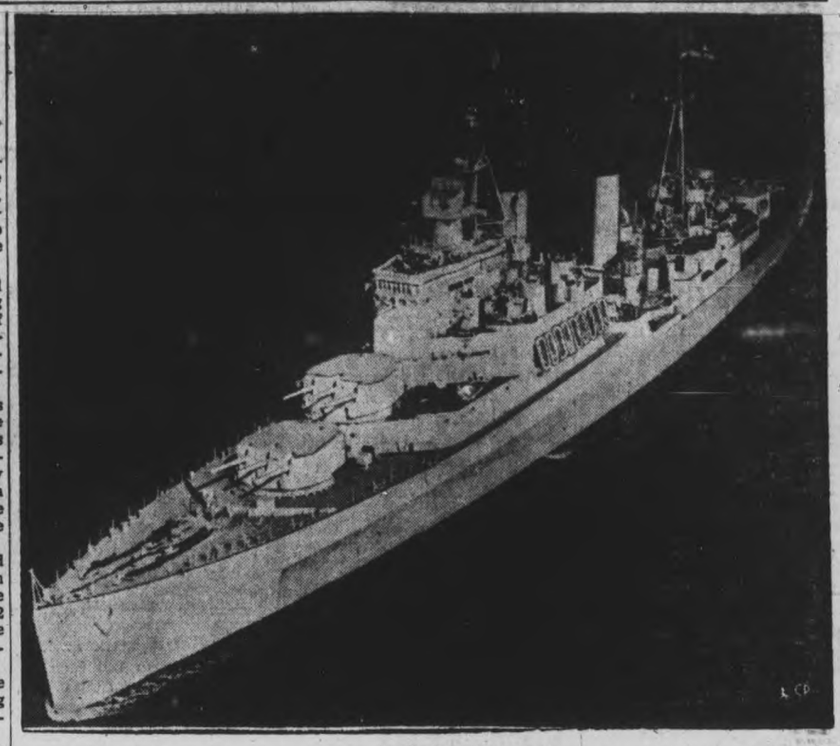
"Already the time limit has been so firmly planted in the minds of millions of Canadians that all sense of urgency is disappearing," he said. "Equally dangerous is the thinking that a cease-fire in Korea would solve the whole situation and remove the menace of world war."

Mr. Sale said he was gratified to learn of the government's plan to spend $1,700,000,000 on defence during the fiscal year of 1951-52 and that Trade Minister Howe would head a new defence production department.

But he was critical of the pace of Canada's program for building up manpower in the armed forces.

"The three armed forces now have 65,000 to 70,000 men in uniform. The target for 1954 is 115,000. Is that the best we can do in three years? And again, why shouldn't the target be 115,000 by July 1, or Sept. 1, or Nov. 1, 1951?"

Arrest 3 More Youths In Joyriding Wave



TORONTO, March 29 —(CP)—Police, pressing a drive to stamp out a wave of automobile thefts and joyriding by youths, Tuesday night made three more arrests.

One was that of a 14-year-old Toronto boy taken into custody near Hamilton after a chase during which a truck police say was stolen was abandoned. A companion escaped.

The police Tuesday reported 11 arrests in their drive in the city and suburbs.

"Smuts House"

NEW LOOK — The Canadian cruiser Uganda will be taken out of mothballs next year, refitted as a training ship and renamed H.M.C.S. Quebec, in line with naming cruisers after provinces. Doesn't Get Wish WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 29—(AP)—George Muchler Tuesday asked criminal court to send him to prison for life, but he didn't get his wish. Muchler, middle-aged transient, said perhaps sending him to prison for life would serve to pay his debt to society for a long criminal career. The judge explained he could not comply with the request, but accommodated Muchler by giving him the maximum of five years. Muchler pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery.

Valuable By-Product

WASHINGTON, March 29 — (AP)— A scientific study of the relationship of pain and cold had a curious but valuable by-product— a discovery that chickens may be hatched two days quicker than usual if the incubator is set at 100.5 degrees fahrenheit. Dr. Temple Fay, professor of neurosurgery at Women's Medical College, Philadelphia, told the House Appropriation Committee about it at hearings earlier this month on the Public Health Service budget just made public.

Hamilton Bows To Monarchs 7-6 In Overtime

By The Canadian Press.

Few things are more disheartening for hockey fans than to watch the home team come from behind with an exciting last-period rally—only to lose out in overtime.

So supporters of Hamilton Tigers got the full treatment on Wednesday night as their team bowed 7-6 to Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs.

They went into hysterics during the third period when Tigers overcame a four-goal margin to tie the score 6-6. Then, at 5:30 of the second overtime period, Jack Meldrum dropped them into the depths of despair by scoring the winning goal.

The victory gave St. Mike's a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association major series final

In the OHA Junior A playoffs meanwhile, Barrie Flyers were defeating Windsor Spitfires 5-2 to take their best-of-five series in straight games and earn a berth in the series final against either Toronto Marlboros or St. Catharines Teepees.

The major game at Hamilton was a see-saw affair which broke out in a scoring flurry after a scoreless first period.

Meldrum and Gord Hannigan paced the Toronto attack with two goals each. Dusty Blair, Tom Fowler and Johnny Ubriaco got the others.

Fraser Standout

Harvey Fraser was a standout for Hamilton with two goals and two assists. Frankie Liscombe and Harold Hursley also had two tallies apiece.

Hannigan sent Toronto into a 1-0 lead early in the second period but Hursley and Fraser got a quick pair to give the Tigers the lead. Hannigan's second goal tied it up.

Gloom was cast over the Hamilton crowd as Toronto got four goals in three minuntes and 23 seconds early in the third period. Meldrum, Blair, Fowler and Ubriaco scored in quick succession.

However, Tigers came back with a terrific spurt, Hursley scoring at 6:50, Liscombe following two minutes later, then getting his second goal 21 seconds after that. Fraser tied it up at 16:45.

The first overtime session was scoreless, then Hannigan and Ubriaco set Meldrum up for the goal that broke up the contest.

At Barrie, Windsor fought hard to staye off elimination, scoring two goals to take a 2-0 lead in the first period. Eldor Thomas got both.

A penalty to Erwin Grosse paved the way for Barries' first score, Real Chevrefils scoring at 7:01. Jack White and Jerry Toppazzini made it 3-2 before the period ended. White and Leo Labine tallied in the third period to sew up the game.

Kitchener Rink Takes Bonspiel

LINDSAY, March 29. — Skip Lloyd Fraser of the Kitchener club and his quartette won the high school boys' bonspiel in a competition embracing 22 clubs from various parts of Ontario. The rink won five games, defeating Don Brodie of Oshawa in the finals. The Kitchener rink annexed the Dr. Logan Trophy. W. Cassells of Kingston won the second event, defeating S. Whitney of Hamilton Delta in the final game.

The third event was won by Dave Logan of Lindsay, who won from R. Cheriton of Hamilton Centrals in a thrilling finish after the two rinks tied on the ninth end.

Death Sentence Passed On Favorite Your Host

ARCADIA, Calif., March 29 (AP)—The sentence of death has been passed on Your Host, the 1950 Kentucky Derby favorite, as game a horse as thoroughbreds come.

Four veterinarians have examined movie executive Wimmian Goetz' four-year-old colt since he was injured at Santa Anita Jan. 13. All have recommended that he be destroyed.

Only the red tape involved in a $250,000 insurance policy is prolonging the pain-wracked existence of a badly-crippled animal whose right leg, the tendons withering, is drawn up at a 45-degree angle.

Your host, a son of the great Alibhai, was born with physical handicaps, but there never was anything wrong with his heart. Movie boss Louis B. Mayer bred Your Host, but handlers discovered that the youngster had a neck crook and couldn't straighten it. Goetz made a fortunate buy. Your Host liked to run, liked to win. He ran and he won and Goetz pocketed $384,795.

Big Disappointment

Your Host was a big disappointment in the 1950 Kentucky Derby, finishing out of the money, but he had had a vigorous winter campaign in California and apparently had lost his fine edge. Back here, as a four-year-old, he was regaining his sharpness. His trainer, Harry Daniels, called him a cinch for the $200,00 Santa Anita maturity.

Your Host didn't get up to that race. Running in the San Pasqual handicap, he fell on the far turn, throwing jockey Eric Guerin, who was uninjured. Your Host suffered a shattered ulna bone, broken in four places. The animal has been in extreme pain for some time, and stands on three legs.

"What good is a three-legged horse?" asks Veterinarian Dr. J. E. Peters, who has taken care of Your Host since the accident. "If we could have operated on him a month ago we might have saved him for stud purposes. Now that's impossible."

So a game and courageous competitor of the turf is suffering out the last days of his existence, the penalty of his unflagging desire to do his best at all times.

Omemee Hawks Capture ORHA Intermediate Title

Omemee Black Hawks flew to the Ontario Rural Hockey Association intermediate "A" championship Wednesday night in Lindsay. With a smooth-passing attack combined with a steady defence, the Hawks swept through Oxford Centre 14-8 to take the final series, two of three, by two straight. They won the first game in Woodstock 7-4.

This championship game climaxed a highly successful year for the fast-stepping Omemee team. They waltzed through all opposition in the lakeshore league which included Brooklin, Orono, Brougham, Highland Creek, Westmount and Bobcaygeon. In the final league series, Omemee walloped Orono badly in the first game and Orono defaulted the remaining games.

In the rural association playdowns the opposition was too weak for the Hawks. They turned Cannington aside easily with 6-4 and 12-2 victories and then took Mount Pleasant 15-4 at home and by two goals in Mount Pleasant.

Went Good

In spite of the eight goals to pass Bruce Mitchell, the Hawks' goalie, he played an outstanding game. His brilliant stops in the second period on three fast breakaways by Oxford Centre were game highlights. His defence failed him several times when the puck was loose around the net and allowed the Centre to bat it into the net.

Omemee's Bill Parker, Orland Crawford and Hubert Fox stood out in the Hawks' attack scoring more than half of the 14 goals. Wilson Dickson and Yeoman were outstanding for Oxford Centre.

Oxford Centre threatened to force a third game in the series early in the first period when they twice took one-goal leads. Parker combined with O. Crawford and Deyell midway through the period to open the scoring. But L. Dickson first with Yeoman and then with Yeoman and Wilson put Oxford Centre one goal up. Omemee's Hubert Fox tied the game two-all but Watson scored three minutes later to put Oxford Centre one goal up. Omemee's Hubert Fox tied the game two-all but Wilson scored three minutes later to put Oxford Centre up once more. Goals by Armstrong and Jamieson, the last one coming with only nine second to play, gave Omemee a 4-3 score.

Took A Lead

Backed by Bruce Mitchell's goal-tending display, the Hawks dove repeatedly through Oxford Centre early in the second. Parker, T. Parsons, Hubert Fox and Orland Crawford with two made the score 9-3 before Wilson again came through for the Centre. Orland Crawford was penalized and Oxford Centre made the best of their one-man advantage by scoring two quick goals. R. Crawford connected the final goal with 45 seconds to play.

The goal-scoring in the third period went in pairs with the Hawks holding the balance of the play throughout. H. Fox and Floyd Parsons slipped in the first pair for Omemee followed by Oxford Centre's pair by Dukes and B. Warboys. The Crawford brothers wound up the game scoring the final two for Omemee.

This Ontario championship was the second won this year in the Lindsay arena. A week ago the Bobcaygeon bantams won the Ontario "D" crown.

Lineups:

Oxford Centre—Goal, Hughes; defence, G. Smith, Kyte; centre, B. Dickson; wings, R. Warboys, Lavin; alternates, Wilson, L. Dickson, Yeoman, B. Warboys, Dukes, George Smith.

Omemee Black Hawks: Goal, Mitchell; defence, T. Parsons, D. Crawford; centre, Parker; wings, O. Crawford, H. Fox; alternates, F. Parsons, Jamieson, R. Crawford, Armstrong, Deyell, D. Fox.

Receive Offer Buy Race Course

VANCOUVER, March 29 (CP)—An offer to purchase Lansdowne race course and all its holdings from the British Columbia Turf and Country Club has been received from Toronto.

The property is valued at close to $1,000,000.

The offer was made by W. F. Morrissey, national president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, on behalf unidentified clients.

Turf Club president A. L. McLennan has called a directors' meeting for Friday.

In Toronto, it was learned that Morrissey, as national president of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, is acting on behalf of seven Vancouver men who want to buy the Lansdowne and Brighouse race tracks.

The procedure was said not unusual. Last year Morrissey was similarly asked to assist in the sale of Stamford Park at Fort Erie.

Dietrich Tired Of Being Praised As Grandmother

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 29 (AP) Marlene Dietrich was looking very much unlike a grandmother. Very much indeed.

In fact, she was dolled up like a dancing girl in one of those dance halls that are always so convenient to the prairie in western movies (this one is called "Chuck-a-Luck.") The famed Dietrich limbs were readily viewable as she engaged in a game of frontier foolery, riding piggyback in a race against the other dance hall girls.

The actress came out of the strenuous scene with her glamor completely unruffled. I asked if she ever got tired of being called "the world's most glamorous grandmother."

"I certainly do," she replied emphatically. "I am getting sick and tired of it. I am sure there are other grandmothers in other professions who are not constantly referred to as such."

"Ah, but they're not as glamorous," I pointed out.

Many Glamorous Grams

"Nonsense! Many of them are extremely good looking. Particularly in this country, where women marry so young.

"Everyone thinks because a woman is a grandmother, she must be 102 years old. But look—I had my daughter when I was 17; she waited until she was 18 to marry and have a child. So does that make me ancient?"

Fashion Leader?

In the lull between scenes, I had a chance to inquire about another Dietrich legend. She was well-known for introducing mannish attire to US fashions. I asked if she regretted it, especially when she sees broad-beamed gals in slacks.

"I didn't introduce slacks," she corrected. "Many women in America were wearing them long before I did."

"But you did help popularize them," I protested. "Do you regret it?"

"No. Think of the millions of women who are more comfortable because they can wear slacks and who can do their jobs better because they wear them."

CHARLES REINER, a Hungarian pianist who risked his life to save his hands in a Nazi concentration camp, is shown above with his wife. They arrived in Montreal to start life anew in this country. When the nights were cold he would remove the few clothes from his body and carefully wrap them around his fingers. By constantly doing this he managed to save his fingers from any injury thus enabling him to resume his career as a pianist when he was liberated.

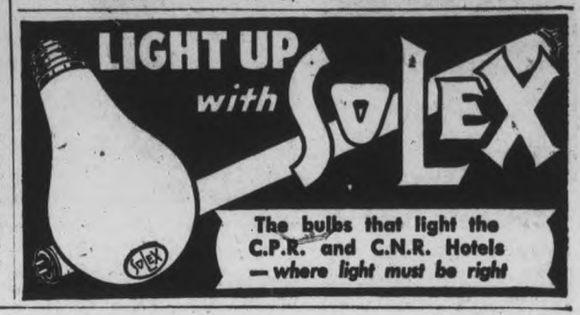
French Taxicab Army Vets Eager To Return To Jobs

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — Announcement of the itinerary for the Royal Tour of New Zealand next year has proved a pleasant surprise to New Zealanders.

In view of the need to curtail the itinerary planned before the King's illness postponed previous arrangements a few years ago, it had been feared the visit would be cut considerably shorter than it has been.

The King and Queen and Princess Margaret will spend 31 days in New Zealand, compared with 32 originally planned. They will spend most of their time in the four main cities and the King and Queen will do all their travelling by sea, except for one train trip to the hot springs districts and return. Consequently they will not see as much of the dominion's interior as first proposed.



But this has been partly offset by arranging side trips for Princess Margaret to outlying centres, mostly by air. She will visit the west coast of the South Island, fly over the Southern Alps to Christchurch, visit Invercargild New Zealand's most southerly city, and Gisborne in the North Island, far off the route laid out for her parents.

Their Majesties' train trip to Rotorua, centre of the Thermal regions, will give many people a previously unexpected opportunity to see the Royal Family.

Rotorua is a centre of Maori life and the natives are preparing a vast Maori welcome instead of the several small celebrations originally proposed. On the way to Rotorua the Royal train will stop at a number of towns en route.

Three small farming townships have been given the totally unexpected honors of a Royal visit. Under the original plans the three towns of Ukehoke, Putaruru and Morrinsville, all on the railway line, would have been left out because the journey was to have been made by road.

Trying To Curb Inflation Aggravates Unemployment

By SAM MIDIANO

ATHENS — (Reuters) — The Greek government is faced with a serious unemployment problem as a result of its attempts to curb inflation.

Greece's economic and financial situation has been steadily deteriorating. While the country has been looking forward to recovery, delayed for the past three years by Communist agitation, the international situation has cut short all good prospects for the future.

American aid to Greece has been reduced and fears that the Marshall Plan may cease at any time are growing. The Greek budget is overburdened by military expenditure, affecting almost 50 per cent of state revenue.

The trade balance is discouraging. Exports in 1950 reached only 472,000,000. Imports totalled 3393,000,000 in foreign exchange; the balance had to be made available from American and funds.

Short-Term Loans

To face state expenditure, the Greek government has had recourse to short-term loans from the Bank of Greece. The bank, in turn, issued bank-notes, causing monetary inflation.

Warned by its foreign economic advisers, the Greek government adopted a series of measures to restrict the circulation of the drachmae through drastic economies in public expenditure.

Greece switched to "war economy." Credits were reduced; the issue of loans for reconstruction projects suspended; the number of cabinet ministers was cut from 29 to 15; "meatless days" were increased; and only austerity was permitted.

These measures resulted in a considerable increase of unemployment, giving rise to a serious social problem. Out of 600,000 workers registered with the 25 labor centres in the country's main industrial areas, 160,000 were idle last week.

6,000 Out of Work

Two thousand workers were dismissed from slaughter houses after the increase of "meatless days" and another 4,000 will be out of work when the production of sweets and pastries is reduced by government order. In the majority of industries, staffs are working by rotation, three days a week.

The ban on the building of luxury flats in Athens alone will deprive at least 15,000 masons and workers of their meagre daily earnings.

Strict import controls, coupled with the curtailment in bank credits to traders, have resulted in a shortage of essential commodities and a revival of the black market. The government is planning to adopt price-control and food rationing.

The cost of living has followed the upward trend. Salaries and wages have been "frozen," apart from a small increase decided by the ministry of labor for workers and employees earning less than $70 per month.

In the midst of these troubles, the Communists have recently been trying to revive their disrupted cells. The present situation may well offer great advantages to subversive propagandists, extremely active in workers' dis-

INDEPENDENT NOW—Edward Russell, former Liberal minister of natural resources in the Newfoundland cabinet, says he has been expelled from the Liberal party and now will sit as an independent in the House of Assembly. Mr. Russell resigned from the cabinet because he said he no longer had "any confidence" in government policy under Premier Joseph Smallwood.

Maj.-Gen. T. Tremblay Dies In Quebec

QUEBEC, March 29 —(CP)— Maj.-Gen. Thomas Tremblay, who led Quebec's Royal 22nd Regiment to military fame during the First World War, died here Wednesday. He was 64.

One of French Canada's most decorated soldiers, he was still active in regimental affairs as honorary colonel of the Royal 22nd. Last November, when the regiment's second battalion paraded before leaving for Fort Lewis, Wash., to train as part of Canada's special force for United Nations service, he officiated at the ceremony.

Born in Chicoutimi, Que., he was educated in Quebec city and later attended Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., from which he graduated in 1907.

Smallest Book

MUNICH, Germany, March 29 (Reuters)—A German craftsman, Valetin Kaufman, has sent the Pope a 10,000-word history of his city, Munich, in a book the size of a cherry stone. He claims it is the smallest book in the world. He wrote the 100-page book with the help of a magnifying glass after hearing that the Papal library contained a bible weighing 350 pounds.

The 1949 rate for all American industry, the most recent reported by the National Safety Council, was 10.14.

Crime Crusade Gaining Momentum In US

NEW YORK, March 29—(AP)—The crusade against crime, spearheaded by the Kefauver committee and other agencies, gained momentum today as a national Protestant group urged church action to strengthen the "moral fibre" of the United States.

Hailing the official crack-down on organized crime, the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. asked churches everywhere to help halt the "moral delinquency in our society."

The council's interim policy-making general board, representing 29 denominations—nearly 70 per cent of American Protestants—condemned "so-called 'innocent forms' of gambling" such as "legalized race-track wagers, lotteries, bingo and the like."

Swelling the national crime-busting campaign was an order by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York calling for a grand jury investigation of gambling at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., a race-track spa.

Dewey also said he would set up a state-wide crime commission to study responsibilities of the state and local governments in law enforcements.

Hope To Continue Work

In Washington, Republican members of the senate crime probe committee were working to extend the life of the committee, which ends this Saturday.

In New York city Carmine De Sapio, leader of Tammany Hall, Manhattan Democratic organization, asked the New York City Bar Association to investigate himself and all Tammany district leaders in connection with Frank Costello's alleged influence in Tammany and city politics.

Costello alleged crime syndicate kingpin, admitted before the senate committee that he put in "a good word" for the nomination of at least one judge.

Across the country, local and state authorities blasted away at known gamblers and race-wire services.

In Utah, the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company said it will discontinue telephone service to any subscriber described by police as conducting illegal business.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company said in New York it is standard practice to discontinue service where it is known that its wires are used for illegal purposes.

Question 'Bookies'

MONTREAL, March 29 (CP) — Questioning of former "bookies" continued Wednesday in the inquiry into alleged police corruption here some 10 years ago but it is believed this phase of the inquiry will end shortly. Pacifique Plante, who represents petitioners for the investigation, told presiding judge Mr. Justice Francois Caron he is satisfied with the evidence presented to date and does not intend to question other bookmakers.

ANOTHER ANASTASIA — Joseph Anastasia, 46, one of the five Anastasia brothers, appears at a Brooklyn, N.Y., police station. Joseph, a longshoreman, is accused with his brothers of illegally entering the U.S.

TARGET: GENERAL—Maj.-Gen. Robert Soule (right) hits the dirt as he's pinned down by enemy sniper fire in the Uijongbu area after his helicopter landed near the lead tanks. The pilot, Capt. Robert Winkler, (left) of Planada, Calif., and the photographer also had to take cover.

Alberta Government Proposes Unique Provincial Annuity Plan

By The Canadian Press.

A provincial annuity plan — first of its kind in Canada—was introduced Wednesday in the Alberta Legislature by Premier O. Manning.

Any Canadian citizen with at least three years' residence in Alberta can enter the plan with an initial deposit of not less than $10.

Pemiums will be payable at the age of 60 or any date after that fixed by the purchaser. The maximum premium will be $1,500 a year.

The Alberta plan is more elastic than those available at present from insurance companies or the Dominion. It provides that the purchaser may withdraw all or part of his deposits any time after five years fom the date of the first deposit. In this case, the interest of 3½ per cent would be forfeited.

The provincial plan compares with one which the Federal government has sponsored since 1908. Federal government annuities — the maximum is $1,200—carry 3 per cent interest and are for straight life or for any number of years up to 20.

Gets Second Reading

In other Legislatures Wednesday, the Saskatchewan House gave second reading — approval in principle—to a Bill providing for postponement of payments on farm mortgages in years of crop failure. A similar provision was contained in an Act which was declared unconstitutional several years ago. Attorney-General Corman said the Act now was being re-enacted without the unconstitutional clause in it.

The Manitoba Legislature heard debate on a Bill which would commit the province to meet all power requirements within its borders. Ron Turner, Liberal-Progressive member for Winnipeg South, said reorganization of Manitoba's hydro-electric system should not result in any increase in power rates to Wininpeg.

In Halifax, where the Nova Scotia Legislature reconvened on Wednesday after the Easter recess, the law amendments committee of the Legislature will hold a public hearing on rent-control legislation now being considered. The hearing will allow for comment on a Bill which provides for municipalities to take over rent controls on housing when the Federal Government vacates the field April 30.

Repudiates Statement

Newfoundland's economic policies were debated in St. John's. Premier Smallwood told the Legislature "I repudiate with scorn" a statement by the former Natural Resources Minister, Edward Russell, that Newfoundland is headed for financial ruin. He said the statement was "likely to do his (Mr. Rusell's) native land irreparable damage." Mr. Russell resigned from the Cabinet last week-end and made the charges in the Legislature Tuesday.

Private Bills took up the five hours of work in the New Brunswick House, clearing the order paper for the budget which, Provincial Treasurer J. G. Boucher said, will be brought down next Tuesday.

In Charlottetown, Attorney-General W. E. Darby said the Prince Edward Island government will appoint a commission to investigate charges concerning the operation of the motor vessel Eskimo in the Newfoundland trade. He made the announcement after D. L. Mathieson, Progressive Conservative member, presented an affidavit to the Speaker describing alleged mispractices carried on by crew members of the Crown-operated vessel. The affidavit was not read to the Legislature.

In Victoria, debate continued on British Columbia's money-losing compulsory hospital insurance program. Maurice Finnerty, Coalition member for Similkameen, said the majority of the people of BC have doubts about whether the scheme is being run efficiently. It was the government's duty to "ascertain whether or not" this was true.

Bylaw May Curb Jay-Walkers

WINNIPEG, March 29. (CP)—This city, with its wide streets and avenues, has long held the dubious distinction of being the jay-walker's paradise. But a new traffic bylaw may bring its daring pedestrians into line.

In a move aimed at reducing traffic fatalities and injuries on city streets, Winnipeg's safety committee Wednesday night approved an entirely-revamped city traffic bylaw — including pedestrian control measures.

The new by-law, which has taken almost 12 months to prepare, will go to city council next week for final decision. City traffic officials hope to put it into effect by May 14.

The bylaw stresses a "common sense" attitude on the part of Winnipeggers, whether they walk or ride.

Once approved, about 10,000 pocket-sized copies of the bylaw will be printed for distribution in an intensive "education" program.

Tolerance Period

After it becomes law, city police will allow for a short "tolerance" period, and then will start to enforce the regulations.

Any person—motorist or pedestrian—guilty of a breach of any bylaw provision, will be liable upon conviction to fines up to $50, plus costs.

City jay-walkers will be hit mainly by the provision which forbids them crossing elsewhere than at a crosswalk along the main thoroughfares of Portage Avenue or Main Street.

Another major section will stop pedestrians from crossing streets either on a red light or amber with green light. A pedestrian who has partially completed his crossing must proceed to the nearest sidewalk or safety zone.

In the case of an infraction of the law the pedestrian—if a police officer so requests—must stop and give his (or her) name and address.

However, because city traffic officials say they don't want to "regulate" any more than they have to, pedestrians won't be expected to keep too strictly within regulations.

In the pedestrians' favor, a section of the bylaw will force motorists to give them the right-of-way when making right or left turns or when emerging from lanes, approaches, driveways or buildings.

Vachon Criticizes HopeEducation Report

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP)—The Most Rev. Alexander Vachon, Archbishop of Ottawa, said Wednesday night the Hope Commission report on education in Ontario showed a narrow-mindedness, lack of good faith, malice and lack of equity on the part of people in whom we were justified in placing our confidence."

The Roman Catholic Archbishop spoke at the annual dinner of the French-Canadian Education Association.

"The Hope Commission gave the occasion to certain of our English-speaking compatriots to show their hand and this virulent report was signed by persons that we believed were friends to us," he said.

Archbishop Vachon urged members of the association to work for greater recognition of their school rights in Ontario.

Cormier Resigns From Union

TORONTO, March 29—(CP)—Gabriel Cormier of Montreal has resigned as international representative of the Textile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL), it was learned Wednesday.

His resignation is the latest development in the internal dispute which was brought to a head last month by the dismissal of Sam Baron, the union's Canadian director.

Cormier, in a letter to president Emil Rieve in New York, said he was quitting his post because of intimidation by Gerard Rancourt, acting director of the union's Montreal joint board.

The current dispute arose from the last international convention of the union in Boston where president Rieve tried unsuccessfuly to oust George Baldanzi as international vice-president. Baldanzi was supported by Baron.

Pro-Baron forces in Canada, said to include 85 per cent of the 20,000 Canadian members of the union, defied international headquarters in going ahead with plans for the Canadian district conference March 31 and April 1.

Horses Cranky Like Humans Blacksmith Says

NORTH BAY (CP)—A mean horse is just about the worst animal in the world, claims Raymond Larocque big, broad-shouldered North Bay blacksmith.

Horses are a lot like people in his estimation. There are quiet horses and cranky horses. Unfortunately, the cranky ones are in the majority.

"Putting the shoes on a horse is tough work," he said. "Sometimes the horse doesn't like it."

When a ton of horseflesh decides to get stubborn, 200 pounds of man cant do much to change its mind.

The 27-year-old blacksmith has been at his trade for five years, learning it in district bush camps. Five years have taught him the refined art of ducking flying hooves and dodging snapping teeth.

Larocque hasn't been injured but he had a close call last year when a horse reared and fell on top of him. "I thought I was done for," he says, but he got out from under with no broken bones.

Rugged Task

The North Bay smithy figures of 2 ½hours to be shod, and it's a struggle all the way. He recalls one team here that gives him real trouble. "I have to spend five or six hours on them," he says. A team of quiet horses, however, can be shod in three hours without hurrying.

One of the things that keeps Larocque busy is the fact that horses, like people, are hard on shoes. Bush horses need new shoes every month, but city-working horses are ready for new footwear in less than three weeks.

But Larocque has an advantage over the clerks who fit shoes for human beings. His shoe styles never change.

Small Provincial University Importance Stressed To Teachers

TORONTO, March 29 (CP). — "The Small Liberal-Arts College offers infinite riches in a little room," Dr. M. M. MacOdrum, president of Carleton College, Ottawa, said Wednesday at the Ontario Educational Association's 91st annual convention.

Dr. MacOdrum stressed the importance of the small provincial city university in Ontario's educational system. "The local, readily-accessible college, even if it is necessarily small, brings the benefits of education within the reach of many people to whom otherwise even a small amount of higher education would be denied," he said.

The establishment of a network of such colleges would not cost more than could be afforded "but it will cost more than we have the courage to spend."

Mr. Justice J. A. Hope of the Ontario Supreme Court, chairman of the Ontario Royal Commission on Education, told the trustees and ratepayers sections that the commission cost the province $290,000 and not $600,000 as some critics have suggested.

Not Too Large

Even the latter figure was not too large, he said, considering what the money was used for. "Surely the expenditure of $300,000 or even $600,000 would be equally justified for the children of the community."

It is important that teachers have flexible minds, J. Wreford Watson, college and secondary school department president, told the association.

"One of the grave problems we teachers face is that we have grown up imbued with the ideas which were suited to our own age and generation, but we must instruct children who live in an entirely different world."

Need Prevention

Delinquency and crime can only be controlled effectively by prevention, Joseph H. McCulley, Federal Deputy Minister of Penitentiaries, told the association's urban principal's section.

"Prevention begins in the home, the school, the church and in the normal agencies operating in every community," he said. "Professionally-trained and well-paid leadership is the most important part of any program to combat delinquency."

S. A. Watson, assistant superintendent of elementary education for the province, told the urban and secondary school trustees' section that teachers at the local level are the people who can establish the curriculum best suited to the community and the students. The time had gone when people working in Queen's Park could plan a school curriculum for all of Ontario.

The trustees and ratepayers department of the OEA sponsored a resolution which suggested the combined action of youth agencies be used to curb the trend of young people to leave school prematurely for high-paying jobs. Another resolution asked for more equitable sharing of taxation. The Minister of Education was urged to give serious consideration to the Royal Commission report on reduction.

A plea for soil conservation to insure that the world will continue to have a supply of food was made today by Dr. O. M. McConkey, professor of field husbandry at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Dr. McConkey told the Urban Teachers' section of the Ontario Educational Association that more than half the world's population is underfed or starving. He said proper use of the soil would increase food production.

Court Award To Shelter Totals $5000

Payments To Be Made Over 10 Years From Ex-Mayor's Will

TORONTO, March 29. (CP) — The Children's Aid Society in Peterborough will receive $5,000 under the will of Thomas Henry G. Denne of Toronto. The money —an insurance annuity—will be spread over the next 10 years.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow gave his interpretation of the will yesterday in Ontario Supreme Court.

Mr. Denne, who died in 1942, left the annuity comprising a $500 annual income to his daughter, Mrs. Marion Widdifield, "if living," to be paid as instalments fell due. She died last May and in her will bequeathed the remaining income to a relative.

Payments To Society

Mr. Denne's will stipulated that, if she was not living, the payments were to go to the society.

Mr. Denne, mayor of Peterborough in 1901 and 1902, was instrumental in bringing the Quaker Oats Company to Peterborough. Shortly after he retired as mayor, he worked with that company as sales manager.

For many years, he was a member of the Peterborough Utilities Commission. His brother, Roland Denne, was one of the city's best-known mayors.

Firecracker Tossers

City police are on the prowl for boys who have been throwing firecrackers into hallways of houses in the west end. Chief Constable John Thompson warned that any children or youths found throwing firecrackers at people or into houses may be charged. Earlier this week some boys threw firecrackers into the hall of an apartment house where they exploded and burst into flames. It was a dangerous trick, said the chief, and it was going to stop.

Designed City Schools, Wins Toronto Award

Well-known designers of Peterborough schools, John B. Parkin Associates of Toronto submitted the winning design for the headquarters of the Ontario Association of Architects.

The Toronto firm has designed the new southend collegiate, and additions to Queen Mary, Prince of Wales, Confederation, Parkhill, and Grove public schools here.

Its entry was judged best of 36 submitted in a competition for the new structure. A $1,000 prize goes with the honor. The building will be erected on Park Rd. in Toronto.

Most Contemporary

Earle R. Sheppard, OAA president announced the results Wednesday night in Toronto. He said that only a small percentage of the designs submitted were traditional. Most were contemporary.

Of the Parkin plan for a modernistic two-storey structure, he said, "The standard of design displayed was very high."

The jury, composed of Professor E. R. Arthur, Murray Brown and F. H. Marani (the latter's firm, Marani and Morris, designed Peterborough's new city hall), said it sought in the design "the character which one might expect in the headquarters of a society of professional men engaged in the art of architecture."

Grocers Take 8 Cents Lb. Butter Loss

Retailing Butter For 73 Cents, Cost Them 81 Cents

Retail grocers were taking a loss on butter over their counters this morning.

One of them told the Examiner: "We're selling at 73 cents a pound, butter that cost us 81 cents."

"To avoid as far as possible sticking our necks out in this recent market we have been buying only from hand to mouth, keeping supplies a few days ahead of demand, but at that we're caught."

Another grocer had been getting 82 cents for butter he bought at 79 cents. He had to drop that price to 70 cents a pound, but the wholesale price at one place this morning was quoted at 72 cents and the grocer was selling it at 75 cents. But he still has on hand some of the 79 cent butter.

Retail prices today ranged mostly from 73 to 75 cents. Explanation of the sharp decline of ten cents a pound for solids in Toronto Wednesday afternoon cited factors of buyers refusing the recent top prices; and with spring production approaching there has been a movement to get rid of any surplus stock. At that, butter surplus in the country is low.

Farce Provides Rousing Entertainment

It is one of the glories and special strengths of the Church of England that it does not mind being made a subject for mirth. Older and younger churches are insistent that they may not be represented on the stage except in a thoroughly favorable light; Anglicanism does not care, and plays about comic bishops, harassed vicars and undone curates are numbered by the hundreds. This being so, we felt that Michael Sadlier's Theatre Company might have taken more care to dress the clergy in "See How They Run" in the unmistakable garb of one of the church which permits itself to be made fun of without resentment.

As the late Bernard Shaw once remarked, "a bishop of the Church of England in street dress is the most picturesque figure now to be seen anywhere"; a little more pains to dress the Bishop, the vicar and the impostors in "See How They Run" in a fitting maner would have greatly improved its physical appearance and its fun.

Audience Loosened Heads

Apart from this unsatisfactory physical presentation, the play was well acted and gave a large audience an extremely entertaining evening. "See How They Run" is a farce of mistaken identity, cleverly constructed and ingenious in the multiplicity of its misadventures. If the audience did not completely laugh their heads off, they certainly loosened them.

Of the clergy in the cast, the best farcical performances were given by David Gardner and Ronald Bailey; they possess the secret of farce acting, which is to take everything with the utmost seriousness. Both brought to their parts a charm of personality which gave the production warmth. As an actress turned clergyman's wife Katherine Hawtrey gave an easy and pleasing performance, as did Peter Mews who was allied with her in bringing a disturbing element into a quiet English vicarage.

As the Bishop of Lax John Atkinson gave an excellent performance, although as we have remarked before, his part was robbed of much of its effectiveness because he was not given the accoutrements of a bishop. Adrienne Walsh showed a very nice restraint in her performance as a spinster busybody; she made a very happy comic creation out of a part which could have been intolerable if it had not been handled with so much taste.

Funny Servant

Pat Atkinson was very funny as the household servant, although she is sometimes confused in her speech; she can always be heard, but she is not always understood. Cal Whitehead provided a nice air of lunacy as a Russian menace, and Garth Magwood gave a very funny performance in a small part, as a choleric and confused military policeman.

Farce, well played, is tremendously refreshing. "See How They Run" is a good farce, and these players give it a rousing and extremely enjoyable performance, which we recommend strongly to anybody who wants to laugh for a couple of hours. The local Rotary Club sponsors the play, which is presented again this evening. For its own excellence and for the good cause which it assists, "See How They Run" deserves a full house.

More Democracy Canada's Need Monsignor Says

If people don't like their society and won't die for it, "then we're licked." This was the opinion of Monsignor M. M. Coady of St. Francis Xavier University, in Antigonish, N.S.

Msgr. Coady was speaking to the 12th annual dinner Wednesday night of the Peterborough County Holstein Club. There were more than 700 present. His topic was "Is Western Civilization Sick Unto Death?"

Say In Government

All Canada needs is more democracy, he said and the way to do it is to give the people a bigger and better say in the way their country is governed.

To do it, "we must find a motivation in society so impelling that people will like their society and die for it. If people don't like their society and won't die for it, then we're licked."

To get people to like their society, "the way for us in Canada is to improve the quality of the people. If we do this," said Msgr. Coady, "the world would change and come to quiet and beauty in a short time."

With the aid of the "delicate work of adult education," he said, "I can release new energies in men and in 50 years" make Canada one of the greatest nations in the world.

Two ways to achieve a better country, he declared were to improve the personal efficiency of everyone and to get group action —"match individualism with individualism and collectivism with collectvism."

Collective Action.

He said that too many people were doubtful of the value of collective action, such as has been displayed in farmers' and fishermen's co-operatives. They argue that it is socialism, he said.

It was not action by the government he asked for, said Msgr. Coady, it was action by the people in setting up their own co-operative groups. "That's not socialism —that's private enterprise."

"It is stupid to say that on scientific lines we can progress and at the same time stand still in a political way. It is like asking us in wartime to use the muzzle-loading muskets that won the Battle of Waterloo, when we now have machine guns and rocket bombs."

Chairman for the evening was Vern Campbell, club president. James Gifford introduced Msgr. Coady and Mr. Campbell thanked the speaker. Guests at the head table were introduced by Frank C. Paterson.

Civic greetings to the club were brought by Mayor M. J. Swanston, and greetings from the county council by G. C. Grant of Lakefield. Gordon K. Fraser, MP for Peterborough West, also spoke briefly.

Miss Olive Rankine of Toronto, sang several songs, accompanied by Dick Crowe. Her selections were "One Kiss," "Through the Years," "Bless This House," "Annie Laurie," and "When I Grow Too Old To Dream."

District Farmers Inspect Processing Of Cereal Crops

Hundreds of Peterborough district farmers are seeing this week the processing of the cereal products of their land at the Quaker Oats plant. By invitation they came from Otonabee and Asphodel on Tuesday afternoon; from North and South Monaghan and Cavan on Wednesday; from Smith, Emily and Ennismore this afternoon; and the last stream of visitors will be from Douro and Dummer Friday.

This is Quaker's first "open house" to the rural communities within 15 miles of the city, and possibly it may become established as Farmers' Week at the big mill.

Whole Families Came

Many suggestions had been received at the plant from time to time by farmers expressing a wish to see the milling and manufacturing operations. So, it was decided by the management to arrange for their reception in groups. In most instances whole families came together. On the farms this is the season between winter and spring when the ground is still too damp for work. For the children it was Easter holiday time.

Quaker staff was well organized for the conducting of the visitors through the various departments, not only in seeing the famous Quaker rolled oats being turned out ready for breakfast, but various other products, muffets, Quaker flour, the packaged cereals, Full-O-Pep feeds.

The route that was laid out for the display of the premises and processes ended finally in the cafeteria for refreshment, rest and social visit. On the way out the youngsters collected an assortment of sample products.

The cafeteria girls were all dressed in immaculate white. They served sandwiches, coffee, tea, milk and various cakes fresh from the Quaker's own ovens.

Several of the visitors Wednesday told the Examiner they had a grand time, and that they realized the tremendous spaces of the largest flour, cereal and feed mill in the British Empire. Other comments spoke of the cleanliness of the plant and the evidence of good order and housekeeping.

Really Fast Mail!

Mrs. George Cobb, McGill St., received in this morning's mail delivery an air-mail letter from Watford, Hertfordshire, England, which must have established some sort of local delivery speed. It was postmarked 10 a.m., March 27, only Tuesday morning. So from English door to Peterborough door it took only 48 hours.

PRIEST BEREAVED

The Rev. Cecil Killingsworth, C.Ss.R., of the parish of St. Alphonsus, left at noon today for Montreal on receiving word this morning of the death of his brother, William Killingsworth.

GE Excludes City Local From Bargaining Until Labor Board Ruling

Company Will Continue Joint Negotiations With 2,500 Toronto Workers; Will Wait Ruling On Recent IUE Application

The Canadian General Electric Co. has refused to continue in joint negotiations with Local 524, United Electrical Workers, until the Ontario Labor Relations Board decides which union is the legal bargaining agent for the 3,500 production workers in the Peterborough plant—the UE or the rival IUE (CIO-CCL). A similar move was made during negotiations for the 1950 contract. As it stands now, the company will continue joint negotiations with 2,500 Toronto production workers, at Davenport, Royce, Ward St., Carboloy and the Lamp works.

If a settlement were reached between the Toronto locals and the CGE, the company would then be prepared to offer a similar settlement to the Peterborough employees. And that would be Local 524, UE, should it continue as the bargaining agent for these employees.

Says Move Illegal

C. R. Sullivan, UE district representative, today described the company's move as "illegal."

"Their action is inconsistent with the Labor Relations Act," said Mr. Sullivan. "We are the certified bargaining agency and the company has a legal obligation to bargain with us so long as we retain that status.

"Through the first three years of bargaining the company strenuously opposed a master contract covering all production workers in the Canadian chain but it was finally achieved in 1948."

Mr. Sullivan charged that this was an attempt to separate the Peterborough workers from the other plants and weaken their strength in negotiations.

Halted Wednesday

Negotiations were discontinued Wednesday after the company made its position known, and both parties are waiting for instructions from Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer for Ontario.

The joint UE-GE Conference Board, consisting of representatives from the various UE locals in the Canadian chain, will hold a special meeting Friday afternoon in Peterborough. The purpose is to plan a course of action to counter the company move.

An emergency membership meeting for Local 524 has been called for 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Brock Street Summer Gardens for the same purpose.

1951 Tax Rate In Brantford Reaches 56 Mills

Brantford tax rate for this year is 56 mills seven mills higher than last year. It was adopted Monday night. The levy on Separate School supporters is 62 mills, an increase of six mills.

Peterborough's mill rate is 55.5 and for Separate School supporters, 56.5.

The 1951 tax rate for St. Catharines has been set at 57½ mills. Last year, the rate was 51.95 mills. The budget, presented at last night's city council meeting provides for the heaviest annual expenditure in the history of the city.

City Treasurer E. A. Danby of Brantford said of the new tax peaks that the tax dollar paid by the ratepayer on real estate had no more purchasing power than the dollar in the hands of the individual, and that continued rising costs were reflected in the 1951 rate.

He warned that little had been added to the city's capital plant for several decades, and that large capital outlays would be necessary over the next few years. These include, sewer extensions. A new $1,000,000 secondary school has been approved by the taxpayers, but is not planned for this year.

Gunmen Change Car, Clothes Carry Off $6,500

VANCOUVER, March 29 (CP). —Four gunmen who grabbed $6,-500 from the Fourth and Alma Street branch of the Bank of Montreal Tuesday used two stolen cars and one change of clothes in their escape.

Fleeing in the first car, they changed clothes, ditched the car, and disappeared in a second one. It also was later found abandoned.

Police said they don't know whether a third car was involved.

Shortly before 1:00 p.m. three of the bandits entered the bank clutching handkerchiefs to their faces and flourishing revolvers. They forced three men employees to kneel, and lined up the remaining women employees along the wall. There were no customers in the bank.

They scooped large bills from two tellers' cages and fled. The fourth member was waiting with the car. Within minutes police established a block system that quickly turned up the first car, abandoned.

A woman in the neighborhood said she saw two men run from the car into a nearby woods.

Later, the second car was found abandoned on a residential street.

The last bank holdup here was in December.

Involve Ford Plant

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP) —Crime-probing Senators made public Wednesday a staff report saying Ford Motor Company officials helped gambler Joe Adonis' car-transporting firm enlarge its territory in 1946. The report said some Ford officials "actively supported" a 1946 move by the Adonis company to move into Delaware and Rhode Island, which were served by competing firms.

Plan Mock War

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, March 29 (AP)—Full scale mock warfare will be waged in Alaska for 24 days beginning April 2, with ground, air and sea forces being used jointly for the first time in territory-wide manoeuvres, the Alaskan military command announced Wednesday. They will test Alaskan ground and air defences against a theoretical enemy attack. Major activity will be centred in the Kodiak and Fairbanks areas.

Steal Part of Statue

LONDON, March 29 (AP)—Another piece of historic London is missing. This time it is the trident from the upraised hand of the statue of Britannia outside St. Paul's Cathedral. Last January a four-foot bronze sword was removed from another statue of Britannia near Pall Mall in the heart of London. On Christmas the Stone of Scone—the coronation stone—was lifted from Westminster Abbey.

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH EVERYTHING but the proverbial sink is strapped on this paratrooper, Pte. Leonard Allore, of Iron Mountain, Mich., as he gives the "thumbs up" signal before boarding a drop plane. Allore and fellow jumpers of the 187th U.S. Airborne Regiment, spilled out behind the enemy lines in the Munsan sector of Korea where substantial gains were chalked up against the Chinese Reds.

Canadians Wear Out Money As Quickly As They Get It

OTTAWA, March 29 (CP) — Canadians are wearing out their money almost as fast as they get it.

Bank of Canada officials said Wednesday that the average daily destruction of banknotes—those that are worn, dirty or mutilated —runs to about $2,000,000 in a five-day week, or about $500,-000,000 a year.

They place the life of the average $1 bill at about nine months, the average $2 bill at about 10 months; a $5 bill at about a year, and a $10 bill at about a year and a half.

Each year, the bank orders $50,-000,000 to $60,000,000 worth of dollar bills, $30,000,000 to $35,-000,000 worth of twos, $100,000,-000 worth of fives and $250,000,-000 worth of tens.

Reporting some of the oddities in note circulation, a spokesman said the Prairie Provinces order only small quantities of $2 bills in relation to their total currency demands. This is sometimes explained as a superstition that the $2 bill brings bad luck, one believed to have originated many years ago in the Mid-western United States.

Another oddity is the unusual demand in some localities for $100 notes.

Need 50-cent Pieces

In the field of coinage, British Columbia can't get enough 50-cent pieces to satisfy demand, while in Montreal they accumulate in the banks because Montrealers don't like carrying them around in their pockets. At regular intervals the bank ships quantities of 50-cent pieces from Montreal to Vancouver just to keep things in balance.

Some $14,000,000 of chartered bank bills—they stopped issuing bills in 1938—still are in the hands of the public. Many have become collectors' items while others probably are just tucked away as souvenirs.

Expert Seeks Lock He Can't Open

MONTREAL —(CP)— A thin, grey-haired Montreal man admits he could be one of the world's best thieves if he chose to turn his honest trade into a life of crime.

He is a 53-year-old railway lock expert, Emile Vidal, who proudly states that there is still a lock or safe to be built which he can't open.

When asked how he does it, Vidal, employed at the C.N.R. Point St. Charles shops in Montreal, said "that's a trade secret. I've never told anyone, not even my own family. Too many people might take advantage of the knowledge for other than honest purposes."

During his 40 years with the railway he has released passengers who became locked in compartments, assisted chefs get food out of pantries when the door was keyless, and opened many a railway safe.

Has Own System

Most of his work is done on trains, many of which have at least 800 locks. There isn't one of them he can't open and he doesn't do it by the old hairpin system.

Vidal says he didn't know anything about locks when he joined the railway at the age of 14. He was working in one of the shops one day and seeing some locks around he thought it would be fun trying to open them. That started him on his trade.

"For a while I drove my wife nuts with locks," he said. "She kept telling me to get those things out of the house. Now she never sees one except in her own doors."

No, he's never been locked out of his own house. "I always carry a key. And I'm not like some people, I never lose it."

SHOES IMPORTANT

Posture faults and even nerve and spinal ailments have been traced in some cases to ill-fitting shoes.

RUSSIAN DELEGATES AT ICAO—A two-man Russian delegation sat in on the regular meeting of the International Civil Aviation Organization's Operations Division in Montreal. This was the first time since 1946 that Russia has sent a delegation to observe proceedings and it touched off a wave of speculation as to Russian intentions. Above, right background, indicated by arrows is shown the USSR delegation at the session. At right is Col. Evgueni Radominov, assistant air attache at the Russian embassy in Ottawa, head of the delegation, while at left is his unidentified interpreter.

Churchill Tested War Material In Bath

TORONTO, March 29. — One phase of the Second World War may have been won in Winston Churchill's bathtub.

Admiral Earl Mountbatten on Wednesday night told of taking a sample of pykerete—a sturdy substance on which platforms were floated in the invasion of Europe —to the wartime Prime Minister as he lay in his bath. The material was put in the tub and it performed well.

"Take it to the Quebec conference," ordered Churchill.

Mountbatten did, and after an American general had almost broken an arm trying to smash the stuff with an axe (after which he used his pistol on it) pykerete was approved and used in the invasion.

Mountbatten told the story at a dinner of structural engineers here.

Trial Ordered

TORONTO, March 29 (CP)—A former Toronto private detective, Michael Manos, 27, Wednesday was ordered to face trial on a charge of theft of more than $36,-000 from a Toronto law firm. Elsie Teasdale, 33-year-old bookkeeper, jointly charged with Manos, has already been sentenced to two years less one day in reformatory.

Freed On Charge

CHATHAM, March 29 (CP) — George Crosby, trucker, was freed Wednesday of a dangerous driving charge laid Feb. 16 following the death of six-year-old Stanley Lamarsh. The boy was killed under the wheels of the Crosby truck, while the vehicle was turning from the street into a service station.

Transfer Troops To Wainwright

OTTAWA, March 29 — (CP) — Several thousand Canadian troops of the army's special force will be moved from Fort Lewis, Wash., to the big Wainwright, Alta., army base in the fairly near future to continue training.

They are the men who will be left behind when the 25th Brigade, core of the force, sails for Korea, probably next month.

The 3,000 to 4,000 men who will remain on this continent are reinforcements and are formed into 3rd or training battalions of three infantry regiments, the Royal Canadian and Royal 22nd Regiments and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Wainwright is slated to become an even more important training area than it has been in the past and may become the base where Canada trains a brigade for Europe.

List Accomplishments Of Woodlands Section

MONTREAL, March 29 (CP)—Accomplishments of the woodlands section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association were outlined Wednesday at the section's annual meeting by chairman Gordon Godwin.

Mr. Godwin, woodlands manager for the Ontario Paper Co., Thorold, Ont., said the section now has a membership of 863.

In his annual report, Mr. Godwin said 17 standing and special committees worked during the year on a number of projects, including logging mechanization, woods labor training and camp heating.

A number of papers were presented at a panel session on supervisory training.

John Tait, of the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Irouois Falls, Ont., said that foremen, through formal and informal discussions of problems with management and supervisory personnel, can bring about a better appreciation of problems confronting all groups. Gordon Godwin, of the Ontario Paper Co., Thorold, Ont., was elected chairman of the Woodland's section Council for 1951. J. B. Matthews of the Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Toronto, was elected vice-chairman.

Athabaskan Receiving Top Brass

ON BOARD HMCS ATHABASKAN, March 29 — (CP) — This doughty Canadian destroyer is getting more than her share of visits by a variety of top naval brass from many countries.

Latest of these is Vice-Admiral Sir Guy Russell, newly-appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Royal Navy's Far East station.

He did a day's sailing with her in Japanese waters while visiting the British Fleet in the Korean war zone.

A few months ago the destroyer flew the flag of Vice-Admiral A. D. Struble, commander of the United States Seventh Fleet. Last fall, Canada's Chief of Naval Staff, Vice-Admiral H. T. W. Grant, boarded her during his Korean inspection tour.

D. BOHUSLAV KRATOCHVIL, the 48-year-old Czech ambassador to India who resigned his post following the arrest of Dr. Vlado Clementis, the former Czech foreign minister, holds his two-year-old son, John, as he points out something on shore to his wife as they arrived at Liverpool, Eng.

Warkworth Churches Celebrate Easter

WARKWORTH, March 29 — (ENS)— Special Eastertide servicese were held in Warkworth with the ministers, choirs and congregations of the four Protestant churches combining.

In the evening a joint service was held in St. Paul's United church when all four churches joined to gether with their ministers, choirs and congregations.

The Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's gave the Easter message. The Rev. John McKinnon of St. John's opened the services and read the scripture reading and the Rev. A. B. Moffatt of the Free Methodist church offered prayer and the Rev. H. G. Lester of St. Paul's United church closed the service.

Special music by the choir was led by the organist, Mrs. Douglas Knight, accompanied in the hymns at the piano by Miss Ina Bowen. A duet was given by Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Harnden of the Free Methodist church and a quartet by Mrs. D. S. Thompson, Mrs Jim McCleary, Mr. Douglas Knight and the Rev. H. G. Lester, all of St. Paul's choir.

The offering was taken by four members —one from each of the four churches represented—Walter Covert, Edward Huycke, Bruce White and Joe Greenly. The contributions were sent to the Relief Fund for Protestant churches in Europe.

Allies Sceptical Of News Reds Cutting Police Units

By VINCENT BUIST

BERLIN —(Reuters)— Underground reports suggesting that the Soviet's 50,000-man police army in East Germany is being slashed to suit a new Communist line are being closely studied here.

There are growing indications that the police "alert units"—handpicked men trained with Soviet weapons in special East German camps—are being severely cut in strength and reorganized.

The question is whether these forces have become first casualties of the newly-launched East German peace and unit offensive. They have proved a major stumbling block to East-West German friendship and understanding ever since the Western allies, in strong notes to the Soviet Union early in 1950, condemned them as military formations.

Otto Grotewohl, Eastern prime minister, in his renewed offers of an East German handshake held out to "German brothers in the west," hinted at important concessions.

Reports brought into Berlin by East Germans in key office and party jobs boil down to four main points:

Hint Big Cut

1. Front-line alert units are being slashed in strength. Some 1,000-man battalions have lost eight out of 10 companies since Christmas.

2. Others are being broken up and the men sent to join non-military police units—the ordinary people's police—but notably the understrength German frontier police.

3. Some silver-braided police generals have recently fallen in rank to lieutenant-colonel. There are rumors, however, that some of these men will go into temporary obscurity in the Soviet Union to study at the Soviet army staff college.

4. Thousands of former alert unit men have been dismissed without explanation. They are now trying for jobs in East German shipyards, mines and factories. There is no doubt they will soon be absorbed in industry because the state's five-year plan, which began last month, is short of unskilled hands.

Allied observers in Berlin say it would be tempting to regard these moves as a genuine attempt to appease West German fears of invasion from the East German Republic or civil war fomented by that state.

Still Recruiting

But they also point out that recruiting into the Alert units is continuing, although at a slackened rate—which might be due to the labor demands of the five-year plan.

Confidential orders warning unit headquarters to cut their strengths and turn trained men over to industry went out towards the end of December, according to East Germans.

They began arriving shortly after Vice-Premier Walter Ulbricht returned from a three-week visit to the Soviet Union before Christmas. Ulbricht, who wields immense power as general secretary of the Communist (Socialist Unity) party in East Germany, is regarded by Allied representatives here as the Soviet politburo's No. 1 man in Germany.

The present release of Alert squad personnel may, in the opinion of some Allied officers here, only mean that the first wave of trainees have reached an approved standard and must now make way for further classes.

WesternFarmers Buy City Homes

SASKATOON—(CP)—Real estate men report that farmers have been buying city houses at an unprecedented rate during the last five years.

Many of the farmers moving into town are retiring. Others are spending the winters in Saskatoon, then moving back to the land for the grain-growing season.

Business men say the increased farmer population in Saskatoon is part of a trend all over the West.

"Ninety per cent of the farmers buying now plunk down full cash," said one real estate man. "We're darn glad to see them."

Several real estate men said they know of farmers who own homes on the farm, in the nearest village and also in the city. Some farmers are buying several city houses as investments.

Back For "Seconds" . . . why I've never seen such a family as ours for BIRDS EYE FROSTED PEAS! No other peas bring such cries of 'more—more' . . . I'm sure all would be happy if I served them every night of the week. Of course there's a reason for that special Birds Eye flavour of fresh, young tenderness. These peas are selected and picked at the very hour they reach their flavour-fullness . . . then they are shelled, washed, double-checked and quick frozen before any of their farm-fresh flavour escapes. Just think of the work, time and money they save you too! Why one box of Birds Eye equals two pounds of peas in the pod! They're fresher too! No wonder BIRDS EYE are guaranteed the best peas you ever ate . . . or your money back!

Here's Something I put at the top of my shopping list in a hurry when I see that I'm "running out" . . . SLOAN'S LINIMENT. Yes, I always like to have a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in the house. When housecleaning makes my muscles stiff 'n' sore—or when March weather gives me a touch of rheumatism . . . that's when I reach for Sloan's! Yes, it does offer the most wonderful relief from pain caused by strains, sprains or stiffness. It eases the aches of neuralgia and rheumatism, too. Just pat it on and its gentle warmth quickly sinks deep down in and relieves the pain. Sloan's Liniment is very reasonable in price — just 50c for the small-sized bottle — 90c for the large. The whole family will benefit from your "buy"!

There's A Package In My Pantry I'd like to tell you about. It's my much-used "cooking companion"—QUAKER CORN MEAL. Yes, Quaker Yellow Corn Meal is not only delicious in dozens of dishes, it's better than bread or cracker crumbs for breading fish, cutlets or oysters. And when you get your package of Quaker Corn Meal, you'll discover three of my favourite recipes right on the outside. If your family haven't yet had the flavour-treat of Hasty Pudding, Golden Corn Muffins or hot, crusty Corn Bread made with Quaker Corn Meal . . . then they've been missing a real treat! Yes, Quaker Corn Meal is a "must" when you're cooking. And, of course, with the famous Quaker name behind it, it's no wonder this corn meal is "tops" in taste and quality!

Don't Worry if you drop a bit of butter—a fleck of gravy or mayonnaise on your dress! It's not stained permanently!...not when you have ENERGINE CLEANING FLUID handy! You'll never be without Energine once you've proved to yourself how it saves worry and bother and cleaner's bills, too! Ask for it at drug and department stores for as little as 25c!

Soup Of The Evening — beeyootiful soup! . . . around our house, that means any one of the delicious HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS! There are many varieties to choose from—all of them just as dee-licious as the Heinz soup experts can make them. Don't wait another day to give your family the flavour-enjoyment of these Heinz Soups! Serve them as a first course—or in dressings—meat loaves—rarebits—casseroles. Yes, I've proved to myself time and time again that Heinz Condensed Soups are the perfect bases for so many tempting, time-saving dishes! You know they're good because they're Heinz!

It "Dresses" For Dinner in just two minutes—then works hard in the kitchen for me, too! That's BLUE BONNET MARGARINE in the new, handy Yellow Quik bag! Yes, I love Blue Bonnet's country-fresh flavour in my cooking (baking, pan frying, seasoning vegetables) . . . and NOW that it comes in the Yellow Quik bag, I can colour it for table use, too! It's so easy. Just press the colour button on the bag—knead the bag—and in just two minutes, Blue Bonnet is a luscious, golden-yellow. No dirty mixing bowls to wash—no fuss—no bother at all! And another thing I like about Blue Bonnet is that its Vitamin A content is high every month of the year. Yes, you get so much for so little when you buy delicious, nutritious Blue Bonnet!

ANY SOLDIER will tell you that he never went on parade anywhere—route march or ceremonial—that one or more dogs didn't turn up and trudge along as if they were part and parcel of the proceedings. Here's a company marching up to the front line in Korea, and even with the guns booming there's one more on parade than the sergeant's roll book names.

Urge Better Plan For Placing Students

TORONTO, March 29 (CP).—Schools should adopt a more aggressive program of placing their graduates in employment, the Canadian research committee recommended in a report released Wednesday.

The report, "two years after school," was prepared for presentation at the commitee's annual meeting at Ottawa Friday.

It is the result of a survey of 7,000 students who left school in 1948 and of their supervisors.

The report stressed the value of graduating from high school rather than dropping out to accept employment before the course is completed. Within two years of leaving school, graduates' wages averaged $5 a week more than those of students who had dropped out.

Says Husband Wants New Wife

TORONTO, March 29 (CP).—Mrs. James L. Blaisdell testified Wednesday that her husband had told her he wished to marry another woman.

In an Ontario Supreme Court action, she claims alimony of $200 against Dr. James L. Blaisdell, a London, Ont., pathologist. In a counter-claim, Dr. Blaisdell claims their marriage should be annulled on the grounds that Mrs. Blaisdell's divorce from her former husband was not legal.

John R. Grey, 23, one of Mrs. Blaisdell's two sons by her previous marriage, said his mother and stepfather had argued continually when he lived with them in Timmins.

The case is continuing.

Seek 10-Cent Boost

MONTREAL, March 29 (CP)—Canadian Council of the United Textile Workers of America (AFL) announced Wednesday it would seek a ten-cent hourly wage boost for 6,000 Dominion Textile Company workers in Montreal and Valleyfield, Que., to compensate for higher cost-of-living since the last contract. The company has been asked to set rates for negotiations.

Old Murder Method

TOKYO, March 29 (Reuters)—Police said Wednesday that a Japanese housewife killed her husband by mixing short pieces of hair over a four-month period—an ancient Oriental poisoning method. Under arrest is Tomi Isobe, 35, charged with murdering her 58-year-old school teacher husband for his pension. The hair causes death by accumulating into a ball and blocking the body passages.

Seize Branch Offices

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 29 (Reuters)—The Argentine congressional committee which has shut down the independent newspaper La Prensa and taken over its offices, Wednesday seized its branch offices in the cities of Rosario, Santa Fe and Cordoba. The committee has already taken control of the paper's branches at Mar Del Plata and La Plata.

Cellophane For Flags

TORONTO, March 29 (CP) — Flags flying outside Toronto schools might be wrapped in cellophane to keep them clean, Mrs. Isabel Ross, a board of education trustee, suggested Wednesday. The board took no action.

FIERY, ITCHING TOES AND FEET

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery torture. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Eczema—other irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any Tamblyn Drug Store, or any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of these ailments is rare indeed.

Metal Search Stirs Activity In Northern Manitoba

THE PAS, Man., March 2—(CP)—International demand for strategic metals has stirred exploratory mining activity through Northern Manitoba.

Nickel is sought most. The search for it is extending north of Churchill on the west shore of Hudson Bay.

Farther south, along the route of the Hudson Bay railway, more field paties are examining old and new fields than at any time in recent years.

Three survey parties are mapping possible routes for a railway into the Lynn Lake properties of Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. in Northern Manitoba. About 10,000,000 tons of ore have been proven above the 1,000-foot level at this copper-nickel field.

Most spectacular of mining exploratory ventures now under way is a freight trek from Churchill to International Nickel Company's copper-nickel concession 100 miles west of Tavani, 300 coastal miles north of the Hudson Bay seaport.

300 Mile Journey

Twelve sleighs and four big tractors arrived at Churchill last week aboard Hudson Bay railway flatcars and after loading began a journey over 300 miles of moonlike craters and hummocks along the coast toward the Hudson's Bay Company post which marks the Eskimo settlement of Tavani.

The freight swing—on train—will drive over ocean ice when the tide is out and through the tundra when the tide is in. Aircraft will spot the trail between ice hummocks far ahead. Skilful Eskimo guides will examine ice cracks ahead of the machines.

Little information has been made public about the Tavani concession. Geologists and engineers came out from the remote property last October with samples and photographs of the ores. Now the freight swing is taking in diamond-drilling equipment, building materials and gasoline.

So keen is the race for nickel that the discovery of a large body of iron ore of comparatively-low quality near Churchill has aroused little interest. The ore body is located on Great Island in the Seal River, due west of Churchill.

There is also coal in the vicinity of the Hudson Bay port. This was discovered two or three years ago south and east of Churchill.

On the Hudson Bay railway route, International Nickel and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting are staking in the vicinity of Partridge Crop Lake, which is accessible to the railway at Thicket Portage, 175 miles northeast of The Pas.

Prospecting also has been resumed at the old find at Mystery Lake, and immediately northeast of Mystery Lake International Nickel has recorded more than 100 claims. Unconfirmed reports have placed the ore potential at Mystery Lake at between 200,000,000 and 300,000,000 tons of nickel-bearing ore averaging one-half of one per cent nickel.

Shaw Leaves 100,000 Lbs. For Aiding Irish Culture

DUBLIN —(CP)— Irish institutions of culture expect to share in a bequest of about £100,000 (about $300,000) following final settlement of the estate left by the late George Bernard Shaw.

The money to be distributed represents a gift provided for in the will of the Irish playwright's wife who predeceased him seven years ago.

Mrs. Shaw, daughter of the late Horace Payne Townsend, of County Cork, left an estate valued at approximately £155,000. After provision for several personal bequests, the residue was left to her husband with the provision that on his death whatever remained would be used in Ireland for purposes specified by her.

Stipulations

The will stipulated that the trustees should apply the income in making grants to any foundations, institute or body having for its objects:

1. To bring masterpieces of fine art within the reach of the people of Ireland.

2. To teach, promote and encourage in Ireland, self-control, elocution, deportment, the arts of personal contact, of social intercourse and other arts of public, private, professional and business life.

3. Establish and endow any educational institutions giving instructions in or promoting the study of these subjects.

No Definite Plans

The trustees have announced that the exact amount available is still unknown and that no definite plans can be made until Mr. Shaw's estate has been settled.

When the terms of the will were first disclosed in February, 1944, many Irish organizations sought financial aid under it. Further applications, however, were discouraged by a typical statement from Shaw himself. He made it clear that the bequest would not come into operation until after his own death.

"Already a considerable number of people have written to get hold of it," he said "But they are not going to get it. What I have, I hold."

Store Caters To Women Seeking Unusual

REGINA (CP). — Blanche Buchanan of Saskatoon has built a thriving business and merchandising reputation for herself in catering to women's desire for the unusual in clothing.

"Every woman has a yen for something with a Parisian or Italian label," she said when interviewed on the eve of the opening of her Regina shop.

With this idea in mind, one of the first things she did after purchasing her first dress shop in Saskatoon was to arrange to import Parisian blouses and gloves, Italian scarves and handbags, and British woollens.

This summer she intends to show cottons and other special imports from the United States as well as continental merchandise. Her ambition is to own a string of stores in the Western Provinces.

Miss Buchanan went into merchandising after a career in modelling and designing begun in Chicago at the age of 17.

Tiresome Job

"Being a model has its glamorous points," she said. "But after a while it becomes tiresome."

After modelling for individual dress shops and a department store, she became a private house model for a large concern. Her job was to model clothes before buyers settled on types and quantities of clothing to be bought, to consult on materials and styling and general fitting problems.

"This is where I learned most of my first merchandising lesson," she said.

When she was 29 she headed West to Los Angeles where she became connected with a firm which handled wardrobe problems for a number of movie stars. She became personal wardrobe adviser to Mae West and, she said, "the business relationship ripened into a lasting friendship."

Later she married hotelman C. T. Oldcroft and settled in Saskatoon. She went into business five years ago after her husband retired.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Jealousy Of Mate's Dead Only Borrowing Trouble

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am contemplating marrying a man whom I love dearly, but because of the fact that he is a widower I feel terribly let down. I suppose my trouble really is jealousy. I cannot bear to think that he ever loved another woman well enough to marry her. I know second marriages are common occurrences, but somehow that knowledge doesn't reconcile me in the least. I also realize how foolish my outlook is, but the thought comes over me like a blanket of heavy fog. What shall I do?

W. F. E.

Dorothy Dix

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Put your fears behind you and grab your man if you know a good thing when you see it.

If your only objection to your friend is that he has loved before, forget it. No female over 16 is optimistic enough to expect to be a man's first love, or credulous enough to believe him if he tells her that he has never loved before. Every man has had innumerable loves and whether he married any one of them or didn't is a matter of no concern, provided the lady is out of the picture.

Last Love Counts

Who a man's first love was doesn't matter. The important thing is that you are his last love, and you are going out of your way to borrow trouble when you let a ghost stand between you and happiness. It is the live ladies who are your headache.

I think wives are nearly always jealous of their husbands' first wives and feel a certain animosity toward them, but if they could only realize it, these first wives were their friends and benefactors and they owe a lot to them.

Marrying a widower is getting a husband who has had all the rough edges filed off his disposition and character and it saves the new wife about ten years of arduous labor. And if perchance a man's first wife has been high-tempered, peevish, fretful and a bad housekeeper, the second wife is simply sitting on the top of the world. If she is fairly decent to her husband he will grovel at her feet and burn incense before her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls, 20 and 21 years of age. Both of us are employed, one a beauty operator and the other a stenographer. For the last several months we have been going with two young men of good standing in the community who wish to marry us. Both make good livings and are not spendthrifts. What is your opinion on the subject of marriage? Should we continue to work and not marry? Or should we marry and give up our work? Or should we marry and still hold our positions?

MARY AND GEORGIA

ANSWER: Evidently you are not very much in love with the boys or else you would not debate so coolly the advisobility of marrying them, as they seem to be unusually desirable husbands. If that is the case and you are in a state of mind where you can take 'em or leave 'em, as the phrase goes, leave 'em. The only thing that justifies a girl in marrying is to be so much in love with a boy that he looks better to her than anything else in the world.

As for a choice between your work and a husband, the same rule applies. Take the one you are most interested in and get the most pleasure out of. Generally speaking, a husband is a better choice than a career. A woman has to work a long time and be unusually successful before she can earn for herself the comforts her husband gives her.

When you marry, give up your job unless you especially need the money. Making a home is a two-handed job that is big enough for any woman.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a middle-aged man with a wife who for some time has been on the point of a nervous breakdown. This has caused her to become suspicious of every woman I speak to whether she is 17 or 70, and as I am in close contact with many women in business, this makes the situation very difficult for me. I have always been faithful to my wife, but she does not believe it, nor can I convince her that all of her suspicions are groundless. Do you think that sending her to a good sanatorium for a few months' rest would help her health and would be advisable?

H. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I do, indeed. But don't suggest it yourself. Get your doctor to do it. If you so much as mention it, she will refuse to go because she will think that you are trying to get her out of the way.

A woman in your wife's condition needs to be got away from her husband and her family and to have a certain amount of control that cannot be given to her at home and by her own people. And certainly you need rest from her ceaseless suspicions and nagging.

Girls Should Be Taught How To Fix Ironing Cord

TORONTO, March 29 (CP) — A suggestion that boys be taught how to cook and that girls be shown how to fix an ironing cord was put forward last night at a convention of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations.

David Tough, collegiate principal from adjoining Forest Hill village, made the proposal. He thought the boys and girls could swap home economics and manual training courses for a month.

"Every woman should know how to fix an iron plug when it goes out of commisison, instead of having to stop the family ironing," he said.

A Federation banquet, presided over by Mrs. M. D. McLellan of Brantford, was attended by 900 men and women. It was the largest in the history of the 32-year-old organization, which has a total membership of 80,000 in 840 associations.

Victorian Influence Noted In Britain's Spring Bonnets

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—In jaunty disregard of wet and windy winter months, Britain's Easter bonnets are gay, demure and charming.

Their spirit is appropriately reminiscent, in fact, of the coy Victorian Miss in flower-decked, beribboned poke-bonnet who watched a pink-gowned Queen Victoria drive in state to open Britain's 1851 exhibition, forerunner of this year's Festival of Britain.

Fashions have blazed a meteoric pathway in those 100 years but the new spring line still has a slightly Victorian flavor, recalling like a faint echo the styles worn at the first exhibition of Britain's art and manufacture.

Today's slim skirt-link with the fashion preference for black-and-white and navy-and-white, combined with a becoming flowered toque, cloche or bonnet, gives an elegant feminine outline that the ladies of yesteryear could not have scorned.

"It is apparent that the outlook and circumstances of the day influenced no less strongly women's wearing apparel in 1851 than in 1951," said a spokesman at London's millinery information centre.

Old-World Touch

The Victorian influence is especially marked in the combination of floral toques and flowered muffs. Both are made entirely of flowers or petals and the muffs have a quaint, old-world look.

"This is undoubtedly a trimmings year, with no restrictions so long as they are feminine," said the information centre spokesman.

Mushroom shapes, toques and beret hats with visor eyeshade brims are spattered with single flowered or adorned with slim, delicate sprays. There are no "bunchy" trimmings. The visor brims are often of transparent horsehair, covered with flowers and supported on a black velvet skull cap.

Small hats are narrow with upturned sides, narrow curled brims and a new elongated look. One example is a an upturned boat style, its length emphasized by small tufts of flowers worn fore and aft.

Two old comebacks with well-known elongated shapes are the Scots Glengarry and the English bowler. The latest Glengarry styles are modelled in smooth straw and decorated with a side spray of flowers. The new bowler has curled brim, shallow crown and visor veil. Many are slotted with ribbons and ribbon streamers.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

You Will Find Chicken Pie To Be Real Meat Stretcher

Chicken pies—both large and individual—are meat stretchers, and I am pleased to have Mrs. J. A.'s request for the recipe for them.

A large boiling fowl would be the most economical and efficient buy for this purpose, for you could serve the boiled chicken with dumplings for one meal. The leftover chicken could be picked from the bones and the boiling liquid flavored and made into gravy for the pies.

✧ ✧ ✧

Boiled Fowl

One five or sixpound fowl dressed and cut up or left whole as desired, is put in kettle with about 1½ quarts hot water, ¼ of a bay leaf, and simmered for 3 or 4 hours, covered, or until tender. (If to be used for Chicken Stew with Dumplings you would add 1 stalk celery, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 sliced onion to this while cooking.) Let chicken cool in boiling liquid. Remove meat from bones.

✧ ✧ ✧

Chicken Pie (or individual pies)

For enough for six people you need 4 cups chicken cut into 1 inch pieces. Pieces may be left large if desired. Three-quarters cup potato balls which have been boiled until half tender, 1 cup cooked or frozen thawed green peas, ¾ cup small cooked carrot balls or cubes, ¼ cup green onion tops, ½ cup cooked chopped celery, ¼ cup butter or margarine, about ⅓ cup flour, about 4 cups chicken stock, salt, pepper and parsley.

Melt the butter in a saucepan and stir in flour, then stir in the chicken stock until thick, and let simmer for about 5 minutes stirring. Add salt and pepper to taste and about 1 or 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and all of the other ingredients for the filling. It is now ready to pour into baking dish when crust is made and rolled out.

✧ ✧ ✧

Crust (for 10 inch baking dish): 3½ cups sifted bread flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine or other good quality shortening, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 eggs, ¾ cup cold milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt after measuring. Cut shortening into them until it looks fine. Beat the eggs and add the milk to them and stir into the flour until it forms a soft dough that is not sticky. Do not over stir. Turn out onto floured board and knead gently for 15 seconds. Cut dough into two parts having one part slightly larger than the other. Roll out larger piece into a round large enough to line bottom and sides of 10-inch baking dish. Pour in filling. Brush edge with milk and roll out upper crust, gash it to allow steam to escape and place it over the filling and seal edges, by pressing with floured fork. Brush top with milk and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes. If there is any remaining boiling liquor it may be made into gravy to pass at table for those who like plenty of gravy.

✧ ✧ ✧

For Individual Pies line 4 or 5-inch individual baking dishes instead of a large baking dish and fill ¾ full of filling and seal on tops to fit, with gashes in them. They require not more than 35 minutes baking. Potatoes and carrots may be omitted from individual pies.

Believe Reese Manager On Retirement

By JACK HAND

MIAMI, Fla., March 29 (AP)—Many baseball men consider Pee Wee Reese the player most likely to succeed as manager when his shortstop days are over.

Starting his ninth year with Brooklyn, Reese thinks he has three more seasons to play. At 31, he is convinced that any attempt to mix playing and managing shorten an athlete's career.

"I couldn't fairly say I don't think about managing," he said. "I guess every players dreams about that. But before I get to that, I think I have three more years as a regular."

Pee Wee, perhaps the best-liked Dodger, is completely happy, playing under new manager Chuck Dressen. Doing his job in his usual capable fashion, he soaks up knowledge for the years to come. Reese's name was mentioned last winter when it became obvious that the new Brooklyn owners were going to oust Burt Shotton. Reese is supposed to have indicated he preferred to remain a player.

Prefers It

"Maybe if I had gone and asked for the job," he said, "they might have given it to me. But I prefer it this way.

"I do know one thing. If I ever do become a manager, I'll try to leave the ball game in the clubhouse once it's over. Your health is more important than any ball game."

Reese's current ambition is to win a pennant. He still has bitter memories of the futile 1950 stretch drive that conked out on the final day of the season.

Reese got off to a slow start last season, after a hernia operation. He was hitting around .200 in early season and wound up at .260, his lowest since 1942.

Back trouble kept him out of the early exhibitions this spring but he is back on the job, teaming up with Jackie Robinson around second base.

Use Thin Tubes In Veins To Check Organs

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

DURHAM, N.C., March 29 (AP)—Duke University doctors are pushing long, thin, hollow plastic tubes through human veins directly to all the vital organs.

It is an extension of sending such tubes to the heart. At Duke they now reach the brain, liver and kidneys. The experiments, made by Dr. John B. Hickham, Dr. Jack Myers and Dr. E. A. Stead, Jr., were reported today.

The tube takes a sample of blood before it enters the vital organ, and of blood after the organ has used it. The blood going in carries more oxygen and blood sugar than when emerging. The difference measures how much work the organ is doing.

Needs Power

There tests show that the brain takes nearly one-fifth of all the oxygen you breathe. Dr. Stead says the brain is like a central telephone switchboard, which needs a lot of power to keep it going, but uses little of this power for a phone message.

The brain's nerve messages use only a small fraction of the total energy which the grey matter manufactures from oxygen and sugar. Most of the oxygen power seems to be used to keep the brain in running order.

The tube tests tell how your brain responds to drugs. They enter the body in a vein in front of the elbow, and cause no pain. Doctors here who have had the tubes run through their interiors said they did not feel them moving. The steering gear is a slightly-curved tip on the tube. By turning the tube where it enters the body, this tip likewise turns. An expert knows when to turn it so as to thread the inner labyrinth.

Dies In Cleveland

MARMORA, March 29 (ENS)—News was received Wednesday of the sudden death in Cleveland, Ohio, on March 26, of Lilian Coy of that city. The funeral is being held on March 29 in Cleveland. Dr. and Mrs. Coy and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coy, have spent vacations for several years at their cottage on Beaver Creek near Shanick.

A. Whiteside Hits 419 In Major Bowling

Alec Whiteside hit a thumping 419 single and top three of 800 this week in the Major Bowling League. Calvert's rolled high pinnage of 3228, including the leading game 1237. Six points were taken respectively by Bickell, Posties, Selkirk's, and Kingsmen over Edgewater, Campbell, Wonder and Modern; as 4-2 wins were racked up by Crowley, Hunt, Wood, Caccavella, Calvert, E and B, Bassell and Cherney over Kaw. Deaf, McLeod, McWilliams, Wade, Parkway, Plazas, Odeon and Mongraw.

Other good scores were: G. Rutledge 792, T. Collins (302) 783, E. Dixon 765, L. McIntosh 765, R. Mongraw (304) 761, J. Goodson 759, W. Stanbury 756, R. Bassett 749, H. Legrow 741, A. Mattucci 727, W. Firth (328) 724, D. Board 712, J. Moriarity 702 and J. Dormer 700.

Send Out Draft Of Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, March 29 — (AP)—The U.S. State Department is distributing to 15 countries this week a completed American draft of a Japanese peace treaty. These powers are being invited to state their reaction and propose, as soon as possible, any changes they may want.

State Department officials hope that within about three months an agreed treaty draft may result from formal negotiations getting under way now.

Some difficulties are foreseen, however, since Australia and New Zealand are worried about possible future Japanese rearming, the Philippines have insisted on reparations and Britain would like to curtail the Japanese shipping industry.

Russia is one of the countries receiving a copy of the treaty draft but is not expected to accept it as a basis for negotiation.

In substance what the United States is proposing is a treaty which would end the state of war with Japan, give that nation full control over its own affairs, and impose no barriers in the way of Japanese rearmament or economic development.

Jailed For 3 Years Under Mann Act

WINDSOR, Ont., March 29 — (CP) — Windsor Cabbie Ernest Scammell was sentenced to three years in prison after he was found guilty by a Detroit jury yesterday of violating the Mann Act by taking his wife to Detroit for immoral purposes.

Chief witness in the case against Scammel was his wife, Carol, 29, a former waitress in Windsor restaurants, who said he repeatedly took her across the border to set her up in 'call house" quarters in downtown Detroit hotels.

On cross-examination, Scammell admitted having operated a blind pig in a houseboat on the Windsor waterfront.

Will Leave Hospital To Make Broadcast

LONDON, March 29—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee, undergoing hospital treatment for a duodenal ulcer, will step out Saturday night to make a political broadcast from 10 Downing Street.

Then it's back to hospital for further treatment. A member of his staff says he is "looking very well and not worrying."

He is dieting and receiving medicinal treatment.

Woman Committed For Trial On Murder

TORONTO, March 29 (CP)—Mrs. Marie Lopees, 24, formerly of St. Cartharines, today was committed for trial for murder in the March 3 knife-slaying of her 26-year-old husband, John. The trial is expected to start April 27.

At the time of her arrest, police said her husband was stabbed during an argument in the couple's two-room basement apartment in suburban New Toronto.

Chinese Laying Out Graves In Advance

TOKYO, March 29 (Reuters)—Chinese commanders are thought to be estimating in advance the number of fatalities their troops would suffer and laying out graveyards for quick disposal of the bodies.

American troops pushing forward today on the western front north of Uijongbu came upon a precisely-planned and fastidious Chinese military graveyard containing 20 graves arranged in rows of five.

Each grave was marked with the dead man's name, unit and home town and there were 20 additional open graves waiting to be filled.

Shower Recent Bride

BETHANY, March 29 (ENS)—A miscellaneous shower was held in the Orange hall, Bethany, on Tuesday night for Mrs. Ross McGill of Janetville, a recent bride from this village who before her marriage was Miss Florence Smith, daughter of the late Walter Smith and Mrs. Smith. Miss Marie Carr read an address of congratulations and good wishes and the Misses Olive McGill and Evelyn Mantle assisted in presenting the many gifts. During the evening community singing was enjoyed with Miss Gladys Bigelow at the piano, and progressive euchre was played. Lunch was served.

Find Mangled Body Of Indian On Tracks

NORTH BAY, March 29—(CP)—The mangled body of a 20-year-old Indian youth was found on the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks about 16 miles west of here today. He was identified as Valari Commanda, a resident at the government Indian Reserve at Garden Village, a few miles from the accident scene.

Police said the body had been struck by one and possibly two trains during the night.

War Heroine Expects Enjoy Canada

LONDON, March 29 — (CP) — Odette Churchill, whose dignity and courage made possible one of the remarkable stories of the Second World War, said Wednesday she exepects to feel completely at home in Canada when she makes her first visit there this summer.

Mrs. Churchill, French-born British espionage agent who survived torture and imprisonment in Germany, will go to Canada in August along with 51 British girls on a goodwill tour sponsored by Garfield Weston, Canadian-born biscuit manufacturer.

Details of the tour were outlined at a press conference today by Mrs. Churchill and Ralph Magee of Winnipeg, publicity director for the Weston enterprises.

The tour starts Aug. 6 in Quebec City and ends in Montreal Aug. 31. Mrs. Churchill, heroine of the British film "Odette," was chosen to lead the group.

The trek of the British girls, which will be financed by Weston right down to such details as dresses and $5 a week pocket money, will have a Canadian counterpart. A group of Canadian girls will visit Britain earlier under leadership of Dr. Muriel Roscoe, Dean of Women of McGill University.

The two group will spend a weekend together in Britain late in July.

Mrs. Churchill told reporters she is looking forward to seeing Canada and particularly Quebec. Born in Amiens and later married to an Englishman, she is "continually being scolded by my three daughters cecause I still speak atrocious English."

THREE PERSONS, A DOG and a canary died of coal gas in this Donegal St. home Wednesday night, but the tragedy was not discovered until late Thursday night. Two bachelor brothers, Joseph and William Hagerman and their sister, Mrs. Mary Cowie, were found dead in their home by Mrs. Cowie's son-in-law, Ted Collis, who lives with his wife on Victoria Ave., just around the corner. In the photo at TOP LEFT, Ted Collis points to the cellar window which he forced open to get into the house. In the photo at TOP RIGHT, he points to a button in the Hagerman home which rings a bell in his home. It could have given the alarm, but was not sounded. Find Two Brothers, Sister Dead From Fumes In Their Donegal St. House

Two bachelor brothers and their sister were found dead in their gas-filled home, 646 Donegal St. about 10 p.m. Thursday by the woman's son-in-law. Dead are Mrs. Mary Cowie, 64; Joseph Hagerman, 62, and William Hagerman, 55; their dog, Mike, and a canary. The gas seeped into the house through a faulty damper on the coal furnace, Dr. Herbert Young, coroner, said. He found rust and corrosion on the chain and pulleys did not allow the damper to shut tightly when it was let down by the automatic control operated from a thermostat. Another brother, John, who lives there, had left after the weekend to resume his work as a salesman. He was in Belleville when notified. The victims had been dead about 18 hours when they were discovered by Ted Collis, 82 Victoria Ave., who lives with his wife, Phyllis, Mrs. Cowie's daughter, just around the corner. Mrs. Cowie was a widow. They can see the whole of the rear and side of the Hagerman house from the Collis kitchen window.

MRS. COWIE, JOS. HAGERMAN

Seen Wednesday Night

Both Mr. and Mrs. Collis work. Mr. Collis, a superintendent with the Hardy Construction Company, was the last to see them alive. About 10 o'clock on Wednesday night he telephoned to ask if they wanted anything at a neighborhood store. When he came back from the store he took them over some ice-cream. William had been in bed, but the four of them sat and talked until about midnight, when Mr. Collis left.

Thursday morning about 9:30 he returned to his house from work with a truck to move out some junk from his basement. He telephoned the Hagerman house to ask whether they had any junk they wanted taken away. He got no answer, and did not let the telephone ring long because he thought they might be sleeping in. They sometimes slept until about 10 a.m. since Joseph Hagerman came back from hospital about two weeks ago after an attack of pneumonia.

Air Force Drops Six Bombs On Ice Blockade

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., March 30 (CP) — Three jam-busting RCAF planes today slammed six 500-pound bombs into an ice blockade in the South Saskatchewan river that sent water over the banks Thursday into low-lying parts of Medicine Hat. Two bombs fell in open water.

The assault was the official start of "Operation Wet Hat," designed to relieve pressure on the flood-threatened city.

(A report to Northwest Air Command at Edmonton said the bombs appeared only to make holes in the ice and failed to move the huge egg-shaped jam. The report said the blockade appeared to be buttressed by another triangular pile extending downstream for half a mile.)

Rises 14 Feet

The river level was unchanged overnight but down about three feet from Thursday's peak which saw the water rise 14 feet in six hours.

Two Mustang fighters from Rivers, Man., and one Mitchell bomber from Suffield, Alta., shared in the bomb run at 9 a.m. MST today. Thursday night one of the bombers made a test bombing with two bombs. The fighters each carried two bombs in the first run today, the Mitchell carried four.

Scene of the bombing and ice bridge is 5½ miles downstream from the city proper. Six hit the ice-swollen "target."

Hard To Tell

Flooded roads around the scene of the bombing made it impossible to determine at once the effect of the blasts. About 60 holes in the city have been partially flooded.

The jam is at a hairpin bend in the river. The RCAF said there is an open section of water below the ice bridge between five and eight miles long. From this point up the river and through Medicine Hat there is a solid pressure of ice for many miles.

From dawn until 9 a.m., reconnaissance planes made sorties up and down the river to select strategic locations for the RCAF experiment. It is the first river-bombing operation of its kind in western Canada.

The municipal power plant has been completely sandbagged on the river side to protect it against flooding.

RCAF Pilot Shoots Down Russ Fighter

TOKYO, March 30 (CP) — An RCAF pilot today shot down a Russian-made MIG when more than 80 United Nations and Communist jet fighters tangled today in two dogfights over Korea.

Flt.-Lt. Omer Levesque of Montreal and Mont Joli, Que., RCAF pilot flying with a U.S. fighter-interceptor wing, made the one kill of the day. Two MIGs were damaged. U.N. planes weren't touched.

Levesque caught the MIG with a long burst from his machine-guns.

"He went into a series of violent rolls," Levesque said, "and kept rolling until he hit the ground and exploded."

The first dogfight flared as 30 MIGs tried to intercept 38 U.S. B-29 Superforts en route to bomb Yalu river bridges between Manchuria and North Korea.

10-Minute Fight

Thirty-two U.S. F-86 Sabre jets whooshed down and a 10-minute dogfight erupted at 30,000 feet. The Red jets fled after one was shot down and two others hit.

In the second action, eight F-80 Shooting Stars exchanged passes with 12 to 18 MIGs at 20,000 feet over Sinuiju. Nobody was hit.

Levesque's kill marked the first Communist plane shot down by a Canadian in Korea.

A fighter ace during the Second World War, Levesque is on loan from the RCAF to the U.S. Air Force. He shot down the first Focke-Wolfe in the Second World War and knocked out three other Nazi planes before he was shot down. He was fished out of the English Channel by the Germans and held prisoner for three years.

Find 105 Pieces From U.S. Plane

LONDON, March 30 (AP) — Increasing evidence that a plane with 53 United States airmen aboard either blew up or plunged in flames into the Atlantic Ocean was reported today by search vessels.

The United States destroyer Benner radioed it had picked up 105 splintered pieces of debris—30 per cent of them charred—over a 10-mile-wide area 600 miles southwest of Ireland.

The Daily Express says all signs "point to sabotage." The air force refused to discuss this theory officially.

U.S. Third Air Division headquarters here said a navy reserve officer aboard the Benner "has positively identified one piece of plywood as Douglas floorboard material."

The huge transport vanished a week ago on a flight from Limestone, Me., to Mildenhall, England.

In 5-Mile Radius

The debris reported by the Benner lay within a five-mile radius of the spot where searchers on Wednesday found a piece of crating identified positively as part of the Globemaster's cargo.

"Only a violent explosion could have so torn to shreds a huge plane capable of carrying 150 men or many tons of cargo," said The Express in discussing its sabotage theory.

"And unless the U.S. authorities find some inherent fault in the Globemaster planes, there is only one plausible conclusion: The explosion was planned."

CO Gets Lost On Way To Pats

WESTERN SECTOR, Korea, March 30. (CP)—Brig. J. M. (Rocky) Rockingham, commander of Canada's Special Brigade, arrived Thursday on a visit to Canadian troops fighting in the current United Nations offensive towards the 38th Parallel in Korea. Brig. Rockingham, whose brigade will soon join the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Battalion in Korea, was accompanied by Brig. Frank Fleury, Canadian military liaison officer at the UN Far East headquarters in Tokyo. Brig. Rockingham arrived in Tokyo by air from Canada on Monday and the next day saw Gen. MacArthur, United Nations commander. He flew to Korea Wednesday and reached the Patricias' area Thursday.

On arriving at main headquarters in the early afternoon, Brig. Rockingham wirelessed Maj. Henry Tighe, of Victoria, for permission to visit forward companies with Brig. Fleury. Maj. Tighe is acting commander of the Princess Patricias in the absence of Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone who has been evacuated to Tokyo suffering from smallpox.

Maj. Tighe said he would be happy to see them, so they got directions and, to avoid the arduous, direct overland route, climbed into a jeep to drive to a spot apparently more convenient for beginning the climb.

The "guide" they were given had never been up to the Patricias' forward positions and the first hill they tried revealed nobody there. Then they moved on to a second and higher ridge and their presence sent the British Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders into a tizzy at the unexpected arrival of two brigadiers.

The British troops had sufficient presence of mind to warn the visitors they were moving off immediately and if Brig. Rockingham's party tarried it would be at their own risk.

The party then decided to abandon the idea of reaching the forward position and jeeped back to battalion headquarters, reaching it at nightfall.

RCAF Plans To Strengthen Warning System By Corps

OTTAWA, March 30. (CP)—The Air Force today announced plans to strengthen its early-warning system with a 150,000-member ground observer corps to keep constant watch for possible airborne landings and parachute descents by enemy forces or agents.

RCAF headquarters said the corps, made up mainly of civilians serving on an unpaid volunteer basis across Canada, would assist Canadian defence, supplementing the Air Force's radar early-warning system by reporting aircraft movements.

The corps will be similar to those already serving in the United Kingdom and the United States. It would be grouped in four main areas—Eastern Canada, Quebec, Ontario and Western Canada.

First requirements will be for personnel to act as regional supervisors and chief observers and when the framework of the organization is complete a call will be made for 150,000 observers. Men, women and youths preferably those not qualified for regular military duty in wartime, will be eligible to take observer posts.

Floods Blitz Southern U.S.

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—Two days of tremendous rains have sent flood waters swirling over thousands of acres in the southern United States and have brought huge damage to highways, farms and homes.

Alabama was hit hardest. Two persons were drowned in Mississippi. North Georgia braced for the impact of rampant rivers. Louisiana was soaked.

In Alabama, overflowing rivers sent lowlanders scurrying to high ground. Much livestock was reported drowned. Far reaches of rich farmland were lapped by muddy waters.

The Cahaba and Coosa rivers leaped their banks and fanned out. National Guardsmen were on duty at Childersburg, Ala., where the Coosa partly covered about 200 homes Between 800 and 1,000 persons were homeless.

Pats' Terrain Like Rockies

WESTERN SECTOR, Korea, March 30 (CP)—Canadian troops Thursday reached a point just seven miles south of the 38th Parallel after chalking up another gain of 2½ map miles in the current United Nations push toward the boundary dividing South and North Korea.

Troops of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Battalion trudged unopposed to mountains between their kick-off point on Wednesday and Mount Myonji, a 4,500-foot peak just south of the parallel.

As the Patricias had advanced about 1½ miles Wednesday, their progress by nightfall Thursday was roughly four map miles. But in the present terrain, which has forced them to scale 80-degree mountain faces rendered treacherous by nightly snows and intermittent daytime showers, the measured footsteps add up almost double their map credit.

Like Rockies

The battalion is operating in an increasingly-beautiful part of Korea, resembling the Canadian Rockies. This part of the country is well treed, but with terraced slopes wherever the industrious Koreans can find land to farm.

The hardest work Thursday was done by troops under Capt. Del Harrison of Calgary. They climbed three stiff mountains to occupy the day's objective, a 3,000-foot height.

Each additional gain by the Canadians increases the difficulty of supplying the battalion in the roadless terrain — a veritable mountain redoubt.

Guns Stall Reds

In other sectors American big guns today stalled the first Chinese Communist counter-thrust in six weeks along the western Korean battlefront.

Infantrymen spotted the Chinese moving along a mountain trail north of Uijongbu. U.S. artillery pounded the mountain and by dusk the Reds still had not

Food Shortage Critical In India

NEW DELHI, India, March 30 (Reuters)—Dr. Clifford Taylor, United States embassy agricultural expert, warned today that the food situation in drought-stricken Bihar, northeast Indian state, is "already critical."

Supplies must be rushed in within the next two months before summer rains interrupt traffic.

Taylor reported that lines of 500 persons stood outside the food ration stores in Purnea, in the northeast. He said many were receiving less than the basic nine ounces daily grain ration.

5 Toronto Policemen Appeal Speeding Fine

LONDON, Ont., March 30 (CP)—Five Toronto policemen convicted in county court March 20 of speeding while driving cars in transit from Windsor to Toronto on March 4, today appealed Magistrate E. J. R. Wright's decision.

London lawyer D. G. E. Thompson paid the officers' fines and at the same time served notice of appeal.

The five officers were charged following a provincial police crackdown early this month on drivers convoying new cars from Windsor to Toronto.

When they appeared before Magistrate Wright on March 16 the officers claimed they were not properly clocked.

France Protests Being Left Out

WASHINGTON, March 30 — (AP)—France complained officially to the United States today against being left out of Anglo-American defence meetings in the Mediterranean.

French Foreign Minister Schuman, here with President Auriol, personally lodged the protest during a 70-minute talk at the state department with State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Schuman is reported to have made it clear that France wants to be invited to all future meetings if France is to co-operate fully in other Western defence plans.

Talking to reporters afterward, Schuman described the talk with Acheson as "an exchange of views" which resulted in "complete agreement" as to the problems involved in the Mediterranean.

Schuman indicated however, the U.S. has given no promises about inviting France to Mediterranean meetings yet.

Milk Board Asks Legal Ruling

TORONTO, March 30 (CP) — The right of the Ontario Milk Board to fix maximum price of milk sold in the province's stores will be submitted for legal opinion.

If the board is found to have the power, steps will be taken to enforce the ceiling of 20 cents a quart milk sold in Toronto stores by the board at its first meeting last week.

Judge A. B. Currey, board chairman, says he believed the board had the power to set the price for retail outlets but wants legal confirmation first. The board temporarily fixed Toronto milk prices at 20½ cents delivered and 20 cents over the counter following the recent milk strike. Some Toronto stores now are selling milk at 21 cents a quart.

The final price will be set after the board studies the financial position of dairies which requested the 21-cent price. Date of the board's decision was set for April 15 but may have to be extended, Judge Currey said.

Thirty-five Toronto district dairies have been asked by the board for audited financial statements.

McCloy Defends Freeing Of Nazis

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 30 (AP)—John J. McCloy, United States high commissioner, vigorously defended today his granting of clemency to dozens of German war criminals. He said his actions were "free from any influence of political expediency." McCloy issued a formal statement in rebuttal to what he termed implied criticism of his action made by Britain's attorney-general, Sir Hartley Shawcross, in a speech in London Wednesday. Shawcross was Britain's chief prosecutor at the first Nurenburg war crimes trials in 1945-46.

Shawcross said he conceded the propriety of exercising clemency in a particular case on some humanitarian grounds but added there were suspicions that some elements in Germany were making the release of war criminals the price for German co-operation with the West.

Red Girl Gets Her Man By Being Champion Worker

LONDON, March 30 (Reuters)—This is how boy wins girl behind the Iron Curtain in the Russian version of the soap opera.

Masha works in a kolkhoz (collective farm) and is a champion onion-grower. Ivan does his day's "norm" tilling the fields or picking potatoes.

But Masha has no time for Ivan until he, too, becomes a champion food producer, doubling and trebling his norm.

Then they marry and the whole collective farm rejoices. They raise more and more food for the Fatherland.

Alternatively, Masha may be a girl working in a Soviet factory and Ivan a champion shock worker. Masha gets her man when she too becomes a shock worker.

It's a favorite drama formula of Moscow and the pattern is faithfully followed by radio drama chiefs of the Cominform countries. They believe now and then in "humanizing" politics.

Sometimes husband Pyotr gets jealous of wife Natasha. She can afford better clothes than he—because she is a shock worker and earns more money.

Marital peace is restored only when Pyotr, too, becomes a shock worker then he has more pay, better clothes, better food.

Moscow playwrights rattle them off at great speed. But in satellite countries they're just learning how to do this sort of thing.

That explains why most radio plays behind the Iron Curtain are Russian. It's safer that way too—because if it's Moscow-made it is guaranteed 100-per-cent ideologically correct.

Fight Off 20 Junks Staging Pirate Raid

HONG KONG, March 30 (Reuters)—The 2,826-ton British ship Hunan fought off a fleet of 20 Chinese junks which suddenly dropped their guise of peaceful fishing boats and let fly a hail of rifle and machine-gun bullets in Wenchow Bay, crew members said today.

The Hunan's speed enabled her to get away from the pirate boats, which made their attack four days ago as the British ship tried to pass between them. She was on her way from Tientsin to Hong Kong.

Neither crew nor passengers were injured, though the hull was dented by shots fired from about 300 yards.

The crew returned the fire, but no results were observed.

Police Question 4 In Bank Robbery

VANCOUVER, March 28 (CP)—Three men and a 23-year-old woman are in police custody today, held for questioning in the $5,000 Bank of Montreal robbery here Wednesday. Details of their arrest were not revealed.

The robbery at the Fourth and Alma Street branch of the bank was staged by four gunmen. One looted a teller's cage while the others held a seven-man staff at gunpoint.

Freight Car Shortage, Ask Wartime Controls

OTTAWA, March 30 —(CP)—Canada faces a serious shortage of freight cars, the railways told the Board of Transport Commissioners today in asking reimposition of wartime regulations to get the maximum use from cars.

The railways sought an order calling for cars to be loaded to maximum capacity before being hauled and for the imposition of "penalty demurrage" charges for the retention of cars by shippers and consignees beyond specified times.

K. D. M. Spence, counsel for the Railway Association of Canada and the Canadian Pacific Railway, told the board the situation is "serious" since defence traffic is expanding and a larger proportion of Canadian box cars are being held in the United States.

F. A. Hollyman, assistant general freight traffic manager of the C.P.R., said a number of plants had been forced to shut down or curtail production for lack of transportation facilities. These included some flour-milling firms, coal companies in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and paper mills, he said.

There had been complaints from the Maritimes about a shortage of refrigerator cars, Mr. Hollyman said. However, he added, the shortage situation was about the same from coast to coast. It broke out more sharply at various points from time to time.

R. E. Taylor, C.P.R. general superintendent of transportation, estimated for both the C.P.R. and the Canadian National Railways that at March 21 they had 31,000 cars in the U.S. while they were using only 16,100 U.S. cars in Canada.

Frost Promises To Investigate Fund For Britain

TORONTO, March 30. (CP)—Premier Frost announced Thursday that Provincial authorities will investigate operations of the United Emergency Fund For Britain. He said "law officers should also review this fund with a view to possible criminal procedings." His announcement followed a demand by E. B. Jolliffe, CCF Opposition leader, that the Legislature set up a Royal Commission to investigate the activities of charities. Mr. Jolliffe said his own investigations confirmed a Toronto Financial Post story that of $593,000 donated to the UEFB since it began in 1948, only $880 was spent on parcels to Britain.

Referring to the Financial Post story, he said $185,365 was spent on salaries, $188,533 on advertising and publicity and $78,000 on travel. Some $83,000 was paid a publicity office operated by one of the fund's officers.

The Dominion government, influenced by names of prominent sponsors, he said, had donated $30,000.

Commenting on Mr. Jolliffe's claims, Mr. Ellsworth Flavelle, former head of the UEFB, said the organization had been instrumental in forwarding nearly $1,000,000 worth of food and clothing parcels to Britain.

No Irregularities

Sir Ellsworth said "we know of no irregularities" in the fund's operation, adding that an audited statement, covering all UEFB activities, had been issued to the public last summer when its work was ended.

Herbert J. Daly, former public relations director of the fund, said it was his publicity office that received the $83,000 mentioned by Mr. Jolliffe, but that the amount covered only expenses.

In Ottawa, Federal officials said they could not recall any $30,000 grant made to UEFB.

Leopold Macaulay, chairman of the national executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, said the Red Cross welcomes Mr. Frost's announcement.

Robert Saunders, chairman of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, told the committee on commissions that continued low-cost hydro power is dependent on development of the St. Lawrence river's power potential. He said 2,200,000 horsepower is going to waste in the big river.

Criticizes Treatment

In the Legislature, Harry Nixon (L-Brant) criticized the hydro commission for treatment of farmers whose lands are crossed by hydro lines. He was supported in this by Premier Frost.

Labor Minister Daley told the House at the night sitting that rumors of price and wage controls have been reflected in increased labor demands for higher wages and in "exceptional profits" shown by industries.

Both workers and manufacturers have been attempting to ensure they will be in a good position in the event of wage and price freezes, the labor minister said in opening discussion of his department's estimates.

Brigade For Europe Won't Go Till Summer

OTTAWA, March 30 — (CP) — Unless peace comes unexpectedly to Korea, it is unlikely that Canada will field an army brigade in Europe at least before late summer.

The army gave a hint of this Thursday in announcing that reinforcements—3,000 to 4,000 men—for the Korea-bound 25th Brigade are going to the great, 130,000-acre Wainwright military base to "continue their training during the summer." They will leave for Fort Lewis, Wash., after the brigade pulls out next month.

The core of the group will be 3rd battalions of three infantry regiments, the Royal 22nd and Royal Canadian Regiments and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, all recruited for the special force. They will be tapped for reinforcements for the 25th once it gets into action in Korea, possibly in May.

Anticipations are that if steady action faces the brigade it will need somewhere between 300 and 400 replacements a month from Wainwright.

Mrs. Alexander Denies Giving Spy Data

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30—(AP)—Mrs. Freda Linton Alexander denied Thursday through a lawyer that she had given any "highly-significant" information to the federal grand jury regarding Communist activities and espionage in Canada and the United States.

Mrs. Alexander and her 21-month-old daughter, Deborah, left last night for New York. From there she will be deported to her native Montreal.

Mrs. Alexander, former Montreal Film Board secretary who was cleared of spy charges in Canada two years ago, had been detained for three months at immigration service headquarters here.

Through Ernest Besig, San Francisco head of the American Civil Liberties Union, she said she was questioned by the grand jury Wednesday but had "absolutely nothing" to tell either the grand jury or U.S. Attorney Frank Hennessy and Tom DeWolfe, special assistant to the Attorney-General.

Market Drifting On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, March 30 (CP). — The market continued drifting along with little activity as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Volume of the first three hours of 498,000 shares was about 330,000 fewer than yesterday.

Industrials added fractions with steels, liquors and refining oils leading.

Base metals chalked up a handful of moderate advances. Consolidated Smelters was up $1.50 and United Keno Hill, Golden Manitou, International Nickel and Noranda gained pennies.

Senior golds held steady while junior producers posted a handful of penny losses.

Ship Adoptions

OSLO —(CP)— Children in 312 Norwegian schools have "adopted" nearly 600 ships of the Norwegian merchant marine, regularly exchanging letters with the seamen. To the seamen it means an intimate contact with home folks and children are improving their knowledge of the world.

Arrest Youth At Gunpoint

TORONTO, March 30 (CP) — John Stockman, 29, was arrested at gunpoint Thursday in a sequel to a wild 80-mile-an-hour chase during which police shot out the rear window of an automobile in which two holdup men were fleeing with $70 in a stolen cash register.

The men abandoned the car and fled down a west-end laneway.

A few hours later, five detectives with drawn guns raided a west-end apartment and awakened Stockman, father of a three-week-old baby. They took him into custody on a warrant charging him with shooting with intent to maim.

The wanted car was spotted two hours after a west-end restaurant was held up. When police took up the chase, one man leaned from the car and shot through the windshield of the police cruiser. During the pursuit through west-end streets, the officers fired 10 shots.

3 Fast-Talking Men Heckle Soviet Radio

MUNICH, Germany, March 30 (AP).—Three fast-talking men in an old German army truck are heckling Soviet broadcasters into a nightly rage.

They specialize in needling Communism from their mobile transmitter in West Germany over "Radio Free Russia."

One of their chief targets is Radio Volga, a Communist station in East Berlin which beams programs to Soviet occupation troops.

A Radio Volga broadcaster may have just finished the phrase, "a great people's democracy is being built in East Germany," when radio Free Russia jumps in and adds, "under the watchful eyes of the Kremlin's secret police.

Three Slav radio men operate the mobile station.

Soviet announcers have been embarrassed to find their vocal pauses suddenly filled with a strident call to "revolt against Stalin, workers of Russia. Throw the criminals out."

pushed through the curtain of fire.

Bitter, close-range fighting flared all day throughout the area. The Americans won a commanding hill with a hand-grenade attack that rocked the Reds back on their heels.

The fury of Communist attacks forced Allied troops to give ground at several points along the front just south of the Red Korean border.

The Reds have moved 30,000 fresh troops into the front. Long lines of vehicles rushed Communist troops and supplies toward the battlefront.

Allied air spotters Thursday night tallied 2,000 Red vehicles—the largest count of the war — jamming the Red Korean transport network.

Details Withheld

Details were withheld, but there was every sign the Reds had stopped their retreat and would make a stand along the Red Korean border.

American troops on the east central front, meanwhile, moved closer to the border than they have ever been on their present drive.

They met no opposition. Censorship withheld the distance.

Field dispatches said allied forces made fighting pull-backs in a few areas of the western and central fronts.

The Reds poured heavy artillery fire into allied lines on the central front. Patrol clashes flared all along the battle line.

Gangland Vengeance

CHICAGO, March 30 (AP).—Fred Brissa, 46, an ex-convict, was shot to death early today by four masked men in possible gangland vengeance. Police said Brissa had turned government witness two years ago in a $20,000 liquor theft trial. Police began an immediate search for five men who were sentenced to prison with Brissa in the case.

Disorders, Strikes Spreading In Iran

TEHRAN, March 30—(AP)—Labor disorders and strikes spread in Iran Wednesday threatening to bring about an extension of the martial law now clamped on Tehran and sections of the southern oil fields.

About 10,000 of the country's 80,000 oil workers now are estimated to be on strike as fanatical Nationalists continue agitation for immediate nationalization of Iran's British-run oil industry.

Martial law was imposed Monday on some sections of the oil fields. The oil workers seek more pay. The strike was rounded off by an announcement of the British owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. that it planned to cut their living allowances.

Transport and garage workers at the Masjid Soleiman oil field in Southwest Iran walked out in a sympathy strike today. Their strike kept thousands of others from getting to their work.

A spokesman for the Anglo-Iranian Co. has said the company is prepared to negotiate if the strikers will return to work.

Civilians Limited

A small number of technical supervisors, drawn from qualified civilians to act in an advisory capacity on communication requirements, also will be needed as the plan gets underway. Detailed information about enlistment in the corps will be announced later.

Reports from observer posts across Canada would be funnelled by telephone, telegraph or radio to "filter" centres across the country. These centres then would pass the information on to appropriate RCAF authorities.

In wartime the corps would keep a 24-hour watch. Peacetime activities would be limited to training exercises involving RCAF planes.

Headquarters said that the nucleus of the corps has been in existence for some time.

The Mustangs, from the RCAF base at Rivers, Man., were flown here Thursday after air force officials responded to a plea for help from civic officials in blasting the ice.

At one time Thursday night it was reported that the bombing runs had been cancelled after the jam broke of its own accord and the flood waters began to recede.

This was changed, however, when the ice backed up once again a few hours later and the test bombing runs were held.

Ask Ontario Expropriate Steep Rock Mine

TORONTO, March 30—(CP)—Expropriation of the Step Rock iron mine area by the Ontario government for public ownership was urged by CCF members of the Legislature at today's meeting of the House Mining Committee.

The proposal was opposed by Mines Minister Gemmell, who said the province would get "tremendous revenue" in taxes from the mines.

Ontario is still importing iron ore from the United States, Mr. Gemmell said, and the province's steel industry could expand as rapidly as its own market.

J. G. White (PC, Kenora) said there was a danger of United States tariffs against Canadian ore if Steep Rock were taken over from United States interests which now own the majority of its stock. Confiscation would destroy incentive for risk capital to develop mines resources.

Tap Other Countries

W. J. Grummett (CCF, Cochrane South) suggested that Commonwealth countries such as Britain, Australia and South Africa be tapped for capital to develop mines. The "Yankee big stock" shouldn't be allowed to use threats of South American iron ore development to drive bargains for Ontario ore, he said.

A. A. MacLeod (Lab. Prog., Toronto Bellwoods) said $10,000,000 in public funds had been spent on railways and docks for Steep Rock, while United States owners would take the profits.

Mr. Gemmell said present Steep Rock production was at the rate of 1,200,000 tons a year. Present exploration by companies such as Inland Steel and the Pickers Mather group was expected to bring this to 3,000,000 tons in the near future.

Dr. M. E. Hurst, provincial geologist, said iron ore drilling near Marmora, in Central Ontario 30 miles north of Belleville, indicated magnetite ore that would be of shipping grade if it is improved. There was no indication of the extent of the ore body, however.

Mr. MacLeod said it was wrong for the company owning the Marmora field, which he named as Bethlehem Steel, to keep information on ore possibilities from the government.

Find Two Brothers

Forgets Incident

Mr. Collis went back to work and thought no more about it. That evening Mrs. Collis noticed that a venetian blind in the kitchen of the Hagerman home had not been raised and she commented about it. Again they felt no alarm because Mrs. Cowie had sometimes forgotten to raise the one blind after she had opened another blind in the kitchen.

Mrs. Collis went to choir practice and returned about 9.20 p.m. and noticed there were no lights on in the other house.

Mr. Collis then went over to see that everything was all right. He noticed a newspaper and milk were sitting outside, but he looked through the window of the front door and everything seemed in order and he returned to his own home.

Thinks It Strange

Suddenly he decided "it didn't make sense." For one thing he hadn't seen the Hagerman's young hound around.

He went back and tried a key that was hidden for emergencies, in the side door, but it wouldn't go in the lock. Then he shone his flashlight in the lock and saw the key was in the lock inside.

He went to the front door and from the verandah could see into a bedroom. Joseph was lying there on the bed and he realized something was wrong. Collis cracked the glass of the front storm door and then decided against breaking the front door in. He ran to his house and got a hammer and small pinch bar. At the same time, he phoned for Dr. Bob Young.

With them he quickly forced open a cellar window on the side. He slid down into the basement and the stench of gas hit him immediately. On the floor in front of the furnace he saw the dog lying dead.

Others Upstairs

Dr. Young arrived just as he was getting in the basement and he let the doctor in the side door. They found Mrs. Cowie in the bathroom.

Upstairs William Hagerman was in bed. Neither of the two men had apparently made any struggle or knew what was happening to them as they slept.

Mrs. Cowie had apparently felt sick, but did not realize her life was threatened by gas. Just across a narrow hall from the bathroom door, and only a few feet from her rear bedroom, was a button which rang the door bell chime in the Collis home.

This had been installed before Mr. and Mrs. Collis had a telephone in their new home, to notify them if there were any telephone calls for them.

Kept Hooked Up

After a phone was installed in the Collis home, Mrs. Cowie asked her son-in-law to leave the bell hooked up as she was nervous when alone in the house.

She often used it to let them know she had baked a pie for their supper as her daughter worked each day at the Western Clock Co.

Dr. Herbert Young, coroner, was called and he notified city police. The fire department was not notified.

Beside the bed where William was lying, his alarm clock which had been set for six a.m. was run down.

He had been a coremaker moulder with the Mount Pleasant foundry for the last six months. He was generally given a lift to work each morning, along with several other employees, in the car of Ormand Vale, his employer.

Mr. Vale picks the party up on a Park St. corner but did not feel concerned when Hagerman was not there. He did not learn of the triple death until the other members of the work party informed him early today.

No One Suspicious

Neighbors noticed that there were no signs of the Hagermans or Mrs. Cowie around, but didn't suspect anything was wrong.

Mrs. A. A. Brault and Mrs. Richard Morin live in houses directly across the street from the victims' home.

Mrs. Brault said she wondered what was wrong when the Hagerman dog didn't come over in the morning for a romp with her dog. She said he came over every day and she usually fed him something.

Speaking of the brothers and Mrs. M. Cowie, she said "They were fine people and good neighbors."

She said she thought they must have been away because she saw children playing on the lawn in front. If Mrs. Cowie had been home, she would have asked them not to play on the soft grass.

Great Gardeners

The Hagermans and Mrs. Cowie were enthusiastic gardeners. On about an acre of land, they had a fine lawn at the side and flower and vegetable gardens. They sometimes sold raspberries to neighbors from their garden.

Mrs. Morin said the last time she saw Mrs. Cowie was when the woman came out and collected her mail Wednesday morning. She couldn't remember for sure whether it was Wednesday or Thursday morning, but decided it must have been Wednesday morning.

Neither of them knew for sure that anything was wrong until they were told by a reporter this morning.

Furnace Check Open

An examination of the furnace showed that the draft at the bottom of furnace was raised to let air in. The check at the back of the furnace was open a crack.

John Hagerman said they had never had trouble with the furnace before. Joseph Hagerman was the brother who almost always looked after the furnace.

Besides John Hagerman, a widower, and Mrs. Collis, another brother, James Hagerman, Port Hope, and a daughter of Mrs. Cowie, Mrs. Samuel Massiello (Oliver), of New York survive. Mrs. Massiello is travelling by air to Peterborough today.

No Inquest Held

Dr. Herbert Young said no inquest would be held. He said people should check their automatic furnace controls. When he arrived the check at the rear of the furnace was open about a quarter of an inch. He was surprised to see the draft on the furnace but said that was easily explained because it would automatically go after Mr. Collis opened the house up and the temperature inside the house dropped below the setting of the thermostat.

He added that all windows and doors in the house were tightly shut.

People who have automatic furnace controls he said should inspect to see that the check and draft flaps work smoothly and close tightly. He tried the check and found because the pulley and chains which worked it were dirty and a bit rusted, the check flap stayed open about three-quarters of an inch.

All three men were born in Port Hope, the children of the late Robert M. Hagerman and Ellen Sherry.

The bodies are resting at the Anglesey Funeral Home. The funeral service will be held Monday in St. Peter's Cethedral where mass will be said at 9 a.m.

Burial for Mrs. Cowie will take place at Little Lake cemetery. The two brothers will be buried in Welcome cemetery, Port Hope.

Butter Prices Show Drop Across Canada

By The Canadian Press

Buyer resistance and increasing supplies have resulted in reduced butter prices in most sections of Canada.

A Canadian Press survey Thursday showed that in the last week the retail price of butter has dropped as much as five and six cents a pound in larger centres of the prairies, Ontario and Quebec.

Maritime prices were either up slightly or unchanged while the west coast reported sharp increases.

Of nine major cities, Toronto, Winnipeg and Saint John, NB, had the lowest retail prices—75 cents—although Montreal butter sold at from 70 to 79 cents depending on the store.

Highest Price

Highest retail price was in Vancouver where stores were selling at from 83 to 89 cents a pound—an increase of more than 20 cents in one week.

Housewives in Halifax paid 81 cents for top-grade butter while it sold for 80 cents in Calgary and Edmonton and about 79 in Ottawa.

In two cities—Toronto and Montreal—a comparison of prices showed that a week ago the wholesale price asked was actually higher than the retail selling price. This was apparently due to some stores selling butter they had bought before the wholesale price went up.

Dick Irvin Pleased With Boys' Victory

DETROIT, March 30, (AP). — Coach Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens was "very pleased with my boys" after their second straight Stanley Cup overtime victory over Detroit Red Wings Thursday night.

Montreal's 1-0 win Thursday night gave at a 2-0 margin in the best-of-seven series.

Irvin pointed to Montreal's youth factor in the two successive overtime victories. Canadiens, who won 3-2 two nights before, have 10 rookies on their roster.

This youth element, Dick said, helps in "these long overtime battles."

American Republics Study Treaty Like Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON, March 30. (Reuters)—A new pattern of inter-American defense, similar to that adopted by the North Atlantic Treaty members, may emerge from the meeting here of the foreign ministers of the American republics. The United States has been joined by Brazil, Colombia, El Salvador, Paraguay and Uruguay in calling on the other American republics to direct their national military policies so that each will concentrate on the role to which it is best fitted in the overall pattern of collective defense.

If adopted, the resolution would see the end of the current practice of each country building its army, navy and air force with an eye to its own national defence alone.

The proposal ran into opposition from Argentina when it was put forward Wednesday at the meeting of the defence committee of the conference. The Argentine delegate said that his country's forces for the defence of the territory of Argentina and for nothing else.

Won't Give Aid

The implication is that President Peron's government would refuse to supply a single soldier, ship or aircraft to help western hemisphere defence outside Argentine borders.

The resolution calls on the 21 American republics:

1. To strengthen those armed forces and resources best adapted to collective defence and maintain those forces in such status that they could be deployed promptly in the defence of the hemisphere; and
2. To co-operate in military matters "to the end that the necessary collective strength of the hemisphere is developed to combat aggression."

The sponsoring countries ask that the inter-American defence board set up under the Rio treaty should present a plan for collective defence to the individual governments.

KINGSTON, March 30. (CP)—Soldiers of other years would be amazed to see the luxurious canteen accommodations enjoyed by the privates at nearby Barriefield.

In direct contrast to the old canteen with wooden forms and benches the other ranks of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers school have a spic-and-span building featuring two lounges with leather upholstered furniture, a library, fireplace, rugs, billiard tables and elaborate bars.

Maj. G. L. Lodge, school adjutant, is one of the men responsible for the new order. When the old canteen was razed by fire in 1949, the job of supervising the erection and equipment of a new one fell to Maj. Lodge.

Something Attractive

He envisioned quarters when the man without a stripe on his sleeve or a pip on his shoulder would be proud to bring his friends, a place where a man could relax and chat in an atmosphere apart from army routine. With the support of the area commander, Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, he gave the men just that.

In the quarters, a soldier can buy anything from a T-bone steak to a pair of shoe-laces at prices that compare favorably with civilian ones. The wet canteen that serves 120 in comfort has refrigerated bar facilities. Tea dances and moving pictures for the soldiers and their friends form part of the program.

The men make themselves responsible for the canteen's care and won't even let one another put their feet on the chairs. As a result after seven months all equipment appears as it did on opening day.

Food Reserves Cost Up In U.K.

LONDON, March 30—(AP)—Britain plans to spend 23 times as much for strategic food reserves in the coming fiscal year as it did in 1950-51, the Food Ministry disclosed today.

The reserves consist mainly of supplies which would be scarce in case of war.

The Ministry will ask parliament to spend £68,150,000 ($204,450,000) for such supplies in the fiscal year starting Sunday. During the last 12 months the outlay for this purpose was only £2,975,000.

Parks Committee Refuses Requests At Riverside Park

No action was taken by the parks committee on Thursday on five requests received from the recreation commission. Armar Butcher, superintendent of parks, pointed out that these were not included in the parks department's estimates for 1951. All requests, he added, should have been submitted before the New Year to be included in this year's budget.

The commission asked that snow fences be placed around the guide wires at Riverside Park to keep the ball players from tripping during the game. Mr. Butcher said that besides the snow fences spoiling the appearance of the park, they would add also to the maintenance. He suggested that scotch tape be rapped around the wire to the height of an average person. The lights would shine on the tape indicating the wire.

The second request was for the erection of partitions in the dressing rooms at Riverside Park. The committee agreed that something should be done and the matter will be discussed by Mr. Butcher and Alex Sinclair, the recreation director.

The commission asked for a light over the steps leading to Riverside Park. Mr. Butcher said that floodlights would replace the string lights on the carnival grounds this year and perhaps at that time the light could be added.

A walk from the baseball park to Burnham St., the fourth request, received the cold shoulder from all members of the parks committee.

"I can't see it," said Mr. Butcher. "The majority of people walk down the steps and across the softball park. I don't see why we should go to the expense."

The final request concerned the stands in Riverside Park. Mr. Butcher said that these are in good shape, the broken ones repaired and replaced. He suggested that when the stands are put in this year that bolts be placed through the foot rests to prevent their moving.

Black And White People Of The County

An astonishing, enthusiastic gathering of 700 Peterborough County folk occurred Wednesday evening. Sitting down to dinner together and afterwards listening to a notable expert on rural economics, were 700 people who put their faith in black and white cows. It was the twelfth annual dinner of the Peterborough County Holstein Club.

• • •

Two things are especially significant about this meeting. The first is that it was so large; 700 Holstein breeders with their wives is a large number from a county as thinly populated as Peterborough, and in which only twenty per cent. of the land is improved, the southern fifth of it. The second interesting fact is that so many of the farmers and cattlemen of this county have put their faith in the Holstein cow. The Peterborough club is one of the most active and co-operative in the whole of Canada. Its members are making Peterborough the Holstein centre of the land. The annual October district show is one of the best in the country, and attracts breeders and buyers from a wide area.

• • •

These black-and-white people are primarily interested in the Holstein, the black and white milch cow, as a business proposition. Like good businessmen everywhere they are alertly and shrewdly concerned with anything which makes their business bigger, better and more efficient. The result is better cows, more milk production, careful feeding methods, and excellent, pedigreed herds. The Club members are in a sense in competition with each other, but there is a fine friendliness and helpful spirit among them. They are working together to improve and exalt the Holstein and at the same time to make it a good paying business. Wednesday's dinner, and the attention they gave their speaker, Monsignor M. M. Coady from the Maritimes, illustrates their co-operative and progressive attitude—and their enthusiasm.

Peron's Thermonuclear Reactions

The unlamented Italian dictator Mussolini once defined totalitarianism as "Everything within the state, nothing outside the state, nothing against the state." The great liberal newspaper La Prensa offended Peron because it was not within the state, that is, it was not included in Peronism which is the state now in the Argentine Republic. It was outside the state, for it had a great reputation abroad, and Argentinians were proud of that reputation. It was the symbol of the best in Argentinian life, which the world recognized. La Prensa also offended Peron because it occasionally disagreed with him in specific matters, and was fundamentally opposite him because it was liberal and Peron is not.

So now Perron with dictatorial talent has tried to set the people against the paper with cries of "Wall Street mongering," represents himself and his regime as the guardian of labour and nationhood, and has closed La Prensa and forced its great editor Senor Alberto Gainza Paz into exile.

It is an indication that Peron is not as strongly entrenched as he wants to be, that he did not close the paper years ago. Now he is battling an explosive situation, and the blow at La Prensa is only one step in his fight to retain power against labour and capitalism. In the midst of this Peron has made a notable announcement: That Argentina has produced atomic energy by a new method unknown to other countries. Through "thermonuclear reactions" Argentine scientists have obtained the "controlled release of atomic energy," President Peron announces.

Such an incredible claim is in line with Mussolini's dictum: "everything within the state, nothing outside the state." Hitler's Germany and Stalin's Russia have been fond of making such startling claims on all subjects from music to new inventions.

But one feels that there is a special reason for the announcement now. Does Peron hope by it to provide counter-news to the hubbub which has been raised by his actions against La Prensa? Certainly people outside Argentina will not be misled. It is said that Argentinians themselves are grinning ribaldly about the portentous scientific claims. We suspect that the explosive political and social situation will blow up in President Peron's face long before his new A-bomb technique lets out even a firecracker's pop.

Another Blow For Grammar Teaching

A loud hurrah for George McCracken, the professor of journalism at the University of Western Ontario; he has told the English teachers attending the meetings of the Ontario Education Association that he is tired of giving elementary instruction in grammar to pupils in his course who have not been given that training in primary and secondary schools.

This is a point upon which we think that every editor in Ontario will support Mr. McCracken. It is disappointing, and all too common, that young men and women who want to become newspaper writers, come to that work without a firm grammatical foundation. It is a waste of an editor's time to tell aspiring writers that the nominative case must always follow the verb "to be", and to explain the elementary rules governing the agreement of numbers; an editor expects to tell a young reporter about such matters as congruity of vocabulary, and the bare elements of style and taste, but he does not want to begin with the A.B.C. of grammar.

The present system of instruction in grammar, if it may be called that, has failed. So far as we are concerned, the sooner the schools go back to the old system of instruction in parsing and analysis, the better—however repugnant that system may be to modern pedagogical ideas. Frankly, we do not care how grammar is taught, so long as schoolchildren learn it, and do not have to be taught it in adult life, when they have begun to earn money as alleged newspaper workers, by editors who are quite busy enough without taking on work for which schoolteachers are paid.

Cow Colleges For Ontario?

The president of Carleton College, Ottawa, Dr. M. M. MacOdrum, on Wednesday told the Ontario Educational Association in convention in Toronto that the small provincial city university should have an important place in the educational system of Ontario. "The local, readily-accessible college, even if it is necessarily small, brings the benefits of education within the reach of many people to whom otherwise even a small amount of higher education would be denied." We question the advisability and benefit of establishing in Ontario what Americans call "cow colleges."

There are already five good universities within three hours' driving of every Southern Ontario youth's home town. Dr. MacOdrum's own Carleton College bids fair to become a sixth university; it is in a city fast becoming metropolitan in size, and a fund-raising campaign is now under way to extend the facilities of Carleton College. Carleton is not a "cow college."

A junior college in every town will not give the benefits of a university education. Its staff would have to be small, and probably meagrely qualified, incapable of inculcating liberal attitudes and sound scholarship. Its equipment and environment could be impediments to culture and higher education. If students attending such institutions got the shreds of a college training they might believe that they had the real thing. They would be half-baked college graduates and a menace to scholarship and their communities.

In our opinion a short while at a proper university is preferable to three or four years at a home-town, so-called "college" pretentiously offering the wrapping but not the substance of higher learning. The benefits of education at a small, local junior college are questionable. Money spent on building junior colleges would be better used to provide bursaries to help qualified young people attend a college which is one in fact as well as in name.

Spuds Across The Border

Last year Canadian potato growers made hay while the American subsidy sun shone. The U.S. government had put a floor price under American-grown potatoes. The government had to buy heavily when the market price dropped below the floor price. The fantastic situation then arose that the U.S. Government was buying millions of pounds of potatoes, dyeing them blue, and selling them for next to nothing back to the farmers as fertilizer. While this was going on, Canadian potato growers, glad to sell at the U.S. open market price, and benefiting from the ten per cent. premium on the American dollar, flooded the U.S. with Canadian potatoes. It was quite a wonderful situation.

Now the traffic has turned. New Brunswick and P.E.I. potato growers are no longer selling spuds by the ton across the border. In fact, they are meeting competition from American potatoes at a time when about 4,000 carloads of Canadian tubers remain unsold. And the price is depressed, the producer receiving only 36 to 41 cents a bushel for Number 1 potatoes, so it is said.

The competition has invaded the heart of the country; American potatoes are being served in the parliamentary restaurant, so one M.P. alleged Monday. The potato growers are asking for protection, and B.C. growers particularly want protection against early crop American potatoes. (Will Ontario, New Brunswick and P.E.I. growers later want protection from early crop B.C. potatoes?) This international exchange of spuds bids fair to become a hot potato in parliament, as well as in the parliamentary restaurant.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: In the interests of dental health, has any thought been given to the addition of fluorine to the water supply here, as in some other cities? Is it necessary?

ANSWER: Yes. It was discussed at the Health committee meeting of the Board; the school dentist, Dr. S. J. Graham, and Dr. Kelly, the Medical Officer of Health, have been studying the matter.

One of the other cities to which you refer must be Brantford. At the instance of its M.O.H., Dr. W. L. Hutton, Brantford in 1945 added fluorine to its municipal water supply, as an experiment. The American Association for the Advancement of Science had drawn attention to the possibility of reducing the incidence of tooth decay by adding adequate fluorine to the public water supply. Several American cities have begun to do this. Brantford, as far as I know, is the first Canadian city to undertake it. It has done it on a ten-year experimental basis. Half of the ten have passed and it has been found that by 1950 there was a reduction of 54 per cent. in dental decay in the teeth of five-year-olds, and an average reduction, for all age groups from five to sixteen years, of 31 per cent. However, it is not yet known, and cannot be definitely established at least for another five years, how much this is due to the fluorine added to the water, how much to better economic conditions when parents have the means to take their children to dentists for periodic inspection, and how much to improved diet.

Dr. Graham has noted a remarkable improvement in Peterborough. In 1940 approximately 18 per cent. of the kindergarten children (five-year-olds) had good teeth. In 1945, when he was making the first school inspection of five-year-olds, he found that 39 per cent. had good teeth. The peak was reached in 1948, when 41 per cent. had good teeth. In the last three years there has been a falling-off to 33 per cent.

He attributes the improvement chiefly to war-time diets, when children could not get gobs of sweets and did drink a great deal of milk. Now they get more sweets and their milk consumption has fallen off.

His personal opinion is that fluorine added to our water supply might be very beneficial to teeth, but he awaits definite scientific evidence before committing himself.

Dr. Kelly, the M.O.H., says that the Brantford results are not yet complete or conclusive. He believes that Peterborough should wait until the scientific facts are established before venturing on a rather expensive fluoridation whose value is not yet proved.

The Toronto Board of Health has considered the matter, and its M.O.H. has remarked that it would be a very costly undertaking.

The Brantford venture is experimental. Other communities are waiting until results are definitely established, it is hoped by 1955.

Some towns already have measurable amounts of fluorine in their water supply. In Stratford, for instance, it is present naturally. Stratford's school pupils do not have notably less decay than Peterborough's. There are insignificant amounts of fluorine in Peterborough's water.

BRITAIN is said now to have twenty thousand deserters from the armed forces. A census is being taken this year in the U.K., and a man must state his occupation. What about the twenty thousand deserters? The Registrar-General, Dr. George North, has cleared the air by announcing that "A man may write 'deserter' on the form if he wishes, though this is not a recognized occupation".

SIR: What is the Point 4 plan of President Truman about helping underprivileged countries? Point 4 of what?

ANSWER: In his inaugural address January 20, 1949, President Truman outlined a four-point U.S.A. policy for helping maintain world peace and freedom. Point 1: continued unfaltering support of the U.N. Point 2: continuation of the U.S.'s programme for world economic recovery. Point 3: the strengthening of freedom loving nations against aggression through collective defence agreements.

Point 4: "We must embark on a bold new programme for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of the underdeveloped areas. More than half of the people of the world are living in conditions approaching misery.... We invite other countries to pool their technological resources in this undertaking...."The old imperialism—exploitation for foreign profit—has no place in our plans. What we envisage is a programme of development based on the concepts of democratic fair-dealing".

On June 24, 1949, Congress was asked to provide $45,000,000 to begin the technical assistance program, and also requested the Export-Import Bank to extend limited guarantees on private investments in the backward areas. Other money has been made available since.

DEAR ALPHA: Why do so many plays and even movies make fun of Protestant clergy? I don't like it. You never see plays holding up the Catholic clergy to ridicule. The play this week, "See How They Run", was funny, but a lot of the fun was at the expense of Protestant ministers. I know it was a light-hearted comedy, but why should the Protestant clergy always be the subject of banter?

ANSWER: I will not make the obvious answer, for it would be only partly true.... As Mr. Davies has said in his review of the play, the Church of England is tolerant to gibings. Most writers of these plays and scenarios are either Protestant or not Roman Catholics. England, the United States and Canada are mainly Protestant countries. Their clergy are the most numerous, with foibles best known, so if a writer wants a stock clerical character he naturally chooses a Protestant. Writers in Ireland, France and Italy, for the same reasons, choose Roman Catholic priests as the butts of their wit. We had an example of this two or three years ago in the Little Theatre which produced J. M. Synge's one-act play 'The Tinker's Wedding'. Some people then complained that a priest was being made a buffoon (by Synge), and that it was not proper.

In this age which teeters weak-kneedly on its religious convictions, there is a tendency to be chary of giving offence to minorities. So if any priest or clergyman is put on the stage or screen in a comic or caustic light, it is the priest of the predominant religion. In Elizabethan and Stuart times, dramatists were not so soft. Webster's 'Duchess of Malfi' (1614) is ribald about even a Cardinal. It would never do to play it straight in Protestant Canada, except to a very select audience of a few cultured Roman Catholic priests and Protestant clergy, highbrows, and curious people like Alpha, who wouldn't blab about it. Anyway, the censors would probably ban it as being immoral. But it is a wonderful play.

FOR THE RECORD: The Festival of Britain is being held this year, and not next or last, because it is the centenary of the first international exhibition ever to be held—in London at the Crystal Palace especially built for it. Prince Albert, the Queen's Consort, took a leading part in the planning. A "Centenary of the Great Exhibition" show is being held all summer in the Victoria and Albert museum. The Festival will be officially opened in London on May 3rd by H.M. the King. In the last century the U.S.A. was jealous of Britain and had the notion that 'anything you can do, we can do better'. For instance, it exalted Longfellow so as to have its own Tennyson. Britain had a World's Fair, did it, in its Crystal Palace? Two years later (in 1853) the U.S. opened its own World's Fair in its own Crystal Palace in New York. This building was destroyed by fire in 1858. London's Crystal Palace, first erected in Hyde Park, was re-erected on higher ground and enlarged in 1854. It lasted until November 1936, when it too was destroyed by fire.

THE 39TH STEP?

Great Discrepancies in Russian Production

by EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE man-power problem of the Soviet Union, which I outlined in my first article, bears not only on agriculture, but also on industry. For although the peasants are being squeezed to the limit in order to release the most fit and intelligent men for industry, industrial production itself is very far from being what it should be.

Stalin has already told the world what Russia wants in order to feel strong enough to cope with the capitalist world on its own terms: an annual production of 60 million tons of steel, 50 million tons of pig-iron, 60 million tons of oil, and 500 million tons of coal. In 1945 he estimated that it would take at least fifteen years to reach that level of production. He is now a little more than halfway to it, though pig-iron still lags.

We have to bear this sort of fact in mind when considering the Soviet Union's vast population and resources. Stalin himself bears it constantly in mind. As far back as 1939 he castigated the Russians for complacency, pointing out that although the Soviet Union was producing vast quantities of iron and steel and electricity, its production per head of population still lagged far behind that of the advanced industrial countries. "In what respects are we lagging behind?" he asks at the 18th Party Congress. "We are lagging behind economically as regards the volume of our industrial output per head of population. In 1938 we produced about fifteen million tons of pig-iron; Great Britain produced seven million tons. It might seem from this that we are better off than Great Britain. But if we divide the number of tons by the total populations, we shall find that the output of pig-iron per head of population in 1938 was 154 kilograms in Great Britain and only 87 kilograms in the U.S.S.R.... Thus, in order to outstrip Britain economically in the production of pig-iron....we must increase our annual output of pig-iron to 25 million tons."

And so on, through the catalogue. Whatever the Soviet propagandists like to say, Stalin himself knows the facts very well.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN 1950, in spite of the war, the Soviet Union had increased its pig-iron output to 19.5 million tons—but Great Britain had also increased hers to ten million tons. So the ratio was still more unfavourable to Russia in 1950 than in 1939. But the most spectacular comparisons are not with Great Britain but with America. Stalin has never dared make these figures public; their effect on the Russians would be too depressing to bear. Let us take two examples. In 1950 the Soviet Union produced some 25 million tons of steel, or two and a half cwts. per head of population; but in that same year the United States produced some 90 million tons, or more than 12 cwts. per head of the population. As for oil: in 1950 the Soviet Union produced some 37 million tons, or less than three cwts. per head of population; but in that same year the United States produced 250 million tons, or more than one and a half tons per head of population.

These towering discrepancies speak for themselves. They are typical of the whole range of industrial and agricultural production. And while it should never be forgotten that the Soviet Union has achieved miracles in the development of her resources, in her great constructional enterprises, and in the application of modern industrial techniques, this development has been highly selective and perilously uneven. It has also been made directly at the expense of agriculture—at the cost, that is to say, of continuous undernourishment of the millions. Uninterruptedly, since the start of the Five-Year Plan in 1928, all the best talent in the country has been attracted or directed into industry. And industry itself, in spite of all the official boasting about the high state of mechanization in Soviet agriculture, has been allowed to contribute very little to the land that sustains it. It has provided the peasants with tractors and combine-harvesters; but the infinity of mechanical devices which make for the efficiency of farming in Western Europe and the United States is almost entirely lacking. Even with tractors, to the glory of which so many Soviet hymns have been composed, a glance at the 1950 figures tells a revealing story. Last year there were some 600,000 tractors in the Soviet Union, many of them obsolete and worn-out, as against more than three million in the United States; while Great Britain, with her comparatively minute area of farmland, alone disposed of nearly half the Soviet total.

Thus a picture that emerges is of a nation struggling upwards from an immemorial peasant economy, being forced to make continuous and tremendous sacrifices to industrialize itself, concentrating everything on steel and the construction of heavy industry, at the expense not only of food and consumer goods, but also of all the mechanical aids, from trucks to hayrakes and portable sawbenches, which alone can make full use of a modern nations's man-power. It is a nation which is spending its substance on jet-fighters, tanks and rockets, while the peasants on whom their makers depend still do much of their cultivation with primitive implements. It is an economy in which magnificent constructional enterprises, fit to rank with anything in the world, go together with an almost total absence of motor transport to convey the materials to the site.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL this reflects like a mirror the chronic man-power shortage which I stressed in my first article. Even in peace-time there are not enough Russians, skilled and unskilled, to carry through their industrial revolution on an even and broad front, while at the same time growing food and building houses for themselves. The dislocation caused by war, which would demand the diversion of imperatively-needed millions from the tasks which even now are inadequately performed, is something which Stalin cannot comfortably face for at least ten years to come—though he could still fight a very effective and terrible war if attacked. And, indeed, the whole pattern of his current planning, with a renewed emphasis on long-term capital development, suggests very strongly, without any other evidence, that to embroil himself in a major war is the last thing he intends to do, until his economy is far more broadly based than it is today.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being recommended by the brethren unto the grace of God. (Acts 15: 40.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And the multitude rose up together against them: and the magistrates rent off their clothes, and commanded to beat them. And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely: who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks.

And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God; and the prisoners heard them. And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken: and immediately all the doors were opened, and every one's bands were loosed....

And when it was day, the magistrates sent the serjeants, saying, Let those men go. (Acts 16: 22-26, 35.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Finally brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you. (II Cor. 13: 11.)

Letters To The Editor

HAIL, MACDUFF!

Sir: May I through the medium of your esteemed publication welcome back to the fold, my old friend (I use the term very loosely!), "MacDuff"? not having seen any of his literary efforts appearing in your columns since the 5th March 1950, I thought perhaps he had taken a trip back to his beloved England, in a flying saucer, and forgot to come back! However in this evening's "Letters to the Editor", here he is back again "large as life .... etc."

It is indeed gratifying that the dear boy can be kept so cheaply amused! Despite the fact that a nickel won't buy anything, leave it to a Scot, he'll find a way to get something. I bet this is the cheapest amusement he has had since he used to get a seat in the "three-pennies" at the local cinema when he was a "little-'un"!

I notice that "MacDuff" is only inclined to agree with "Canada First". It has been said that being inclined is one of the national characteristics, so presumably he was not quite sure of his ground when he made his statement. Don't take it too hard, me bonnie boy!

Since, he is of the opinion, that Englishmen coming here are taking the best of jobs etc., (does the etc., include the female sex, I wonder?), would it be too presuming on my part to enquire what kind of a job and what sort of a house he has?

Since about all he ever spent was some years in England, and knowing the average Scot as I do, Hoots mon! (I even know what a Scot wears under his kilt!), he must have had a lot of the necessary tucked away in his sporrane—enough I am sure to be a V.I.P., and have a mansion. Och, Aye! "MacDuff" may have thought he meant well when he mentions the fact that there are far too many Englishmen in England. He is absolutely right! England being a dreadfully small country, but the best in the world—as anyone who was born there knows. Englishmen, as they have done since the days of "Good Queen Bess" and Sir Francis Drake, have gone out to Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the British Commonwealth.

Nevertheless in spite of "MacDuff's" assertions, which I feel should be taken "cum grano salis", may I remind him of another Latin phrase, which goes like this: "Tempora mutantor, nos et mutamur in illis." As a previous correspondent wrote, one J.S. in the world is enough, so even if we differ in racial aspects, let us knock the S. out of J.S. and make this world safe for democracy, which with all its faults is far better than some misguided morons would have us believe.

Yours faithfully,
GERALD TULLY.

WHO'S WHO?

Sir: Someone once wrote 'The pen is mightier than the sword'; it would seem so in my case. This is my third letter to your paper, the first I wrote in reply to a Canadian who didn't think much of English immigrants, the second to an 'I. G. Fowler' (nationality unknown to me) who claimed that she knew me, this one to her husband 'George Fowler'. Some remarks to my first letter were sharper than a sword's edge — or intended to be, when one writes a letter to a popular newspaper one should expect critical letters in reply, those I didn't mind; but now I find myself answering a letter that had nothing to do with my first effort to you. How silly can people get? G. Fowler seems somewhat annoyed because I claimed I didn't know his wife, he also says I asked him if he read my first letter, well to use his own quotation, memory does sometimes serve us funny tricks. I have had all kinds of people say to me 'was that your letter in the Examiner?' Maybe one day some imp prompted me to ask this man "the question" before he had time to ask me, I don't remember. Now I do know a Mr. Fowler, an old man, but he is back in England, he liked Canada, liked it a lot, but he wasn't shall we say happy, with his relatives, so he went home. I still correspond with him as he spent quite a bit of time at my home before leaving Canada. Could G. Fowler be any relation? So many people have spoken to me since my first letter was published, I may have spoken to G. Fowler, I don't know, (future questioners please leave your name and addresses). As for being ashamed, why in the name of all that's sensible should I be? Ashamed because I don't know G. Fowler? Writer should be ashamed to claim acquaintancesnip with someone who had such bitter things to say against the land he and his wife are so happy in!

The Editor has full permission to give my address, and if Mr. G. Fowler and his wife still want to know me, I suggest they call and get closer acquainted! Being a free country, I still reserve the right to say I don't know them!

Very truly yours,
(MRS.) JEAN READ.

Education Oscar Awarded To Industrialist

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—Ontario Secondary School teachers Thursday awarded their own "Oscar"—the annual lamp of learning—to C. R. Conquergood, Toronto industrialist.

The former school trustee and member of the Royal Commission on Education was voted by secondary school teachers the man they considered contributed most to secondary school education during 1950. He was the second person to receive the award. Last year it went to H. A. Rogers, chairman of the board of education of the suburban Toronto village of Forest Hill.

Children from homes of low moral standards can't be expected to know the difference between right and wrong, Dr. A. C. Church, director of the Hamilton Mental Health Clinic, said at a meeting of the special education section of the OEA.

At the other extreme, Dr. Church said, children from too-restricted homes can develop a repressed conscience. He warned against the dangers of complete conformity. "Social progress is impossible without non-conformists," he said.

Teach Discrimination

"The greatest duty of adults to children is to teach a correct sense of discrimination," Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Hamilton West, told the association.

She said she was worried over the little time the average family spends together as a family unit. Important problems are no longer discussed in the family circle, she said.

An Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association committee reported it found no reason for different curricula being taught in various communities. Since education is basically cultural, it should remain the same for all localities, the commitee said.

HOLDING ONE OF HER MOST PRIZED POSSESSIONS, a Bugs Bunny doll, five-year-old Ila Shannon, left, Winnipeg General Hospital last weekend after almost a month's stay. The girl was struck by an automobile near her Fort Frances, Ont., home and was in a coma for 16 days. Here she is saying good-bye to nurse Helen Paxton. Her happy parents are shown prepared to take her home.

Three People Killed In Rush For Water

RANGOON, Burma, March 30 (Reuters)—Three persons were killed today when crowds of thirsty Rangoon citizens milled around the city lakes to draw drinking water. Communists cut the pipeline to the capital Thursday.

Thousands of people walked and motored the four miles to the lakes. Two persons were drowned and a 16-year-old girl with a jug was killed when a branch fell from a tree.

Water-carriers did a roaring trade, charging eight annas (10 cents) for a bucket of water.

U.S. Army Stops Triple Censorship

TOKYO, March 30, (AP). — Triple censorship of news feature copy teletyped from Korea to Japan has been stopped, a spokesman at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today.

Bulk of news matter transmitted from U.S. Eighth Army headquarters is moved by telephone dictation.

Copy presented for transmission on teletypes is cleared first through Eighth Army censors.

Until Thursday, the same copy was turned over to censorship upon arrival in Tokyo, and then censored a third time after it was typed for transmission abroad.

Beginning today, all teletype printer copy will be delivered to the correspondents' offices direct from the public information office in Tokyo.

It will not be censored again until it has been retyped for transmission to the States.

Thousands In N. Korea Dying From Disease

TOKYO, March 30 (AP).—An informed military source said today soldiers and civilians in Red Korea are dying by the thousands of smallpox, typhus and typhoid.

He said the diseases are putting far more Red soldiers out of action than United Nations shells and bombs. The situation is said to be worst among civilians, because doctors and nurses have been drafted for military service.

Intelligence reports say the Reds tried to carry out vaccination programs in some areas. However, U.N. medical teams reported stocks of vaccine captured in North Korea last fall were tested and found to be ineffective.

BOSTON ONE UP — Boston Bruins scored a 2-0 shutout over Toronto Maple Leafs in the first game of their semi-final playoff series in Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night. Here a bone-shaking collision between Boston's Bill Ezinicki and Toronto's Ray Timgren startles Bruins' Steve Kraftcheck.

Lakefield Gets Juve Title Over Clapper's

Lakefield Lions defeated Clapper's Bruins 5-4 at the arena last night to win the PMHA juvenile championship by an 8-6 score on the round. They fired two goals in the third period to clinch it after leading 2-1 in the first and being down on the game 4-3 to end the second heat off a lively tussle, winding up in a free-for-all in the dying seconds of play.

McCracken opened scoring early with Coyle making it 2-0 from Heffernan, but Harris got that back from Art Batley—who later suffered a fractured collar-bone. Coyle counted the only Lakefield goal in the second, as Clapper's drove hard to sink three. Richardson, Harris and Batley did the sniping, with Cupoli and Jones both aiding on Batley's marker. Twist put Lakefield up on the series in the third on a solo drive, and Henry salted it away from Pearson near the close.

Six penalties were handed out to the winners, all in the first period. The losers drew three in the first of fairly rugged hockey, one in the second and two more in the third. One of the latter was a match misconduct with seconds to go to Sullivan for fighting and continuing to scrap after the free-for-all (with a number of fights going on for a space) had been broken up by officials and the police. Teams:

Lakefield—Goal, Wingett; defence, Sabatino and Pue; centre, Twist; wings, Coyle and Henry; alternates, Pearson, Hunter, McCracken, Wilson, Heffernan and McIlmoyle.

Clapper's—Goal, Tyndall; defence, Murdock and Jones; centre, Pammett; wings, Sullivan and Doris; alternates, Killen, Sanders, Parry, Harris, Richardson, Cupoli, Batley.

Referees, P. Nigh and W. Leggitt.

Lindsay Teams Pile Up Mileage Over Weekend

LINDSAY, March 30—Lindsay's three minor hockey teams will roll up 1,500 miles over the weekend in seeking honors in two Ontario entries.

This morning George Preston's 16 peewees, winners over eight teams in the East-Central zone tournament, leave for three-game series in Goderich and Weston. The 12-year-olds will meet the Western Ontario winners at Goderich for the provincial Peewee championship and the Mooney trophy. After a night's sleep the youngsters will head for Weston and the Midget NHL tournament Saturday.

The local squirts, coached by Jack Growden, will leave Saturday morning to compete in the 8-0 age bracket of the same tourney. At the same time coach Lloyd McMullen will push off with a bus-load of midget hockey players and fans for the 270-mile hop to Wallaceburg for the opening game of the OMHA B championship.

Businessmen and fans have poured almost $300 into a fund for the team and local OMHA director, Bert Hick, has arranged for a wire report of the game to be sent from Wallaceburg area to Lindsay where a PA system scoreboard and telephone service will be set up.

To Meet McFater

Armand Savoie of Montreal Thursday night agreed to meet Toronto's Allan McFater in the main bout of a boxing card at Maple Leaf Gardens April 9.

Savoie, who last year administered the only knockout suffered by McFater in his professional fight career, will get $3,500 with the option of a percentage of the gate. The amount McFater will receive has not been disclosed. Both are lightweights.

O'Toole Secures New Partner

Tommy O'Toole, who teamed up with Iron Talun in this week's mat bout, demanded a return match with Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan. He also asked for a new partner for next Tuesday's main event at the Brock Arena.

O'Toole claimed that Talun failed to carry his share of the grappling, and said the huge Pole was clumsy and a definite handicap. Fans will agree to this, a lot of them figuring with a good teammate O'Toole could beat the Watson-Flanagan duo. O'Toole showed plenty of stuff last Tuesday, and did most of the wrestling for his team.

Whipper and Pat agreed to the change and O'Toole lost no time in lining up just about the top mat in wrestling, Fred Atkins. What mat mayhem this pair will dish up, although they will be against the best team in the business. Watson and Flanagan are plently smart in a team go.

The semi-final will bring together Lee Henning and Timothy Geohagen, while the opener will feature Pierre LaSalle and Abe Zvonkin.

Local and district fans will be seeing eight topnotch matmen in action next Tuesday.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hoop fans should see two lively playoff numbers this e'en in the YWCA, commencing at 7.15. Lindsay plays Black's in the intermediate final, having a one-point lead from the first contest of the series. Nurses clash with Neill's in the senior setto, the latter having a 12-point lead from the opener. These games are for the city championships. Only the junior CGE and Normals will be left in lasses' play after tonight, and they mix it next week. We have the YM playoffs yet and a midget tourney here shortly — the PCVS midgets being off to Kingston for a tournament this weekend. That's all there is left of basketball here this season.

Canadian Sports' Advisory Council will be formed May 1, if the various sports governing bodies like—CAHA, etc.—agree with a suggested constitution by March 31. Exactly what this Council will do for athletics in the country isn't too clear as yet, and it may deal more with Olympic and other international phases of sports than with games played in Canada. However, most important athletic bodies in the country have sent delegates to the Ottawa conferences and something may come of the new Council. It is a Federal government project under direction of the National Council of Physical Fitness, and indicates governmental interest to some extent in athletics.

Same Price For Reserves

Treasurer Howard McLean of the Petes' senior OLA club tells us that they have plans under consideration for two mid-section blocks of reserved seats this summer at Miller Bowl. For season subscribers who then get first chance at playoff seats. There'll be no reserved seats on sale for individual games. And there'll be no increase in prices over last year, not even for the reserved seats. One adult price of 60 cents everywhere likely, under present plans, the only difference in the reserved seats being that those wanting the preferred spots for the season will pay their dough in advance. Complete info will be released as soon as the OLA senior schedule is drawn up. It sounds like a good bet for the regular lacrosse fans, and it gives the club some ready cash to start off the season.

More than a thousand fans on deck last eve to see the windup of hockey at the arena for this season. And they enjoyed it all, despite sticky ice. They saw a lively juvenile final with Lakefield Lions earning PMHA title over Clapper's Bruins, with a rip-snorting players' free-for-all in the dying seconds. Quite a battle before peace was restored, the law helping out. They also saw some fast skating in the puck-carrying races, Don Floyd taking down the Swanston Trophy and $40 first prize, with Bob Wyatt the runner-up. A lot of entries in it. Drake Jopling won the oldtimers' race and Red Wasson proved the fastest skating goalie. Hal Cotton was timer.

Shed Years And Poundage

PMHA prexy Les Mountney had a good show for the folks, not the least part by any means being the game betwixt Oddfellows juniors and the oldtime Petes. The latter won it 6-3 and looked like they could almost do it again—despite their years—in full time on fast ice instead of in 15-minute frames. They all had the savvy and some of 'em still have the steam, plus a star goalie. They brought back fond memories of when they were in their heyday a dozen years ago, and they rate thanks for coming out like that to help the youngsters of today. Ald. Jim Gillespie (himself a former Petes' goalie) was on hand to present the Mayor's cup for the skating race. Many older fans, who skip a lot of tilts today, took in this one and enjoyed it.

* * * * * *

Sure and there's no joy in Detroit today at all, at all. By the same token, Montreal's Windsor Station must have been a joyous madhouse as the triumphant Canadiens rolled home with their second straight overtime win in Stanley Cup semi-finals. Mayor Houde had better behave or he'll be replaced in office right pronto by one Mons. Maurice Richard, sometimes known as the Rocket. For the second time in as many starts, the Rocket raced in to score the winning goal for Canadiens in lengthy overtime, kicking the old dope bucket aside lightly in the process. Wurra, wurra, the poor Wings! The Bruins are liable to upset Leafs again, and Toronto scribes (and Rollins) are now intimating that Pete Horek deliberately injured Rollins to side-line him for the series. These Stanley Cup playoffs are hectic indeed.

Dodds will compete in an exhibition race in Calcutta next week before flying to Tokyo where he is to distribute 10,000 Bibles in Japanese—the purpose of his visit to Asia.

Tigers Gain Sweep

Tigers were the only team to take all points this week in the YMCA lasses' bowling league, whitewashing commandos. Bombers, Hurricanes and Aces took two points respectively from Lucky Strikes, Glengarry's and Corvettes. Dot Martin's 305 was tops in singles, followed by B. Pogue with 282 and 248, E. Storey 271, N. Stanbury 269, G. Mann 263, E. Stanbury 262, F. O'Heron 239 and Helen Howden with 237. Hurricanes had two high single games with scores of 1,027 and 1,025.

Don Floyd Gets Top Prize In Skate Race

Don Floyd of the Petes won the puck-carrying race at the arena last night, taking the Mayor Swanston Trophy and first prize of $40. He circled the rink with the puck in 14 4-5 seconds in fast stepping as Harold (Baldy) Cotton kept time. Bob Wyatt of the Oddfellows was runner-up in 15 seconds to win $10. Three tied in the first try at 14 3-5 seconds, Bill McMaster (winner last year), Floyd and Wyatt. Others in the race, some not finishing when they lost the puck on turns, were: Art Heal, Lally Lalonde, Red Creighton, Joe Blewett, Lefty Doris, Ray Douglas, Dean Wasson and Doug Hunter.

Drake Jopling won a special race for $20 put up by Ray Tanner for the oldtimers, going around in 15 3-5 seconds with the puck, Joe Blewett being next in 15 4-5, Art Heal, Jack Gardner, Mick Magee, Toney Tompkins, Jim Ellis, Jack Jopling, Don Coughlin, Red Creighton, Bun Kingdon and Les Burton also competed. Hal Cotton offered $5 for the fastest-skating goalie, and Red Wasson of the juniors won it in 22 2-5 seconds over Ray Harding and Rocky Batley.

Ald. James Gillespie, representing the Mayor, made the main presentations. Hal Cotton congratulated the winners, and Les Mountney, president of the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, acted as master of ceremonies.

Ted Crowe On Top

Ted Crowe led the men bowlers in the Mercantile League this week with a single of 321 and triple of 818. Irene Leonard's 294 was the best single for the girls while Gladys Hamilton showed the way in threesomes with 718. Braund's blanked Prudential and Utilities whitewashed Braund's No. 2, as 3-1 counts were racked up by City Hall over Loblaw's, and A & P against Austin's. Lift Lock and Braund's No. 1 team split evenly.

Some high scores for Lasses were: Ruby Pearse 520, Jeanne Russelle 617, Beula Chambers 608 and Irene Leonard 583; men's counts included: Frank Worsencroft 786, Bob Hopkins 649, Foster Ronco 630, Harold Gawker 623 and Gord Leonard 622.

Oldtime Petes Capture Win Over Juniors In Neat Game

Shedding some 10 years and considerable poundage for a short time, the oldtime Petes trimmed the junior Oddfellows 6-3 at Civic Arena last night before more than a thousand fans. It was good entertainment as part of the "PMHA Night," which featured earlier a juvenile playoff and later some skating races. Red Wasson played goal for one period for the veterans before Ray Harding arrived, and a few younger Petes were used, but most of the 1940 Eastern Canada champions showed their stuff under guidance of their former coach, Frank Buckland. Their old trainer, Shocky Mein, was on hand, too. Len Symonds looked after the juniors and lent an enjoyable note to it in the final minute by shooting all his charges on the ice at once, the Petes following suit for a grand scramble at the finale.

Fairly Fast

Play was clean and fairly fast throughout on slow ice, with Oddfellows having a goal lead in the first frame, but the Petes scoring four without a return in the second, striking hard for three with Ken Floyd serving a holding penalty. A penalty shot by Tompkins missed. Each side counted twice in the third chapter. The juniors drew the only two penalties of the tilt, both in the second stanza. The Oddfellows tried hard and gave Ray Harding plenty of work at times, but he was at his best. All goalies used went well.

The old razzle-dazzle line of Bun Kingdon, Honey Tompkins and Art Heal, showed wizardy frequently, with Red Creighton. Les Burton, Drake Jopling, Don Coughlin, Joe Blewett and others potent in flashes. Some of them like Jim Ellis and Jack Gardner looked in good trim yet—as far as avirdupois goes—but had been off skates a long time. The Petes proved good opportunists, checked well, and had ace netminding in the enjoyable exhibition.

Teams:

IOOF—Goal, Batley; defence, Clapper and Armstrong; centre, West; wings, Wyatt and Morrow; alternates, Floyd, Doris, B. Robinson, G. Robinson, Buckton, Stewart, D. Wasson and Douglas.

Petes Vets—Goal, R. Wasson; defence, Ellis and Gardner; centre, Kingdon; wings, Tompkins and Heal; alts., F. Jopling, Creighton, Blewett, Coughlin, Burton, J. Jopling, Weir, Magee, Turner, Millar, Floyd, Harding and McMaster.

Referees—P. Nigh and R. Ouimet.

Summary:

First Period

IOOF—B. Robinson (G. Robinson) 11:15
No penalties.

Second Period

Petes—Blewett (Coughlin, F. Jopling) 5:25
Petes—Kingdon (Tompkins, Heal) 13:30
Petes—Kingdon (Heal, Tompkins) 14:05

Third Period

IOOF—West (Morrow, Wyatt) 1:00
Petes—Floyd (Millar) 7:30
IOOF—West (Wasson, Wyatt) 11:38
Petes—Coughlin 13.37

IN ON TWO—Don Coughlin scored the final goal and earlier aided on one as the oldtime Petes defeated the junior Oddfellows 6-3 in an exhibition match for the PMHA fund last night at Civic Arena in what is likely to be the last hockey seen here this season.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Rookie Regis (Pep) Kelly scored both goals in Toronto's 2-1 overtime victory over Boston Bruins to give the Leafs the National Hockey League title 16 years ago tonight. Bruins were leading 1-0 with less than three minutes to go when Kelly tied the score and potted the winner in overtime.

Rangers Gain The Crown In Peewee Tilt

Rangers yanked out a 4-3 victory over the Hawks at Civic Arena yesterday to capture the PMHA peewee hockey championship for this season. Peter Ballantyne shone in goal for the winners, with P. Parnell, the Dafoe brothers and R. Dobbin good up front. Beggs and Stewart stood out for the losers, with Smillie making a lot of neat saves in the cage.

The Hawks scored all three goals in the first frame for a 3-0 margin, Beggs, Stewart and Chesney counting, as Stevens earned an assist. The second chapter saw the score tied as Parnell, G. Dafoe and Dobbin hit the mark, an assist apiece going to English, Parnell, and G. Dafoe. Dobbin scored the winning marker in the third on a pass from Hamilton. The losers drew three of the five penalties in a fine playoff tilt. Teams:

Rangers: Ballantyne, English, Parnell, G. Dafoe, Walker, J. Dafoe, Pollard, Atchison, Clarke, Coombes, Trude, Dobbin, Hamilton.

Hawks: Smillie, Hotston, Baker, Druery, Scharf, Beggs, Stewart, Stevens, Chesney, Olmstead, Haig, Mountney, Kimball, Brown.

Referees: W. McMaster and B. Jones.

THE ROCKET REPEATS—Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Canadiens' great winger, did it again in Montreal last night as Dick Irvin's scrappy Habitants came through in overtime to defeat the NHL champion Detroit Red Wings in the second Stanley Cup semi-finals. The Rocket smacked home the only goal of the game in the third overtime heat after scoring in the fourth overtime frame to give Canadiens the first win of the series.

Richard Gives Canadiens 2-0 Edge In Series As Habs Beat Wings 1-0

By HARRY STAPLER

DETROIT, March 30. (AP)—No doubt about it, Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of the Montreal Canadiens ranks as one of the National Hockey League's greatest clutch players. When the chips are down, Maurice comes through. If in doubt, ask the Detroit Red Wings, who are defending the the Stanley Cup, hockey's most-prized trophy. Richard whizzed in and broke up a sudden-death overtime game here Thursday night to give Montreal a 1-0 win—and, what's more important, a 2-0 edge in their best-of-seven semi-final Stanley Cup series.

It marked the second game in a row that the demon on skates had done the same trick. And it established Montreal as a favorite to cop the series from Detroit, winner of the league championship during the regular season and odds-on favorite over Montreal.

The winner of this series will move into the finals against the survivor of the Toronto-Boston series. Both series resume Saturday night.

Then He Scored

Just as 13,818 fans here were wondering if they were going to be treated to another two-hour-plus game such as opened the Detroit-Montreal series, Richard scored.

He flashed the puck past goalie Terry Sawchuk from 15 feet out after taking a pass from Billy Reay. The goal came after 42:20 minutes of overtime play.

His winning goal Tuesday night had come after 61:09 minutes of overtime play.

Altogether the two games lasted 223.29 minutes. That's nearly four hours for the two games instead of the regulation two hours While no records were available on this point, it was believed by veteran hockey observers here to be a playoff record for the two longest successive games.

The other Montreal star was little Gerry McNeil, the goalie who hadn't impressed the Red Wings before the series opened. They had averaged 3.36 goals a game off him during the regular season.

Comes Through

But Gerry turned back 42 shots Thursday night and now has stretched his shutout mastery over the Detroiters to 182.19 min. utes over the two games They last scored on him early in the third period of Tuesday's game.

But that's no record. Alex Connell of the old Ottawa Senators holds the record of 446:09 minutes over a period of six successive shutouts.

"Our youth paid off," said Montreal coach Dick Irvin, whose club has 10 rookies on its roster. "The Wings tired late in both games."

The next two games are at Montreal, where the two clubs split during the regular season This helps establish Montreal, which finished third during the regular season, as favorite.

Say Konstanty Key To Phils' Pennant Chance

By JACK HAND.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 30 (AP).—Jim Konstanty, Philadelphia Phillies' fabulous relief pitcher, is the key to the Whiz Kids' chances of repeating in the National League.

If big Jim (16-7) can repeat his efficient 74-game chore of 1950, the Phils should have few serious problems. Although it's considered hard to put together two straight outstanding years in the bullpen, Konstanty, a 34-year-old "cutie" with a baffling slider and palm ball, is confident he can better his phenomenal 1950 record.

It is difficult to over-estimate Konstanty's importance in the Phil picture. In addition to his 16 victories, he saved 24 other games credited to other pitchers. Six of Curt Simmons' 17 wins go in that category and two of Robin Roberts' 20.

Replacing Simmons (17-8), who went into the army a month before the world series, is manager Eddie Sawyer's main job. He looks for natural improvement in Stubba Church (8-6) and Bob Miller (11-6), two younger pitchers who did not take regular starting turns until June.

Take Up Slack

Russ Meyer (9-11) and Ken Johnson (4-1) are counted on to take up some of the slack left by Simmons. Meyer was a bitter disappointment last year after winning 17 in '49. If he can conquer his own fiery temper, he can be the No. 4 starter.

Roberts (20-11), whose great 19-inning job on the final day clinched the pennant, is the ace. The 24-year-old righthander went the route in 18 of his victories last season. He is improving all the time.

Sawyer banks on Ken Heintzelman (3-9), 35-year-old lefty to approach his 17-game winning form of '49. He worked only two complete games last year.

Among the new faces, Leo Cristante, Blix Donelly (2-4), Milo Candini (1-0), Jocko Thompson (10-14 at Toronto) and Jack Crittin (7-11 at Toronto) are battling to stay on the ball club. Sawyer plans to keep only nine pitchers.

Watch Brooklyn

"Brooklyn is the team to beat," said Sawyer. "Don't forget we had to come from behind 47 times last year. We're going to have trouble making up for Simmons. And we don't know if Konstanty can do it again."

The infield is set with Eddie Waitkus (.284), again hale and hearty, at first base; Mike Goliat (.234) at second, Granny Hamner (.270) at short and Willie (Puddin'head) Jones (.267) at third. Moved into the clean-up spot to restore confidence in his batting, Goliat has been the spring batting sensation, rolling along near the .500 mark.

Andy Seminick (.288), Dern Ennis (.311), Richie Ashburn (.303) and Dick Sisler (.296) or Bill Nicholson (.224) will be the outfield. Nicholson, floored last fall by diabetes, is making a fine comeback.

This is a good ball club, well-balanced with solid power and improving pitching. They can win again and should do no worse than second.

IN HOOP SOUP—Three more CCNY basketball stars are booked on charges of taking bribes to throw basketball games. At a New York police station, Norman Mager, Irwin Dambrot and Herb Cohen (left to right) are arraigned after questioning. Dambrot was captain and Mager a member of last year's championship CCNY quintet; Cohen also played this season.

Bruins Believe Leafs Gain With Broda Back

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—When Al Rollins, Vezina Trophy winning goaltender, was injured Wednesday night Conn Smythe Toronto Maple Leaf general manager, immediately relegated his team to the underdog role in the Stanley Cup playoff series with Boston Bruins.

However, the feeling certainly wasn't echoed by Bruins despite their 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series, result of a 2-0 victory, first of the season for Boston on Toronto ice.

Lynn Patrick, Boston coach, felt that rather than being weakened by the loss of Rollins, the Leafs had gained strength because Turk Broda, at 36 the oldest active player in the National Hockey League, is still one of the greatest playoff goalies in hockey history.

Plenty of Evidence

There's plenty of evidence to back up Patrick's feeling. A look at Broda's playoff records for the last four years will show that while he was getting older, his goals-against average was improving every year.

In the 1945-46 playoffs he allowed an average of 2.45 goals a game, bettered that with 2.22 the next year, was still better with 1.67 in 1948-49 and came up with a terrific 1.43 last season.

Broda will be in the nets when Boston and Toronto meet in the second game of the series Saturday night.

In hospital, meanwhile, Rollins was bitter about the injury which put him out of hockey for the rest of the season.

He said he thought Pete Horeck who collided with him near the Toronto blue line, could have avoided the collision.

"I saw the picture in the paper, the one where it shows him coming at me," Rollins said. "It was pretty obvious what his intentions were. There certainly wasn't any need for it."

Here and There In Sport

The eight-oared racing shell of Cambridge University left for the United States Thursday aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

The crew will have its first American race against Yale April 14. Cambridge will row in Boston April 19 against Harvard, Boston University, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The Cambridge expenses are being paid by various American rowing associations and the English-speaking Union.

"Cambridge is well qualified to represent England," said Sir Harcourt Gold, chairman of the stewards of the Royal Henley Regatta. "They are one of the best university crews."

Cambridge won the trip by defeating Oxford in the traditional Varsity boat race over the 4¼-mile Thames course.

At Philadelphia, world champion Willie Mosconi Thursday night scored his ninth triumph in the Ralph Greenleaf Memorial round-robin billiards tournament. He defeated Joe Canton, U.S. titlist 125-71.

George Chenier, Canadian champion from Toronto, and Ben Allen, Kansas City veteran, won their afternoon matches.

Mosconi, who has been beaten only once in the tournament, opposes Irving Crane, former U.S titlist, today, and Chenier at night.

Australian-born John Marshall of Yale Thursday night beat the world's swimming free-style 1,500 metre record with a time of 18 minutes, 18.8 seconds, in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships at Austin, Texas.

The world's record of 18:19 was set in 1949 by Hironoshin Furuhashi of Japan.

Marshall's time will not be recognized as equal to the world's record because it was not set in a 50-metre pool. The University of Texas pool, site of the meet, has been cut down to 75 feet for the events.

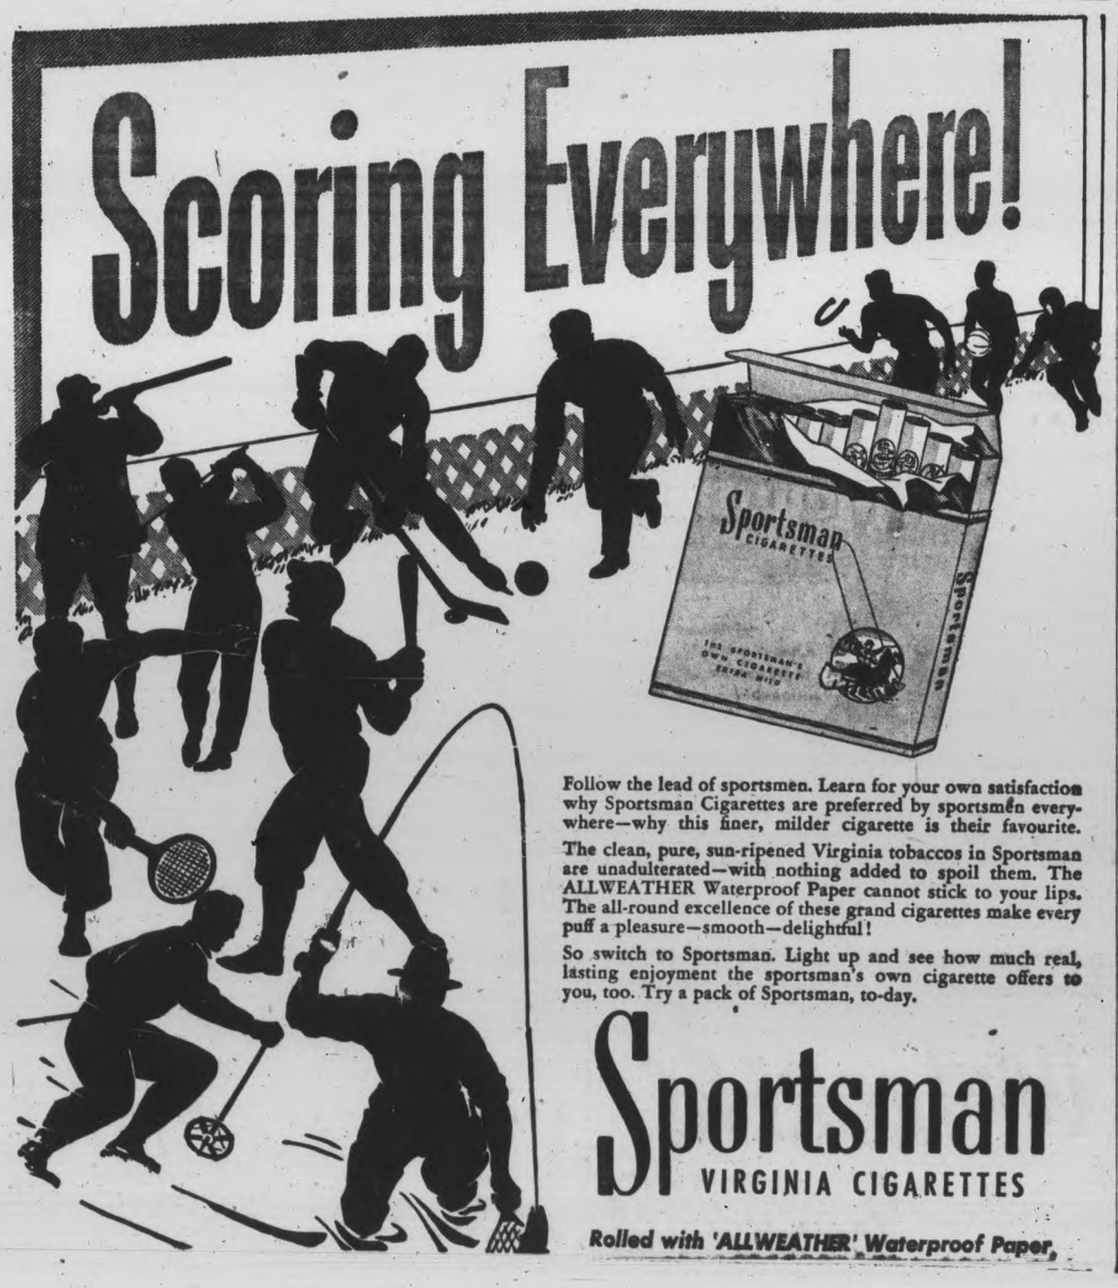
David Lurie of South Africa upset Britain's No. 1 player Tony Mottram, 8-6, 7-5, Thursday to win the Tally Ho hard courts tennis tournament, the first major outdoor event of the British season at Birmingham.

Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith ranked No. 1 among British women, won the ladies' singles title by defeating Kay Tuckey, ranked No. 4, 6-1, 6-4.

Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League Thursday won their first spring-training game, downing St. Paul Saints of the American Association 6-0 at Vero Beach, Fla.

Three Montreal pitchers held the Saints to a meagre two hits, Montreal getting eight.

Richardson Wins For Fifth Time



BANFF, Alta., March 30 (CP)—Canadian championship Bob Richardson of Montreal ran first again Thursday in the Olympic ski trials, for the fifth time since the trials started last week.

Richardson won the slalom event in 1:46.9 to beat out another Montrealer, Jack (Porky) Griffin, by 1.6 seconds. Andre Bertrand of Quebec City placed third in 1:50.0. Another easterner J. Georgas of Owen Sound, Ont., was seventh in 1:54.5.

Four Montreal girls were timed right behind each other, with Joanne Hewson coming first in 1:57.7. Fourteen-year-old Carlyn Kruger was second in 2:00.5 with Rosemarie Schutz and Rhoda Eaves trailing in that order.

Poor Cod Fishing

OSLO —(CP)— Results of the Lofoten cod fisheries in northern Norway are reported to be discouraging so far this year. Lasting from February to April, the fisheries provide the major sources of raw material for Norway's exports of stock fish.

Walks 21 Miles Bring Help To Mother, Baby

TIMMINS, March 30—A woodsman walked 21 miles through the bush country in 8½ hours Wednesday night to summon help for a newborn baby.

Mrs. Albert Fromat gave birth to a baby boy Wednesday afternoon and the child was in need of medical care. A heavy lumber truck made the laborious trek to South Porcupine General Hospital Thursday and the infant is now under the care of Dr. P. B. Purdy. It was born with misplaced organs.

The man who brought aid works as a pulp cutter near the Fromat shack, about 35 miles from Timmins. He left the backwoods dwelling at 10 p.m. Wednesday night and arrived in Hoyle at 6:30 Thursday morning.

Two Provincial constables James Murdoch and Geoffrey Cooper, attempted to reach the cabin by patrol car, but were unable to get closer than 20 miles from the spot because of muddy roads. They walked the rest of the way.

A truck with heavy chains was tried next, but it bogged down 10 miles from the shac.. Fin ally, one of the lumber trucks, in the settlement to bring out pulpwood, was commandeered. The child was held by its father and the two constables rode in the rear.

Heavy rain all day made it almost impossible for any vehicle to travel the rough roads.

Fear Inflation As Much As Aggressor

By JOHN TRACY

NEW PORK, March 30 (CP)—American industrial leaders are taking such a serious view of the dangers of inflation that they are comparing it with an enemy aggressor. As a result, two of the country's major business groups have come up with drastic plans for stabilizing the dollar's purchasing power.

Charles E. Wilson, head of the office of defence mobilization, who called inflation every bit as dangerous an internal enemy as any foreign aggressor said this week that he finds "a lot of discouraging signs in the inflationary picture."

His colleague, economic stabilizer Eric Johnston, whose office is responsible for slowing down the speed of rising prices, said climbing business profits, farm prices and labor wages are potential explosives which "could blow the roof off."

Taking the global view, George A. Sloan, president of the United States Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, called inflation the "foremost enemy of the western world." He said it is undermining the confidence of the American people.

Brings Problem Home

Lewis Haney, professor of economics at New York University, brought the problem home to the average American in an article in The New York Journal American. He said the fact that "our income dollars are cut in two by inflation" is a possible threat to survival of the country's middle class.

To meet the threat, the National Association of Manufacturers has proposed a plan for stabilizing prices and drawing off excess purchasing power. The chief point is an excise tax on manufactured products which, it was estimated, would yield almost $1,000,000,000 for each one per cent of tax.

Other points suggested by NAM were stricter control over private credit, government economies and increased industrial production to absorb the inflationary dollars.

The NAM said that under such a program the price level could not advance because the supply of buying power and the supply of goods available would remain in balance.

The Committee for Economic Development was ready to go even further. It called for a five-per-cent boost in individual income taxes, an increase in the corporate income-tax rate and a five-per-cent retail-sales levy, all of which would yield an additional $10,000,000,000 a year in taxes.

UAW Membership Approves Contract

TORONTO, March 30 (CP)—A wage contract settlement between United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) and Massey Harris covering 8,000 workers in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock has been approved by union membership.

The vote was 2-to-1 in favor of the agreement providing for an increase of 10 cents an hour for all piece workers, 13 cents for common labor groups, 16 cents for skilled workers and 11 cents for other classified day workers.

The wage boosts will bring the basic labor rate to $1.22 an hour.

Famed RCMP Tracker Police Dog "Pal" Dies

REGINA, March 30 (CP). — Pal died Wednesday. The big black police dog, pride of the Mounties, saved the lives of at least two children, assisted in rescuing 25 others, and tracked down scores of criminals in his seven-year career.

The dog was a favorite of thousands of western children, for whom he gladly staged "investigations," said his handler, Cpl. Ralph F. Pitcher.

Last July, two bandits robbed a bank at Wolseley, Sask., of $46,000. After four days one of the men was caught, but the other, the one with the money, was still at large. Pal tracked him down.

In Regina last October, the dog found a little girl shivering near Wascana Creek while the rescue teams combed the area without success. A few years ago, in the Western Manitoba town of Roblin, a 2½-year-old girl strayed away from home. It took Pal less than an hour to find her.

8 Pretty Girls In Shorts Bearded Skipper Safe

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 30 (AP)—The missing schooner Tropicair was found by a Coast Guard search plane off the Florida west coast today and all eight pretty girls and the bearded skipper were reported safe.

The 43-foot schooner was bucking rough seas in the Gulf of Mexico between Sarasota and Bradenton, travelling under auxiliary power and heading toward St. Petersburg. It had been missing since Monday after an unsuccessful attempt to accompany 21 yachts sailing in the 284-mile St. Petersburg-Havana race Easter weekend.

First indication the Tropicair was safe came from three deaf mute fishermen, who told of making contact with the vessel yesterday, 60 miles southwest of Venice and giving the crew directions to reach port.

Mrs. Hazel Acree, manager of a fishing fleet stationed at Venice, told the Coast Guard the fisherman reported the girls in good spirits.

A series of hand-written notes provided the only means of communication. They were tossed back and forth as the two vessels bobbed in the rough Gulf seas.

"We got behind the other boats and got lost," the all-girl crew wrote the fisherman. "Where is Tampa?"

Skipper Walter Dean, his wife, Ruby, and crew member Edwin G. Beneit, wrote directions.

The schooner defiantly flew a Confederate flag after it was ruled out of the St. Petersburgh-Havana race because the crew was incompetent. The girls, dressed in red shorts, decided to go along with the racing yachts "just for fun."

Bigamy Sentence

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—Mrs. Rose Hueser, 27, Thursday was sentenced to two months on a charge of bigamy after Magistrate C. A. Thoburn commented that her lapse was due "more to ignorance than intent." Mrs. Hueser told police when she was arrested that she thought she was free to remarry because her husband was a convicted bigamist. She went through a form of marriage with John Hueser last October.

Hurled 20 Ft. After Touching Circuit

NORTH BAY, March 30 (CP)—Leo Walsh, about 28, Department of Transport electrician, suffered severe shock and undetermined back injuries Thursday when he he came in contact with a 4,600 volt transformer circuit at North Bay airport. He was taken to hospital immediately.

Reports are that Walsh, believed to be a native of Hamilton, was inspecting the hydro transformer unit—on poles near the airport building—when he came in contact with the apparatus. He was hurled 20 feet to the ground.

Lt.-Col. Harris Resigns From Commission

WINDSOR, March 30—(CP)—Lt. Col. R. A. Harris, since October, 1950, a member of the Windsor Police Commission, has resigned, effective April 1. It is understood his successor will be Windsor's new Crown Attorney, Bruce J. S. MacDonald.

A leading retail business executive, Col. Harris was persuaded to act as a member of the commission last fall when provincial investigations and public demand shook the administration of police matters in the border city.

Results of the investigation included resignation of two members of the former police commission, the firing of a Crown attorney and the removal of the chief and deputy chief of police.

Icelandic Language Chair Established At University

WINNIPEG, March 30 —(CP)—A fond dream of Manitoba's 15,000 citizens of Icelandic descent —a chair of Icelandic language and literature at the University of Manitoba—was realized today.

Icelanders who look on their mother tongue as a classic language on a par with Latin and Greek tonight will hear Dr. A. H. S. Gillson, president of the university, formally announce establishment of the new department.

The children of Icelandic settlers who trekked to the west shore of Lake Winnipeg 75 years ago to farm and fish, and later fed into the life of the province a bigger-than-average quota of leaders and business and the professions, contributed the bulk of $155,000 which has been placed on deposit at the university to finance the chair.

The 15,000 Icelanders living in Manitoba are the largest Icelandic group in the world outside of Iceland. The province is generally regarded as the centre of Icelandic influence and culture in North America. Another 10,000 Icelanders are scattered throughout Canada and the United States.

Would Preserve Culture

"Ever since the arrival of the first settlers, people of Icelandic descent have envisaged the establishment of an institution of learning where their language and distinctive culture could be preserved," said Judge W. J. Lindal, in charge of the fund-raising campaign.

"But in the preservation of their language, they saw something of value to all Canadians."

Courses to be offered by the new department are expected to attract students who are taking advanced English or are interested in the classics which are basic to modern western languages. Students of Icelandic descent will have facilities for intensive study of their mother tongue.

A major undertaking of the department will be the study of old Norse, one of the root languages of English, which has been preserved in Iceland for more than 1,000 years. It is said to differ no more from modern Icelandic than the language of Shakespeare differs from modern English.

At present, Icelandic is on the curricula of more than 50 universities throughout the world.

Chief contributor to the Manitoba fund was Asmundur P. Johannson, a retired Winnipeg contractor, who gave $50,000. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eaton of Toronto contributed $18,000.

Holland, Norway Build Uranium Oven

THE HAGUE, March 30 (Reuters—The Netherlands and Norway have decided jointly to build a uranium heavy-water oven for producing atomic energy, the Dutch newspaper De Telegraf says Thursday.

Some radioactive products will be made, but the energy produced in the oven will be " a negligible quantity" and too small for many important physical experiments.

The oven will be built in Norway, which will supply the heavy water. Holland will provide the uranium.

Glamor Girl Faces Trial, Insults Pope

CHIETI, Italy, March 30—Laura Diaz, "glamor girl" of the Italian parliament, will face a trial unprecedentend in the country's parliamentary history today. She is charged with insulting the Pope.

The state prosecutor will accuse the 30-year-old unmarried brunette of saying before a public meeting in January, 1948:

"The hands of the Pope are dripping with the blood of the children of Greece and Palestine because he did not lift a finger to stop the war in Greece and Palestine, just as he did not lift a finger to stop or limit the World War."

The trial spotlights the struggle felt by many of Italy's Communists over loyalty to the Vatican or to Moscow.

Conviction would carry a maximum sentence of five years' imprisonment for the chic deputy, whose beauty has earned her the nickname of parliament's Joan Crawford.

The overwhelmingly Christian Democrat Chamber of Deputies revoked her parliamentary immunity so that she could be prosecuted.

Court Guardian Of Freedom For Minorities

TORONTO, March 30. (CP) — Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand of the Supreme Court of Canada said Thursday night that the courts are the special guardians of the freedom of unpopular causes, of the weak against the powerful and of the individual against the mass.

Mr. Justice Rand delivered the annual lecture sponsored by the Hillman Foundation, established in 1946 by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO-CCL) in memory of the late Sidney Hillman, former president of the union.

Mr. Justice Rand stressed the duty of judges to protect the nonconformist "against popular clamor, against any sort of subservience to that clamor or the betrayal from any quarter of our inheritance."

"Our liberties are largely the accomplishments of such men. North America has been born of rebellion, rebellion in government, in church, in social organizations."

A judge's decisions were constantly subject to outside pressures. He must guard against bias, a sense of obligation, fear of disapprobation, a weakness for applause, loyalties to class or church or party, personal preference or dislike and an impulsive reaction of set notions.

"It is not a day for tender minds. Does a government, for instance, appointing these officers, expect a predisposition in action? Where is popular election, is the idea of public approval to persist like a haunting shadow?"

The presence of such ideas must be exposed by "a relentless self-scrutiny" on the part of the judge.

The courts were constantly faced by the problem of determining the boundaries of individual freedom—the point at which individual action threatens the general security.

This could be determined by application of the rule of law, as opposed to the rule of man's despotism. It was insufficient to define freedoms without granting them to every citizen. The rule of the law was the uncompromising rule of principle as against expediency.

Hydor Cuts Interim Charge $2.40

Electric Power Rate To Consumer Will Remain Same

"That means no increase in electric power rates this year," R. L. Dobbin commented to the Utilities Commission Thursday on a Hydro-Electric Commission announcement of change in the local cost schedule.

Retroactive to Jan. 1, the interim charge by Hydro to Peterborough will be $32.80 per kilowatt year instead of $35.20, a difference of $2.40 a year per kilowatt.

"That amounts to about $50,000 a year," Mr. Dobbin estimated.

Utilities had objected in a letter to Hydro against the increased charge that was reported to them late in the year to take effect Jan. 1.

The Hydro letter said that the present announcement of reduced price was "the result of costing your municipality from the Peterborough transformer station which has recently been put into service, instead of from the Oshawa transformer station, on which the previous interim rate was based."

Brought Economy

The new station has been erected at Lily Lake and was officially given by Hydro the name "Ross L. Dobbin station." It has brought about an economy by reason of increased flow of electricity over certain lines, or in other words, more business at the same cost.

Utilities Commission was facing the apparent necessity of increasing the rate to consumers when the previously announced $35.20 wholesale rate became effective at Jan. 1. That problem has now vanished, the Hydro interim rate is down $2.40 per kilowatt-year, and the consumer charge remains at the present level.

TWENTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY of the Peterborough Y's Men's Club was celebrated at a dinner on Thursday evening at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. Propose Vote Of $24,478 To Hospitals

Finance Committee Of County Council Recommends Grant

The finance committee of the Peterborough county council has recommended payment of $24,478 in grants to help reduce the deficits of the city's two hospitals.

Here is the breakdown:

Civic—$10,207 to wipe out the 1950 deficit incurred by indigent county patients. And a further $8,520 to wipe out the deficit on county patients, other than indigent.

St. Joseph's—$5,751 to wipe out the 1949 and 1950 deficits incurred by indigent county patients. There was no request from St. Joseph's for money to reduce the cost of county patients generally.

By the grant of $8,520 the council have allowed non-indigent county residents to enter Civic Hospital at the same rate as residents of Peterborough.

Extra Charge

Had they not done so, non-city patients would have had to pay an extra $1 a day on all adult and children's ward accommodation, whether public, semi-private or private. And there would have been an extra 50 cents a day on nursery accommodation.

Since March 5, when the new rates went into effect at Civic, the hospital has been drawing on a county credit of $969.85 to compensate for the rise in rates. When this ran out it was a case of either the county or the individual county patient paying the extra $1 a day.

John Hornal, superintendent of Civic, said that in 1950 1,669 days of care were given to county indigents and the total loss came to $10,207. He thought it "only fair" that the county council should pay this sum.

"Even with these losses paid by you the city of Peterborough will still have to pay $101,416 (now increased to about $143,000) for this year's operations."

Gave $2,240,000

Peterborough has contributed $2,240,000 in capital grants for hospital purposes, compared to the county's $150,000.

"In relation to use of the hospital this is a large share for the city of Peterborough to bear," said Mr. Hornal. "And this $1 a day is some measure to even this up."

Civic hospital estimates that the average cost for a patient in 1950 was $12.58. That of indigents was $11.50. And for these indigent patients during 1950 the hospital received $2.50 from the municipality, plus a $1.61 per patient grant based on the number of public ward patients, plus a supplementary grant of $1.64 for each indigent based on 1949 figures.

J. E. Sullivan, speaking on behalf of St. Joseph's, said that in 1950 they had 1,074 indigent patient days by county residents. The average daily cost of a patient was $7.71 and year's loss was $2,146 84.

Last year the county council paid Civic $4,200 based on the 900 days of indigent care in 1949.

Considerable Debate

Before the full grant of $24,478 was recommended today there was considerable debate. Most of it centred around suspected ineconomies in the operation of Civic hospital.

The price of meals at the cafeteria, the size of the staff, salaries paid to the doctors and staff were all criticized.

Finally three motions—originally a motion with two amendments—were put to the council.

The first proposed by Reeves Ferguson and Waterman was that a mill should be levied for the retirement of the year's indigent patient deficit. $2,115 to St. Joseph's and $10,207 to Civic.

Reeve Stewart said the overall deficit at Civic could, in part at least, be accounted for by the erection of the new hospital, the moving and the equipping.

Reeve Wilson agreed that this had a serious effect on revenue.

Just Amount

"Remember the hospital has only been operating a few months," he said. "The board is trying to arrange a staff and get it working efficiently. I think the extra $8,520 is a just amount and the county should pay it as its share."

Reeve Griffiths said he disagreed. He saw no reason why the hospital would be willing to have a different rate for county and city patients.

"It's because the ratepayers of Peterborough are paying their share," replied Reeve Wilson.

The second by Reeves Gifford and Moloney was for $10,207 to Civic and $5,751 to St. Joseph's (St. Joseph's deficit on indigent county patients for the last two years.)

But the third by Reeves Stewart and Wilson recommended the $24,478 package.

"We have two hospitals in the city of Peterborough that can't be beaten," said Reeve Stewart. "I would like to see residents of Peterborough county—my friends and myself—get the best."

Voted Against

Reeves Waterman, Griffith, Ferguson, Humphrey and Deputy Reeves Moloney and Fitzgerald, voted against the motion.

Mrs. J. Spurway, county clerk, estimated that the large grant would come to slightly less than two mills.

Reeve Gifford conceded that this year's figures may not have presented "a fair financial picture" of Civic Hospital's operations. But in future he thought the county council should pay for indigent patients only.

"There's too much spoon feeding these days," he said. It's too easy for people to approach public bodies and have their share of costs put on the tax rate."

Council agreed that the package grant was "without prejudice." It did not constitute a precedent for other years.

Needed Saving

The lifeguard station at Cobourg beach needed some saving itself recently when heavy waves from Lake Ontario came close to washing it away. The station, which is operated by Cobourg's Rotary Club, is valued at $200. A tow truck from a Cobourg garage was called into service and hauled the wooden shed to safety.

Engineers Visit Plant, See Wrappers Made

Members of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada visited the Canadian Nashua Paper Co. plant on Thursday night to learn how bread wrappers and wrappers of all kinds are made.

Garth Wade, plant engineer, outlined the work of the plant in a talk at the Public Library and then took the members on a tour through the plant.

As the men wandered through the plant that was erected about two years ago, they watched presses printing wrapping paper and then saw the paper being rolled through hot wax baths.

Another large machine sloshed glue on one side of rolls of brown paper about six feet wide and then dried the glue by rolling it around a heated drum and then under a bank of hot electric lights before being rolled on another spool.

Gummed Paper

The huge rolls were then spun through cutting machines and rewound as small rolls of gummed paper for use in taping up cartons and a variety of other uses.

The plant has a wide variety of printing presses from very small ones only about three feet high to huge presses standing about 15 feet high which print three or four colors.

The Nashua Paper Co. buys all its paper and has no art department. It gets designs to be used from artists or from the company they are going to do a job for.

They have a department to transform photo-engraved plates into plates to be used on the presses. In wrappers which have more than one color to them plates are made for each color. They are mounted on the press so that each plate is smeared with the right color ink. Each part of the design is printed in its proper place so that the whole design is complete as the paper comes off the press.

Paper Waxed

The next step in the production of bread wrappers, for instance, is the waxing process. The paper is rolled through a large bath of melted wax and then through a cold water bath to harden it before it is rolled again.

The wrappers are cut up into the proper sizes by large electrically powered hydraulic cutters which slice through six-inch wads of paper at a time.

The huge one-storey plant is well lighted throughout. The mechanical part is one room taking up thousands of square feet. Modern airy offices at the front, house the clerical staff and the management.

Should Have Used Timber For Housing

CCF Member Charges Government Muffed Opportunity

TORONTO, March 30 (CP).—A claim that the Ontario government should have used its timber salvage operation in the Mississagi-Chapleau area to provide cheap lumber for housing projects was made by William Dennison (CCF-Toronto St. David), before the legislature's lands and forests committee today.

"At no time did the government attempt to control the price of lumber for low-cost housing," Mr. Dennison told Lands and Forests Minister Scott.

"Here was a chance you had to help low-cost housing and you muffed it."

The government had decided as a matter of policy against selling Mississagi lumber at low prices, Mr. Scott replied. It was sold through regular trade channels at list prices.

Would Upset Industry

"My fear in the salvage operation was that it would upset the whole lumber industry and throw men out of work," the Minister said. He referred to one instance in depression years when one lumber company failed and put other companies out of business by unloading huge stocks at one-third prices.

The Mississagi-Chapleau salvage operation, begun following the disastrous 1948 fire over 560,000 acres, had put the government in the lumber business larger than any private business in the province, the committee was told by J. J. McMillan, director of the department's revenue department.

Intensive lumber operations had, by the end of the 1949-50 cutting season, taken out 233,000,000 board feet in sawlogs, pulpwood and poles.

In the cutting season just ended, not more than 30,000,000 board feet of lumber was salvaged, Mr. McMillan said. Insect damage to standing timber after three years had left little still available for lumber.

Operations were now switching over to pulpwood salvage, where insect damage was not so important. This was expected to continue for five years more.

Check Furnaces Too Much In Mild Weather

Furnaces checked too heavily were cited by Fire Chief George Smith as being the cause of two minor gas cases this week.

The chief said today that he had not investigated the deaths of William and Joseph Hagerman, and their sister, Mrs. Mary Cowie in their home at 646 Donegal St.

Police who investigated say that the cause of escaping gas in that case was a rusty check draft at the rear of the coal furnace. The furnace is regulated by a thermostat.

Ventilation Required

"People check their furnaces too much in this mild, humid weather," Chief Smith said. "A house needs better ventilation in its furnace pipes at this time of year."

The chief was referring to the cases of a Herman Ave. Couple and their 20-months-old daughter and of another family who reported escaping coal gas.

The Herman Ave. couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, were found half-suffocated Wednesday in their home. Quick action by an alert Bell Telephone operator and city police saved them from death. Their daughter, Diane, also suffered from the effects of the gas.

Earlier in the week, a family telephoned the fire department and reported coal gas escaping in their house. Chief Smith said over-checked furnaces were to blame in both cases.

Filtration Plant's Capacity 14 Million Gallons Daily

Utilities Commission is buying from Canadian Allis-Chalmers Company two 3-MGD (million gallons a day) centrifugal pumps for the city's filtration plant. Their bid of $5,598 was accepted as the lowest Thursday. Time of delivery is 14 weeks. The report of R. L. Dobbin, manager, to the Commission, included this information: "With these units the plant will have a combined capacity of approximately 14 MGD, which will supply the city for the next 20 years at the present rate of growth."

10 Millions a Day

The filter plant depends today on two six MGD pumps to supply raw water to the filter beds for treatment. Running together they supply water at a total rate of ten million gallons a day.

Filter beds have rated capacity of 6-MGD, but have been loaded to supply 7.5 MGD during summer months. In addition, it is proposed to increase the size of the filters by at least 3 MGD, giving an available filter capacity of 9 MGD.

From these figures, Mr. Dobbin told the Commission, "it will be seen that two pumps are required to carry the load in the summer period, and no reserve is available in case of pump failure. The existing pumps are 29 years old, and while they are kept in good shape, failures occur in equipment of this age."

The purchase of new pumps now would eliminate the need of such pumps when the filter plant is enlarged, and would be the first step in extending filtering capacity.

"In the mater of efficiency of the present equipment, it was tested in 1950 as being 60 per cent efficient. New pumps will guarantee 75 per cent. The existing pumps will draw 100 horse power to do 66 horse power of work, or six million gallons a day pumpage. New units will draw 88 horse power to do the same work, or a saving of two h.p. At $26 per h.p. this saving amounts to $312 a year, or in 15 years at three per cent $5,770."

One Pump in Reserve

With the new pumps added to the plant, there will be one pump in reserve with a minimum capacity of three million gallons a day.

The Commission received four tenders from pump manufacturers, and accepted that of Canadian Allis Chalmers.

Enlargement of the filter plant is a further project of improvement of the city's water works on the Commission's undertakings for future consideration.

Request Water On Wallis Drive

Bruce Johnston, clerk of North Monaghan, wrote the Utilities Commission Thursday that he had received a petition for a water main on Wallis Drive from Weller St. north to a point 160 feet south of Park Hill Road.

R. L. Dobbin, manager, remarked that "we can't guarantee water out of the tank" that was bought mainly for maintaining pressure at Civic Hospital. Cost of the tank and its pumping unit was around $35,000. He said it might be better to consider reaching that upper section of Wallis Drive by way of Sherbrooke St., if sufficient signatures could be obtained for a petition on those streets.

"Anyway we have outstanding city work that has to be done first," Gordon S. Matthews said. In the meantime, Mr. Dobbin is being asked for a report on the Wallis Drive project.

Y's Men's Club Instal Barnard

Joseph Barnard was installed as president of the Y's Men's Club Thursday night when the club celebrated its 24th anniversary at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. More than 30 couples attended the banquet and dance.

Other officers installed were James Clarke and Cecil Osborne, as vice-presidents; Donald Harwood, as treasurer, and Harry Powell, as secretary. Robert Simmons acted as the installation officer, assisted by former President William Moorhead, who presented the past president's pin to Jack Richardson.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Donald Crawford, local Public school principal. He recited several poems.

Draws were won by Mrs. Jack Wilson and Grant Gillespie.

Needles Chosen To Adjudicate Drama Festival

William Needles of Toronto, who is widely known for his stage and radio work, has been retained by the executive of the Peterborough and District Drama Festival to adjudicate the plays this season. Mr. Needles appears on the John and Judy radio program, frequently takes leading parts on the CBC "Stage 51" and its preceding production, and is considered one of the most knowledgeable younger professionals of the Canadian theatre.

He is well known in Peterborough for his directing and acting with the Peterborough Summer Theatre on various occasions during the two seasons the Sadlier group has been established in the city.

Peter McCombe, chairman of the festival, announcing the selection of Mr. Needles, says: "We feel fortunate indeed to be able to secure the services of Mr. Needles. His expert knowledge, his practical grasp of theatre techniques, and his charm of manner are sure to make his adjudications both highly beneficial and enjoyable to actors and audiences alike."

The festival will take place at the end of next month, April 26-28. It is expected that three one-act plays will be presented at each performance, by city groups and other amateur organizations from outside points like Lindsay and Oshawa.

Entries must be sent in to the office of the Recreation Commission Director on or before April 9th.

Charged With Theft Luggage From Hotel

William B. Joslin, 28, of Stewart St., was charged today in police court with theft of two pieces of luggage from guests at a city hotel. Magistrate W. R. Philp remanded him in custody without plea or election to April 6.

Joslin was arrested Thursday at his Stewart St. home, and police say other articles besides the luggage wer found. Further charges may be laid.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Seven Peterborough Townships Are Equipped For April Campaign Against the Warble Fly . . . Farmers Agree That Farm Services Are Not Used As They Should Be . . . Middlesex Health Services Increase Rates . . . Birdsall Bulls Average $675.

The first cattle in Peterborough county to be sprayed for control of the warble fly by township authority, and provincial sanction provided an object lesson in method at the farm of Dan Deyell, Otonabee, Thursday afternoon.

This demonstration followed a meeting of the reeves and clerks of seven townships with the inspectors and operators who have been engaged for the general campaign which will be carried on in two treatments during April and probably the first part of May.

Prof. John Baker, of the department of entomology, O.A.C., and R. H. Graham, associate commissioner of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, discussed the habits and life history of the warble or heel fly, the duties of operators and inspectors, and the importance of the enterprise for the protection of cattle.

The Ontario legislation requires, on request of farmers through the agencies of their municipal council, that all cattle in the seven townships must be sprayed with a mixture of derris powder. The local townships participating in this campaign are: Asphodel, Ennismore, Otonabee, Smith, Harvey, Douro, Dummer.

A similar organized effort was begun when the late Arthur Runions was agricultural representative here, but it failed to bring about concerted action.

ONTARIO FORUM MEETING

Mrs. Lorne Reynolds of Smith will be the voting delegate from Peterborough at the annual meeting of Ontario Farm Forums in the Royal York Hotel April 6. Wellington Sutton of Otonabee is a member of the Ontario executive. He said yesterday he hoped to see a fairly large representation from the Peterborough groups. "Everybody who can go will be welcome," Mr. Sutton said.

✦ ✦ ✦

SYMPATHY EXPRESSED

District friends of Robert Armstrong, of Cavan, have been expressing their sympathy in his bereavement by the recent death of his wife. He is held in high esteem not only in his own township community, but also generally in Peterborough and Durham.

✦ ✦ ✦

SOLD TWO HEREFORDS

Col. F. E. Birdsall sold two Hereford bulls for an average of $675 at the sale in Toronto organized by the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Association. They were the only Hereford entries from this county. The breed was represented by 54 bulls that sold for $38,070, an average of $705.

✦ ✦ ✦

USE OF FARM SERVICES

Too many farmers are not making "full use" of the agricultural services provided by the extension branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, OAC, and certain other available agencies.

That was the consensus of Forums in Middlesex and Elgin counties on the final questions of the winter season of broadcasts.

Argyle Forum in Elgin added this comment: "But, we feel that our Junior Farmers will save the situation. It was easy in years gone by to make a good living. The land was fertile, and farming was much less expensive."

"Now we must have expensive machinery, use high priced fertilizers and meet high labor costs to be successful."

Dunwich Golden Acres Forum reported: "We do not avail ourselves of the services offered by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, the way we could or probably should, such as studying bulletins on soil testing, farm planning, crop rotation and so on . . . The services now offered are good, if we would use them more."

Sharon Forum in Middlesex says: "The majority could study more the ideas that are available to them. Too many of the older farmers are too satisfied with their practical experience."

Napier Forum, Middlesex: "We think a small minority of the farmers take advantage of the services that are provided. We do not know of any farm and extension services which are needed in our district that are not available."

Fanshawe, Middlesex: "No, they do not make good use of these services because they think their own ways best. We think there are enough services if everyone made full use of them."

$129,590 PAID FOR BULLS

Total of $129,590 was paid Wednesday for the 230 bulls sold at the annual beef bull auction in Toronto, sponsored by the Ontario Beef Cattle Improvement Association.

Ringwood Beau Zento 27th, a young Hereford consigned by George Rodanz of Stouffville, Ont., brought $1,000 for the highest single price in his breed. Maple Cattle Breeders' Association were the buyers.

In the Shorthorn auction, Quinte District Artificial Breeding Unit paid $2,050 for Scotsdale Elite, consigned by S. G. Bennett of Georgetown, Ont.

Harry Hall and Son, Oak Ridge, La., paid the highest price for Aberdeen Angus, $1,025 for Bandolier Prince Eric sold by J. S. D. Tory of King, Ont.

Average price per head was $563.43 for the three beef breeds.

Bidding on the Rodanz bull almost stopped at $2,100. He is a descendant of an animal that cost $51,000. Bidding shot upward again when Livestock Commissioner W. P. Watson told the crowd the bull was not only grand champion Hereford in the show that was held on Tuesday, but that judges had labelled him the best in the show regardless of breed.

✦ ✦ ✦

HONEYBEES AND CLOVER

The importance of the honeybee in cross-pollination has been shown clearly in studies carried out by the agriculture department of OAC. Pollinator population counts have shown that 60 per cent of the pollinators on fruit trees, and well over 80 per cent of the pollinators on clovers, were honeybees.

Without honeybees, fruit and seed production in Ontario would be seriously reduced.

Where honeybees are not available in the immediate vicinity of the fruit or clover seed producer, colonies must be rented to ensure adequate pollination. Fruit growers in recent years have followed this practice, but clover seed producers have been slow to follow their example, with a result that the production of clover seeds in Ontario has fallen off considerably.

✦ ✦ ✦

MILLBROOK FAIR JUNE 6

It is more than a month until the Millbrook spring show June 6, but Len Henderson is campaigning early for the Cavan township event. District Jersey breeders will again hold their parish show on the grounds, and Quinte-Kawartha swine breeders are another feature. The prize list has been enlarged for all classes, especially horses and beef cattle.

✦ ✦ ✦

SHORTHORNS AT LINDSAY

Top price at the Victoria Shorthorn auction was $600 paid by Harry Chambers and Son, Woodville, RR 4, for a bull consigned by Ross Flett of Oakwood. He also sent the highest price female which was bought by C. H. Mumford of Hampton for $475.

Second high male was taken at $550 by Ross Davidson of Janetville. It was from the Milton Jenkins herd of Oakwood.

The 22 animals in the sale averaged $110 more than last year. Total receipts were $8,035. Average for 13 bulls was $371, and for nine females $356.

✦ ✦ ✦

V. S. MILBURN SPEAKER

Vivian S. Milburn, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, was the speaker at first annual dinner of the Perth County branch Tuesday night. It claims a membership of about 90 per cent. of the farmers of that county.

Perth federation, organized in 1944, has been an outgrowth of consolidation of farm forums. The dinner was attended by 200 members.

REVISE HOSPITAL RATES

Middlesex County Co-operative Medical Services, with 7,000 members, spent $30,057.19 in the ten months ending in February. Of that sum $26,650.82 went for payment of claims.

Rates revised Tuesday night, at a meeting of directors, amount to about one dollar a year per family.

Changes in benefits revised the payments for standard ward and semi - private accommodation downward to $4.50 and $6 a day. Previous payments were $5 and $7.

Maximum number of days hospitalization to which members are now entitled is 61 as compared with 210 prior to this change.

Operating room rates, anaesthetics and emergency services, previously unlimited, are now paid for up to $15. Cost to the married member is $20 a year for standard ward accommodation coverage and $28 for semi-private. Single persons pay $10 and $14 for the same services.

Directors reported the association in "good financial shape" with a surplus of $5,000 in the bank.

✦ ✦ ✦

17 WARBLE INSPECTORS

Seventeen warble fly campaign inspectors in Huron and Perth met at Clinton Tuesday for instructions in spraying treatment that begins after April 1. Fourteen were from Huron and three from Perth.

R. H. Graham, associate livestock commissioner of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who was in Peterborough Thursday, led the discussion. The other speaker was Prof. W. A. Baker of the entomology department of the Ontario warble fly committee.

VAST PROGENY

Dunloggin Dark Master has sired more than 30,000 cattle by artificial breeding. This prize bull is owned by the Central Ohio Breeders' Association.

FAIRVIEW FORUM SUPPER

The Fairview Farm Radio Forum brought their season's activities to a close on Monday evening when they gathered with their families for supper in the Nassau Orange Hall. Nearly 70 people sat down to supper.

Harold Lewis moved a vote of thanks to Mr. George Lockington, secretary for the past season, and Elmer Milburn moved a vote of thanks to Harry Lockington, who was responsible for the entertainment. Three films were shown.

A committee composed of Wesley Bell, Clarence Mann, and Henry Sharpe had been appointed to secure a secretary for next season. Mr. Stewart Meiklejohn is the new secretary. Mrs. Elmer Milburn, Mrs. W. D. Wilson, and Mrs. Stewart Meiklejohn were the supper committee. Decorations were in Easter colors.

AT HOLSTEIN CLUB DINNER

George R. McLaughlin, of Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, and James T. Brown, of Newcastle, directors of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association, were among those present at the Peterborough Holstein Club dinner Wednesday night. Another visitor was Robert Von Pillas, of Bokar Jersey Farm, Whitby. Many compliments have been paid the club on the remarkable success of their annual social assembly.

Sediment Test Begins June 1

CAMPBELLFORD, March 30 — (ENS).—Annual meeting of the Trent Valley Cheese company was held Tuesday, and the secretary's report showed a better-than-average year.

The directors and president were re-appointed for the coming year, with the exception of Murray Meiklejohn, who was appointed in place of his father. Mr. Meiklejohn senior passed away during the summer, after a lengthy illness.

After the election of officers, W. P. Moore, local cheese instructor, addressed the meeting. He stressed the importance of clean milk, and explained to the group that after June 1st, a sediment test would be taken twice a month and advised them to be prepared for it. He also congratulated the company on the condition of the factory.

The following figures on production were given in the annual report. The factory made a total of 264,442 pounds of cheese during the year, and shipped 338,005 pounds of milk to Peterborough. The average pounds of milk per pound of cheese was 11.85 and the average butter fat content of the milk was 3.16 per cent. The total average price per pound of fat was 72.68 cents and the average price per hundred pounds of milk was $2.33.

ROBERT F. LEACH, of Peterborough, fourth year student at the Ontario Agricultural College, and President of the Union Literary Society receives from Professor E. C. McLean the award given in recognition of his outstanding work as President of that Society. The award consisted of a copy of "Bartlett's Quotations." The occasion was the annual Award Night held at O.A.C. on March 17. Mr. Leach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Leach, 169 Prince St.

City Teacher's Salaries Urged In Rural Schools

The same salary scale should be adopted for teachers in rural and urban schools. Rural children in elementary schools should have the same course of studies as that offered in city schools. Rural boys of high school age should be offered instruction in farming methods. This should be done preferably in schools that give a choice between academic and vocational subjects.

These opinions were expressed by over 90 per cent of the Farm Forum groups that met on Monday nights in March to consider questions of vital concern in rural education. Approximately 1,000 groups (15,000 farm people) met together in farm houses or the schools to discuss these questions.

The following comments by Farm Forum groups are typical:

"We think that teachers in rural schools should receive a salary equal to those in urban schools. Their education cost them the same and they usually have much more work to do with so many more grades to teach. There are not always the facilities to work with and often living conditions are very poor."—Wolverton Forum, Ontario.

"We think rural children should have a course of studies that will enable those who don't take up farming to go out into the world the same as city folks." — East Minitonas Credit Union Forum, Manitoba.

"Children are children whether in rural or urban communities. It is very seldom that a child has any definite idea of its future course of life, but the elements of knowledge, good citizenship, ethics, and morals are the same for all mankind." — Millcreek Forum, Alberta.

"Farming is a vocation, and as many youngsters will never have an opportunity to advance to agricultural college, farming should be taught in high school, provided facilities are available, but oat at expense of the general academic course."—Greenwich Forum, Nova Scotia.

Coccidiosis In Farm Flocks

Continuous medication of feeds, as a preventive for the poultry disease 'coccidiosis,' cannot be recommended for ordinary farm flocks.

This advice to poultrymen by Dr. W. E. Swales of the federal animal pathology division at Macdonald College, Que., is based on extensive research and trial in which farm conditions were duplicated as nearly as possible.

For thousands of years, Dr. Swales says, the tiny microsopic animals known as coccidia have lived in "partnership" with chickens. In older days when brooding was done by the hen, the chicks picked up a few of the various kinds of coccidia during the first few days of their lives.

These parasites established themselves in the cells lining the chick's intestines, and a state of balance developed—a sort of "live and let live" arrangement. What happened was that the young chick's intestine would support just so many, but no more, and those which were established caused an immune reaction.

"After that, the chicken would go on picking up more coccidia all through life, but they could not establish themselves in the intestine of the resistant bird. The result was that the chicken was not harmed, and the coccidia survived just enough to keep its species going."

This is considered today as the normal condition. Sooner or later all chicks are going to pick up some coccidia, and it is doubtful whether there is a farm-raised chicken in the world that has had no coccidia.

"To get chicks "into balance with coccidia," every effort should be made to manage brooding and the early growing period so that the birds slowly pick up enough coccidia to immunize them in early life. A simple deep litter method usually accomplishes this end."

"Sudden changes from dry to damp surroundings are dangerous. Good sanitation is not complete avoidance of coccidia; rather it is the continual use of relatively dry surroundings so that the young birds are always exposed to a few, but never suddenly too many of the parasites.

It must always be remembered that the 3 or 4-week-old started chick, which probably had no previous contact with coccidia, is particularly susceptible. Four to six days after arrival from the hatchery it might suddenly show acute coccidiosis. This means it was never exposed at the hatchery, but did contact many coccidia during its first day at the farm. To save this chick a highly effective drug is necessary."

Dr. Swales' article discusses further more or less helpful drugs. Full information is available from information service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Seeds Colored If Imported

The Seed Act requires the coloring of red clover and alfalfa seed imported from countries where their winter hardiness would be subject to doubt.

This official requirement is mentioned by Ken E. Fallis, fieldman for the crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

"The grass and clover seed planted this spring will affect the farm income for several years to come. Hence, the best seed to be had is likely to be the most profitable in the long run."

Supplies of Canadian-grown seed of some of the forage crops are rather scarce, and a good deal of seed is being imported.

"Origin of the seed planted may prove quite important to Ontario farmers, since seed from more southerly climates may have lost some of the qualities of winter hardiness. This does not mean this seed will not grow in Canada, but it does mean that the chances of the plants surviving Canadian winters may be appreciably fewer."

Alfalfa of the Grimm or other variegated varieties imported from any northern or northwestern State must be stained one per cent methyl violet before being imported to Canada. Alfalfa or red clover seed from any other country must be stained ten per cent red. This means that 10 per cent of the seed is stained red and then is mixed with the remainder of the seed.

"Canadian seed is not stained, so this provides an easy means of telling whether the seed you buy is of Canadian or other origin."

Urges Pension For Anyone Totally Disabled

TORONTO, March 30—(CP)—A regular pension for any person unable to work through disability, without regard to age, was advocated for Ontario Thursday night by Maj. John Foote, Minister of Prisons and Reforms.

Maj. Foote made the statement at a meeting of the Trinity-Bracondale Progressive Conservative Association. He spoke in place of Welfare Minister Goodfellow who was unable to attend as guest speaker.

Maj. Foote described the present pension system for young Ontario people unable to work as "humiliating." Although there is an old age pension, he said, there is none for younger persons crippled and unable to work.

"I hope we soon have a pension for all age groups," he said. "It is shortsighted for us to deny a pension to all persons unable to work when we pay family allowances to people who are earning their own living. If we can pay one we should pay both."

Actors Need 2nd Business To Make Living

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 30 (AP) This month there are 318 actors enjoying the security of studio contracts in Hollywood. Compare this with the Screen Actors Guild roster of 3,500 (not including extras) and you see why times are tough for film players.

Because of the economic pinch, about 500 actors have given up trying to make a living from the movies in the last year of so. But here are two men who found another solution — working at other professions between picture jobs.

Gil Stratton has two jobs—acting and umpiring. He became interested in umpiring when he was going to college.

He came to Hollywood in 1942, starting an MGM contract with a juvenile lead in "Best Foot Forward." Then came the war and Gil saw service in the air force.

Dull Career

"Nothing really startling" happened to his film career when he returned to Hollywood. He played roles in "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" and in three B pictures —as he puts it, "I've done lousy roles in good pictures and good roles in lousy pictures."

Like many actors, he relied on radio work for his main source of income. "But I didn't relish the prospect of ending up like some of the other actors I saw around the radio studios," he says. "Some of them were 65 and still not any further along in the business than I was."

Turns to Umpiring

So he turned to his first love—umpiring baseball. He spent last summer working in the Sunset League.

Peter Michael is another who found that acting alone was a perilous profession. His career was building up before the war, with good roles in films like "The Moon is Down" and "Action in the North Atlantic." But after he returned from the air force, he found that acting jobs were few.

So he started to develop a painting business. He has painted and redecorated homes for many Hollywood personalities. This enterprise proved to be much more lucrative than acting, but he still kept his agent. He would like to continue his acting. But even if he clicked in the big time, he wouldn't give up his other business.

Union Requests Seniority Change

WINDSOR, March 30 — (CP) — Substantial wage increases, improved seniority changes and other contract amendments are being asked of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, Local 200, UAW-CIO, asked in submissions made Thursday.

The company-union agreement is up for its annual overhaul. The terms asked for will be studied by the company for the next week or ten days, the union believes, before any further talks are held. Exact amount of the increases being sought are not set forth in the union announcement, but a 12-page list of amendments deals with a wide range of changes.

One of these is a request for a 20 per cent reduction in the price of new cars to employees in the bargaining unit. The clause on wages states:

"The company will grant a substantial wage increase to all employees in the bargaining unit."

A. R. Mosher, president of the 350,000-member CCL, said he would be represented at the conference by Norman S. Dowd, executive secretary of the congress.

The conference has been called to discuss the dismissal of Baron by Emil Rieve, international president.

Plane Crash Not Firm's Fault

MONTREAL, March 30—(CP)—French investigators reported Thursday that neither the plane nor its equipment appeared responsible for a crash last November that killed 58 persons, mostly Canadians.

The interim report was that of a board of inquiry set up by the French Government, released through the French consul in Montreal.

All 51 passengers and crew of seven died when the Canadian Pilgrim crashed near Mont l'Obiou in the French Alps Nov. 13.

The passengers, largely from Quebec, included many Roman Catholic clergymen. The party was returning to Canada after a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome.

The plane was a chartered DC-4 Skymaster operated by Curtiss-Reid Flying Service, Ltd., of Montreal.

The report said that from information gathered in Canada and at points of call before the accident, there was no indication the aircraft and its equipment could have been responsible.

Windsor Would Like Two-Year Elections

WINDSOR, March 30 —(CP)— Windsor will ask the Provincial Government for legislation enabling it to hold civic elections every two years instead of annually.

Board of control decided Wednesday they would ask that elections be held every two years with the successful candidates holding office for two years. This system would apply to the board of control, the aldermanic council, utilities commission and boards of education.

Most Men Absolute Boobs In Technique Of Courtesy

By JACK SCOTT.

The sap is beginning to run once more in the maples. Spring has made its reluctant return and the age-old pursuit of girl by boy may once more be observed throughout the land. It is fitting, therefore, that we spend some time today in studying the techniques of courting, a subject on which most men are absolute boobs.

It is sad, but true, that the male is reared to have a working knowledge of almost everything from the internal combustion engine to the intricacies of income tax forms, yet hardly any of them have more than a hazy idea about winning a mate and must be guided, like backward boys, by the party of the second part.

In attempting to correct this intolerable situation today I am to have the assistance of Prof. Stephen Potter who, though English, has written some very sage advice on the subject.

Hands up, those of you who remember Prof. Potter. Yes, indeed, this is the same Prof. Potter who introduced the world to "Gamesmanship" or the art of winning games without actually cheating. Now this splendid man has emerged again from behind his hedge with some very worthwhile advice on courting or, as he prefers to call it, "Woomanship."

For most of you this advice will be coming too late. If you are the typical male, or clod, you have long since been ensnared by some cunning female who gave you the lobster pot treatment

Lobsters are almost as doltish as courting males. They enter a trap aggressively, devour the bait, and then, instead of retreating, move deeper into the snare into a compartment known to lobstermen as "the parlor." The case history of any Lobster Newburg is pretty much the same as that of the average married man.

Still, there may be a few eager youths in our audience, or even some older types with charged batteries, and I trust these notes will help them to be the one who chooses rather than merely another of the chosen.

Bold Approach

The first, and perhaps most important problem in courting is to meet the girl.

Every man has had that experience of sighting a female who gives him a belly full of rose-buds and wondered desperately how to engage the creature in conversation. This often seems impossible and the poor fellow will move on, glancing back over his shoulder, and wind up married to some second choice, usually one who looks like Marjorie Main.

The technique here requires boldness. I myself, recall a certain conquest in my mad, tempestuous youth involving a well-set-up girl who worked in a bakery shop.

For some weeks I loitered about in the immediate vicinity, pressing my nose up against the bakery shop window and trying to look like a man obsessed by jam tarts. Finally, in a moment of wild abandon, I walked into the shop and asked the girl if she would like to go walking on Sunday. "Sure," the girl said without any hesitation.

As it turned out, this lovely thing had a vocabulary limited to the phrase "So's your old man" and my enchantment subsequently cooled to revulsion, but I had learned then that the direct approach is the only one.

Prof. Potter, himself, tells of the admirable technique of a friend of his named Gattling who used the principle of Instantaneous Speech.

Gattling reasoned, quite soundly, that it was no good getting into a railway cariage solely occupied by some stunning girl and just sitting there mumbling and clearing his throat until he could find the nerve to offer her a cigarette. Instead, he would start speaking to the girl while still half in the corridor, saying, for instance (if she was heading The Times), "Good heavens, I thought The Times had ceased publication," naturally and easily, as he entered.

Gattling, too, was able to strike up some promising conversations by using dogs. He would approach a girl with a dog and establish affinity by showing his fondness for pets. "How's Wog-Wog," he would say, speaking solely to the animal. "Latterly," Prof. Potter adds, "owing to the bizarre appearance of Gattling's hair, all dogs growled with real menace at the first sound of his voice."

The difficulty here (and I am surprised that Prof. Potter overlooks it) is that so few girls have dogs.

My answer to this, in the days when I was at liberty, was to have a dog of my own, usually a Springer spaniel puppy, which served to attract a considerable number of eligible quail. Some time later I achieved the same results by wheeling about a small, adorable child in a baby buggy, but, since the tot was my own, it no longer mattered.

In Writing

For those who lack the moral fibre to make such direct liaison I suggest the written approach, which I utilized once, myself, with interesting results.

On this occasion I was dining in Murray's at the Lord Elgin Hotel in Ottawa with Len Peterson, the well known writer and ex-wrestler. At the time we were both privates in His Majesty's forces.

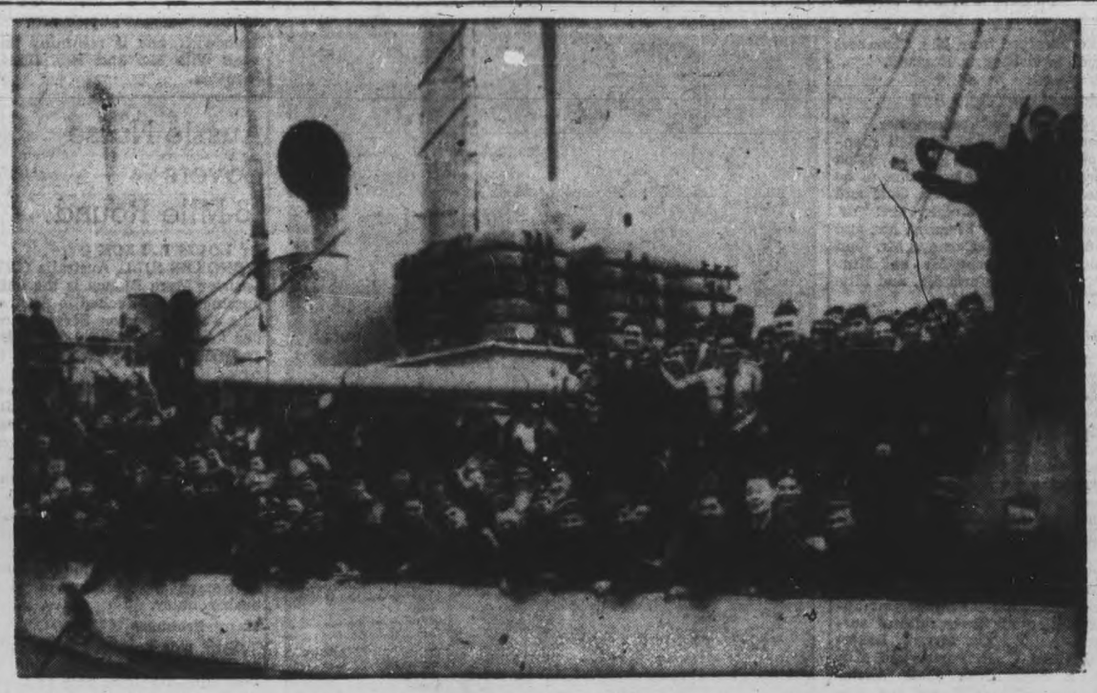
Throughout the meal Peterson had been openly admiring a splendid-looking girl who sat, alone, a few tables away. I urged him to use the direct approach, as I had done years before in the bakery shop, but Peterson was of that breed who mate only by accident.

Finally, I wrote a short and rather clever little note. "Two lonely soldiers would be delighted if you would be kind enough to join them in coffee," it read, or something like that. (I had used the word "lonely" to play upon the girl's mother instinct, a device I'll subsequently explain).

A waiter delivered the billet-doux and we watched the girl's face soften as she read it. I was already thinking of my first witty remark when, at that moment, she was joined by a full colonel who stood eleven feet high, wore a paratroop insignia and 23 medals and looked like Adonis,

I remember thinking, as we bolted for the nearest exit, that it had at least been a tactical success.

* * *



Well, here we are out of space and we've hardly met the girl. Tomorrow we'll consider the technique to be followed when both contestants are actually in the ring.

B.C. Coalition Member Deserts Gov't In Legislature

By The Canadian Press.

A woman member of the British Columbia Legislature broke with the Coalition government Thursday night and reduced its strength to 37 members.

Mrs. Tilly Rolston walked across the floor of the house and took her seat on the opposition side, increasing opposition strength to 10 members, seven of them CCF.

Mrs. Rolston's decision to become an independent member was apparently prompted by criticism of the government's operation of the money-losing hospital insurance scheme.

She is the second coalition supporter to break with the government. Earlier in the session W. A. C. Bennett, like Mrs. Rolston in the Progressive Conservative section of the coalition, had decided to become independent.

Less Spectacular

Action in other legislatures was less spectacular, particularly Novt Scotia where members spent a relatively-quiet day considering estimates for the education department.

In the Newfoundland House, an $8,000,000 supply bill was approved over an opposition protest that part of the sum was being allocated illegally. John G. Higgins, Progressive Conservative leader, argued that allocation of $2,050,000 to cover contracts for a cement mill and two gypsum plants—part of the province's development plan—violated the Audit Act. Attorney-General Curtis insisted there was provision in the Act for such expenditure by government order and without the necessity of first getting approval of the Legislature.

In Fredericton, the Legislature passed a bill which will mean that pharmacists certified in another province must serve one year of apprenticeship in New Brunswick before getting a licence there.

Hear Report On Inquiry

The Prince Edward Island legislature received a report of an inquiry into the activities of the Fishermen's Loan Board. The report recommended careful investigation before loans are granted by the board and suggested that a "more serious effort be made to collect all loans now due." The report is the result of an inquiry by Judge J. S. Desroches started last year after the board was criticized in the House.

In Edmonton, Premier Manning said Alberta's rent control legislation, already passed, will be proclaimed when the federal government vacates the field April 30. The act, passed last year, provides for a refereeing system to arbitrate rent differences between landlords and tenants.

At Victoria, Attorney General Gordon Wismer announced a plebiscite on changes in liquor distribution in British Columbia will be held at the next general election in 1953.

Attorney-General C. Rhodes Smith told the Manitoba legislature that government legaslation calling for reorganizaion of that province's hydro-elecric industry probably will not be presented for second reading—approval in principle—until early next week.

The 55-page bill is still being printed, he said.

Hide 4 Years From A-War 8 Seeing Church Leader

BURBANK, Calif., March 30—(AP). — Eight elderly church members Thursday disclosed they have been hiding out in the mountains since 1947 from an atomic war, on a tip from their pastor.

And, in actions filed in Superior Court, they allege that President Jerry Hauff of the Gospel Assembly in Christ of Van Nuys induced them to sell their homes to give him cash. Their suits ask return of $50,000 in promissory notes to Hauff, some of which are allegedly past due.

Their suits told this story:

Hauff, who had described himself as an intermediary of God, translated certain "mesages" from God in 1947 which said a great atomic war was coming from the North.

The plaintiffs were told to sell their homes and move to a mountain hideout, "Eden City," near Acton in the Los Angeles National Forest.

There they stored food in caves, lived in houses with no water or toilet facilities. The elderly people said they worked 80 hours a week during their stay caring for livestock, chickens, and rabbits and doing heavy farm chores.

Hauff was not available for comment.

I Had To Watch My Children Suffer

"For several years my two boys suffered greatly from asthma and bronchial attacks", says Mrs. A. Lamouroux, 256 Head St. South, Simcoe, Ont. "They would be weak, gasp for breath—choking, wheezing and coughing in a way to wring a mother's heart. I often had to watch my boys sit up nearly all night, unable to lie down because of the struggle for breath. Then I found out about RAZ-MAH. After 3 doses of RAZ-MAH they are relieved and have no attacks for months at a time. I certainly recommend RAZ-MAH."

Uses Bee Venom For Arthritis

LONDON (Reuters). — Mrs. Julia Owen, believed to be the only bee-venom specialist in Britain, keeps 2,000,000 bees which she uses to treat arthritis cases.

The bees, of a special type, are fed on a secret diet of honey and herb poisons, the formula of which was left to Mrs. Owen by her grandfather.

"Some of my patients are too ill to come to me," Mrs. Owen said, "so I take my bees to them. When I go on long journeys I sleep with the bees inside my nightdress to keep them warm."

Mrs. Owen tests the poison strength of each new batch of bees by stinging herself.

"It's not really painful," she said.

Globe-Trotting Teacher Off On New World Jaunt

By PHILIP CLARKE

PARIS, March 30—(AP)—Emily Hatch, 53-year-old American schoolmarm with itchy feet, is off on her 31st year of teaching, travelling and housekeeping all over the world.

Her next stop—India.

"Maybe I'll settle down there for the next 20 years or so," she said before she left. "I've got a lot to do."

Grey-haired Mrs. Hatch is taking over her husband's job as educational adviser to the Indian State of Delhi. Her husband, Dr. Spencer Hatch, is taking a similar job in Ceylon. Both assignments are part of the world-wide educational program of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Their two daughters, Nancy, 23, and Janie, 12, are tagging along with mother this time.

Didn't Settle Down

"I married and didn't settle down," said Mrs. Hatch with a twinkle. She and Dr. Hatch went to India on their honeymoon and they've been globe-trotting since—Burma, Ceylon, Mexico and most recently, Costa Rica.

Her home for the last 30 years has been a hotel room, steamship cabin or native village hut.

In India, Mrs. Hatch will visit Delhi's 305 villages where some 125,000 illiterates must be taught.

She believes that people who travel should set themselves up to live "permanently" wherever they are.

"After all", she said, "life has its advantages everywhere. Why, just last year I bought T-bone steak in Costa Rica for only 16 cents a pound!"

Aussie Nurse Covers 16-Mile Round

By LOUIS L. LECK

BROKEN HILL, Australia (CP)—Sister Myra Blanch is the only nursing sister attached to Australia's Flying Doctor Service and her "round" is often 1,600 miles and takes three to five weeks to cover.

When she sets out from her base in this western New South Wales mining town she packs into her utility truck: medical kit, canned food, 40 gallons of gasoline, a portable radio transmitter and truck repair equipment.

As assistant to the medical officer of the Broken Hill area, Dr. John Tillett, her main duty is to care for the general health of women and children in wild, bush country.

Many Problems

"And this does not mean only nursing, but also, being able to deal with problems such as those that occur when a mother must be taken to hospital and leave a young family behind," she says.

"Being able to care for sick people is only one of the few requirements of a bush nurse."

In spite of the fact that she is a member of the "flying" service, she does most of her travelling by road, as the country is often too rough to enable a plane to land safely.

She always travels alone, often through long stretches of sparsely populated country but she has no fear.

"If the truck breaks down I have only to wireless back to the base and they will send help," she says. "And I can always sleep in the truck until help comes."

Sister Blanch was an army nurse in the Second World War and served in the Solomon Islands and Bougainville.

DOROTHY DIX

Should Split Holidays 50-50 Between In-Laws

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for three years and in all that time every holiday has been spent with my husband's family. Not once has my husband offered to take me to my home for a holiday. He says his family expects him always to be with them. If my in-laws were pleasant hosts it wouldn't be quite so hard, but the occasion is dreary beyond description. As soon as we arrive my husband settles himself down to read the paper while his mother takes me off some other part of the house and spends her time putting me through a questionaire about how much my dress cost, and what did I pay for my shoes, etc. She also asks me personal questions about matters that I cannot discuss with anyone and is offended when I refuse to answer. Can you suggest some nice way for me to get out of such predicaments?

DISGUSTED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why don't you tell your husband plainly that you are perfectly willing to go fifty-fifty with him on the family celebrations, but that you insist on your quota and that if you go to his people for Thanksgiving then you will expect him to go with you to your family for Christmas. There isn't any sense in your making all the sacrifices, and he will have more respect for you if you stand up for your rights.

If your in-laws are just and reasonable people, they will understand your desire to be with your mother and father and sisters and brothers and old friends on some of the holidays. And if they are not just and reasonable they will make a doormat out of you unless you fight for your independence, so you had just as well make your stand at once. The longer you wait the harder it will be for you to assert yourself.

Prying Inevitable

As for a remedy for a prying mother-in-law or mother there is none. It would take a major surgical operation to remove either one's bump of curiosity.

Just remember that if your mother-in-law has given you a good husband you owe her a debt of gratitude. Also, remember that your happiness depends to a large extent upon your ability to get along with your mother-in-law in peace and that nothing you can do will endear you to your husband so much as not fighting with his mother. So it is a part of policy to overlook her interference as much as you can.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The base of the increasing number of divorces is the unethical scheming of women for permanency and their desire to flaunt before the world a husband. Most marriages are the result of scheming girls and their mothers who go husband-hunting. The man, wholly unaware of it, falls into the trap set for him. The wedding ceremony is all the girl desires, as she knows that the criticism of society will do the work of holding the man to his part in this relationship. Then the man meets the girl whom he really loves, his true mate, but if he dares step out of his bondage society screams: "You have broken your poor little wife's heart and deserted your children!" It is time that the world stopped kidding itself and got courageous enough to crusade for justice to men.

C. B.S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you underrate intelligence and chracter of men and overrate the cunning of women. Possibly there are men stupid enough and weak enough to be inveigled into marraige against their wills, but such poor, spineless creatures are few and far between. Likewise, there may be women who can weave a spell about a man that he is powerless to resist and while their victims are under the influence rivet upon them the fetters of matrimony, but these sirens are scarce as hens' teeth.

The theory that men are shanghaied into marriage is also refuted by the fact that men do the proposing, hence are free agents in the matter.

So the contention that the reason men are unfaithful to their wives is because they were forced into marriage by their wives doesn't hold water. There are many reasons why men philander —they do it because they are vain, because they enjoy the thrill of the love chase, because they are not monogamous by nature, but not because they were poor, weak, helpless creatures who didn't have the spunk to run away from a designing woman.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am anxious to adopt a child. Do you know of any institution where they have children that are given for adoption?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Every city has a Child Finding Society that gives out children for adoption to the proper parties.

Teachers Feel Lure of North

TORONTO, March 29 (CP). — Young women school teachers want to go north.

More than a hundred have applied for a few jobs at a new school at Goose Bay, Labrador. Three members of the Goose Bay school board have been interviewing applicants this week.

Asked why teachers should be so anxious to work in the isolated air base, 700 miles from the nearest railway, S. A. Sprange, chairman, said:

"It must be the love of adventure and the glamor of Labrador."

What fun can they have in the woman-scarce outpost? "Oh, boy," says Mr. Sprange.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Skim Milk Cheese For Reducers

QUESTION: I have a problem which I hope you can help me with. I have been dieting for three months to reduce my weight by about thirty pounds. I have doctor's orders that I must keep my weight down. Now I am so tired of the foods I ate for the last three months I hate to keep on eating them. Have you any recipes for low calorie dishes that I could use?

I have two children who come home for lunch at noon and it is a problem what to give them as they do not wish a big meal.

I would like one of the calorie charts you mentioned in your column.

I have had many helpful hints from your column. Mrs. G. F. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have printed your letter without revealing your identity because it is typical of so many letters from reducers. My reply to you will answer and help other readers.

I have sent the calorie chart.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOW CALORIE DISHES

Onion Casserole with Skim Milk Cheese Sauce

(Incidentally I recommend that all reducers keep a package of grated skim milk cheese on hand to sprinkle on unbuttered vegetables. It is delicious and is almost pure protein which is what reducers should have.)

Slice or quarter one and one-half pounds of Spanish onions, pour boiling hot water over them, let stand 5 minutes, then drain. Put in unbuttered casserole. Cover with Skim Milk Cheese Sauce: To 4 ounces grated skim milk add 2 tablespoons flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Stir until mixed then stir into them 2 cups boiling water, until thick. Pour this over the onions in casserole, sprinkle top with a little more cheese and a little paprika. Cover and bake 1¼ hours at 350 deg. Fahr. Reduce heat during last half of baking if sauce is evaporating too much.

✧ ✧ ✧

Apricot or Prune Snow (for reducers)

Two and three-quarter cups cooked dried prunes or apricots, 3 egg whites, 4 or 5 half-grain saccharin tablets, 3 tablespoons (or less) lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon. If prunes are used remove pits after soaking. Put soaked and stewed prunes or apricots through sieve — there should be 2 cups pulp. While this is warm stir the saccharin tablets into it. Add lemon juice and cinnamon and when it is cold stir into it gently the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into stemmed glass dishes to chill. Serve with Custard Sauce (for reducers): In top of double boiler put 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 teaspoons flour, 1 whole egg and mix until smooth. Add 1 cup skim milk or ½ cup water and ½ cup evaporated milk and stir over boiling water until thickened. When thickened enough it will coat back of stirring spoon. Immeriately remove from heat. Stir in 3 half-grain saccharin tablets and ½ teaspoon vanila. Cool. This custard sauce is low in the kind of calaries reducers should not have and makes a good substitute for cream on many desserts.

✧ ✧ ✧

I am mailing you a master menu plan which suggests alternatives where there is a reducer in the family. I think you will find it very helpful. It will help you with the children's lunches too.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Spices Add Special Dash To Many Meat, Salad Dishes

By KAY REX.

OTTAWA, March 30 (CP). — Spring-cleaning overstuffed files can uncover a hodge-podge of materials; everything from a recipe for maple syrup wafers to gardening tips from a plastic manufacturing company.

And all kinds of information about spices.

Did you know that caraway seeds are excellent in cottage-cheese, cabbage salad and rolls? That sage in baked beans, on fish or in stews adds much to the flavor?

This word about spices comes from home economists of the consumer section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Basil improves tomato dishes, soups or stews.

Dill goes well with fish, beans and pickled beets.

Marjoram may be used with beef, pork, meat loaves and sandwich spreads.

Savory improves the flavor of hamburger, pork and beans.

Tarragon gives a rich tangy flavor to salad dressings, egg or chicken dishes.

Plastic Glove

Plastic has entered the gardening picture. Latest word on the all-round material is a new gardening glove with plastisol that can be wiped clean, won't crack or peel and is exceptionally light and pliable.

For the very young children, there are new plastic wadingpools which can be set up in a jiffy and taken down just as quickly.

The sap has been running for more than a month now and in most parts of eastern Canada housewives already are using the maple syrup in their cooking.

Maple-syrup wafers are easy to make and a treat to look at when finished.

Maple Syrup Wafers

Ingredients: one-half cup maple syrup; one-quarter cup margarine; one-eighth teaspoon soda; one-half cup sifted flour; one-quarter teaspoon baking powder; one-eighth teaspoon salt.

Combine syrup and margarine in sauce-pan; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil hard for half a minute. Remove from heat. Add sifted dry ingredients all at once to syrup mixture, stirring briskly.

Drop by half-teaspoonful onto greased cookie-sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees fahrenheit) until a golden brown.

Cool one minute and then remove each wafer carefully from cookie sheet. Roll around the handle of a wooden spoon and place on rack to cool.

If wafers harden too much to handle before removing from cookie-sheet, return to oven for a minute. This recipe should make 30 wafers.
